A Stupendous Fraud Unearthed in the Public Works Department.

Chicago, May 11.—Mr. Kent, the new Commissioner of Public Works, has discovered a stupendous system of fraud in the pay-rolls of the department and has prepared the evidence of theft of public money for submission to the legal departments of the city. It is estimated that $1,000,000 has been stolen from the city in this manner by officials of different grade, either through the aid of relatives or ward politicians. Duplication of names, insertion of names of dead men and residence numbers where vacant lots were located are some of the means employed to plunder the city.

Shoe superstitions.

When you buy a pair of new shoes never put them on a shelf higher than your head, unless you want to bring bad luck; and if you blacken them before you have had both shoes on you may meet with an accident, or even have a sudden death. This is an old Irish superstition. The Scotch girls believe that if they drop their shoes before they are worn trouble will ensue, while a French lady losing her heel is sure of a disappointment in love, and a German mother in the same predicament, feels that she will soon lose one of her children. You must not put your right shoe on your left foot or your left on your right, nor must you put your left shoe on before the right unless you want bad luck. This superstition dates back to one of the Emperors of Rome, who, it is recorded, put on his left shoe first one morning, and came near being assassinated during the day.

ENGINES AND DRIVERS.

The Peculiarities of Various Locomotives as Shown in Their Runs.

It takes about an hour to get steam enough on an ordinary locomotive engine to start it, from cold water. It is a familiar fact that the water in the boilers of steam fire engines in cities is kept hot while the engine is standing in the house by a pipe connection with a boiler in the cellar underneath; when the engine starts its own fire is lighted. Locomotive engines that are running regularly stand in the round house in the intervals between runs with their fires banked. The fires are kept cleaned, but they may not be hauled for weeks. The practice varies somewhat in this respect. On some roads fires are hauled once a week, on other roads they are kept up in engines for three or four weeks or more continuously.

A locomotive engineer on one of the fastest runs out of New York says that he has never seen an engine that would run as fast as he would like to ride. No apprehension apparently is felt by the engineer of a fast engine. Calmness is one of the most noticeable traits; and if he worries at all it is because he has got a hot box, or something has happened so that he may not be able to make the time, and not because he is going through the air at fifty, sixty, seventy miles an hour. But it should be understood that none but a man of perfect nerve is likely to reach the footboard of a fast engine.

There is not a vast difference between running at night and at day. Signal lights at night are plainer and can be seen at a much greater distance than day signals. The engineer must, of course, keep constantly in mind where he is, but he comes to know the country just as a pilot knows his landmarks in the dark, and he has this advantage of the pilot that he can't very well get out of the channel. Most engineers prefer day runs, because it seems more natural to work in the daytime, and it is pleasanter.

Almost all locomotive engineers prefer a fast run to a slow one. The fast trains are the blue ribbons of the road. Aside from the honor of running a fast train, there is a very substantial advantage in the hours. If an engineer simply stepped into his cab in the station and stepped out again on his return, almost any run might do well enough, but he doesn't do that; he goes to the round house before train time and looks over the engine, and sees that it is in condition and properly supplied for the run and in every way ready, and he runs the engine to the station. All this takes time. On his return he runs the engine to the roundhouse; this takes time, too, though not so much as the time spent before the run; but together these periods add materially to the length of the engineer's hours. Taking these duties into account, the great advantages of a fast run are manifest; the shorter the time spent on the road the shorter the total time.

There is a common impression that no two locomotive engines work just alike, even though made from the same patterns. A locomotive engineer of long experience says that the impression is correct. He says by way of illustration, that two high-grade watches of the same pattern, and supposed to be just alike, may not work the same way. One may not vary half a minute in six months, and so be, practically, a perfect timekeeper, while the other may vary a minute in a month. It is so with engines; they do not work just alike. One may steam and run better than the other. The slightest variation in finish or adjustment might be sufficient to cause this. When the new engine has been run a year or so it goes to the shop to be overhauled. With it goes a report of the engineer who has run it on the engine's characteristics and performance. If the engine has developed any defects they can usually be remedied at this overhauling, and it may be that the engine comes out on the road again as smart as any of them. —New York Sun.

Pretty Girls Not Wanted.

Here is a little story which seems to indicate that the pretty girl's business prospects are hampered by her prettiness.

The secretary of a large eastern insurance company decided a short time since that it would be better for his office work to introduce half a dozen or more women as typewriters, operators, and assistant bookkeepers. He had noted that of the feminine employes in his office the pretty ones were the least effective and attracted the the most attention, to the detriment of the work of the other clerks. So he decided to engage only women who were of mature years and experienced in office work. First he advertised, stating that applicants should give age and number of years' experience. He did not succeed in getting a single satisfactory reply. Then he went to a well-known business college and told the manager that he did not suppose he would have any trouble in aiding him, as he did not want a young or attractive-looking woman.

The manager listened to him while he explained his wants, and then, going to a desk, took out a file of letters with a smile and laid them before his visitor. There were upwards of half a hundred applications from banks and commercial institutions, and every one of them, without a single exception, asked for a woman of mature age. The manager said that it was absolutely impossible to supply the demand for employees of the description that business men now demanded, but he had rafts of pretty girls at all times who were applicants. —Philadelphia Press.

THE HYAMS TRIAL

Martha Wells Testifies Against Her Husband.

SHE FALLS IN A FIT OF HYSTERICS

How Harry Hyams Came Into Possession of a Great Share of the Insurance on Wells' Life—Dallas Also Got Over $1000

Toronto, May 13.—The Hyams trial Saturday bristled with sensational testimony. Mrs. Harry Hyams, sister of the alleged murdered boy, told at length of her relations with the twins. While giving her testimony she suddely went off into hysterics, and the court had to be adjourned until Monday.

Before Mrs. Hyams was called cross-examination of Mrs. Aylesworth was proceeded with. Witness admitted that she and her husband had talked a little about the evidence, but they had not conversed very much. Witness knew that her husband had frequently asked the Hyams' for the $1000 advanced by her as a loan.

Witness remembered hearing Harry say that he was in the barber shop getting shaved at the time the tragedy happened. She stuck to the story that Harry refused to go to Pickering and explain the tragedy to the uncle of the dead man and added that it would be better to keep quiet about it, as people would talk anyway.

Then Mr. Lount alluded to the fact that the story of Harry that he found Dallas lying on the body of Willie Wells in the cellar was heard for the first time at this court. Asked why neither she nor her husband had spoken of this previously, the witness replied that she had answered the questions put to her.

In support of the contention of the Crown that the Hyams did not conduct a mercantile agency, as they represented, J. R. Winters, for 17 years a mercantile agent, was called and explained that his business was reporting for subscribers and furnishing information with regard to chattel mortgages, bills of sale, mechanics' liens, etc. The witness corroborated Aylesworth's story that the sheet which young Wells was copying was not up to date. He swore that the sheet of which Wells had made the 100 copies produced was issued by him on Feb. 12, 1891. It was in the fall of 1892 that the copying by Wells was done.

The claim of the defence is that the prisoners, intending establishing an agency, they had the out-of-date sheet copied in order to distribute sample copies, concluding that an old sheet would serve the same purpose as a current one.

When the court resumed after recess Mrs. Hyams, weary of body and sad of heart, took a seat in the witness box. She was attired in a fashionable half-mourning costume of black, with mauve dots. She wore a black picture hat, with ostrich plumes. The witness, who is a thin, fragile woman of highly-nervous temperament, was in a perceptible tremble from the outset of her examination, and had constant recourse to a bottle of salts which rested beside her on the stand. Her voice was so low and tremulous that her replies to questions could not be heard at the barristers' table, and Mr. Osler, who stood within two or three feet of the witness during her examination, had to repeat her answers. She sat facing the west window, and never once looked at her husband, whom she in every instance referred to as "Mr. Hyams." According to the story she told she went to her bridegroom's arms with bitterer tears than they say young girls ought to shed at the threshold of the bridal chamber. The witness proceeded to tell how she first became acquainted with the prisoners at 640 Spadina-avenue, when she was living with her sisters and brothers in a small furnished house. There was an advertisement in the paper for apartments; she answered it and the two prisoners and their mother saw the rooms and came to live with them. While she was visiting at Muskoka Harry Hyams, who was staying at Port Carling, came to Bala to visit her. Friendship resulted from that and he returned to the city with her. Harry Hyams told her that he could not marry her until his mother died. She became engaged to him in that way, with that understanding, after she returned from Muskoka in the fall of the same year that she met him. After her return from Muskoka she continued to reside in Toronto until her elder brother, Harry Wells, sailed for Europe. Meantime in September, 1889, her sister was married to Aylesworth. In the following November she went to Oshawa to reside. There was no communication in the shape of letters between her and Harry Hyams while she was in Oshawa, as there had been a sort of quarrel or coolness between them. Several letters written by the prisoner to Martha Wells during the year 1891 were put in and identified by witness as being in the handwriting of Harry Hyams. She received the four telegrams produced and signed by Harry Hyams in February, 1892. A letter addressed to her husband and signed T. W. Horn, which came into her possession Sept. 25, 1893, while she was residing in Montreal, was tendered as evidence.

Witness explained that there was an understanding by which any communications as to her money was to come to her. It had been enclosed in a letter addressed to her.

Mr. Lount objected to the admission of the letter, on the ground of privilege. Mr. Horn was solicitor for the prisoners and communications between them, he claimed, were privileged. Mr. Lount also claimed that as the amended code did not come into force until 1893 witness was not a competent witness to speak of events prior to that date.

Then the evidence of Mrs. Hyams was proceeded with. When the prisoners were urging Mr. brother to place the insurance on his life, Willie said that the premiums were larger than his income would allow him to pay. She heard Harry Hyams tell Willie that if he would allow his name to be used, Harry Hyams would pay the premiums and give Willie $2500 at the end of three years. If Willie lived the Hyams were to get the insurance, if he died witness was to be the beneficiary. Harry Hyams and witness were at the time engaged to be married.

The day before Willie's death when Hyams called to see witness she told him that he had been promising Willie $1000 day after day, and he was very much annoyed. Witness told Hyams if he had not the $1000 to tell Willie, and to tell him the day he could pay it. Harry Hyams replied that he had the money on Saturday, but he could not get it out of the express office, and Willie would receive it on Monday sure. Then a telegram was written out by Willie addressed to Uriah Jones, saying that he would be down Monday, and the telegram was sent by Harry Hyams from Curry's drug store. It was arranged that Willie, Harry Hyams and witness should go to Pickering on the noon train Monday.

Willie then retired and Harry Hyams told witness to speak to her brother about getting down earlier Monday morning, as he was a little dilatory in the mornings. He also left some lists with witness to give to her brother-in-law, with instructions that he should get reports upon them the first thing in the morning.

Willie left the house at 8.45 Monday morning and Aylesworth a short time subsequently. After lunch the same day Harry Hyams came to the house. After he had been assisted to the bedroom by her brother-in-law, witness asked him if her brother was hurt and he replied that he was hurt on the shoulder, but not to be frightened as he did not think he was hurt very bad.

Some time after Aylesworth came in and told witness that her brother was dead. She then asked Harry Hyams about it and he said: "Mina, I assure you I was not there. All I know about it is that when I returned from the barber shop, and seeing no one, I went down into the cellar and found Dallas fainting across Willie. Fortunately Expressman Fox was there."

Witness, continuing, explained that Harry Hyams said Expressman Fox came into the warehouse behind him, and that they got a cab and sent Dallas home.

Harry told the witness that the weight had fallen upon Willie, and that he and Expressman Fox had lifted it off.

Then the witnesses proceeded to speak of the disposition made of the moneys she received from the insurance companies. She received $2000 from the Covenant Mutual on Feb. 23, 1893, and deposited $1700 in the Home Loan, paying the funeral expenses of her brother with the balance. This $1700 she gave to Harry Hyams to invest for her. He explained that he had an opportunity of buying some manufactory, and witness gave Harry Hyams a cheque for the amount two days after she received it. The cheque, which was written by Hyams with the exception of the signature, was put in as an exhibit. Martha detailed the conversation which took place between Hyams and herself with respect to the money. Hyams came to her and said he would like to get the money to purchase some unfinished pianos. She replied that she did not want to let him have it then, for him to wait until after their marriage.

It was insurance that Willie himself had placed on his life, and she wanted to keep it on that account. Hyams said he did not have the money to spare himself, that she would be getting the other insurance money, and she could put this amount back. Then witness gave him her bank book. He subsequently returned and said that they would not give him the money without a cheque, and she signed the cheque he had written out.

In April Harry Hyams gave her back $200 of the $1700, and she deposited it in the Yonge-street branch Imperial Bank prisoner having requested her to transfer her account. On March 8, 1893, she deposited in the bank $29,888.09, the sum she received from the New York Life Insurance Company. The policies totalled $31,000, but from this amount was deducted the balance of the year's premiums.

Within a fortnight thereafter she had advanced $6500 to Harry Hyams by cheques, as follows:

March 30	$600 00
April 8	50 00
J. Jackson, April 8	200 00
William Stone, April 12	250 00
William Lee, April 14	600 00
Dr. McPherson, April 18	1,900 00
Alex. Crane, April 18	2,500 00

The last two cheques were the final ones she issued before her marriage. Harry Hyams told her Dr. McPherson was building two new houses, and the $1900 was an excellent loan. The Crown claim that, as a matter of fact, the $1900 was paid to retire a chattel mortgage placed on their furniture before the day of the tragedy. The two cheques were sent to her by a messenger, with a note from Hyams, asking her to sign them, as he had secured a good loan.

Then the witness proceeded to pick out the cheques which were for her own personal expenses. There was one for $4750 to her sister, Mrs. Aylesworth, and a second dated Sept. 30, 1893, made to Dallas Hyams for $7964, endorsed by Dallas and T. W. Horn, her solicitor.

Then Mr. Osler asked: "Now, Mrs. Hyams, what money have you left?"

"I have none," said the witness.

Mrs. Hyams then told of her marriage to Harry Hyams on May 9, 1893. She went to the Bishop Strachan School at the commencement of the Easter term. On the day she signed the two cheques for $1900 and $2500 she heard something. In consequence of what she heard she asked Harry Hyams if it was true that the furniture in their house and office was mortgaged at the time of Willie's death? He said that if there was a mortgage it was voided, that all brokers, to protect their homes, paid a dollar and got a mortgage and, therefore, it was not mortgaged. Then she consulted Mr. Smoke, the barrister, and instructed him. She got a reply from Mr. Smoke. The same day she wrote a letter to Harry she also saw Dallas, who came to her house. She had refused to see either of the prisoners, but finally she consented to see Dallas, and he talked to her from 3 o'clock until 9 in the evening. He assured her that Harry loved her, that there was no doubt of that, and that unless she saw Harry and promised to marry him that she was sure Harry would go to ruin.

Referring again to the visit of Dallas Hyams to her house, witness stated that she asked him if Harry had any means of keeping up the premiums when he placed the insurance on her brother's life. Dallas said that he had proved to Aylesworth and to Mr. Smoke that they were in receipt of $200 per month, or $600 per quarter, and as the premiums were only $384 per quarter they had a respectable balance.

"When Harry came to see me at the church school," continued the witness, "he explained to me that he was well able to carry the policy, and that there was no mortgage, and wanted me to marry him at once lest my friends should prejudice my mind against him. I consulted my sister about it. Mr. Aylesworth was then in Oshawa attending his sick mother. When my sister and I had talked it over I decided that I had wronged Mr. Hyams, and my friends had wronged him, and I consented to marry him. Mr. Hyams really looked bad, and that touched me more than anything. This was on Sunday, and on Tuesday we were married."

"And you lived with him until last January?" said Mr. Osler.

"Yes," said the witness, and then the courtroom was startled by a shriek and the expression, "Oh, oh!" and the witness fell from her seat towards the floor. She had been attacked with a fit of hysterics. She was carried into the judge's room, where it was found that she was suffering very badly from the shock and it would be impossible to go on with her evidence.

TWIN BROTHERS, TWIN FATES.

Herbert Hartley Drowned Bathing in the Welland Canal

Thorold, Ont., May 11.—Herbert, the 12-year-old son of Mr. Frank Hartley of this town, was drowned in the Welland Canal here Saturday morning while bathing. His twin brother was also drowned a few years ago.

Fatally Gored by a Bull.

Bloomfield, May 11.—On Tuesday last Mr. Reuben C. Gorsline was crossing the road in front of his residence, when a bull, which was being driven along the road by a butcher, rushed at him and knocked him down, injuring him so seriously that he died this morning.

Double Drowning At Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., May 13.—Two young men named respectively La Liberte and Jager, both students at Ottawa University, lost their lives by drowning in the Rideau River, near Cummings' bridge yesterday.

His Fall Will Prove Fatal.

London, Ont., May 13.—Mr. Morris, a carpenter, Friday, fell, inflicting such injury to his head that he will die.

New Zealand's Treasurer Coming.

London, May 13.—J. G. Ward, New Zealand's Treasurer, will start for home on May 29 on the steamer Britannic. He intends to pass a few days in Ottawa, whence he will proceed to Vancouver to take the steamship Warrimoo.

Four Inches of Snow in Iowa.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 11.—A heavy frost is reported at points in Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. The grain was but slightly injured. Four inches of snow fell in the Black Hills last night.

Toronto Markets

Flour—The demand is fair and prices rule strong. Sales of straight rollers at $3.80 to $4, Toronto freights.

Bran—The demand is inactive and prices nominal at $13.25, west. Shorts firm at $12, Toronto freights.

Wheat—The market is firm, with holders generally asking 65c for white, north and west. Manitoba grades firm, with No. 1 selling at 71-2c, Montreal freights.

Barley—Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. No. 1 is quoted at 43c. No. 2 at 46c, and feed at 44c to 45c.

Oats—The demand is fair and prices steady. White sold at 35 1-2c, middle freight, and mixed quoted at 34c. Cars on track sold at 35c.

Peas—The market is firm, with sales outside, west, at 60c.

Rye—Offerings small and prices nominal at about 58c.

Buckwheat—Business very dull and prices nominal.

Parsons Precludes Politics.

Victoria, B.C., May 13. — The British Columbian Methodist Conference at their session yesterday declined to consider a resolution which was offered on the Manitoba school question, holding that it was unwise to interfere in politics. The conference will undoubtedly advise a political plebiscit on the prohibition question.

BRIBERY BY PROMISE.

The Dominion Government deserve some credit for rising occasionally above the vulgar expedient of bribery by cold cash—a la Caron. This is by holding up lucrative situations as bribes. The Montreal Customs office has been vacant for several years, there are ten senate vacancies, some of them two or three years old, and all of these are, in the ingennous language of Premier Bowell, "promised;" that is ten members of parliament are told that if they vote right—support the government through thick and thin; even if they incur the hostility of their constituents—its all right—they, like the monopolist manufacturer, will be protected in case of defeat; the senate, mileage, $1,000 a session; short hours—nothing to disturb their sleep—will be their reward. Even the dignified and responsible position of a Lieutenant Governor is exhibited as a prize, a reward, an incentive to doing the Government's dirty work. Witness Lieut.-Governor Schultz's situation vacant for two years, and his indecent solicitude in the Government's interest to qualify himself for plucking the pear—outraging the constitution—conspiring against his advisers to make political capital for the Government that will, in turn, reward him with an office worth $10,000 a year. However, the Government has not lost faith in the cash system of influencing public opinion.

HYPOCRISY AND CANDOR.

SIR ADOLPH CARON is not exceptionally equipped to pose as a modal of ingenuous innocence, but he is a very babe of innocence compared to the hypocritical Mail and Empire. The Mail and Empire has the stupendous impudence or hypocrisy to speak thus with regard to boodling: "It is a terrible disgrace to Canada that the boodling should have been committed, and that these men in whose behalf it was performed should remain in public life and unblushingly boast of their virtues."

In contrast, note the candid, if callous and conscienceless, language of Sir Adolph Caron, who, in speaking of the Lake St. John subsidy deal, which netted about $50,000 for the knightly politician's corruption fund, said on the floor of the House:

"I am prepared to stand or fall by what I have done, and, considering that I have helped my friends to the extent that I considered legitimate, I say that under the same circumstances what I did on that occasion I would do again to-morrow in order to help my friends."

When Sir Adolph Caron repents, dons sackcloth, and sprinkles ashes on his knightly cranium, and when the Mail and Empire in default of such indication, of contrition, repudiates the arch boodler of the Government, and gold medallist of the boodle brigade, it will not only be entitled to, but have some shadow of an excuse for, indulging in homilies on the sin of boodling. Satan reproving sin is a jewel of consistency of the first water, compared to the organ's cold-blooded hypocrisy.

ACCORDING to the Globe, Hon. Mr. Foster has sadly relapsed from the temperance platform—he has to be "Bowelled up" before he ventures to say anything in the House of Commons.

DON, in Saturday Night, reminds us that according to the British North American Act, the Government "may," not must, make remedial legislation, and that "only so far as the circumstances of each case may require."

THE Manitoba Government, though it adjourned the legislature, it is said, at the request of Lord Aberdeen, to permit further time for consideration, is not disposed to recede one step from its attitude of determination to uphold its national school system.

ALL who met Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper during his recent visit to Peterborough, will regret the illness that causes him to seek rest on the Gatineau. He is a genial and pleasant young fellow, a bright speaker and a pleasant companion. It is to be hoped that he will soon be restored to his normal health.

IT during an administration of 20 years the Mowat Government had been guilty of one-twentieth of the scandalous incompetence, crookedness and malfeasance in office that has been "shown up" against the present Conservative Government in the last twenty days, the Conservative organs would have wallowed in double-headed spasms of holy horror.

TO REVISE THE TERMS

Hon. R. Bond Will Again Visit Ottawa.

IN CONNECTION WITH THE RAILWAY

England's Reply to Newfoundland Necessitates the Journey—The Contract for the Railway Accompanies the Colonial Secretary—The Islanders Are Excited.

St. John's, Nfld., May 13.—There was a startling development in the confederation question Saturday night. Hon. Robert Bond, Colonial Secretary, who was one of the delegates to Canada last month, sailed unexpectedly, bound for Ottawa, to continue the negotiations. The executive council held a meeting all day for the purpose of considering the situation. The members and the executive deny flatly that they have received any answer from Canada, as stated by the Dominion Finance Minister, Mr. Foster, yesterday in the Dominion House of Commons. They explain that terms have been mailed, but not telegraphed. Many members of the party say that this evasion was decided upon in order to obviate the necessity of giving any information to the supporters of the confederation. The suddenness of Saturday's move upset everybody's calculations. No person can explain its true significance. The confederates say that they have gone to adjust final matters with the Dominion Government, while the opponents to confederation contend that confederation has been abandoned, and that they have gone to the United States in the hope of negotiating a loan for the purpose of extricating the colony out of its present difficulties. This has been the base of the Whitewayite alternative policy in regard to the confederation from the first, and they are hopeful that American business men trading with Newfoundland will be willing to subscribe a loan on the promise of retrenchment in local affairs and the mortgaging of the customs revenues.

Colonial Secretary Bond's journey to Ottawa together with R. G. Reid of Montreal, the contractor for the Newfoundland Railroad, is to bring to an end the difficulties respecting the completion of the railroad, which is one of the most important conditions of federation negotiations. Should Great Britain not agree to bear a portion of this obligation, it will necessitate a revision of the terms of union, and will probably imperil the success of the negotiations. Should the negotiations fall through, Great Britain will be obliged to intervene on June 30 and reduce Newfoundland to the condition of a Crown colony.

Congalton's Winning Gait.

Scranton May 11.—Scranton played rather loosely in the field to-day, but batted Grey hard throughout. In the eighth innings, with the score tied, Grey gave a base on balls and Smith made an error. Singles, doubles and triplets followed until seven men had scored. The visitors played a snappy game on the bases and in the field, especially Congalton at the bat, and up to the eighth innings had an even chance of winning. Score:

WRECKED BY GAS AND LIGHTNING.

Fearful Explosion in a Chicago Saloon—Three Killed.

Chicago, May 11.—By an explosion of gas at 1.15 o'clock this morning in the building at 10 Sherman-street, 13 persons were terribly burned; three are dead and others will die. The lower floor of the building was occupied by Aug. Meischall as a saloon and the two upper floors as a boarding house. Meischall jumped out of a window on the third floor and was probably fatally injured. Mrs. Meischall and her two children were badly burned, and one of the children was dying at 2 o'clock.

The concussion rocked the building from its foundation and was heard several blocks away.

The explosion is supposed to have resulted from the accumulation of natural gas in the basement. There was a heavy bolt of lightning preceding the explosion, and it was the theory of some of the firemen that this might have been the cause of it.

HARVEY.

Mr. John O'Donnell's House and Barns Burned—A Sad Death.

Mr. John O'Donnell met with a serious loss on Wednesday morning, by having his entire property in Harvey swept by fire. Charles Gaudrant was the only one at the place, and at about four o'clock on Wednesday morning he went out to the stable to put a medicinal dressing on two blood colts. He took out a lantern with him, having got up unusually early as he had to get a lot of supplies down to the wharf for Mr. O'Donnell, whom he expected to call on his way down the lake. The moment he opened the door of the stable, one of the colts which were loose tried to rush out. He put down the lantern to have both hands to the colt, and in the frisking around the lantern was kicked over and broken. Gaudrant let out the colts and ran to the lake for water, but by the time he got back the fire had gone up into the hay and straw above, and he was helpless. What little breeze there was came from the lake, and blew the fire onto the house, which was only separated from the sheds and stables by about forty feet. From the house the fire was carried to the barn and stacks. The loss will be heavy, and the insurance is on the barn and house, but not on contents of the house, and Mr. O'Donnell had about $900 worth of shanty-supplies. All his implements, several of them new last year, two buggies, etc., were swept away, and a stock of unthreshed grain.

On Tuesday, word was sent from Lindsay of the death of Emma Barcroft, daughter of William Barcroft, of Harvey, aged 20 years. Miss Barcroft and her sister went to Lindsay this spring, having engagements there. Last week, the sister came home ill, and Miss Emma was too ill to be removed from the residence of Mr. Jos. Parkins. The body of the young girl was conveyed here on Wednesday, and buried in the Vaughan Cemetery. The medical attendants give the cause of death as inflammatory croup, which appears to have been somewhat prevalent in Lindsay for some considerable time past.—Independent.

OUR PADDED CENSUS

Sir Richard Cartwright on the Industrial Stuffing.

BALEFUL EFFECTS OF RESTRICTION

The Agreement Between the Premier and Dr. Schultz to Oust Greenway and Give Schultz a Second Term—Sir Davies' Exposure of Mr. Foster.

Ottawa, May 13.—A more than ordinarily eventful week in Parliamentary circles, and one out of which the Government has extracted little glory, closed with Fighting Joe Martin's powerful criticism of the budget Friday night. A most complete exposure of the failure of the policy of commercial restriction, which the Government has declared its intention of maintaining to the bitter end, despite the evidence of its baneful effects, was made by Sir Richard Cartwright on Tuesday in his exhaustive review of the political situation. Sir Richard was in splendid form, and made a speech which will go down in the annals of Parliament as one of the greatest efforts of his life. It is true that the position of the Government and the deplorable condition of the country rendered his task less difficult than it might have been under other circumstances, but the ingenious and not over scrupulous arguments of the Finance Minister called for a reply of more than ordinary power and completeness. That the veteran member for South Oxford was more than a match for the leader of the House was generally admitted. A notable feature of Sir Richard's speech was that part in which he dealt with the census, and showed to what an extent they had been stuffed for the purpose of bolstering up the tariff policy of the Government. According to these fraudulent returns there were 223 knitting factories in Canada, 99 in Nova Scotia, of which 93 were credited to the County of Shelburne. These 93 industrial establishments employed a total of 136 hands, earning $1833 a year, or an average of 4 1-2 cents a day for each artisan. In L'Assomption there were 12 factories, employing 12 hands, with an average wage of $1.20 a week. In Port Neuf there were 12 factories, employing 12 hands, with an average wage of $1.66 a week. Of the 557 alleged carpet manufactories, against 11 in 1881, 51 were credited to New Brunswick, with 51 hands each, earning 70 cents a day. There were 106 set down to Nova Scotia, employing 117 hands, earning each $1.10 a week.

Sir Richard took occasion to say that the Opposition bore no ill-will towards the manufacturers as a class. They had prospered more as a class up to 1878 than since. He would not conceal from the House that a considerable customs tariff must be exacted for some time to come, but it must be fairly and honestly framed for the purpose of bringing revenue into the Treasury, and not at the dictation of the Manufacturers' Association, whose faithful servant and mouthpiece the Minister of Finance was, and who divided the plunder with the Government unjustly obtained from the people.

He believed that at last the following frauds were pretty well exploded: The home market fraud, the desire for economy fraud, the sham loyalty fraud, the desire for reciprocity fraud, the general prosperity fraud, the reduction in prices by reason of high taxes fraud.

In the comprehensive amendment which he moved he set forth the financial obligations of the country are known, mentioning that the estimates of $38,517,152, independent of the supplementaries, are $992,127 in excess of the sum expended in 1893-4; that the deficit for last year amounted to $1,210,823; that the estimated deficit for this year is $4,500,000; that the existing obligations for railway subsidies and public works in progress will involve a further outlay of $20,729,000; and that interest on this sum for the fast Atlantic steamship subvention, will entail an addition to the already very heavy annual fixed charges of $1,400,000. His motion concluded with the declaration: "that inasmuch as enormous sums of money are now exacted from the people of Canada, which are not paid into the Treasury, and inasmuch as the burdens of the people are thereby greater and unnecessarily increased, and of the utmost importance to the well-being of the community that not only should the present extravagant expenditure be diminished, but that said burdens should be reduced as largely and speedily as possible—it is expedient that in making provision to restore the equilibrium between revenue and expenditure as recommended in the Speech from the Throne the existing tariff be so modified that it may be made a tariff for revenue only."

The unwarranted and unconstitutional interference of Lieut.-Governor Schultz with the Government and people of Manitoba, and the conspiracy into which it looks as if he has entered with Premier Bowell to turn Premier Greenway out of office, was the subject of a spirited and acrimonious discussion on Thursday. That the Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba should come to Ottawa and consult with men who are not his constitutional advisers is an offence which should be deplored by every good citizen who believes in responsible government, but when he takes counsel of men who are the avowed political enemies of his Ministers the offence is unparalleled. In the first place, Dr. Schultz is not responsible for the settlement of the Manitoba school question. That responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the members of the Greenway Government, who will have to answer to the people of Manitoba for the manner in which they have discharged their trust. The people of Canada are too democratic to tolerate the interference of a lieutenant-governor or any other state figure-head in the settlement of questions affecting their welfare, and when it comes to the point of a lieutenant-governor prostituting his high office to secure political favors for himself they would be lacking to their duty which they own to their citizenship if they did not resent it. The most disgraceful feature of this episode is the part taken in it by Sir Mackenzie Bowell. It is but another of the many evidences which have been disclosed this session of the desperate position of the Government. Dr. Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons, who was indiscreet enough to express a partisan opinion upon a subject of political controversy, declares that he made the statement for the personal guidance of Lieutenant-Governor Schultz. In the face of this the document is immediately communicated to Premier Bowell, who goes peddling it out to the correspondents of the Government organs in the Press-room. Could anyone imagine Sir John Thompson so far forgetting the dignity of his office as to go bawling about a document which had been written for the personal guidance of an officer of state and not for political use? Surely this would be sufficient to condemn the transaction and those identified with it; but there is still more to be told. Governor Schultz spent several weeks in Ottawa, and it is common talk that the object of his visit was to endeavor to prevail upon the Government to give him a second term of office at Winnipeg. This Government is not in the habit of bestowing favors without a substantial return, as its tariff legislation and Red Parlor Fund have shown, and the assertion is made that the two years overdue governor has undertaken to dismiss the Greenway Government in consideration of his continuation of office. The suggestion has been made that this is the first step in the conspiracy, but it is doubtful if, after the developments of the week, the parties to it will have the courage to carry it through. The interest in the school question has been increased by the announcement of the projected trip of Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Sifton to Ottawa.

The degeneracy in the calibre of the leaders on the Government side of the House was again demonstrated on Friday, when Mr. Foster made an exhibition of his incapacity for the position he fills. It is expected that a gentleman occupying such an exalted office as the leader of the Government shall conduct himself with becoming dignity conduct himself with becoming dignity, and that his communications to the House shall at least be characterised by courtesy. The Minister, instead of replying courteously to a reasonable request for information regarding the Newfoundland negotiations, allowed his temper to run away with his judgment, and indulged in a tirade that would have done credit to a scolding fishwife. L. H. Davies of Prince Edward Island took the Minister to task and made him feel very uncomfortable before he got through with him.

FASTER BOATS MUST CARRY THE MAILS.

The Dominion Liner Labrador Detained at Rimouski Last Night for British Mails

Montreal, May 12.—The news that the Dominion Line steamship Labrador was to carry the mails this trip was received with great satisfaction on Change Saturday. D. Torrance & Co. received a telegram from the Postmaster-General to the effect that the Labrador was to be detained at Rimouski until the arrival of the mails, which were expected at 8 p.m. on Sunday. The mails were to have been sent by the Allan Liner Laurentian, but the pressure brought to bear upon the Postmaster-General by the Boards of Trade of Toronto and Montreal has evidently impressed Sir Adolphe upon the importance of having a fast mail service to Canada.

British Mail Officer Walmsley, who is at St. Lawrence Hall, was called upon shortly before midnight Saturday by two of the Messrs. Allan. The result of the conference was that as Mr. Walmsley had not received orders for transference for the Postmaster-General all mail bills were made out for the Laurentian. Despite this the Allans felt uneasy and immediately secured passage on a freight train to Ottawa. Walmsley left for Rimouski at 8 a.m. Sunday, in charge of the mails, and the Labrador left Rimouski at 8 to-night with them. The Dominion fast liner Vancouver will also carry mails.

TORONTO G.T.R. HEADQUARTERS.

Rumor that Mr. Barker Is to Be General Manager, With Head Offices in Toronto

Hamilton, May 11.—Reports are in circulation that the recent changes in the Grand Trunk directorate will effect Hamilton and Toronto. It is rumored that Samuel Barker will be appointed general manager, and that when he takes control the head offices may be removed from Montreal to Toronto.

Many of the departments now located in Hamilton, London and Stratford will be centralised in the Queen City.

C. K. Domville will be made chief mechanical superintendent and removed to wherever the head offices are.

It is also said that there will be a general dismissal of all officials whose services can be dispensed with.

FAMOUS VOICES.

Forrest had a deep bass voice that seemed to come from the bottom of his chest.

Bunyon had what was called a persuasive voice. He never scolded in his sermons.

Jeremy Taylor was always very much in earnest, and showed the fact in his voice.

Lord Bacon had a voice described by one of his contemporaries as "very smooth and oily."

Henry VII. had a voice so gruff that it earned for him the sobriquet of "Bluff King Hal."

Garrick had an exceedingly flexible voice, and could mimic anyone he ever heard speak.

The Duke of Marlborough had a voice that, it was said, could be heard above the roar of artillery.

Jonathan Edwards had sharp, strident tones that grated unpleasantly on the ears of all who heard him.

Old Kaiser Wilhelm had a soft voice, and spoke in a soothing tone that gave pleasure to every hearer.

Frignoli was know as the "silver-voiced." His tones, though not strong, were exceedingly pure and sweet.

John Adams had a cool, deliberate way of speaking, that carried conviction to the minds of his hearers.

Wendell Phillips always spoke in an ordinary tone, with very distinct articulation and careful pronunciation.

Cowper always spoke in a diffident, hesitating way, as though afraid of the effect of his words on his auditors.

Prince Bismarck has a very loud, harsh voice, and generally speaks in a dogmatic, dictatorial way that admits of no contradiction.

Coleridge delivered his philosophic utterances in an uninteresting monotone, that late in life became an almost unintelligible mumble.

Frederick the Great had a sneering, disagreeable voice that corresponded well to the cynical utterances he was in the habit of making.

Goldsmith had a singing voice of great purity, and it was a treat to hear him render an old Irish air, which he did in inimitable style.

Alcoholism in France.

Among thinking people in France the evils of alcoholism are attracting a great deal of attention, and only recently the Academy of Medicine, the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences and the Superior Council of the Public Assistance held a meeting at which the whole subject was gone over very carefully. In the summing-up it was found that absinthe is doing just about as much harm as are distilled liquors. Thus, one physician reported that in his practice he had found that, out of twenty patients, ten were suffering from alcoholism, and that wine and ordinary distilled liquors were responsible for five of these, while absinthe was the cause of the other five. From 1885 to 1892 the amount of absinthe and similar drinks coming under the observation of the excise and other officers of Paris had more than doubled, and each year showed a greater yearly increase. In view of this state of things, the doctors make the following recommendations to the State:—First, to reduce the number of liquor shops. Second, to make as low as possible all taxes on beer and cider, while exercising a supervision over the quality of those drinks. Third, to tax wine moderately, and to take measures against its harmful adulteration. Fourth, to increase the tax on spirituous liquors, and to allow in commercial policy only that which is hygenically pure. Fifth, to prohibit absinthe and similar bitters in which the essential oils exercise a pernicious influence on the human organism. The facts mentioned constitute a sharp indictment of the present condition of France. Certainly the French will not be equal to whipping the English and Germans, when the talked-of war comes, unless some reform on the drink question takes place.—Buffalo Express.

WELL SATISFIED.

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain are Pleased.

Hamilton, May 13.—A very large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, the headquarters for distributing are never in any danger of running out of the medicine for long, for no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to the valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

Talking - ABOUT - Clothing.

The most advantageous shop to buy Clothing in leads to one conclusion—to purchase from us. You may twist and turn and argue as you will—admit you must that our Clothing is by far the best ready-made in Canada. If you discuss prices, we say 'again—our selling figures are lower, because the qualities are so much better.

Fathers and sons grown up, you, to whom a sensible word can be seriously spoken, take a look at our Spring Overcoats or our new Spring Suits and convince yourself whether we are not more stylish and if our goods are not better made and trimmed or fit neater than any goods shown elsewhere.—Mothers, who generally have good judgment and look for novelties for their youngsters, never fail to look in at our establishment, for we surpass any competition in the way of Children's Clothing.

The splendid value we give in a 2-piece suit at $1.50, or a 3 piece at $2.50, should make us many new acquaintances.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Monday, May 13th,—Cold frost and some fine hail. At this morning's observation the self-registering thermometer indicated 32 degrees above zero, with frost doing damage in some localities to vegetables and other things. In examining my records for '94, I find in May 5th, sharp white frost, thermometer, 31 degrees; and on the 20th, frost again, thermometer at 31 degrees; and still again on the 30th, thermometer down to 30 degrees, with ice, being 2 degrees below the freezing point. Yesterday, (Sunday) 33 degrees in the morning, highest during the day, 42 degrees, with a cold bleak wind blowing all day.—THOMAS TELFORD.

THE NEW BAPTIST CHURCH.

Officers Elected on Friday Evening Last —The Pastor.

The Park Street Baptist Mission is hereafter to be termed the Park Street Baptist Church, and its congregation is separate and distinct from that of the Murray street church, as it has been decided that the former is now quite strong enough to fight its own battles without leaning for support upon the older church.

The newly formed congregation met on Friday evening last, and, after discussing the prospects of the new church, elected the following officers:—

Deacons—T. E. Hunt, A. L. Grover and T. G Gillespie.

Treasurer—Wm. C. Barrie.

Clerk—Mattie E. Mann.

It has been decided that Mr. Pady, of McMaster University, shall conduct the services during his holidays, and that on his resuming his studies arrangements will be made for the instalment of a regular pastor.

TWO DISTINCT COMPANIES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—During these recent troubles there seems to be a mistaken idea on the part of the good people of Peterborough in confusing the present Canadian General Electric Company with the Edison Company's Canadian Works. It should be stated in justice to the former Edison management, that the present management, both local and general, is an entirely different body of men. The latter is on hand to defend its actions, it being otherwise with the now scattered Edison staff.

Yours very truly,

Where is Edward Germain?

The Chief of Police is in receipt of a letter from a Mrs. Germain, of 123 Hart street, Bay City, Michigan, enquiring if her husband, one Edward Germain, was killed recently in this district through being struck by a falling limb in the woods.

The letter was addressed

Chief of Police,
Petersburg District,
Ontario,

and first went to Peterburg, when the police there, not knowing anything of the circumstance referred to, forwarded the communication to Peterborough. The police here are completely in the dark regarding the death of anyone by such a name in the local lumber camps.

Will Someone Explain?

Will some specialist in knowledge of the growth and habits of trees, explain something which seems to need explaining. This spring nearly all of a fine row of well grown cedars, nearly six inches in diameter, skirting Babb's lane, on Mr. A. McFarlane's property, have died, the leaves turning a sickly brown. A large cedar on the west side of Gilmour street has also perished, and two fine trees at the foot of Mr. McFarlane's garden on Gilmour street have died this spring. All these trees were thrifty and apparently healthy last summer. Why they should so suddenly die is something that several would like to have explained. Has the fact that the new crib drain put down about forty feet distant anything to do with the untimely demise of these trees? There are two or three cedars in the row first mentioned standing green and growing alongside their sere and faded fellows.

—Considerable hay was marketed this morning.

—A pig awaits an owner at police headquarters.

—The Court of Revision of the hearing of appeals will open on the 27th.

—Very few speckled trout have been caught this year by the local fishermen.

—A will bull with a board over its eyes caused some excitement on the market square this morning.

—It is not thought that the recent cold snap was of sufficient severity to cause damage to the fruit crop.

—There were a large number of steam launches down the river yesterday. Some of them went as far as Rice Lake.

—There is a scarcity of beef in all parts of the province. Stock breeders should so arrange matters as to "steer" clear of a beef famine.

—The regular monthly meeting of the members of the Peterborough Workingmen's Building and Saving Society takes place to-night.

—Severe frosts are reported in the Western States. The cold snap extended throughout Canada and the Middle and New England States.

—Petticoat Government obtains largely in Bobcaygeon. The majority of the nine members of the board of directors of the public library is ladies.

—Mr. Geo. Lipsett, of Ashburnham, has disposed of his well mated team of greys at a large figure. The American horse buyers secured the pair.

—In a literary sense Bobcaygeon is Laodicean—neither hot nor cold. The report of the Mechanics' Institute shows that there was a falling off in the volumes of religion and fiction taken out by subscribers.

—In comment on an experience of a citizen, the Bobcaygeon Independent says:—"This journal approves of kicking as a principle. There must, however, be a certain amount of judgment exercised, and kicking a particularly vigorous and well loaded skunk, is just one of those cases where the judgment most emphatically comes in."

—A pater-familias couldn't stand the cold yesterday and put up a wood stove, and had considerable fun poked at him by the female members of his family for his disregard of the sanctity of the Sabbath day. But he had his revenge. A daughter of the family, with a touch of the house-cleaning fever still in her veins, noticing that the stove was rusty, could not resist—Sunday and all—giving it a dose of black lead. A woman is a wonderful creature.

—During the recent unseasonable hot weather many families had their stoves removed to the summer kitchen. The cold dip of yesterday caught these people. In many cases the head of the household had an argument with his conscience as to whether re-instating the stove in its former position would be considered a "work of necessity." The question was decided in the affirmative in more than one case, and in came the stove and up went the pipes.

Councillor Rutherford of Ashburnham, is seriously ill with lung trouble. A consultation of physicians is being held this afternoon.

Mr. "Jimmy" Thompson, formerly wine clerk in the Grand Central Hotel, has secured a situation in the G. T. R. bar at the Cobourg station.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review says:—"Miss Bessie Connal, who has been visiting Mrs. Geo. Caldbeck, returned to Peterborough to-day. She was accompanied by Miss Harvey.

The Minden Echo says:—"The many friends of Mrs. Christopher Leary, of Anson, will be pleased to learn that the latest news from Peterborough is to the effect that she is considerably improved in health by her visit to that place. The change of air seems to have been beneficial to her."

A GREAT WAR CANOE.

It is Large Enough to Require a Crew of Seventeen Men.

The Wm. English Canoe Company has just finished a splendid war canoe for the Vaudreuil Canoe Club. It is of British Columbia cedar, 31 feet in length, with 48-inch beam and 23 inch depth. The rivetings are all of coppear and the farnishings of butternut and cherry.

On the inside the canoe is prettily varnished but outside it is painted royal blue with a wide royal red stripe running around it a couple of inches below the gunwale. On the high prow the club's colours, red and blue, are portrayed in an ensign on a white background, while beneath, in gold letters, is the club's monogram, V.C.C. arranged in artistic design by Mr. Josh Lilley.

The Lachine Canoe Club at present holds the championship of the St. Lawrence having won it last year in a war canoe from the Wm. English factory. The year the Vaudreuils have sold their old canoe, which was also from the same factory and have procured the one described. As it is modelled on the finest lines of any canoe yet turned out of the factory, the latter club think they are sure of winning the trophy this year. The crew of the canoe will consist of 17 men. The magnificent craft will be on exhibition this evening in the factory on Charlotte street, and in the morning it will be shipped to its destination.

Like a Miracle

Consumption—Low Condition

Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Miss Hannah Wyatt
Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

Said She Was Past All Help

and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She is getting strong, walks around, is out doors every day; has no trouble with her throat and no cough, and her heart seems to be all right again. She has a first class appetite. We regard her cure as nothing short of a miracle." W. WYATT, 39 Marion Street, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Yesterday's Address on Women's Rights by Rev. J. J. Rae.

The fellows who gathered Saturday night to catch a useful and helpful message from Mr. Pady were not disappointed. "Go through, go through the gates, prepare ye the way of the people; cast up, cast up the highway, gather out the stones, lift up a standard for the people," was his text and his application was very practical. As fishers of men—go through the gates outside the walls of association and church out into the world, to the streams of pleasure and to the hidden nooks of vice and sin, where fish are to be found; prepare the way for return to purity and right; get the stumbling blocks out of the way, and lift up an ideal of purity and manhood in the God-man Christ Jesus that men may be drawn, saved and developed in true manliness. Messrs. Alf. and J. W. Miller sang "The prayer of the wanderer" for the men present.

That beginners' Bible class will meet again to-morrow night at 8. Those who attend can testify to its helpfulness. Come to-morrow and see how you like it.

"WOMAN'S RIGHTS."

Rev. J. J. Rae's talk to men in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon on "Womans' Rights" was very earnest and practical. He spoke of the possibilities of woman and the right she had to development along any line. She has a right to existence, said he, which, surprising as it may seem, some appear to overlook. Touching on woman's field of labour, the the reverend gentleman said, woman has a right to any work to which God calls her. He said that woman has a right to protection from all that debases, enslaves or menaces, and man has a right to give that protection. She has right to purity for purity, and liberty for liberty. Men were advised to prepare and live to give at least one of these women her rights, and that man was truly worthy only when he was a Christian.

Over one hundred fellows listened to the talk, and, we trust, profited by it. The men thoroughly enjoyed a cornet solo, "Nearer my God to Thee," by Mr. J. Miller, and a duet, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," by Messrs. Squires and Steers. That these meetings are helpful and interesting is proven by the number of men who gather Sunday after Sunday.

THE C. N. & P. RAILWAY.

A despatch from Campbellford says Mr. Ridout, Government engineer, Mr. Leonard, engineer for the C.P.R., and Mr. McNab for G.T.R. were in town on Wednesday making arrangements for the crossing of the tracks of the Rathbun Co., and the spur to the old bridge. They took away plans of the crossings. With the location of these crossings everything is in readiness for the signing of the contract by the contractors.

The engineers are confident that the road will be proceeded with at once. They have no doubt. This last move completes all arrangements and it is most likely that they will commence to purchase right of way at once. The road is not to join the C. P. R. three miles east of the Central Ontario Junction, as was expected, but will join it at the Junction. Those who know have every confidence in the C. N. & P., and early commencement of operations may be expected.

CHURCH CHIMES.

In the Park street church yesterday Mr. Pady and Mr. Crowe sang a duet in good voice.

The evening anthem at the Charlotte street church was entitled, "Blessed be the Lord."

The annual meeting of the George street church Sunday school will be held Tuesday evening.

Rev. J. C. Davidson took the morning service and Rev. B. C. Andrews the evening in St. John's Mission, yesterday.

Dr. Scott sang "Cast thy Bread Upon the Waters," as a solo, in splendid voice in the Murray street Baptist church, last evening.

In the George street Methodist church yesterday Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., delivered excellent sermons both morning and evening.

Mrs. Seward took the solo in the anthem "Nearer My God to Thee." In particularly sweet voice, yesterday morning in the George street church.

The evening anthem in the George street Methodist church was entitled, "I will Praise Thee," and was rendered most effectively by the choir.

"The Redemption" was the title of the anthem sung in the Park street Baptist church Sunday evening. Miss Smart and Mr. Pady took the duet most harmoniously.

In the Charlotte street church last night, Mr. A. L. Davis and Miss Florence Hall, sang "In the Cross of Christ we Glory" in a most satisfactory and highly pleasing manner.

St. Andrew's Junior C. E. propose holding a social on Friday evening. An excellent programme has been prepared, and refreshments will be served. This Society is flourishing greatly.

Yesterday morning the choir of the Charlotte street church sang "Come Unto Me" as an anthem. The solo was taken by Miss Florence Hall, and the duet by Misses Hall and Pollard with good effect.

Mr. Pady, as the text for his morning sermon in the Park street Baptist church yesterday, preached from I Cor., ii, 2: "For I determine not to know anything among you, save Jesus and Him crucified."

A quartette, composed of Misses Vina and Annie Belleghem and Messrs. John Millar and Fred Skitch sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," with a great deal of expression last evening, in the George street church.

"Pentients Crossing the Bar" was sung for an anthem in St. John's church, last evening. The rendition was a particulary striking one, the attack and phrasing as well as the harmony of the selection being most pleasing.

The Rev. Mr. MacWilliams was at Omemee this morning and moderated in a call in favour of the Rev. John W. Tanner, of Richmond, Quebec. The call is hearty and unanimous. The induction will take place at the earliest date possible.

Rev. J. J. Rae took both the services at the Charlotte street church yesterday. In the evening he spoke to a particularly large congregation on "Why God made Women." Mr. Rae, judging by his sermon, is a strong advocate of what are termed "Woman's Rights."

Anniversary services will be held next Sunday in St. Paul's church and the sermons during the day will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Milligan, of old St. Andrew's, Toronto. A service of praise will be held in the church on the Monday evening following, an excellent programme of music having been prepared for the occasion.

Yesterday morning the Rev. A. MacWilliams preached an able and comforting sermon from Romans 8, 28. "All things work together for good to them that love God." In the evening St. Andrew's pulpit was occupied by Rev. J. A. Tanner, who preached an excellent sermon from Psalms 116, 1.

St. Paul's church choir rendered a really excellent anthem last evening in splendid style. The selection was Dr. Robert's "Seek ye the Lord," Miss Hansen taking the solo and obligato in a manner deserving of much credit. The judicious shading of the choir in accompanying made the anthem a very pleasing one. The morning anthem was "Oh, how lovely," Mrs. Sanderson singing the obligato solo in capital voice.

WHEEL.

A wheelman who has been following the references in these columns to street improvements and the rights of cyclers, wants to know why those who ride in buggies and wagons never think it necessary to turn out for bicycles. They have as much right to a portion of the road as any carriage. It is a rude thing for a driver to compel a wheelmon to turn out of the smooth part of the roadway on to a part so rough that he will be compelled to dismount. Common politeness, as well as consideration of common rights, should lead drivers to give wheelmen a portion of the way. Let it be recognised once and for all that the bicycle is as much the means of transport as any other vehicle, and that the wheelmen have therefore the right to use the streets in common with everyone else. When you see a wheelman, therefore, give him part of the road if it is not convenient for him to turn out of the track. This is not asking too much from any driver.—[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

An extraordinary number of Brantford bicycles have been placed in town this year by Mr. M. G. Walker, the local agent for the Goold 'Cycle Company. Two syndicates have purchased Brantford wheels through Mr. Walker and it is probable that more bicycles of this make have been sold than those of any other.

CANOEING.

The annual meeting of the members and stockholders of the Lindsay canoe club was held Friday evening. There was a fair attendance—larger than was expected, owing to the several conflicting meetings. The purser's report, as read by Mr. Stanley Hulme, showed the club to be in an encouraging condition, and the report of Capt. Wm. A. White was equally satisfactory. Thirteen new members were balloted for and duly elected, and the following officers appointed for the ensuing year:

Captain—T. Stewart.
Purser—Stanley Hulme.
Mate—W. A. White.
Executive Committee—A. F. D. MacGachen, F. D. Moore, G. W. Beall.
Regatta Committee—Messrs. McIntyre, Richardson and Parkin.

THE "GLAD TIDINGS"

Dr. Sutherland Appeals to the Government for Aid in the Search for the Missing Steamer.

(Montreal Witness.)

These are the names of the missionaries on board the Methodist missionary steamer, "Glad Tidings," which left Fort Simpson ten days ago for Victoria, and is reported missing:

The Rev. Thomas Crosby, of Fort Simpson.
The Rev. Stanley Osterhout.
The Rev. R. B. Beavis.
The Rev. D. Jennings, from the Uxbridge Conference.
The Rev. B. C. Freeman.
The Rev. J. C. Spencer.
The Rev. G. H. Baley, lately of Peterborough Conference.
The Rev. T. Neville and the Rev. W. H. Piere, the latter a native missionary.

The "Glad Tidings" is a wooden steam yacht about seventy feet in length over all, and has been in use since she was launched ten or eleven years ago as a mission vessel along the coast of British Columbia and round Vancouver Island. Immediately on hearing that the steamer was missing Dr. Sutherland, Methodist missionary secretary, wired Sir Mackenzie Bowell as follows:—

"Ten days ago the mission steam yacht, the 'Glad Tidings,' left Port Simpson for Victoria, B.C., with nine missionaries on board, and has not been heard of since. A telegram has just been received from the Conference now in session at Victoria as follows:—

"Urge the Dominion Government to send a search party for the 'Glad Tidings;' nine missionaries. Government steamer 'Quadrant' available. Steamer must be chartered. I entreat the Government to respond promptly to this appeal."

ALEX. SUTHERLAND.

Dr. Sutherland thinks it probable an accident has happened to the machinery of the steamer, which has delayed them, and as there is no telegraph line up the coast no word could be sent.

A GAOL BIRD ESCAPES.

A Young Mulatto Gets Out of the Central Prison at Toronto.

Jesse Freeman, a young mulatto, who was sentenced to 23 months in the Central Prison from Chatham on April 20th last, cleverly escaped from that institution on May 2nd by concealing himself under a coal car.

Freeman received his sentence for "holding up" a farmer on November 5th, 1894, in Kent County near Chatham, and is one of the murderous "Freeman gang" to whom so many villainous crimes have been traced. He is 23 years of age, a butcher by trade, and weighs 190 pounds. He is 5 feet 5 inches in height and is very bright looking for a mulatto.

The prison officials have traced the man to the C.P.R. track between Locust Hill and Claremont, and it is assumed that he is making for Montreal, but may possibly lay off at Peterborough or Ottawa. Warden Massie is particularly anxious for his arrest, and a liberal reward is offered for his capture. The local police will be glad to receive any tidings concerning a man answering the description.

The Young "Kids."

A YOUNG CONCERN.

The Baby is the youngest concern in the family. It is a growing concern and needs immediate attention. The first need to satisfy is its need of getting out of the stuffy house and into fresh summer air. It is too young to walk and our Baby Carriages are so easy to push, it's no extra work for you. We wish you to see them.

They are made with bamboo or rattan baskets, and are upholstered in Satin or Plush. They have good solid springs, good iron wheels and worth more than we ask. Look at the different styles at $6 to $20.

TOO BIG FOR A BABY CARRIAGE!

This is the "pushing" concern of the family—the noisy "Kid"—who has grown to old for a Baby Carriage, and wants to do its own pushing. Some day they'll want to ride a bicycle; but just now a Tricycle is good enough, and if they don't get it look out for trouble in the house.

For the sake of peace, come and look at our fleet of little three-wheeled racers, for boys or for girls. Children's Waggons, Carts, Wheelbarrows and wheeled goods of other kinds. The maker's character behind every one. Designs the most dashing. Workmanship the most thorough. Prices the LOWEST.

To Robert Phillips, Druggist, Fergus.

This is to certify that I have suffered from piles for a long time and tried several articles recommended for this complaint, but none of them benefitted me till I tried Chase's Ointment, which has completely cured me.

MRS. JOHN GERRIE.

R. Phillips, Jr., Druggist Witness.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

POWER FROM HEAT EXPANSION.

A Motor of Springs and Strings Operated by a Gas Jet.

The motor shown below is operated entirely by the expansion and contraction of metal by the direct application of heat. The bands shown are so connected with springs that when one band is expanded it releases its hold on the springs while the other band is receiving the full pressure of the springs. "Pyrono," says The Scientific American, is the name given this motor by its inventor, Dr. W. W. French, of Fort Branch, Ind. The engraving represents a sectional side elevation of the motor, a loosely rotating wheel having an exterior expanding and contracting rim preferably made by sets of metallic bands arranged one alongside the other.

THE NEW MOTOR.

The bands are subjected to the heat from gas burners which open into a hood on one side of the wheel, and the ends of each band pass over pulleys journaled in suitable bearings in the sides or spiders of the wheel, the two sets of bands passing over corresponding sets of alternately arranged pulleys. The ends of the bands, after passing over the pulleys, connect with links in the middle of the outer leaves of elliptical springs, the springs being attached, at the middle of their inner leaves, to rods secured in the sides of the wheel. The several bands are supported intermediate of their pulleys on posts, and the bands are connected at their middle by inwardly extending links, with levers fulcrumed in the sides of the wheel.

Each link has a turn buckle, whereby the length of the link may be increased or diminished, and the levers are connected by other links with a disk on a crank arm on the shaft. The bands of each set connect at their ends with the same springs, and they connect by independent links with separate levers opposite each other and connected with opposite sides of the disk on the shaft. As a band is heated from the burners, its expansion releases a set of springs, whose closing power is exerted on the ends of another band, and through the two links and lever a pull is exerted on the disk to cause the wheel to rotate in the direction of the arrow. A similar operation takes place with the other bands. The motor is designed to be self-governing, the springs establishing a yielding connection between the bands and levers, to prevent the bands from breaking and take up slack until the running temperature is reached.

DOUBLE-DASHER CHURN.

They May be Operated Together or Separately.

The two dashers with which this churn is provided, one having a vertical and the other a rotary movement may be operated together or either dasher may be used independent of the other. It has been patented recently. The body of the churn has exterior pins on opposite sides, each pin adapted to enter an angular slot in one of the side standards, and the cover is made in two sections, hinged to fit over the upper edge of the body. In the upper ends of the standards is journaled a shaft adapted to be operated by a belt from a hand wheel, the shaft having a crank arm, and a beveled gear being adjustably secured on it, the latter meshing with a similar gear on the upper end of a vertical shaft on whose lower end is secured the hub of a rotary dasher.

Plates of somewhat diamond shape extend diagonally from the hub, the plates being adapted to agitate the milk at the bottom of the churn body. Sliding upon the vertical shaft is a sleeve upon which are located two apertured disks, constituting the vertical dasher, to which movement is communicated by means of a link connecting the upper end of the sleeve with the crank portion of the driving shaft at the top. By simply disconnecting the upper end of the link from the crank the movement of the vertical dasher ceases, and a slight lateral movement of the driving shaft disconnects the bevel gears through which the rotary shaft is operated, both movements being thus readily controlled by the operator for the use of both dashers together or either one separately, as may be desired.

Men's Dress.

The London Lancet finds the question of rational dress for men one that is almost as much worth inquiring into as that of the same for women. "Men," says that journal, "have for ages scoffed at women for the vagaries and flights of fancy displayed in their dress, but there is really little to choose between the sexes except in the great matter of the pocket, for, except a professional thief, no mortal being, even the owner, can get at a woman's pocket."

Some of the evils of men's dress are then pointed out, notably the exposure of the lungs, the most susceptible to injury from cold of any organ of the body. The animal creation is cited to show that nature left to herself takes care of this delicate organ, the polar bear having its thick coating of fur, the whale its blubber, and birds their coating of feathers, with warm underdown—only man showing a foolish disregard for the needs for protection. The fashionable waistcoat is by no means suitable wear. Bad as is man's day dress, however, it is when he gets into his evening clothes that he betrays the greatest want of sense and forethought. "During the day, when he is going about, he wears thick woollen clothes, with stout boots and warm socks. At night he puts on very thin clothes, a waistcoat which is of no protective value whatever, very thin shoes, possibly silk stockings, relinquishes his gaiters, and goes out in the open air thus insufficiently protected on his way to theatre, dinner or ball, congratulating himself," says the Lancet, "that he is not as those poor silly women, who go about with the upper part of their chests bare."—New York Times.

An Interesting Bandit.

Manuel Garcia was a curious character," said a Cuban gentleman in speaking of the reported death of that revolutionist. "He was more like a character in a novel than a man living in the nineteenth century. His home was the mountains, and he led a regular bandit's life, every now and then holding up Spaniards on the road or carrying off one of them and holding him for ransom. He would write to a Spanish planter, "Send me $5,000 or I shall burn your house,' and if the money was not forthcoming he would carry his threat into execution. He would even write to Government officials, signing himself 'King of the Mountains,' and demanding tribute. He never preyed on the native Cubans, only on the Spaniards, and gave most of his money to the revolutionary party to purchase arms."

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but new I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

TEA, COFFEE AND COCOA.

AN INTERESTING LECTURE ON OUR MODERN BEVERAGES.

Good and Bad Qualities of Tea—Objections in the Coloring of Tea—Coffee Easily Adulterated—Cocoa Not Easily Digested or Soluble.

A very interesting lecture, illustrated by stereopticon views, was given by Professor Ellis of the School of Practical Science at the Canadian Institute recently, the subject being "Tea, Coffee and Cocoa." The Professor said that when we drink we are not satisfied with quenching the thirst; we demand a beverage which will stimulate our torpid energies, or refresh our flagging powers. In former times, he said, this want was exclusively filled by alcohol, but, after a while, in Africa, Asia, and, later on, in Europe and America, were found plants whose leaves, roots or berries, produced a stimulant to take the place of alcohol. Al contain alkali; the "alkaloid" and "theine" in tea producing in reasonable quantities a stimulant, in larger quantities paralysis. The tea plant, "Camellia thea," belonging to the camellia tribe, is very closely related to the camellia in our green houses, and is indigenous in Assam, where it is found in the thick jungles as a tree fifteen or twenty feet high; it has a leaf nine inches long or more. In China and Japan, where it is cultivated, it is much smaller, not exceeding six or seven feet high, and the leaves never exceeding four inches in length. The Chinese plant was introduced into India by the Government about 1850, and tea is now made from the Chinese and Indian varieties, and from hybrids. In China much of the tea is grown upon hill sides, but the best is grown on level, fertile plains, where it can be cultivated and manured. The smaller and younger the leaves the better will be the quality of the tea, if it is properly prepared. Black and green teas were formerly believed to be different plants, but Dr. Ellis said, they come from exactly the same plant, the difference being only in the mode of preparation. In both cases the leaves are dried over a fire, but in the case of black tea it is allowed to lie in heaps for a time, when it undergoes a species of withering, and fermentation, and it acquires a dark color. The change is the same which occurs in a damp haystack, where after the hay has been heated, it turns black. This is what is purposely done with tea to make it black. After being withered, the black tea is tossed about in a basket by a man to give it the aroma, and on the proper performance of this work depends the quality and the aroma of the tea. In the manufacture of green tea, instead of being subjected to the withering process, after being rolled it is immediately fired, and it requires three men to attend to the process, owing to the skill and work required to keep it from being colored, and these men have to stand before the fire, in some cases as long as nine hours, before the process is concluded. It is then sifted through bamboo mats of different sizes, the smallest being the best.

CARE OVER GREEN TEA.

Nearly all the tea made in Japan is green, and, to show the care that is taken over green tea, Mr. Ellis said that in transporting the chests to the coasts a coolie was required to carry two chests of black tea, which was a heavy load, and necessitated his frequently putting his load on the ground to rest. Thus, when the roads were muddy and wet it, of course, caused a dampness to the tea, but with green tea a coolie only had to carry one chest, and never, on any account, must he put it on the ground, and he avoids this by fastening the chest to one end of a long pole, with an attachment in the centre to go over his head on to his shoulders. When he is tired he sticks the other end into the ground, and thus takes the weight from off his shoulders. Mr. Ellis next came to the question of adulteration, and he said that he knew of no article of food that was less adulterated than tea. Of course, green tea was colored to suit the taste of the European consumer, and this was done by putting a sufficient quantity of Prussian blue into the pan at the last firing, but the quantity used was harmless, as far larger quantities had been used without any harm being done. He said the Chinese do not use it on the tea they drink, but they say it is easy to make, and if the Europeans like it they can have it. Mr. Ellis said the coloring of tea should be discontinued, as it enabled the Chinese to sell a poorer quality of tea than they could if it was not used. He then came to the chemistry of tea, and said that "theine" was found in tea, 2 1-2 to 3 per cent., producing when taken in sufficient quantities nervousness and sleeplessness. Mr. Ellis narrated a legend of an Indian Prince named Dharma, who in 510 A.D., endeavored to go without sleep. Having on one occasion been overcome with sleep he in his anger at his weakness pulled out his eyelashes and threw them on the ground, from which it is said the tea plant sprang.

ESSENTIAL OIL.

Besides "theine" essential oil is found in black tea to the extent of 1-2 per cent., and in green tea about 1 per cent., which produces the same effect as "theine." Tannin is found in black tea to the amount of 5 per cent., and in green tea to 11 per cent., and is an astringent, which very much interferes with the digestion of fresh meat, and, he said, no doubt it is this tannin that causes indigestion, but he said that it had very little effect on salt meat, and that was one reason why lumbermen could take strong tea in such large quantities, but he said that while theine and the essential oil were easily dissolved, tannin was encased in what is called stone cells and took far longer to dissolve. He then went on to show the mistake of allowing tea to boil, as the tannin is thus brought out, and is, therefore, more injurious.

Coffee, he said, contained the three qualities of tea, but, while tea was adulterated to a very small extent, coffee was one of the most largely adulterated articles of food, chicory being the substance most commonly used. Coffee, he said, yields a light-colored liquid and chicory a very dark one, and a little coffee and a lot of chicory would, of course, make a very dark-colored cup of coffee.

FOOD OF THE GODS.

The cocoa tree, he said, is by many called the "food of the gods," its chief characteristic being that it contains 50 per cent. of fat. Cocoa was believed to be exceedingly nutritious, but it has been shown repeatedly to be to a large extent indigestible and insoluble. The practice of preparing cocoa with milk is a mistake, as milk contained also a large percentage of fat. Cocoa should always be prepared with water.—Toronto Globe.

UTILIZING OLD SHOES.

How Cast-Off Footwear is Made to Serve Useful Purposes.

A new use has been found, it is said, for old boots and shoes. This is how they are treated in the process of conversion into a novel kind of house carpet.

The shoes are thrown promiscuously into an immense tank, into which steam and dissolving compounds are run, thereby causing the old shoes to take a thick liquid form. Certain proportions of tallow, borax and glue are then introduced, and the pulp is run into moulds.

The moulds are shaped after the plan of a regular sand mould, and may have the form of flowers, leaves, figures or geometrical designs. The pulp is run into these moulds and the figure hardens in the cold air. These casts are arranged in the proper figure or design, when a cementing process begins. The cement is a compound made from leather pulp and glue, and it is run between the figures. The figures soften a little with the compound, and the whole hardens together.

In the casting of each figure a different colored pulp is used—red pulp for red roses, white pulp for white flowers, green for leaves and so on. Thus elaborate designs may be carried out. Then comes the pressing by the use of rollers, and polishing with varnish.

The result is a nice-looking floor covering, the cost of which is less than straw matting, and less than oilcloth; in fact, an economical and durable carpeting.—Shoe and Leather Facts.

Octogenarians.

Among the people in active life who have passed the eighty-year mark may be mentioned Mr. Gladstone, Pope Leo XIII., Bismarck, Verdi, Prof. Dana, Bessemer, Sir Henry Parkes, Sir James Bacon, the English jurist; William Salmon, of the Royal College of Surgeons, now 105; General George S. Greene, the oldest living West Point graduate, now 93; Neal Dow, the Rev. William H. Furness, Francis William Newman, a brother of Cardinal Newman; James Martineau, ex-Senator Payne, Senator Morrill, ex-Senator Thurman, Harriet Beecher-Stowe, Bishop Clark of Rhode Island; Curtius, the Greek scholar; and Lady Burdett-Coutts. Justice Field, ex-Senator Dawes, Leon Say, Parke Godwin and Russell Sage will be eighty in 1896. In 1897 King Christopher of Denmark, Prof. Mommsen, Sir John Gilbert and Senator John M. Palmer will reach the octogenarian stage. In 1899 Queen Victoria, Julia Ward Howe, Crispi, General Longstreet, John Ruskin, W. W. Story and Bishop Huntington will make up the list of young octogenarians.—New York Tribune.

Literature and Politics.

One of the advantages which England as a nation has over the United States is the comparative ease with which public opinion is concentrated upon the great issues of the day. This often makes Parliament a much more efficient body and more truly democratic than Congress. The reason lies, in part at least, in the very smallness of Great Britain geographically. It has only one centre, London, and is more homogeneous in population than this country can ever hope to be. It is easier to get a better class of representatives in England. There are many able men in Congress. But how rarely do we hear of a Congressman as ever having made any name outside the walls of the Capitol? In England many of the leading scholars and literary men are always to be found in Parliament; and, what is more, they do not cease their literary labors because they are for the time being politicians. Gladstone has kept up his literary activity throughout his political life. Morley and Bryce and Rosebery and many others are authors of distinction as well as leaders of politics. We hope the time will come when our own lawmakers, many of them, be known as something more than politicians—men of broad culture and national influence outside the limits of their own party and beyond the walls of Congress.—Boston Standard.

STRICKEN WITH A PARTIAL PARALYSIS

This Was the Case with Miss Minnie Stevens, of London, Ont.

The Parents Had Lost Hope of Her Recovery, But Even After Her Arm, Side and Leg Had Become Powerless South American Nervine Effected a Cure—To-day This Young Lady, Daughter of F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, Enjoys Perfect Health.

MISS MINNIE STEVENS, LONDON, ONT.

Men and women in the exercise of physical or mental power can usually go a certain length, but a step beyond this proves too severe a test. It is the same in the field of medicine. If the case is not a trying one some simple remedy will cure, but it is when a medicine proves effective in an aggravated and extraordinary case that its real power is tested. South American Nervine has made some wonderful cures in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, debility and nervous prostration, not to name other troubles. When nervousness, however, takes hold of the system to that extent that it becomes paralyzed and the limbs lose their natural power, then it is that the patient and her friends may indeed commence to lose heart. Miss Minnie Stevens, a fair daughter of London, Ont., had undergone this trying experience. She had been troubled with nervousness. The trouble grew and after a time assumed such shape that she could not lift or even hold anything in her hand. This member, in fact, was useless to her. The trouble spread down the side and partially into one leg. Her face began to twitch. In truth, all the indications of paralysis creeping over the system were manifest. Do we wonder that her parents lost hope of her recovery? They saw the fatal disease rapidly twining itself around their beautiful child. Surrounded with every comfort and possessing the means as well as the will to do everything that was in their power to provide relief, yet, apparently, this could not be obtained, until influenced by the statements of the wonderful cures effected by South American Nervine in case of nervous prostration, the parents finally decided to try this medicine. After using twelve bottles their daughter became perfectly well, and to day in the Forest City there is no young girl more healthy than Minnie Stevens, and her father, Mr. F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, is indeed a happy man. The statement cannot be made in too positive and distinct terms that this great discovery is capable of marvelous demonstration in all nervous troubles.

The testimony that comes to the proprietor of Nervine shows that it has absolutely cured in the case of the young, as here cited, and those who have nearly reached, or gone beyond, the three score years and ten have likewise found a cure in this medicine.

ONE BY-LAW WHICH IS NEEDED.

The Dogs of Peterborough Should be More Strictly Looked After.

One thing has been brought out clearly by the recent dog-poisoning cases and that is that a bylaw for the regulation of dogs should be enacted by the Peterborough council. The Municipal Act provides for this, as will be seen by the following:

"The council of every city, etc., may pass by-laws:

"Section 489:

"Sub-section 15—For restraining and regulating the running at large of dogs, and for imposing a tax on the owners, possessors or harbourers of dogs.

"Sub-section 16—For killing dogs running at large contrary to bylaws.

There is certainly room for wide differences of opinion with regard to the dog-nuisance question, so long as a municipality neglects to establish machinery by which the owners of dogs may be compelled to reasonably restrict their wanderings. Dog owners should not complain against a regulation requiring them to keep their animals at home after dark, and this would afford considerable relief to residents, because most of the damage to flowers, gardens, etc., is done then; while, during the day time, they are able to guard their premises.

The mere fact that a dog owner can be held liable for the damage caused by his animal is of very little practical use, as on the one hand it is impossible to trace the depredations of a midnight marauder while on the other it would often be of no avail were the dog identified, as it is a recognized fact that very many owners of canines are financially irresponsible, and can afford to snap their fingers at anything in the shape of an execution.

In the interest of the owners of valuable dogs, most of whom are careful of others' rights as well as their own, it is desirable that the midnight wandering of useless curs should be prevented; while every citizen is concerned in the preservation and beautifying of the private grounds, which are the pride of so many of our residents and the admiration of visitors to the town.

BANKED HIS MONEY IN A MANGER

And a Naughty Cow Ate up the Bills.

A well-known citizen of Ross Township, says the Pembroke Observer, has found by somewhat costly experience that a manger is not the best place in the world to deposit his accumulations of filthy lucre. He recently undertook to secrete the sum of fifty-nine dollars and thought the manger of one of his stables a good place for that purpose. An inquisitive cow came along shortly afterwards, discovered the cache and incontinently swallowed the whole boodle. The old gentleman—we presume he was feeling so about this time—shortly discovered both his loss and the cause of it. He thereupon slaughtered the unfortunate bovine, and found his roll of bills in a sadly emulped state in her stomach. The bills were mainly the issue of the Ottawa Bank, and the mass was shipped to Ottawa. There, after much tribulation and no small gnashings of teeth on the part of the bank experts, the sum of $15 was rescued from the pulp, the balance being destroyed beyond hope of recovery. The lesson is obvious. Neither a stable nor a cow's stomach makes a good savings bank for paper lucre. Perhaps, the case might also be strained into a moral favourable to the gold standard.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.

Abraham Wilson, Charged with Shooting at His Wife and Daughter, July 1st, 1895, Returns to Campbellford.

(Campbellford Gazette.)

Many in Campbellford will remember the excitement and sensation caused about two years ago by the Wilson shooting affair. On the evening of July 1st, 1895, Abraham Wilson's son laid information against him charging him with shooting at his wife and daughter with intent to kill. The Police Magistrate issued a warrant for his arrest and placed it in the hands of Constable Robinson, who at once proceeded to make the arrest. But no trace of Wilson could be found. A searching party was organized and armed with guns, etc., a thorough search of the woods around here was made only to end in failure. Nothing further was heard of him from that time until last Thursday when Wilson entered the office of the Police Magistrate and gave himself up for trial. He claims now that he had no intention of killing Mrs. Wilson and her daughter, but was celebrating the 1st of July. Since the evening of his flight he has been on the Manitoulin Island and several other places and has had quite a hard time of it. While building a house some time ago he fell from the roof and broke the bones in one of his feet and was laid up in the hospital for some time. His wife and daughter are now residing in Jamestown, N.Y., and it is doubtful if they will appear against him. The date of his examination has not yet been fixed.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Runaway Horse Jumps into the Lake.

On Monday last Rev. Mr. Curts, Methodist missionary in Stanhope, who is well known in Peterborough, was driving in the neighborhood of Little Boshung Lake, when his horse became restive and ran away.

Reaching an opening in the woods leading down to the lake the crazy animal rushed towards the water, and deliberately jumped into the lake, carrying Mr. Curts and his road cart with him.

The water being very deep at this point, Mr. Curts got himself disengaged from the rig, and managed to get out of a waterproof coat and cape he had on, and swam to the shore, where he divested himself of part of his clothing, and swam out to secure his satchel, which he did, and landing it he returned to try and work his horse ashore, when he took a cramp in one of his legs and sank, but recovered himself sufficiently to gain the shore, where he fell exhausted, and was found some time after in an insensible condition by friends who took him in charge and looked after him, but he was on latest report still very weak and suffering from the effects of his adventure.

No trace of the horse has been found yet, although the parties have been grappling for him in order to rescue the harness and rig attached to him. Rev. Mr. Curts formerly lived in Belleville where his mother at present resides.

"Girls, This is Rudyard Kipling."

Rudyard Kipling's somewhat saturnine reputation in Brattleboro society is offset by the description of one who saw him at a little hotel in Gloucester last summer. There he showed himself most modest, ingenuous and companionable. He read some unpublished jungle stories to the guests, and not only entertained, but gave himself up agreeably to entertainment. He was especially pleased by the performances in negro dialect of a Southern girl. One song, an almost incommunicable jargon, he got her to repeat; and the next day, when every one else had quite forgotten it, he surprised the company by singing the ditty from beginning to end, with a sly twinkle and the drollest imitation.

Here is a story he told of himself: "One day I was sitting in my bachelor study in London when suddenly a gentleman appeared at the door unannounced, followed by two young ladies. 'Is this Rudyard Kipling?' inquired the gentleman. 'Yes,' I answered. I turned around. 'Girls, this is Rudyard Kipling.' 'And this is where you write?' he continued. 'Yes,' I replied. 'Girls, this is where he writes.' And before I had time to offer them tea," said Mr. Kipling, "they were gone, girls and all. I suppose they had all literary London to do in that way."—The Bookman.

GLADSTONE SAYS HANG ON

When Asked If the Ministry Should Resign

London, May 13.—Mr. Gladstone is now at Hawarden, where he is quietly passing the time in arranging his correspondence and making extensive notes regarding the principal episodes in his career, for the assistance of his biographer. The ex-Premier is in excellent health.

Lord Rosebery's friends in the Cabinet, having asked the advice of Mr. Gladstone regarding their action, the ex-Premier replied he would advise the Ministers not to resign until the debates upon the measures mentioned in the speech from the throne shall have been concluded. If the House of Lords accept these measures, the Liberals will be able to ask a renewal of the country's confidence, in view of the work they have achieved, and if they reject them their action will add strength to the anti-Lords policy, which the Government is convinced is a necessary forerunner of Liberal legislation. Mr. Gladstone greatly regrets that he will be unable to make a speech, though he hopes that he may be able to write a letter to the electors of the Midlothian district regarding the policy of their next candidate.

A session of the Privy Council was held at Windsor Saturday, at which Lord Rosebery was present. The Premier cannot bear the present position of the Government, which is due solely to the Queen's long absence and the accumulation of State papers awaiting signature and other details, such as the introduction of Speaker Gully to Her Majesty. The Queen wishes that Parliament be not dissolved until after she has arrived, and it has been decided that the dissolution shall be postponed until she arrives.

Events, however, may prove stronger than the wishes of the exalted personages. No one accepts the official version that Lord Rosebery's lapse of memory at the annual reception of the National Liberal Club on the evening of the 8th instant was equal to the attack of influenza which he suffered recently. The gray pallor which spread over his features and the beads of perspiration which stood out upon his face showed the attack was something much more serious than it was said to be. However, he struggles cheerfully to perform his duties. After the sitting of the House of Lords Friday he had a conference with Mr. H. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, and then went to his mansion at Epsom.

Lord Rosebery and his physicians are mutually somewhat disgusted. The doctors regard the Premier as intractable, and he ridicules their nostrums. Mr. Gladstone has suggested to him that he banish all political pursuits and devote his leisure to the study of ancient theology. Mr. Campbell Bannerman advised him to read French novels. To this suggestion Lord Rosebery replied that he had tried the plan, but it had failed utterly. Mr. Campbell-Bannerman retorted that he ought not to read pessimistic literature, but stories of adventure and romance. Meanwhile the Premier has consented to take a short voyage. He will embark at Portsmouth on the Admiralty yacht Enchantress on May 13 and cruise through the channel.

The defeat of the Government in the House of Commons is not considered likely. The rank and file of both parties do not wish to interrupt with the turmoil of an election the return of industrial prosperity which is apparent everywhere. The Economist publishes reports from the provinces showing an increase in the booking of orders and an upward movement of prices.

The Spectator, in an article on the situation in the east, expresses the belief that after five years of uneasy peace, a conflict between Russia and Japan will be inevitable. Japan, the paper says, will spend the indemnity she receives from China in bringing her sea power to a formidable footing. Russia knows this, and will give to Spain the chief place in the arrangement of new negotiations, because the owner of the Philippines would be useful to Russia in the event of a Japanese war.

The pulpits of 200 of London's churches will be occupied on June 16 by women, who will preach a campaign of religion, temperance, social purity and opposition to the turf.

A demonstration in favor of monometallism is projected in London.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has consented to receive a deputation made up of members of the House of Commons, the Governors of the Bank of England and several bankers, upon which occasion he will deliver an important speech upon the necessity for maintaining the present system of currency.

Ballard Smith cables: It is not Rosebery's resignation, but Harcourt's ill-temper that is the most dangerous rock ahead for the Government. He persists in his determination to bring forward at the first opportunity his bill for local veto on the liquor traffic, though it has been by all but the temperance supporters of the Government in the House with decided disfavor. In fact, the general prognostication is that if it is ever brought to the second reading the Government will fall. It is well known that the Liberal leaders in the House of Commons have never forgiven Lord Rosebery for getting the premiership over his head.

The only real chance of success at the next election the Unionists now have is on the liquor issue. This question has wrecked every Government that ever took it up owing to the enormous resources of the brewing interest and the widespread organisation the brewers have at their command in the public houses.

There was a time, not so long ago either, when the return of New South Wales to the free trade policy, after its period of wandering about the protectionist swamp at the heels of Sir George Dibbs, would have created a wide and deep enthusiasm here. Very little, however, has been said about it. A certain lethargy on the whole subject of tariffs is undoubtedly perceptible nowadays in England. The Cobden Club Committee, for instance, at the annual meeting the other day only got a small percentage of members together, and the only business transacted was the decision that there could be no dinner this year, because there were no funds in the treasury. It is not at all that thinking men's opinions are changing, but that their eagerness to do battle for them has faded away.

Acting through the blood, Hood's Sarsaparilla not only cures scrofula, salt rheum, etc., but gives health and vigor to the whole body.

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

Startling Testimony at Yesterday's Hearing.

EXPRESSMAN FOX ON THE STAND.

Fox Swears the Warehouse Doors Were Locked at 10 on the Day of the Tragedy—All About the Elevator—Mrs. Hyams Is Ill.

Toronto, May 14.—The fourth of the Hyams trial was taken up with the evidence of Uriah Jones of Pickering, the uncle of the alleged murdered boy, and of Joseph Fox, the expressman who was the first man in the warehouse on the day of the tragedy, after the arrival of Dr. King. Fox gave his evidence in a manner that was calculated to convince the jury that he was anxious to tell the truth; but his testimony differed in many respects from that which he gave at the preliminary examination. There was little of importance brought out in Fox's testimony; but there was one feature of his evidence that caused a sensation in court. That was with reference to a request made to him by Dallas Hyams that he should ask Undertaker Humphrey to keep his mouth shut in reference to a certain matter. It appears that a man named Sullivan, who was at that time either proprietor or manager of the Oriental Laundry, called upon Fox and told him that unless the Hyams brothers "let up" in their efforts to make Sullivan and one Wilson, cashier of a bank in the city, pay their indebtedness to the Hyams Bros., he (Sullivan) would "open up" on the Hyams Bros., and that they intended to see Undertaker Humphrey in the matter. Then it was that Dallas told Fox to see Humphrey and request him to keep his mouth shut. This testimony naturally created a sensation in the court.

The Crown claims that the telegram addressed to Uriah Jones, Pickering, which was written out by Willie Wells in the presence of his sisters on Sunday evening, January 15, and stated that he would be down on Monday, was suppressed by Harry Hyams, who agreed to send it from Currie's drug store at Church-street and Wilton-avenue, but failed to do so. Local Manager Hogarth of the G.N.W. and Isaac Currie, the agent, produced the record sheets of messages sent on Sunday and Monday, but there was no entry of this telegram. Uriah Jones, the uncle of the dead boy, also swore that he never received any such message.

Jones was then questioned as to the purchase of a farm by deceased. The agreement for the transference for the farm was submitted, but witness being unable to read or write could not identify it. Jones, however, identified his mark on the document and despite the objection of the defence His Lordship ruled that the agreement should go in on this identification. The agreement was signed on January 6, 1893, and $1000 of the purchase money was to be paid at Whitby on January 10. That day witness received this telegram:

Cannot come until to-morrow afternoon. Will wire when coming. WILLIE.

On January 14 he received this telegram:

Meet me at Whitby at 2.30, at Aunty's. WILLIE.

He went to Whitby, but Wells did not put in an appearance. The next telegram he received was on Tuesday, Jan. 17. It read:

Will G. Wells killed by accident to-day. Buried at Oshawa Wednesday. AYLESWORTH.

The defence will put in evidence with a view of showing that at the time of the tragedy the police authorities, after investigating the facts, concluded that the affair was an accident. It was in this line that the cross-examination of this witness was conducted by Mr. Lount. Witness denied that he had received a letter from either Detectives Cuddy or Davis after the tragedy, but admitted that he had received a letter from Chief of Police Grasett. This letter informed Jones that the officials were satisfied the death of Wells was accidental, he had returned it to Inspector Stark. Mr. Lount applied for and the Crown promised to furnish him with a copy.

Joseph Fox, the expressman, who did business for the Hyams while they were in possession of the Colborne-street warehouse, testified as to the handling of two or three "jags" of furniture to the warehouse. Then he described the entrances to the building.

The changing of the heavy weight on the elevator for lighter ones was gone into at length by Mr. Osler. Witness swore that the effect of putting on the light weight would be to render the elevator less safe, as the light weight would not more than balance the cage, even if it did that. If any weight was put on the cage it would descend with great velocity, as the weight would not balance it.

He would not swear whether it was before or after the experiments with the light weight that the elevator cage was repaired and gates put on the front of it. The hook in the weight was similar to the one in the weight produced and the splicing of the rope was identical.

Fox testified to the erection of a platform on the south side of the elevator near the weight shaft on the top flat. He could not tell what the object was, but he thought it was for the purpose of having a place for changing the weights, at least that was the idea of one of the prisoners, as expressed to witness. This platform was built shortly after prisoners entered the warehouse. The platform could be used to change the weights, but the easiest way was to change them on the ground floor. There was no need of the platform that he could see.

Proceeding, Fox testified that he went to the Colborne-street warehouse about 10 o'clock on the morning of the tragedy. He first tried the east door and found it locked. He then went to the west door. It also was locked. He had turned away and crossed the street half way when Harry Hyams unlocked the door and called, "Hello Fox," and admitted him. Harry Hyams appeared agitated and his hands were bleeding. Fox asked him what was the matter, and he said: "We've had a dreadful accident." Witness asked who was hurt and Hyams replied, "Willie Wells is killed." Fox asked him where the boy was, and he said he was down the cellar. Fox proposed to go down and see him, but Harry told him not to go down until the coroner came, with the remark that "The coroner wouldn't hurt him." Fox proceeded to the basement.

Then Mr. Osler questioned the witness with a view of contradicting the story told by Harry Hyams to Martha Wells. The prisoner, it will be recollected, told her that Fox had followed him from Leader-lane and entered the warehouse immediately behind him. Fox swore that he came to the warehouse from the west, that he did not follow Harry Hyams into the warehouse, and that the first time he saw the prisoner was when he came to the door and called out to him.

Then Fox proceeded to describe what took place in the cellar. He had asked how the accident occurred and Harry said either that the weight or the elevator had slipped. Harry said that Dallas had fainted down stairs. "I found him fainted," was the expression Harry used.

When Fox saw the body it was lying on its stomach, with the hands stretched out straight behind the head, turned sideways with the right side up. The body lay with the head pointing toward the northwest. The right leg was slightly drawn up. There was a pair of old gloves on the hands. Witness was quite confident about the gloves, because he took them off the hands himself.

Harry Hyams told Martha Wells that Fox assisted him to lift the weight off her brother's head. This Fox denied, but stated that when he went downstairs the weight was leaning against the elevator, a couple of feet distant from the head of deceased. The rope which should be attached to the weight was not in sight in the cellar. He remembered seeing a chisel and hammer in the cellar, but would not like to say whether there was an ax there or not. The stove was generally going, but he could not say whether the cellar was warm or cold that morning.

Fox swore that the spectacles of Willie Wells were on his face. The right eyeglass was broken, but the left whole. "I took them off his face and handed them to Mr. Harry Hyams."

Continuing, witness said he could not remember whether the frame of the spectacles "was steel, gold, brass or anything else." Neither could he give any further description of the glasses. Young Wells was very near sighted. He could not see an object three yards away without glasses. claims that he would not have thought of going near the elevator without his glasses on. These glasses have been missing since the accident. It was important for the defence that these glasses should be accounted for. Fox swore they were on Wells after his death.

Witness said he went to Humphrey's undertaking establishment on one occasion.

"Was it in consequence of anything that either of the prisoners said that you went there?" asked Mr. Osler.

"Dallas told me to go there and tell Humphrey to keep his mouth shut, that's all," said the witness. Then he went on: "Mr. Sullivan, of the Oriental laundry, who had borrowed $1300 or $1400 from the Hyams, came to witness' house and said that if the Hyams didn't keep their mouths shut about the money Sullivan would "open up" on them, and that they intended going to see Humphrey. Then Dallas told witness to go and see Humphrey.

"What was Humphrey to keep his mouth shut about?" asked Mr. Osler. "I don't know," said the witness.

"Now, I want you to tell me just what you told Dallas Hyams before he told you to see Humphrey?"—A. I told Dallas that Sullivan had been at my place and said that if the Hyams didn't stop suing Wilson, cashier in one of the banks, that they were going to open out on the Hyams; that the best thing the Hyams could do was to keep quiet, and that they intended seeing Humphrey. Then Dallas said: "Well, you just go up and see Humphrey and tell him to keep his mouth shut, and have no conversation with him—something to that effect."

"What was Humphrey to keep his mouth shut about?"—A. "I can't tell."

After Fox had said that he never knew anything wrong with the elevator, except on the occasion when Kidd was repairing the cage, Mr. Lount took the witness.

To prove that the Hyams might have expected Fox to drop in the morning of the tragedy between 9 and 10, witness was asked if he was in the habit of dropping into the warehouse of a morning between these hours.

Fox said that Willie Wells was in the habit of riding around the first floor of the warehouse on a bicycle, and Harry Hyams warned him "to be very careful or he would be happening with an accident." It was after this morning that the gates were put on. The gates would prevent a person falling into the elevator.

The elevator was a rickety sort of thing. "It was like working your life out to pull it up," said the witness.

Mr. Lount asked this question: "Now you have said that when you first saw the body it was lying on its stomach with the right side of the face upward. Now, that would be the position, would it not, in which a person would fall, if he was looking up the shaft and was struck by the weight?"

"It might possibly be so," said the witness, and with this answer Mr. Lount had to be content.

Reverting to the spectacles, Fox said he did not notice them until the coroner had gone and the body was turned over. The spectacles looked as if they had been pressed together and the portion covering the right eye bent backwards.

Fox said he did not observe any blood on Harry Hyams' shirt front. Had there been any he felt satisfied he would have seen it, as he was talking to him for 15 minutes.

The man who purchased the packing cases stored on the first flat will swear that there were spots of blood on the cases. To offset this Fox was asked what he did with the blood-stained coat which was taken off Wells by the undertaker and he swore that he carried it upstairs and laid it on a packing case.

Then Mr. Lount touched upon the Sullivan threat to "open up" on the Hyams if they didn't be careful what they were doing and let Wilson alone. Fox understood that both Wilson and Sullivan owed the Hyams and the latter were pressing for payment. Fox stuck to the story that Dallas told him to tell Humphrey to keep his mouth shut. "I am instructed by Dallas," said Mr. Lount, "that what he told you was to tell Humphrey to pay no attention to them. Is that correct?" "No," said the witness, "he told me to tell Humphrey to keep his mouth shut. I remember that distinctly."

Counsel for defence sought to introduce evidence as to warnings given Wells by the prisoners as to the danger of the elevator.

Mr. Osler held that these warnings were exactly what a person contemplating the crime which the Crown alleges was committed would do, His Lordship admitted the testimony of Fox as to these warnings.

Fox swore that the time the weight slipped off he found it resting on its end on the buffer. At the preliminary examination he swore it was out of the casing and lying on its flat on the ground. When this fact was called to his attention he took back his statement that it was resting on its end.

Witness swore that Wells was in the habit of bringing coal up on the elevator, and when doing so wore the gloves which were on his hands when Fox saw the dead body.

Fox was still in the box when the court adjourned.

PEACE TREATY RATIFIED.

But Spain Objects to Japan Occupying Formosa.

London, May 14.—A despatch to The Central News from Tokio says that an Imperial decree has been issued, setting forth that the envoys of Japan and China have completed the task entrusted to them of negotiating a treaty of peace between the two countries. The decree, after stating the conditions of peace agreed upon, says that Russia, Germany and France advised Japan that the permanent retention by her of the Liao Tung Peninsula would not conduce to lasting peace in the Orient and urged the retrocession of that territory to China. The decree then continues: "We have always been anxious to establish and maintain peace. Our object in the recent war was to found an enduring peace. We believe that Russia, France and Germany are imbued with the same feeling. Therefore, we will not insist upon the retention of the Liao Tung Peninsula. We do not wish to raise fresh trouble, increase the calamities of our people, or to obstruct the expansion of our country by deterring a restoration of the blessings of peace. China has shown regret for the breach of friendship, thus justifying before the world Japan's action. Japan will comply with the desires of Russia, France and Germany. The manner in which the Liao Tung Peninsula will be restored to China will be arranged by China and Japan.

"Now that the treaty of peace has been duly ratified, and the ratifications exchanged, our former friendship with China is restored and the ties attaching us to neutral countries are made closer. Let our officials and people keep this steadily in view."

The despatch adds that Admiral Ito has been appointed chief of the Navy Department, in room of Admiral Viscount Kabayama Sukonori, who has been selected to go to Formosa to formally annex the island of which he will be the Viceroy. Admiral Kabayama will be accompanied to Formosa by Mizuno Jun, Chief Secretary of the Lower House of the Japanese Diet, who has been appointed head of the civil administration of Formosa.

A despatch to the Central News from Madrid says it is understood that Spain has sent a note to Russia, France and Germany, contending that as the Japanese did not hold Formosa when the treaty of peace was signed, their right to occupy the island in face of the opposition of its inhabitants is indisputable and is a suitable pretext for further intervention.

WAR IN THE TRANSVAAL.

The Boers Will Have 20,000 Men to Suppress the Uprising.

London, May 14.—A despatch to The Times from Pretoria says that a great native war is imminent in Zoutpansberg. The paramount Chief Magato has dismissed a Transvaal commission from his country. The Makatese tribes are massing at their various strongholds. They are armed mainly with modern rifles, which they obtained from the Portuguese Coast territory. Gen. Joubert, commanding the forces of the Transvaal, will summon 8000 whites and 12,000 native allies and will assume personal command of them. The campaign is expected to open forthwith, and is likely to last six months. The seat of the trouble is 400 miles north of Johannesburg.

Cheats at Bowmanville.

Bowmanville, May 14.—Fourteen years ago Mary Bark, wife of Capt. Thomas Brown, a shipmaster, was buried in the corporation cemetery, with her child. A few nights ago some person broke into the Cemetery Superintendent's house and took three shovels and two spades. The bodies were exhumed and taken away, only pieces of the coffin, the breast-plate and a braid of hair being found near the grave.

WOMAN AS MAN.

THERE is no end of fuss made over women these days. A local minister has preached on women two Sundays in succession, and another minister has spoken twice in one day on the same gentle subject. Women are declared fit for almost anything these days. And a queer compound she is. She will withstand a man to his face, yet shriek and run at the sight of a mouse. She will mount the platform as bold as brass, yet will collapse in hysterics—if she can't get her way otherwise. She was created a "help" meet for man, but now she insists on leading the procession. Woman is becoming aggressively dangerous. Next we shall have her giving a revised translation of the Bible, and you may be certain that the writings of that saintly celibate, St. Paul, will be awfully revised where they speak of the subordinate sphere of women. Woman may yet become a factor in politics, which might be a blessing in disguise—a few live women, as defeated candidates, would make a healthy addition to the other old women that now doze away the hours at a thousand dollars a session in the national dormitory at Ottawa. In the past we have had altogether a very pleasant time with the women, and there are millions ready to quote, "Woman, with all thy faults, I love thee still,"—but who, that loves a woman because she is a woman, can be expected to fall in with the modern development, and become enamoured of a being that takes on the attributes, professions, practices and trowsers of man. All our old fogies will love and respect woman all the more if she will stick to her knitting, and instead of "darning" her condition, darn the openings in the heels of masculine socks.

HE IS FEARED.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT is a very brisk thorn in the flesh of the Conservative politicians. If he finds it necessary, in order to show the incompetency and mismanagement of the Government to speak of what they have made the country, he is accused of decrying the country. If the Conservative politicians and organs want to quiet Sir Richard and the accusing voice of conscience, let the protection party fulfil the promises made in the name of the N.P.—which promises were the conditions under which a deluded people consented to the experiment of of enriching themselves by high taxation. Let them give us the home market, reciprocity, those millions of British capital, that forest of tall chimneys, under which everybody was to have perpetual employment at the highest rate of wages. Let them give us economical government; let them keep Canada for Canadians and strangle the exodus. Let them people the Northwest and grow that promised 640 million of bushels of wheat a year. Let them bulge the public treasury with plethoric surpluses instead of yawning deficits to the tune of five millions a year. Let them govern the country honestly and intelligently, and they need have no fear of "blue ruin" speeches from Sir Richard Cartwright or anybody else. According to Sir Richard's enemies, the man that discovers, is much worse than the man that commits, a crime. After all, Sir Richard is hated because he is feared.

Lord Rosebery's momentary loss of memory in the course of a speech in the House of Commons the other day, was a trifling affair compared to Hon. Mr. Foster's "moments of weakness" and "clerical errors" and loss of temper.

THE fates are against Finance Foster. When the revenue puts on a spurt to overtake the deficit, the expenditure responds to the spurt also, and we see it creep to the front at a good pace. The Dominion revenue returns for April show an increase of $480,000, as compared with the corresponding month of last year, but the Government managed to increase the expenditure by $900,000.

ANOTHER example of "to the victors belong the spoils" is found in the last estimates of the Government. Arnprior with a population of 3,341 gets a $7,500 post office and Picton, population 3,227, gets a $10,000 post office, and Cayuga, in Haldimand, that rolled up so big a majority for Dr. Montague, with a population of 1000, has $7,000 government buildings. Woodstock, which has a population of 9,000, has no post office building, or for that matter any other public building. Woodstock should make dicker with the government—return a Tory M.P. and the government buildings would come with a rush.

LAST year the Dominion Government spent $168,000 on red tape and only $312,000 on the red coats that cover the backs of the back-bone of our military system, the volunteers. That is to say:

Department at Ottawa	$88,000
Headquarters and district staff	32,000
Transport staff	9,000
Civil employees, paymasters, etc	40,000
	$168,000

This for the fuss and feathers department of our militia, while the rank and file the real men—the men that do the fighting—city and rural battalions, all told, got only $312,000. What a startling innovation it would be if our rulers at Ottawa were to take to managing public business on business principles—spend the money of the people where it would do the most good to the department administered and to the public at large.

FROST AND SNOW RUIN FRUIT.

The Country Visited by Unseasonable Weather

Grimsby, May 13.—All fruits except apples and pears badly damaged. Grain very little.

Meaford, May 13.—Very severe frost in this section. Grapes all gone, strawberries damaged very materially. Cannot tell extent of grains.

Chatham, May 13.—Not yet able to ascertain extent of damage by the frost, but it is feared the loss will be serious.

Oakville, May 13.—Heavy frost last night, ice 1 1-4 inches thick. Grapes, cherries, plums and strawberries damaged. Grain crops not damaged.

Beamsville, May 13.—It is thought that, aside from the grapes being badly cut, the frost of last night has not been very severe on either fruit or grain.

Amherstburg, May 13.—The frost of Saturday night did slight damage in this vicinity, principally to fruit trees and corn.

Grape Crop Ruined.

Niagara, May 13.—The heavy frost of the last two nights has entirely destroyed the grape crop in this vicinity, and also all the tomatoes that have been set out. Strawberries and peaches are very seriously damaged, as are all other small fruits. Grain and other crops are very little hurt, if at all.

Havoc in the Niagara District.

St. Catharines, May 13.—The thermometer, which ranged between 85 and 90 degrees most of last week, took a sudden drop on Sunday morning, and during Sunday night and Monday sad havoc was wrought in the Niagara district.

Hundreds of acres of grapes just bursting into leaf were burned black. Peaches are also probably ruined.

Garden stuff of all kinds was cut down everywhere, and the financial damage will be enormous.

There is hope that many of the grapes may put out shoots again, but the worst is feared.

Of course it is easy enough to duplicate garden stuff, but the blow to the fruit-growing industry here is a severe one.

At 5 o'clock in the morning the thermometer registered from 24 to 26 degrees according to location.

11 Inches of Snow and Still Snowing.

Detroit, Mich., May 13.—Frederick, Mich., reports from 9 to 11 inches of snow, Grayling 10 inches, Ossimike 8 inches and still snowing, Lewiston 8 inches and still snowing, Menominee 4 inches, with all gardens and many fruit and shade trees ruined, and Manistee 2 inches. The frost did no damage to fruit trees at Grand Haven, and it is believed that generally throughout the State fruit has escaped serious injury.

A Blinding Snowstorm.

South Bend, Ind., May 13.—A blinding snowstorm has been raging here since 4 o'clock this afternoon, with the temperature four degrees above the freezing point.

Snow Storm on Lake Superior.

Duluth, Minn., May 13.—Heavy frosts are reported all over this section of the state. The weather is cold, almost down to freezing, and a heavy snow is raging on the lake.

Ten Inches of Snow.

Gaylord, Mich., May 13.—A raging northeast snowstorm has prevailed during the night, and the snow is 10 inches deep on the level this morning.

DEBT A BAR TO UNION.

Newfoundland's Debt $13,000,000—Canada Willing to Assume $10,000,000 If Britain Will Assume the Balance.

St. John's, Nfld., May 13.—The Whiteway executive held two cabinet meetings to-day. The situation in respect to confederation with Canada is not as satisfactory as it might be. The debt of Newfoundland is $15,000,000, and this is a formidable obstacle to the union. Canada's debt is only $50 per capita. She is willing to assume $10,000,000 of Newfoundland's debt, which would represent the same proportion of her per capita indebtedness. There is slight likelihood of the Imperial Government assuming the remaining $5,000,000.

It is reported that the Government is trying to negotiate another loan to help meet the claims of savings banks depositors and it is said that this is partly to be the object of Mr. Bond's mission to Ottawa.

The Government is preparing to introduce a stringent retrenchment scheme at Thursday's meeting of the Legislature. It also promises to present a report of the confederation negotiations with Canada.

Can Have a Royal Commission.

London, May 14.—The Times says it is understood that if Newfoundland asks for the appointment of a Royal Commission to enquire into the finances of the colony the request will be granted.

CONTRACTOR AT LOCK 27 GETS

Judge Desnoyers Decides That the Pay-lists Were Genuine.

Drunkenness in England.

In England during one year for which returns have been furnished, there were 142,725 convictions for drunkenness, of which 11,178 were for offences committed between noon and midnight on Sundays. This does not show that there was excessive indulgence on Sabbath days more than on others. In Wales the proportion of Sunday convictions was still less, numbering only 772, out of a total of 10,347. Compared with this return for the whole of Wales, there is a significance in the fact that in the border county of Monmouth, to which the Sunday closing act does not apply, there were 110 convictions for drunkenness on Sunday, against 868 on other days.

One of the best evidences that Ayer's Hair Vigor is an article of exceptional merit is the fact that the demand for it is constantly increasing. No one who uses this incomparable dressing thinks of trying any other preparation for the hair.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold traveller's imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

A DOSE FOR HAGGART

Prescribad by Dr. Macdonald of Huron.

HE SQUIRMED BUT HAD TO TAKE IT

Interesting Episode Showing How Unreliable Conservative Campaign Speeches Are Hail Contract Let Without Tender. Mr. McMullen Will Resume the Budget Debate To-Day.

Ottawa, May 14.—The subject of the Newfoundland negotiations, which proved such a red rag to the Minister of Finance on Friday last, was again mentioned by Hon. L. H. Davies in the House yesterday. The Minister was not communicative, but he was civil, which is no small concession for one occupying such an exalted position in the affairs of state. He told Mr. Davies that the Government had no official information that Hon Robert Bond of the Newfoundland Administration had set out for Ottawa with the object of having a further conference with the Dominion Government on the terms of union.

The Solicitor-General, in response to a demand for information made by Mr Davies, enclosed some interesting facts hitherto unknown by the public relating to the speculations of T. J. Watters, the Acting Commissioner of Customs, who is now serving a 12-months' term in the Carleton County Jail.

Another case of a valuable contract being awarded by the Government without tender was disclosed. In reply to a question by Mr. Davies, the Minister of Trade and Commerce stated that a new contract, dated March 5, had been entered into with Pickford & Black of Halifax without competition for a steamship West Indian ports. The subventions [illegible]

Dr. Landerkin had a question on the paper relating to an article that had been published by The Peterboro Examiner, directed against the abuse of the pension and superannuation system by the Government. The Speaker, on the authority of the rule of the House and the writings of the celebrated May, held that the question was not in accordance with Parliamentary rule.

"Well, Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the question," said the Doctor grandly whereat the House roared.

When the leader of the Third Party asked the Government a few days ago what the outcome of the Remedial Order would be should Manitoba refuse to obey it, the Minister of Justice replied by quoting Mr. McCarthy's own opinion on the subject. Yesterday the Government added insult to injury by flinging the French language at his head. Mr. McCarthy asked this question: "Whether the Minister of Public Works is correctly reported in The Montreal Herald of the 8th instant, in the speech which he made on the occasion of the visit of the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec to the Monument National, as having said: 'It was here that they (the French-Canadians) had once been conquered, but could boast that they had reconquered their country since the Queen was represented in the province by a French Canadian. As to himself, he could say that he had shown lately in the Federal Cabinet that the French-Canadians were not only respected, but that they could even command? If so, to what did the Minister of Public Works refer in saying that he had shown lately in the Federal Cabinet that the French-Canadians were not only respected, but could even command."

Mr. Ouimet arose and, addressing the House in English, said: "Mr. Speaker, with due respect to the rules of the House, I should question the right of the honorable gentleman to ask such a question, which relates to no public business before this House, but as my refusal to answer might be given a wrong interpretation, I beg to give him a short resume to my own language of what I said on the occasion referred to. Mr. McCarthy leaned forward to catch the words as they rolled out of the Minister's mouth, but he was completely taken aback, when Mr. Ouimet lapsed into French. There was a roar of laughter, in which Mr. McCarthy joined.

Mr. Ouimet said: "Speaking on the position of the Canadians of French origin and tongue in this country and of the presence of one of our countrymen as Lieut.-Governor of the Province of Quebec, I must have said that we had reason after all to congratulate ourselves that we are still at home, and that we had reconquered our country, that we had reason to be proud to notice that our nationality could command the respect of other nationalities at Quebec, as well as at Ottawa."

"You have a good action for libel against The Herald," was the jocular commentary of the Liberal leader in noting the revision to which the Minister had subjected his utterance.

Mr. Ouimet sat down, looked around to the back benches and smiled triumphantly.

A few minutes before the telegraph brought the news that Emanuel St. Louis, the Montreal contractor, had been acquitted of the charge of obtaining by false pretenses $144,784 in connection with the Curran bridge frauds, the Solicitor-General made a statement to the House of the facts connected with the prosecution and a long explanation of the delays that had occurred.

Mr. McCarthy made a futile attempt to extract a little information from the Government in regard to the Hudson Bay scheme. His question was "Whether the Government regard the order in council with respect to the grant to the Hudson Bay Railway Company as creating any contractual relationship between Government and the Winnipeg and Hudson Bay Railway Company."

Mr. Haggart's equivocal reply was this: "If the hon. gentleman refers to any order in council other than the one of 1891, under which the Government entered into a contract with the Winnipeg and Great Northern Railway Company, No."

The Minister professed to be blissfully ignorant of the fact that the Hudson Bay Company is making a show of proceeding with the work of construction. He said that the Government had had no communication with the company since the passage of the last order in council other than his letter of April 27. Asked to explain what is meant by the statement that the Government would not "recognize" contractors to whom the company is letting the work, the Minister replied shortly, "The letter explains itself," and dropped into his seat.

The Budget debate was resumed by Mr. Masson. He does not often address the House.

When he does it is usually upon legal subjects, as befits the regulation of a candidate for a county judgeship. It may scarcely be said that he brought to the trade discussion anything new, although, if the implicit confidence in the National Policy which he displayed is not new, at least it has been sadly out of fashion these months or years back. It was like a bit of the old times to hear with what worshipful devotion and pride he spoke of the old policy. And when he referred to the attacks which had been made upon it it was with sorrow, as of the profanation of the temple.

Dr. Macdonald followed the member from Grey, after whose slow judicial manner of speaking the quick controversial style of the member for Huron had not proceeded far before his incisive criticism of the Minister of Railways brought that gentleman to his feet, with the result that for a few minutes there was a bit of a scene. He charged Mr. Haggart with asserting at a public meeting in Western Ontario during one of the recent Ministerial tours that he had received from Mr. Laurier a statement made in Parliament that he (the Liberal leader) would increase the provincial subsidies by two millions a year when he got into power.

"Did you hear me say that?" Mr. Haggart asked, with his customary swagger.

"I did hear you," the doctor replied.

Mr. Haggart: "I did not say it." (Ministerial applause.)

Mr. Macdonald: You did say it and you are so reported in your paper, The Empire, and I heard you. (Opposition cheers)

Mr. Haggart: I never spoke to Mr. Laurier on the subject; he never told me so, and I never asserted that he did.

Dr. Macdonald: The hon. gentleman made the statement, and he should have the manliness to stand by it or take it back. An equally false statement was made on that tour by Dr. Montague, when he asserted that in 1887 Hon. Edward Blake issued a circular to manufacturers to the effect that he favored a high protective tariff. He next took Mr. Foster in hand and held him to account for some misrepresentations which he quoted that Minister as having made upon the public platforms.

Mr. Haggart, however, was not satisfied. Rising, he demanded that Dr. Macdonald take back the statement which he had attributed to him. The doctor refused, saying, "I heard you say it, and The Empire report bears me out."

Mr. Foster: Order, order!

Mr. Masson: Order, order!

Dr. Macdonald: What is your point of order?

Mr. Haggart: I never said it in this House.

Mr. Davies, enquiringly: You distinguish between the things you say here and on the public platforms. (Laughter.)

Mr. Foster asked Mr. Speaker to have Dr. Macdonald withdraw the statement which Mr. Haggart denied having made.

Mr. Speaker replied that, as it was not alleged to have been made in the House, there was no point of order.

Dr. Macdonald accordingly proceeded with his vigorous arraignment of the Government and their policy, without making the withdrawal, which he had declared he would not make.

Sir James Grant, the orator of the Ottawa Valley, advanced what he considered as sufficient reasons why the Government should be supported in its determination to maintain the protective system.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. KILMER.

A LADY'S DOCTOR

Recommends the Use of Paine's Celery Compound.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE LIVER.

INTENSE ANXIETY AND OVERWORK BRING ON NERVOUSNESS.

Mrs. John Glassford says: "The Compound is one of the Greatest Blessings ever given to Humanity."

The physicians of this North American continent are prescribing Paine's Celery Compound every day, because they have confidence in its healing, strengthening and building-up virtues. No other medicine of modern times is so popular with our best physicians. They know what it has accomplished in extreme and desperate cases, and have no hesitation in recommending it when life is in danger.

The testimony received from Mrs. John Glassford, of Chatham, Ont., is worthy of the most careful perusal. It proves conclusively that the worst cases can be successfully cured by nature's greatest medicine. Mrs. Glassford, for the benefit of other sufferers, writes thus:

"Three years ago I was under treatment for enlargement of the liver, and my physician was able to bring about a cure in due time. Soon after, however, I was called upon to attend my daughter through a severe illness. The work and anxiety was too much for me in my weak condition. As a result of my overwork and intense anxiety I was thrown into a relapse of the worst form, and my nerves gave out which made my case worse than ever before.

"My sufferings were something terrible; my tongue or pen could never tell what I had to pass through. I went to Detroit and consulted a doctor, but his treatment was not beneficial. Finally, after months of agony, and my life despaired of, my physician here recommended as a last resort, Paine's Celery Compound. I am pleased to tell you that relief soon came after I had used this remedy—the greatest of all medicines in our country to-day for suffering humanity.

"I have been using the Compound about six months, and most of the time I am quite well; and I feel that by continuing its use for a further time I will be quite restored. I could not live a single month I am sure, were it not for the Compound. I prize it as one of the greatest blessings ever given to humanity.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is the some folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

R. Guy Reid, an enterprising individual who claims to be trying to beat his way on foot from Halifax to Winnipeg on a wager, reached Peterborough last week and was entertained at the Oriental hotel. R. Guy Reid is a fraud who was exposed in Brockville by the Recorder, when he skipped to Belleville on a freight train. He alighted outside the city limits, rubbed dust on his boots, and on the strength of his woe-begone appearance he secured lodgings at one of the best hotels, was given a new suit of clothes, and was written up in glowing colours by each of the local papers. The keen-eyed editor of the Intelligencer even discovered that Reid carried the stamp of a gentleman on his countenance. He also did up a number of hotels in Toronto, putting up in royal style at the Rossin.

SOUTH WARD SCHOOL WILL BE ENLARGED.

COMMITTEE FROM THE COUNCIL AND BOARD CONFER.

Mr. Peter Hamilton's Clear and Lucid Explanations Concerning the Solving of the Difficulties Generated Through Overcrowding the South Ward School.

A committee composed of Messrs. Peter Hamilton, J. J. Hartley, Henry Dunne and J. J. McBain met a special committee from the town council, last evening, composed of Councillors Thos. Cahill, Adam Dawson, Geo. B. Sproule and T. H. G. Denne, to confer on the settlement of the question as to whether it was the most advisable to build a new school for the benefit of the children resident in the the southern portion of the town or whether it would be better to build an addition to the present south ward school. Principals Yennie and Smith and Architect Blackwell were also in attendance at the meeting.

Concerning the site, Mr. Peter Hamilton explained that the Board owned the present property and, therefore, the question resolved itself into the improving of what it already possessed, not into one regarding the desirability of the present site, as the speaker agreed in stating that a much more desirable location for a school could easily be selected.

In making plain the necessity for more accommodation for the scholars of the South Ward, Mr. Hamilton stated that the efficiency of a school was if it was overcrowded and this most certainly was the existing state of affairs in the section referred to. The grading system, which had been found the most effective, could not be carried out under the circumstances. The kindergarten at present was conducted in the basement of the Mission building, at a cost of $100 a year for rental. The apartment was not at all suitable for school purposes, and the amount paid out for it in rental was equivalent to the interest on $2,500 a year. At present the highest grade taught in the school referred to was the senior 3rd. If the additional four rooms were added there would be room for the kindergarten and a complete public school could be taught. In this manner the Board would be able to derive greater advantage from Principal Yennie's teaching, as better results were always attainable in a properly graded school.

The addition, he stated, would be composed of a basement containing two lunch rooms for the scholars. The first floor will be a modern kindergarten room divided from the junior 3rd by a sliding partition which will enable the use of both

AS AN ASSEMBLY ROOM.

The class rooms over these will be devoted to the regular public school work. When finished the interior will be equal to the best modern school buildings in the country.

In the event of a new four room south ward school being erected, it would be impossible for the classes to be properly graded and besides a large portion of the south ward would be deprived of the benefits of the kindergarten. The estimated cost of a new school, purchasing grounds and furnishing rooms is $11,000. Deduct from this, said he, $6,500 for the proposed addition, and it leaves a balance of $4,500. Add to this for salary of janitor of new school $250 per annum, difference in salary of an extra principal and salary of an ordinary teacher, $275, and $150 for extra fuel and cost of maintenance, which will mean an of $675, equivalent to $14,000 between cost of addition and new school, and new school, and it makes an addition of $18,000 to the public school indebtedness.

Principal Smith, of the Central School, and Principal Yennie, of the South Ward, ably demonstrated the impracticability of effective grading in a four room school. The work of Mr. Yennie had always been seriously impeded and hampered in his work through the grading in his school, owing to the fact that it was not larger.

Principal Smith, having been asked to state his opinion, said that he looked at the matter entirely from the point of view of efficiency. At the same time there were two sides to the question of distance, for with the four rooms added to the present building the pupils who, after passing the senior third, now had to go to the Central school, would remain at the south ward school until they entered the Institute and consequently would have a shorter distance to go and many of them would be in a position to go with the younger children to the school, which they would not be able to do if they had to go to the Central. With a new school built further south, they would have two schools neither of which would have a grade higher than third, and all pupils above that would have to go to the Central, but with the building proposed by the Board they would have a school with a full public school course, from the kindergarten to the entrance class.

APART FROM CONVENIENCE,

this would permit of better grading and consequently much more efficient teaching. With a properly graded school, teachers could do better work, and a school could not be properly graded with less than nine grades. With that number they would keep the entrance class supplied and properly grade the pupils.

Principal Yenny agreed with Mr. Smith. He pointed out that if a teacher had, say, 25 pupils of the senior third grade and 25 pupils of the junior third grade to teach, he could only give half his time to each class, while if he had fifty of one grade he would give all his time to that class and do twice as good work. The addition to the school would give the Principal almost no more work, simply the small disciplinary supervision. Knowing the greater efficiency that could be attained in a properly graded school, he favoured the addition as proposed by the Board.

When the Board closed its case the members of the council present had been quite won over to the trustees' way of thinking, and Councillors Cahill, Dawson, Denne and Sproule all expressed themselves as being much enlightened by the lucid explanations made, and as being perfectly satisfied that the addition to the present structure was the proper way of meeting the existing difficulties generated through overcrowding.

A special meeting of the town council will be called on Friday next in order that the requisite bylaw may be passed submitting the question to a vote of the ratepayers immediately.

LOCAL UNION OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

THE ANNUAL MEETING AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy Chosen President—A Model Business Meeting—A Large Attendance—Mr. Stanley's Paper.

The Murray Street Baptist Church was crowded last evening on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Local Union of Christian Endeavour. In every way the gathering can be termed a successful one. The model business meeting was conducted in a model way, and many good points were brought forth that societies should follow. The address of Mr. E. A. Stanley was an important subject and was well handled.

Mr. A. J. Johnston, president of the local union, was in the chair, and the meeting was opened with devotional exercises.

MODEL MEETING.

The model business was conducted by Miss McEwen, of Smith. Its object was to lay before the Endeavourers a model style to follow in presenting reports, and the aim was no doubt reached to the satisfaction of all.

The Model Committee reports were read as follows:

Lookout — T. H. Martin, St. Paul's church.

Good Citizenship and Temperance—W. B. Beer, Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham.

Prayer Meeting—H. T. Lewis, B. A., George street church.

Social — Miss Gourd, Charlotte street church.

Missionary—Miss Smith, Murray street church.

Junior Department — Miss Kennedy, Charlotte street church.

A Model Secretary's report was read by Miss Quinn, and a Treasurer's Report by Mr. A. J. Johnston.

These reports were adopted.

Mr. M. A. Morrison, treasurer of the Local Union, was detained by illness and unable to send in his report.

THE NEW OFFICERS.

Mrs. A. Parker, presented the report of the Nominating Committee, and its recommendations were adopted as follows:

Hon. President—Rev. W. C. Bear, Mark street Methodist church.

President—H. P. Kennedy, Charlotte street Methodist church.

Vice-Presidents—Miss M. Mann, Murray street Baptist church; Mrs. A. Parker, George street Methodist church.

Secretary,—Miss M. Rae, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Treasurer,—Mr. A. J. Johnston, St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

CONSECRATION.

Mr. E. A. Stanley, President of the B. Y. P. U. of the Murray street church, read the following paper on "How can we get the most profit from the consecration meeting?"

"The topic which is made the basis of this paper, to-night, can, I think, be stated in various ways and preserve what I understand to be the thought contained in it, and also the thought which I assume it is the desire of the programme committee to have introduced here and prepared for the discussion which is to follow. In the Endeavour notes published in the DAILY EXAMINER of the 8th inst., I find this topic to be stated as follows, viz.,—"How can we get the most profit from the consecration meeting?" In this statement of the topic you will please observe two things:

First,—The question is one of getting pure and simple. It is one of getting the most profit from a given service, viz., the consecration meeting.

Second,—That this getting relates to more than one person. The question asks "How can we get the most profit from the consecration meeting?"

Now at the very beginning of our attempt to answer this question let me say that while I recognize it to be one of which relates to many times, more than one person, it shall be my purpose to answer it along the line of a personal experience which long ago settled itself into a conviction that the average consecration meeting was not always the source of as much profit to

of an Endeavour Society as it should be, and if I am to-night addressing myself to any who have also felt this same conviction, I am sure there will be established between us, at once, a bond of sympathy that will make what follows of much practical help to each of us. As a first condition then of getting profit from the consecration meeting, I would put first and foremost: The conception we have in our minds and hearts of what the consecration meeting is for. Do we put this meeting in a subordinate place to the social meeting? Do we put it in a subordinate place to any other meeting to be held during the month? Do we think this meeting is one from which we can absent ourselves without going to the trouble of sending to the meeting a reason for such absence, which we can conscientiously give to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Do we think it is one in which we are to put in an appearance simply to answer our names when the roll is called, with a verse of Scripture which we only remember while we read it from an open Bible.

If this is our estimate of the interests and purpose of the consecration meeting, let me ask you brother, sister, how much profit do you think we ought to get from it? On the contrary, do we give this meeting the very first place in our mind and heart? Do we recognise in it an opportunity of coming together once each month to acknowledge to each other, and to Christ, the bond which binds us together in to live as He would like to have us live, to confess the faults of the past month and earnestly pray for greater strength to live the coming month as becomes true Endeavourers. Do we recognise in it an opportunity of helping some other brother or sister to get new courage, to take up once more the fight against those sins which do most easily beset us?

If this is our estimate of the intents and purposes of the consecration meeting, let me ask you again brother, sister, how much profit ought we to get from it? Honestly, now, don't you think we ought to get from such a meeting all the profit we can conveniently carry away with us?

As another condition of getting profit from the consecration meeting I would put in the second place this question—How much are we willing to give the meeting?

In this day and generation happy is the one who in early life becomes rooted and grounded in the New Testament doctrine that go hand in hand together. If you give little, just so surely shall you get little. If you give much, just so surely shall you get much. Christ, teaching his disciples in that memorable sermon on the mount, as recorded in St. Luke's Gospel, the 6th chapter and 38th verse, gave no uncertain expression to this law of His kingdom, in the following words: "Give and it shall be given unto unto you; good measure, pressed down and shaken together, and running over shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again. In this matter of giving to the consecration meeting, however, let us remember that it will be impossible to give unless we are prepared to give, and that this preparation should always be on the part of the whole society, and not confined to the exclusive right and privilege of the leader of the meeting. As a third and last condition of getting profit from the consecration meeting, I would say go to the meeting prepared to consecrate yourself to do, in the month to come, a given definite thing. It is just here, I think, that we fail most frequently to derive profit from the meeting by not giving due thought or due attention to the fact that the fundamental idea involved in consideration is the setting apart of the life to the accomplishment of a definite thing. Generally speaking, I think the idea of consecration with most members of our societies is the expression in the meeting of a desire to live closer to the Saviour in the coming month than they have done in the month past, to be more faithful to the several duties which concern the general Christian church, rather than the doing of some particular thing, the doing of which will raise the door to a higher standard of living.

Messrs. W. J. Squires, H. Stephens and Misses Sherlock and Stephens rendered a duet while the collection was being taken up, and the meeting was then closed with devotional exercises.

DANGEROUS AMUSEMENT.

Boys Fooling with Cars on the William Hamilton Company's Siding—Breach of the Criminal Code.

The ever-present and ever-mischievous boy is in constant evidence. And the outlets of his animal spirits often cause not only annoyance but serious consequences. On the north side of the Wm. Hamilton Company's works extends their railway siding, reaching from the boiler shops to Rubidge street, parallel with the main line of the Missing Link. Often cars are left on this siding to load, and as the grade is downward to Rubidge street, the brakes are kept down. Boys are in the habit of playing on these cars, and several times they have loosened the brakes with the result that cars have gone down the grade, and gained (on one occasion at least) such momentum that the stop block at the end of the siding was carried away. And yesterday a more serious risk was run. A boiler had been placed upon a flat car, but the work of loading had not been completed, the boiler not being fastened as it would have been when the loading is finished. Some boys were playing the car and started it, but by some good chance it was stopped again before going far. If it had gone on, like other cars have done under similar circumstances, and reached the stop block, the loose boiler would certainly have rolled off and rested on the main line. Then, when the 8.50 express had come in round the curve and down the grade at a lively pace, a serious smash would have certainly resulted, and the lives of scores of passengers have been endangered.

The Company has been very seriously annoyed and put to positive loss by the freaks of these lads, the matter has been reported to the police, and if the practice is not stopped serious results will follow to the boys. This meddling with the rolling stock of railways being "an unlawful act," comes under section 419—"Mischief on Railways"—of the Criminal Code, which reads as follows:—

"Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to five years' imprisonment, who in manner likely to cause danger to valuable property without endangering life or person."

There are legitimate sources of amusement enough for boys without their practising such a dangerous one as that mentioned. Boys who trespass in the manner spoken of will hereafter not only run the risk of damaging valuable property, but will also run the risk of enjoying the delights afforded by the inside of a jail; for in justice to themselves and the public safety, the Company will insist on a sudden stop being put to the practice complained of. Let them be warned in time.

THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY.

The Directors Pay their Annual Spring Visit to the Grounds.

The directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company met yesterday afternoon at four o'clock and in accordance with their annual custom in the spring, drove down to the cemetery.

It was decided that a new fence should be erected around the plot of ground recently purchased from Mr. Bradburn, and spruce trees will also be planted upon it. Additional draining will be done at the cemetery this year, under the direction of the management committee, and hereafter an additional charge of one dollar for adults and seventy-five cents for children will be made for the opening of graves. In consideration of the receiving of this fee the company will undertake to see that the graves are kept properly sodded for all time.

Directions were issued for the removal of all footstones from graves where there were already headstones in position.

Resolutions were adopted, cordially thanking Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., the President of the Company and Mr. Moore for the success attending their efforts to obtain from the Legislature the amendments to the Cemetery Act for which they asked.

FIRE AT CAMERON.

Mr. John Marks Perishes in the Flames Trying to Rescue Others—Mrs. Marks Feet Frozen—The Physicians say They Must Amputate one Foot.

Mrs. Marks writes,—"After my great misfortune, our physician was summoned, and after treating my frozen feet for some time, said he must cut one foot off. Fortunately before so doing we received your letter stating you had expressed and prepared to my address one bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, also advising me to use it before allowing any portion of my foot to be amputated. Our physician at once objected, but I had confidence in the Liniment and had it used. After the fourth or fifth application all the frozen flesh dropped off, the foot began to show signs of improvement and advanced wonderfully until fully restored. Douglas' Egyptian Liniment has certainly saved me from being horribly crippled for life. I can never repay you for what you have done for me." I remain

Very respectfully yours,
MRS. JOHN MARKS.

The Young "Kids."

A YOUNG CONCERN.

The Baby is the youngest concern in the family. It is a growing concern and needs immediate attention. The first need to satisfy is its need of getting out of the stuffy house and into fresh summer air. It is too young to walk and our Baby Carriages are so easy to push, it's no extra work for you. We wish you to see them.

They are made with bamboo or rattan baskets, and are upholstered in Satin or Plush. They have good solid springs, good iron wheels and worth more than we ask. Look at the different styles at $6 to $20.

Too Big For a Baby Carriage!

This is the "pushing" concern of the family—the noisy "Kid"—who has grown to old for a Baby Carriage, and wants to do its own pushing. Some day they'll want to ride a bicycle but just now a Tricycle is good enough, and if they don't get look out for trouble in the house.

For the sake of peace, come and look at our fleet of little three-wheeled racers, for boys or for girls. Children's Waggons, Carts, Wheelbarrows and wheeled goods of other kinds. The maker's character behind every one. Designs the most dashing. Workmanship the most thorough. Prices the LOWEST.

A CROWNING GLORY.

FASHION'S CAPRICE ALLOWS INDIVIDUALITY IN COIFFURES.

The Hair Needs Much Care—Secrets of the Toilet That Will Add Greatly to the Attractiveness of the Well-Groomed Woman.

The fashion in coiffures is yours to command.

The fashion in hair itself leaves you no choice.

For a very long time the fluffy coiffure has held the fort, and whether milady was a Titianesque beauty made by nature, or a chemical blonde, she passed muster so long as she raveled and frizzled her tresses until she looked like a giddy girl in a gale.

There is no longer any style that must be followed under pain of expulsion from the circlet of fashion's votaries, if one ventures to ignore it. Fashion has been slowly coming to her senses these thousands of years, and she is arriving now at the point of lunacy, where she says the gods forgot to make some of you beautiful, there do up your hair to make yourselves look as well as you can.

If it suits your face to wear a Bath bun under your bonnet, do so. If the Cleveland pompadour, or the Brown-Potter tangle or the Rejane ringlets suit you best, copy them. If none of these are in sympathy with the shape of your head and the tilt of your features (viewed from all points of the compass), try the style so much in vogue now that combines the Princess of Wales twist and the Minerva part, especially if you have some tiny diamond studded shell combs to set aslant in your temple locks.

But!

While you may wear your hair straight or waved high or low, flat or at right angles to the crown of your head, you must have it silky and glossy and smooth and moist to look upon.

Your head must look as well groomed as it is the fashion for your body to look.

The secret?

Do not wash your hair oftener than once a month, unless some emergency arises to make the exception necessary. Do wash your hair combs and brushes once a week in hot water and ammonia. If you think it isn't necessary look at those you used this morning under a microscope.

Before washing the hair break an egg into a cup and stir it well, but do not beat it. Rub it thoroughly into the roots of the hair all over the head. Wash it out with warm soft water and good soap; rinse the hair in clear water thoroughly, wipe with a towel and fan dry.

When dry rub into the roots of the hair, not upon the hair itself, a little clean, pure olive oil. If the hair is naturally oily, apply the olive oil once a month after the shampooing. If naturally dry, apply the oil once a week. Brush the hair night and morning for fifteen minutes with a soft, clean brush.

This is the sole treatment advised by one of the foremost dermatologists in this country, one whose advice is eagerly sought abroad. For the advice given in his office in office hours he charges $10.

Danced With the Queen.

The story often told that the late Hon. Richard Vaux had danced with Queen Victoria, has been denied quite frequently since his death, but, as a matter of fact, he did dance with the Queen. He was not her partner, it is true, but danced in what was known as the Queen's cotillion, at the ball given in her honor in 1837, when he was secretary of the United States legation. Mr. Vaux was selected by the Queen herself, as one of the seven persons to join with her in the dance, a very great honor. In the course of the evolutions in the cotillon he danced with the Queen. This statement was made by Mr. Vaux, to a well-known Pennsylvanian, who served with him in the Fifty-first congress, while he was filling out the unexpired term of the late Hon. Samuel J. Randall.—Philadelphia Record.

Submarine Volcano.

The French Geographical Society has received from General Venukoff a communication describing a submarine volcano, which is under survey by the officers of the Russian dispatch vessel Lotzman. The volcano declared itself last summer, and, although under sea water level in the Caspian, projected a large quantity of mud and debris into the air. As a result of the survey, the position of the volcano has been determined as 38 degrees, 13 minutes, 30 second north latitude and 52 degrees, 57 minutes east longitude from Greenwich meridian, and above 24 miles from shore. The diameter of its crater is less than 20 feet, and at 200 fathoms from its centre the depth of water is about eight fathoms, while at a distance of one mile the sea has its normal depth.

A PENSION FOR LIFE.

"I cannot understand" said a capitalist to a friend, "why men are so imprudent as to allow themselves to sink into money embarrassments. There is a simple rule that I follow myself, and that I have always found a great safeguard—it is never to let one's balance at the bankers fall below five thousand. By strictly adhering to this rule, one is sure to be able to meet any unexpected and immediate necessity."

The rich man's rule is golden, but his prescription not only lacks practicability but common sense. It reminds one of the advice given poor Joe, whom Dickens has immortalized; but underneath it there lies this thought: Live within your income. The difficulty of having a balance at one's bankers has increased during the last few years, for competion is greater, the margin of profit has lessened and the chances of retiring upon a fortune are not so numerous as they were. Under these circumstances, it becomes necessary to adopt other means of providing for the inevitable rainy day which comes to most men, whether professional or commercial.

The only available method of providing a pension for life is that of life assurance, the original object of which was to indemnify the family for the loss of its bread-winner; but the endowment plan has now become the most popular form of insurance. Under this system, a man may receive his money at a given time, the age being fixed when effecting the insurance. "But I want to retire before I am an old man," remarks an objector. Very well, if you can afford to retire when you reach middle age, nobody will object. Your determination is praiseworthy. May you be able to carry it out! Most business men remain in harness until the end. The anxiety to become rich is one of the curses of civilization. It robs a man of all the pleasures of life; it prevents him enjoying the good things placed before him by a bountiful Providence, and from acting the part of the good Samaritan. It is not to such a man that we appeal, but rather to the man who wants to live on the sunny side of the hedge.

"Gather ye rose-buds as ye may," was the advice of the Poet Herrick, and no better advice could be given. We knew a man who was afraid of having a holiday, for fear his family would need the money if anything happened to himself. Now, if he had insured his life, he could have gone away with an easy mind; for a policy-holder, though not justified in living up to his income, may indulge himself with more comforts than the man whose life is not protected by insurance. While an insurance policy tends to alleviate the wants of the future, it also enables the holder to accept more fully the advantages to be enjoyed while he is yet living. He can secure to himself and family many little luxuries that otherwise he would feel called upon to deny, in order to leave something behind to provide for them. The policy is the protecting shield, which, while guarding his loved ones, gives confidence meanwhile to its possessor in fighting the battle of life.

A pension for life is something to look forward to, even if it does not become payable until middle life has been passed. The sweets of life are not monopolized by youth. There are a few, green sunny spots in the desert of life even in old age. "Life is so very pleasant," declared Crabb Robinson, when he had turned three score years and ten, "that I do not like to think how old I am." Some men never do grow old. They seem to have discovered the secret of perpetual youth; they retain both vigor of body and strength of mind. But whether a man be strong or weak there comes a time in his life when he would like to relax, to sever his connection with business pursuits and to follow his own inclinations. With the aid of the money derived from his insurance policy, this laudable desire may easily be carried into effect, and the afternoon and evening of life spent in comfort and peace. In short, an endowment policy in the Confederation Life Association gives absolute protection to your family during the existence of the policy and secures to yourself a sum of money at a given age, which may, if desired, be applied in any of the following ways:—

First.—The policy may be surrendered and the entire value taken in (1) cash, (2) paid-up policy, payable at death; (3) life annuity, an annual payment to the insured till death.

Second.—Or, the policy may be exchanged for a paid-up policy of assurance, payable at death, without profits, for an equal amount of insurance, and, in addition, there will be paid an annuity for life of $45 per $1,000, applying the accumulated surplus either in (4) cash, (5) bonus addition to the sum assured, (6) life annuity.

Sick Headache CURED PERMANENTLY

BY TAKING

Ayer's Pills

"I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I

Began Taking Ayer's Pills

that I received anything like permanent benefit. A single box of these pills did the work for me, and I am now free from headaches, and a well man."—C. H. HUTCHINGS, East Auburn, Me

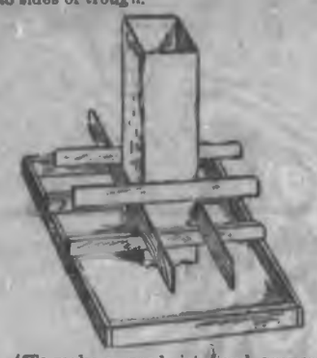
SELF-FEEDING PIG TROUGH.

Details of Construction Showing How Any Amateur Carpenter Can Make It.

James Glennie, Longburn, Man., writes as follows: "I will give a description of the self-feeding trough I have used for many years for feeding dry chop to pigs. The bottom part or trough is made about three feet square, and four inches deep; good heavy inch lumber will answer, nailed on 2x4 scantling, for sides. In the center of this set up four boards about ten inches wide, and three or four feet long, nailed together like a box, to hold the chop, with small openings at the bottom on all four sides to let the chop work out. This upright box is held in place by being toe-nailed to the trough, and by a piece of scantling running across on each side, well nailed to the sides of box and to sides of trough.



"To make a good job, and prevent the pigs getting into the trough with their feet, strips of board three to four inches wide should be nailed securely to the upright, two on each side, extending out as far as the sides of the trough, thus making four stalls for four pigs, while other four can feed at the corners. Water should be given in a separate trough." Mr. Glennie adds: "This may not be the best way to fed hogs, but I know of no better way to prevent waste."

On this page is a cut we have had made from the above descriptions.

Cut No. 2 represents another style of self feeder much similar to those we have seen in use on the farms of Jas. Bray, Longburn; W. A. Scott, Emerson, and others. This feeder is made about four feet in length, and two and a-half feet wide on the bottom. The V-shaped box for holding the drop should be about two feet wide at top, and three feet deep. Small openings are made at the bottom to allow the chop to work out slowly as the pigs are feeding. The box can be made with or without cover as desired. It may be constructed of inch lumber, with the exception of the edge of the trough, and a piece at each end to nail the bottom to, which should be 2x4 scantling. A board well-nailed on each end of feeder as shown in the accompanying cut, forms a strong and sufficient brace to hold hopper and trough together.—Farmers' Advocate.

Thawing Out Water Pipes by Electricity.

According to The Electrical Review, London, an English householder has been making some experiments lately in a new and important application of electricity to domestic use. Says The Review: "He, like many others, has suffered the inconvenience of having his gas and water service frozen during the late severe weather. It occurred to him that a resistance, suitably protected, might be introduced into those pipes which were most exposed and least easy of access with flame or hot water or other ordinary method of thawing. He had a special wire made, in which the current was conducted through a highly resistant metal, insulated with a fireproof medium that was also a non-conductor of electricity. The whole was enclosed in a metal tube, which could be drawn down to make a compact wire or rube that was externally a conductor of heat, but not of electricity, thus preventing loss of current and electrolysis. The results were most satisfactory. This 'thermic' wire was introduced into the waste pipe from a bath-room at the north side of his house, which entered a fall pipe some twenty feet from the ground, and which was easily frozen. On Saturday last the thermic wire was introduced from the outside. At night a small stream of water trickling down froze, forming an icicle some 12 inches long and 1½ inches thick, completely blocking the waste pipe. The thermic wire having been previously connected with the electric light circuit, at 50 volts pressure, when current was turned on four amperes flowed through it; and in four minutes a complete thawing was effected, and the waste service was cleared."

Summer-Blooming Oxalis.

The different varieties of oxalis are especially desirable for hanging basket culture. Yet the best known sorts are the winter bloomers and the possibilities of well-developed summer blooming bulbs are not half appreciated. One of the finest of these is the Ortgiesi, or Golden Star. The foliage in itself is very attractive, and when a large plant is covered with the great clusters of bright flowers it is surprisingly beautiful; and the freedom with which a well-grown plant will bloom is noticed in the cut. The plant grows from 12 to 15 inches in height and branches freely. The foliage shows beautiful dark olive tintings on the upper side of the leaves, while the underside is a rich crimson. The large clusters of blossoms are composed of star-shaped flowers of a bright golden yellow.

A DECORATIVE NOVELTY.

Remarkable for Its Rapid Growth and Ease of Culture.

A decorative foliage plant of very rapid growth has been a long-felt want. The numerous varieties of palms and other stately plants usually cultivated for decorative purposes have the disadvantage of making slow development.

THE SILK OAK.

In this case the waiting for fully developed beauty proves very tedious when young plants are secured, and their great expense keeps many from purchasing large well-grown plants.

The beautiful fern-like plant called the silk oak, or more properly grevilles robusta, offers the advantages of cheapness, graceful beauty and rapid development. While quite as beautiful as many of the most stately palms, it is much easier to grow, and will give much quicker results. In Florida it grows to a great size and then produces flowers of a bright orange color. When cultivated in our northern climates as a window or conservatory plant it does not grow so tall, but large enough to outshine many of the most treasured ornamental plants, swaying its graceful foliage above them all, and blending its silky leaf tips with the more sombre greens of the palms, etc. The leaves are a light bronze in color, deeply cut like a large growing fern, or a pinnate-leaved palm, and the tips are covered with a soft down resembling raw silk, from which it derives the name of "silk oak." It is especially valuable for house culture, as it will thrive with the same treatment usually given the palm and other foliage plants.

ROCK SALT FOR STOCK.

It Possesses Numerous Advantages Over the Common Salt Generally Used.

Most farmers nowadays are convinced of the advisability of giving salt to their stock both in winter and summer, but they are not all agreed as to the best method of salting them. The majority of them use ordinary salt, but a large and increasing number, having become convinced of the superiority of rock salt for that purpose, now will have no other.

Rock salt possesses numerous advantages over the common salt so generally used. When a lump of it is put in the manger in the winter time, it can be distinguished and left in when the manger is being cleaned out, and thus the animal has salt before it to lick whenever it feels inclined. When animals are at pasture, it is best to put a large lump in one or more boxes in the field. this way, the animals will come and lick it when they feel the need of it, and as they cannot take too much, there is not the purging that accompanies loose salt, when, as so often happens, animals take too much of it.

Rock salt is economical, too, and saves labor. It is now sold very cheap, and that fact ought to influence all to buy it in preference to the ordinary salt. It saves labor because, when one or more lumps are distributed in the pasturefield, there need not be so many trips made thither with salt for the stock. A good sized lump will last a good while.

With the common salt, it is, in many instances, the rule to salt the cattle once a week, Sunday being very often the day selected. The stock at once gorge themselves on it, and scour, in consequence, and it is nearly the end of the week before they recover from the effects, which are visible in reduced flesh and lesser milk production. In a day or two more they get a fresh supply and the same results ensue.

With rock salt such a state of affairs cannot happen. The animals get a steady, regular supply sufficient for their needs, and are benefit d accordingly. We have tested it ourselves on the farm and know what an excellent thing it is, and we have no hesitation in advising all our readers to do the same.

STRICKEN WITH A PARTIAL PARALYSIS

This Was the Case with Miss Minnie Stevens, of London, Ont.

The Parents Had Lost Hope of Her Recovery, But Even After Her Arm, Side and Leg Had Become Powerless South American Nervine Effected a Cure—To-day This Young Lady, Daughter of F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, Erjoys Perfect Health.

MISS MINNIE STEVENS, LONDON, ONT.

Men and women in the exercise of physical or mental power can usually go a certain length, but a step beyond this proves too severe a test. It is the same in the field of medicine. If the case is not a trying one some simple remedy will cure, but it is when a medicine proves effective in an aggravated and extraordinary case that its real power is tested. South American Nervine has made some wonderful cures in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, debility and nervous prostration, not to name other troubles. When nervousness, however, takes hold of the system to that extent that it becomes paralyzed and the limbs lose their natural power, then it is that the patient and her friends may indeed commence to lose heart. Miss Minnie Stevens, a fair daughter of London, Ont., had undergone this trying experience. She had been troubled with nervousness. The trouble grew and after a time assumed such shape that she could not lift or even hold anything in her hand. This member, in fact, was useless to her. The trouble spread down the side and partially into one leg. Her face began to twitch. In truth, all the indications of paralysis creeping over the system were manifest. Do we wonder that her parents lost hope of her recovery? They saw the fatal disease rapidly twining itself around their beautiful child. Surrounded with every comfort and possessing the means as well as the will to do everything that was in their power to provide relief, yet, apparently, this could not be obtained, until influenced by the statements of the wonderful cures effected by South American Nervine in case of nervous prostration, the parents finally decided to try this medicine. After using twelve bottles their daughter became perfectly well, and to-day in the Forest City there is no young girl more healthy than Minnie Stevens, and her father, Mr. F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, is indeed a happy man. The statement cannot be made in too positive and distinct terms that this great discovery is capable of marvelous demonstration in all nervous troubles.

The testimony that comes to the proprietor of Nervine shows that it has absolutely cured in the case of the young, as here cited, and those who have nearly reached, or gone beyond, the three score years and ten have likewise found a cure in this medicine.

BICKLE'S FACTORY ON FIRE.

The Employees Quench the Flames with water.

This morning, at about half past ten o'clock, as Mr. Samuel Bickle was coming over into town from his Ashburnham factory, he turned, at the top of the hill, as is his custom, to take a look back at the factory. His surprise may be imagined when he discovered volumes of smoke ascending from his premises. He hastily retraced his steps to the factory and found that owing to the high wind and the fact that light fuel was being used in the furnaces, the sparks from the smoke stack had been carried out on the roof which was breaking into a blaze. Sparks had also fallen on the cedar bark and sawdust in the yard and ignited it.

Mr. Bickle promptly organized a bucket brigade amongst the employees, who were unaware of the fact that the mill was on fire until apprised of the circumstance by the proprietor, and the flames were soon under control.

The Fire brigade turned out promptly and strung the hose from the hydrant at the corner of Hunter and Queen streets, but the water was not turned on as the fire was very effectively dealt with by the employees of the firm even before the hose was all strung.

Mr. Bickle, it seems, had always made a practice of turning at a certain point of the hill and taking a retrospective glance at the factory. To the observance of this precaution he owes the safety of his property to-day, as had the fire once gained any headway in such a place it would be useless to try and combat it. The factory is owned by Messrs. Bickle & Fitzgerald, and used by them for the manufacture of cheesemakers' supplies.

I WONDER—

CRICKET.

The cricketers have decided not to play off the Veteran vs. Colt match to-morrow, on account of the cold weather. The match will be played on Saturday instead. The club is arranging to play in Millbrook on the 24th. Early in July the first eleven will make a trip, giving games to Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Picton, and other places.

RAILWAY NOTES.

A gravel train has been started at Jones' cut, on the "Missing Link," for the purpose of completing the filling in at Doube's bridge.

It is rumoured in railway circles that a new rule is soon to be put in force on the lines controlled by the Vanderbilts, which in brief is that hereafter officials when making promotions will consider only efficiency. It is thought by some that the rule will meet with the disapproval of the organised railway men, especially the engineers and conductors, for the reason that it has been the plan to give the preference to men who have been the longest in the employ of the company.

London, May 14.—O'Donovan Rossa last night delivered a speech at Bermondsey, in the course of which he read the letter purporting to have been written to him by Mr. Labouchere, the Radical leader, which was the cause of Rossa's attempted harangue in the House of Commons on Wednesday last, when he was ejected from the Strangers' Gallery. After reading the letter Rossa declared that Mr. Labouchere was a liar and a scoundrel. If Mr. Labouchere wanted satisfaction for these words, Rossa added, he would fight him with any weapons, whenever and wherever Mr. Labouchere chose.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Montreal, May 14—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent dispatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in the private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietory medicines being well known.

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

Mrs. H. P. Hyams Again in the Witness Box.

HER CROSS-EXAMINATION BEGUN.

Harry Hyams Was Shaved Between 8.30 and 9 a.m. the Day of the Tragedy —Miss Lattimer, the Typewriter, Given Important Evidence.

Toronto, May 15.—Yesterday witnessed another sensational day in the trial of the Hyams twins at the York Assize Court. Martha Wells-Hyams, the wife of one of the prisoners and sister of the alleged murdered boy, again took the stand. She was accompanied by a trained nurse, who occupied a seat beneath the witness box.

It had been anticipated that application would be made before the examination of Mrs. Hyams was concluded to introduce evidence showing that the prisoners had endeavored to place $200,000 insurance upon her life, but Mr. Osler announced that he would test the question of the admissibility of this class of evidence when another witness was called, and in the event of His Lordship admitting the testimony recall Mrs. Hyams to give evidence with respect to that branch of the case.

Some very important evidence for the Crown was brought out yesterday as tending to prove that the tragedy occurred after 9.30 o'clock in the morning. The contention of the defence is that Wells met his death before that hour. Under cross-examination, Fox swore that he arrived at the warehouse between 10 and 11 o'clock, and Harry Hyams told him that Dr. King had been there previously. A barber in Leader-lane testified that he shaved Harry Hyams between 8.30 and 9, and 15 minutes later he heard of the tragedy from a customer, whose name he did not know, but "who had a hard face to shave," and whom he had never seen since.

Then the Crown called half a dozen employes of the Toronto Railway Company, whose evidence proved to a demonstration that it was 10.42 or after when the alarm was given and Harry Hyams started for a doctor.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Hyams tended to show that the defence will admit that Harry Hyams did not send the telegram to Pickering given him the night preceding the accident, and will urge as a reason that all the telegraph offices were closed.

Expressman Fox entered the witness box at the opening of the court he was minutely questioned in respect to the "scratch." It was three or four days after the tragedy before Fox saw Dallas. To Mr. Lount witness said he could not tell whether the scratch was fresh or two or three weeks old.

J. Gardipey, employed in the Leadenlane barber shop, had frequently shaved Harry Hyams. Between 8.30 and 9 o'clock on January 16, he shaved the prisoner. He remembered the day because of the tragedy occurring shortly afterwards, and he recollected the hour for the reason that he was late getting down and was sweeping out the place when the prisoner came in.

To Mr. Lount witness said that it was within a few minutes of 8.30 when Hyams came into the barber shop. It was about his usual hour for calling. Hyams was in the chair 20 to 25 minutes.

Mr. Lount: "Did he appear as usual? He didn't act like a man who had a horrible murder on hand and intended to get shaved and then go down and do the deed, did he?"—A. "No."

"He didn't act like a man who had something on his mind, who was contemplating the slaying of some one, did he?"—A. "No, sir."

Witness said he was positive that the prisoner had only gone out from 10 to 15 minutes when he heard of the tragedy.

Then Mr. Osler took the witness in hand. He first heard of the tragedy from a customer, and he recollected the customer from the fact that he had a "hard face to shave." He couldn't describe the man with the "hard face to shave," as he had not seen him since, but he had shaved him previously.

This story, it will be seen, does not at all agree with that of the street railway men. How Gardipey could hear of the tragedy at 9.10, when, as is alleged, Harry Hyams did not go for the doctor until 10.42, is a question which the jury will have to consider.

Then the pretty typewriter who was employed in the Colborne-street warehouse to address envelopes, which the Crown claims were never mailed, was called. She is Mabel Lattimer.

To Mr. Osler witness said her employment in the warehouse consisted entirely of addressing envelopes. She would pick out the names from the directory of 1892 and write them upon envelopes. These envelopes were returned to the boxes, which were then labelled with the occupations of the parties to whom they were addressed. Miss Lattimer never knew of any of these envelopes being posted. Mr. Osler produced several boxes of addressed envelopes which Miss Lattimer identified as some of those she had addressed. One of the boxes was labelled, "boarding houses, nurses, machinists," etc. A second read "fruit, fish and justices of the peace," a combination which convulsed the court.

Witness explained the construction of the office. "Who attended to the customers?" asked Mr. Osler.

"I never noticed any customers, except once or twice, whether before or after the tragedy, I cannot say, and I sent them up to 11 King-street."

Miss Lattimer then told of the visit of Harry Hyams to her house in Richmond-street near Peter about 5 o'clock on the Saturday night and of his leaving with her three letters to be delivered before coming to the warehouse Monday at Deer Park, north of the city, at some number over 300 in Wellesley-street, at the east end, and in Yonge-street. She had once or twice previously delivered letters.

Then the witness told of her arrival at the warehouse about 11.45 and of seeing Harry Hyams. The latter said: "Poor Willie is killed, he was killed by the weight." He said that his brother was upstairs fixing the weight when it slipped. He had sent his brother home in a cab, as he was running around like a crazy man. Harry said that he was not there at the time.

Harry Hyams then told her to go to her lunch. When she returned some person who was there told her that it was no place for her and she had better go home. She went up to Martha Wells' place and on Thursday morning resumed work. She continued working for the Hyams until the month of May, when they told her that they were going to close up the warehouse and had consequently no further use for her, and she left. She continued addressing envelopes after the tragedy, but so far as she was aware none had ever been sent out. Apart from addressing the envelopes she did nothing, and she was paid $6 per week.

Mabel said that little use was made of the elevator in the Colborne-street warehouse.

The cross-examination with respect to the "work" done by Miss Lattimer brought out the fact that she didn't hurry over the work. "No, of course not," said counsel, "You were working by the week." Miss Lattimer did not think she would address them at the rate of one a minute. She frequently did nothing for a day at a time awaiting instructions from Mr. Hyams as to which section of the directory she should next devote her attention.

Then the Crown once more reverted to the telegram to Jones announcing that Willie would be down at Pickering the day of the tragedy and which Harry Hyams is alleged to have suppressed.

Thomas Allan, telegraph operator, the assistant in Curry's drug store, in January, 1893, did not recollect sending a telegram to Pickering addressed to Jones, and signed Willie. Had he sent one it would have appeared on the record sheet produced.

Then the wife of Harry Hyams once more entered the box, and her examination was resumed by Mr. Osler. She testified that Willie Wells was buying the farm at Pickering to rent and not to live upon. Shortly after she met Harry Hyams, the prisoner enquired of her how much money her brothers and herself would have and she was unable to say.

Then Mr. Lount took charge of the witness. She again went over the story of the first meeting of the two families when the prisoners and their mother came to reside with them in Spadina-avenue. The relationship between herself and Harry Hyams did not become more than friendly until the September of 1889, shortly after her sister's wedding, when she became engaged to the prisoner. Some disagreement arose between them and the engagement was broken off and Mrs. Hyams went to Oshawa, returning about January, 1890. She went to live at 98 Gould-street, and resided there until January of 1891. Dallas and his wife had gone to Montreal and Harry and his mother lived at 57 Gould-street, a few doors from where deceased lived. Between January of 1890 and January, 1891, Harry Hyams called on her nearly every day, but the engagement was not resumed until January of 1892. "There were no engagements made and broken during 1891, as in that year I was in the States, but I corresponded with Mr. Hyams," she added with a faint smile.

At the time of her eldest brother's death she went to Oshawa, returning in February of 1892. Before her brother Harry died the prisoners were arranging that the three should go into the brokerage business together.

Witness here detailed the agreement subsequently made whereby she, her sister and Willie loaned the prisoners $2000.

Mrs. Hyams said she had heard Willie speak about the $30,000 policy being a good investment, as he was not going to pay the premiums and would get $2500 in three years.

"I heard Harry Hyams say that the policy was more than my brother could carry or that the premiums were more than he could pay out of his salary," said the witness.

"Well, that is my recollection of what you said when you were here the other day," said Mr. Lount.

The judge's notes were turned up and it was shown that what she did swear was that Harry Hyams said it would be cheaper to take it out on Willie's life, because he was younger than Mr. Hyams.

Witness said her brother was 22 years of age at the time of the tragedy, and Harry Hyams was 38.

"So that there was 16 years difference between the ages. The policy was an endowment one, and of course it would be cheaper to take out the policy on Willie's life.

"And if the policy wasn't assigned to Mr. Hyams and your brother lived 20 years, your brother would receive an annuity, wouldn't he? Wasn't that discussed?"—A. No; that was not discussed.

The arrangement was that, when at the end of five years, Hyams paid your brother $2500, he was to assign the policy to Hyams?—A. Yes.

And in the meantime sums were to be

Latest Reports of the Damage to Fruit and Crops.

Malvern, Ohio, May 14.—The mercury has fallen to six degrees below freezing. In the Sandy Valley fruits of all kinds have been killed. Corn will have to be re-planted.

Chicago, May 14.—Although the storm on the lake was particularly severe few disasters are reported and no loss of life is known, unless the report that a vessel was seen to capsize and sink five miles north of Racine proves true.

Des Moines, Ia., May 14.—Telegraphic reports from 30 towns in Iowa show that the frost Sunday did inestimable damage to early vegetation and small fruit.

Four Inches of Snow at Niagara.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 14.—Snow fell to the depth of four inches this morning, followed by drizzling rain. The grape crop in this locality has been nearly totally destroyed, which means thousands of dollars loss. Strawberry patches look like as if they had been swept by fire; cherries suffered severely, also the peach trees. Corn, potatoes and other vegetables are flat on the ground, the season being fully three weeks ahead of last year.

Counterfeiter Howard Arraigned.

London, May 15.—Mendal Howard, who was recently arrested as a counterfeiter, was again arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court to-day, when an official of the Bank of France testified to the uses to which enlarged negatives are put in forging bank-notes.

THE WATSON COMPANY LIQUIDATION.

An Implement Factory That Flourished Under a Revenue Tariff — That Didn't Want Protection But Had to Take It—Under the N.P.'s Fostering Care it Has Collapsed.

(Guelph Mercury.)

That the Watson Manufacturing Co., of Ayr, have decided to go into liquidation under the direction of the court, will be much regretted by the many friends of John Watson, the head of the firm, and his sons. Mr. Watson was one of the pioneers in the agricultural manufacturing industry in Canada, and has fought his way up by his own energy and resources, only to find, in his old age, that the conditions of manufacturing in his business—conditions largely due to the N.P.—were too burdensome to make progress.

When examined before a committee of the House of Commons in 1876, Mr. Watson deposed that he had then been 28 years a manufacturer of agricultural implements, that he had invested in plant and machinery from $45,000 to $50,000, gave employment to an average of from 60 to 70 hands, and turned out from $75,000 to $100,000 worth of manufactured products annually. Mr. Watson said his manufactures were sold chiefly in Canada, but that he could sell in the United States markets if the duty he had to meet at the border were reduced one-half what it then was. The firm had up till then never tried to build up a foreign trade, as it always had enough to do supplying the home market demand. Mr. Watson said he began business with two men, and every dollar he had invested he made in the business. He expressed his ability to increase his business if there were reciprocity with the United States. But he emphatically stated that he was well satisfied with his business progress, which was typical of manufacturers generally at that time, though his factory was then seven miles from a railway station (Paris), and his expenses were increased by the cost of cartage.

Mr. Watson's testimony was even more decidedly in favour of keeping the tariff at a revenue basis, to secure the welfare of the manufacturer and his customers. "You do not want any additional taxation?" (in other words a "protective" tariff) asked the chairman. "No," replied Mr. Watson and Mr. Massey, "we are thoroughly satisfied with that we have got." Then Mr. Platt, a high tax M.P., tried to scare Mr. Watson by suggesting that if a "protective" tariff was not established, the United States would insist on selling cheap goods in Canada. Said this typical independent manufacturer in reply:

"I think it is better to do that than to increase the tariff, because the foundation of this country is agriculture, and if you increase the tariff for the benefit of manufactures, of course, it must be disadvantageous to the farmers. I have noticed that in the season when the farmers were prosperous, I was prosperous; the better position they were in, the better position I was in. I feel that anything that would tend to place our farmers in a better position than they are in at present will be attended by general good to the country."

And again Mr. Watson was asked:

"Do you think you could manufacture more cheaply if there was a higher tax placed, say on pig iron and steel, in order to protect the manufacturers?"

His reply was emphatic:—

"Most decidedly not."

It would be perhaps unfair to ignore the fact that the concentration of industries in new hands, like control of the agricultural implement business of Canada by the Massey-Harris Co., has been a factor in the breaking up of the Watson factory, though a protective tariff has been mainly responsible for accelerating and encouraging such combinations. But the heavy duties on iron, and the impoverishment of the farmers, both the fruit of the N. P., were the main causes of the suspension of operations by this well-known firm. Truly Mr. Watson had good reason to dread the embargo of the revenue tariff, with light duties on iron and raw materials, for the blighting influences of high taxation, which has only benefitted favoured capitalists. And Mr. Watson is by no means the only implement manufacturer that has had similar experience under the N. P.

SKIM MILK ARGUMENTS.

The Mail and Empire, speaking of the Canadian cheese industry, says: "The extraordinary grand showing is the result of our people's enterprise, which, protected from the older United States cheese industry, and receiving proper consideration at the right time, in a few years captured the British market, and now provides 60 per cent. of the cheese sold there." What in the world does the Mail and Empire mean by "protected from the older United States cheese industry"? Does it mean a protective duty? If so, what possible benefit can the cheese industry gain, or has it gained, from the duty of 3 cents per pound on imported cheese? A tax on coal brought to Newcastle would greatly develop the mining interests on the Tyne. The farmers are too long-headed to take much stock in such skim milk arguments in favour of the benefit of protection. There's about as much chance of the United States working up a cheese trade with Canada, duty or no duty, as there is of working up a paying import trade in ice with Greenland.

FIBRE CHAMOIS IN COURT.

Making Interlining Interesting.

The Canadian Fibre Chamois Company of Montreal, who opened a manufacturing establishment there some months ago for manufacture of the new interlining called "Fibre Chamois," have invoked the law for protection from the competition of merchants who offer for sale imitation articles under the name of "Fibre Chamois" or under some similar name calculated to mislead. The genuine goods are protected by trade mark and otherwise. Last week the company obtained judgment against the T. E. Mara & Co. (limited) of London, Ont., for damages and a perpetual injunction restraining the Mara Co. from selling or offering for sale as "Fibre Chamois," or under the name or title or under any name or title similar to "Fibre Chamois," any goods, substances or materials which are not the "Fibre Chamois" manufactured by the Canadian Fibre Chamois Company. Several similar actions have been entered against offending merchants, the company intending to protect their rights to the fullest extent.

INCENDIARIES CAPTURED.

Chief Government Detective John Murray Captures Another Alleged Firebug—

Toronto, May 15.—On Monday, April 15, the grist mill Mills, in the Township of Brighton, County of Northumberland, and eight miles north of the village of Brighton, was destroyed by fire. The fire broke out between 11.30 and 12 o'clock, and the parties who arrived early on the scene noticed a smell of coal oil. The fire spread to the postoffice, general store and dwelling of A. T. Dorland, on the opposite side of the street, which, together with the mill and the blacksmith's shop of J. F. Montgomery, were totally destroyed. There had been no fire in the mill on the previous day, and the general opinion was that the fire was started by an incendiary. The Attorney-General's Department was communicated with, and Chief Detective John Murray was sent to enquire into the facts. He ascertained that a man named Edward Ackley, alias "Mat" (which is the name of his stepfather), and who was employed in the mill, had on the Saturday night prior to the fire purchased a gallon of coal oil at Dorland's store. The fact of the purchase of the gallon of coal oil excited surprise at the time, as Ackley's family, which was in poor circumstances, generally purchased their oil by the pint or quart. So peculiar was the purchase of the gallon of oil that the storekeeper remarked at the time, "Do you want a gallon?" and Ackley replied, "Yes, I want a gallon." Detective Murray visited the scene last Thursday and, after fully investigating all the circumstances, took Ackley into custody. He was taken to Cobourg, and, after a preliminary examination, was remanded until Saturday. Further arrests are expected.

People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do

KINMOUNT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Hopkins, our genial merchant, not only "gets there" in business matters, but also in a foot race, even with the train, he makes his point. Last Thursday morning our friend was some hundred yards from the station when the train started to move out, but forgetting for the moment he was a man now of over two hundred weight and not in his twenties, he struck out, and won the hearty applause of the bystanders by overtaking the train before she got under way. Kinmount now can boast of having the champion heavy weight runner of the country.

Forestry is booming here. The local court had four initiations last meeting, and will hold a special meeting in two weeks to initiate a number of other good fellows, who have heard of the praiseworthy work of the I. O. F. The I. O. F. stands, or rather advances on its own merits.

Farmers are about through with their seeding. The spring has been favourable, and prospects are good, though the recent frost is reported to have done some damage.

The new cheese factory is nearly completed, and the machinery is to be placed at once that operations may be commenced at the earliest date.

Mr. L. Christopher has built a fine brick oven, and intends opening up a bakery business next week.

The Kinmount C. E. local union held the second meeting of the term at Rettie's last Friday afternoon and evening. Both sessions were well attended, especially in the evening, when the church could not accommodate the large numbers who sought admission to enjoy the intellectual and spiritual feast which the programme afforded. Miss Wellstood's report of the Epworth League convention lately held in Toronto was unique and soul inspiring, while Rev. Mr. MacKinnon's address on Practical Temperance Work, well repaid those who travelled some ten or twelve miles to hear it. The local union is accomplishing a good work.

The Young "Kids."

A YOUNG CONCERN.

The Baby is the youngest concern in the family. It is a growing concern and needs immediate attention. The first need to satisfy is its need of getting out of the stuffy house and into fresh summer air. It is too young to walk and our Baby Carriages are so easy to push, it's no extra work for you. We wish you to see them.

They are made with bamboo or rattan baskets, and are upholstered in Satin or Plush. They have good solid springs, good iron wheels and worth more than we ask. Look at the different styles at

FACTORY VS. FARM.

Mr. McMullen on the Policy of Fostering Industries.

AND CRIPPLING THE AGRICULTURIST

A Vigorously Drawn Contrast Between the Condition of the Farmer and the Manufacturer—British Farmers Under Free Trade Better Off Than the Canadian.

Ottawa, Ont., May 15.—The Budget debate was continued in the House yesterday. The vigor and confidence with which the discussion is conducted by the Opposition speakers contrasts with the general tone of the Government speakers. The difference between the two sides is the difference between men speaking with the aroused sentiment of the country behind them, and others who are trying to piece together again the bones of a policy which has been for three or four years dead and buried. There is a great effort being made by the Conservatives to rally their friends around the National Policy skeleton, but their exertions, to which Mr. Haggart's speech the other day gave the signal, only acts as a spur to the Liberals and gives zest to the debate.

In speakers the Government side is heavily overborne by the Opposition, among whom are many rear bench members who are more than a match for most of the Cabinet Ministers.

Yesterday two excellent speeches were made by Messrs. McMullen and McMillan, who, representing as they do rural constituencies, and living in close touch with the farming classes of the country, are in a position to speak in their name and to stand up for their interests.

The contrast that Mr. McMullen drew between the condition of the manufacturers and of the farmers of Canada was such as should set the latter thinking. On their own statements he showed that the manufacturers were making the neat profit of 33 1-3 per cent. on their invested capital, as the result of their industry and the fostering care of the Government. But what of the poor farmer, who has no Government to help him? As Dr. Macdonald, in his excellent speech, pointed out the agriculturists of the country have lost $12,000,000 on the year's transactions, and yet they have to pay out good money to sustain the manufacturers' profits. A grand total of $1,012,750,000 is invested in agriculture in the Province of Ontario, said Mr. McMullen, "which is one third more than the amount invested in manufactures, and yet the policy of the Government has been to build up manufactures and to cripple and hinder the farming industry."

When the Ministers were on tour in Ontario recently, they made strenuous efforts to check the defection of their agricultural supporters by endeavoring to prove that the National Policy had made them rich. A favorite theme, particularly with the Controller of Customs, was the pork duties. Mr. McMullen, without difficulty, was enabled to demonstrate that as a matter of fact the protection on pork really profits the farmer nothing. Canada is a large exporter of pork, and the market quotations are higher in Chicago and Buffalo than they are in Toronto. Truth constrained the member for Wellington to admit that the National Policy has given Canada a boom in one direction—in the expenditure of public money to perpetuate the Government in power.

Mr. McMullen alluded to the acquittal of Contractor Emanuel St. Louis, and mentioned one of the judge's reasons therefor, which was that the contract had been so loosely drawn up as to leave room for corruption and extravagance. On a work costing less than $400,000, $800,000 had been actually stolen.

Mr. Davies: Stolen and nobody punished for it.

Mr. McMullen warmed at the thought of such a state of things, and declared that the Government would sink the credit of the country until it would not be worth a 5-cent piece in order to maintain itself in office.

"They would build another Langevin block to maintain themselves in power," he said. In contrast with the jobbery at Ottawa, he pointed to the fact that the Mowat Government had erected the new Parliament Buildings at Toronto without any scandal.

"What about your present leader," shouted the member for Monck, whose constituency was handed over to the Secretary of State by the last gerrymander act.

"His name is untainted and unstained," replied Mr. McMullen. When the Liberal applause had died away he added: "My leader never went around with the promise of a collieryship in his pocket and still hold on to his seat."

The righteous indignation of Mr. Boyle was a sight to behold. His face flushed scarlet and he sprang to his feet and in indignant tones he cried: "Mr. Speaker, I—" but his voice was drowned by the cries of "Order, order," from the Opposition side of the House.

The Speaker said quietly, but firmly: "The hon. member for Monck has no right to interrupt," whereat the gentleman referred to sank into his seat and glared defiantly across the chamber.

"Take your medicine," said Dr. Landerkin, with an exasperating smile. Mr. Boyle was completely crushed.

One of the ways of saving money mentioned by Mr. McMullen was to dispense with a few of the ministers who lag superfluous on the stage at $8000 a year. He also spoke of Rev. Mandy Benson's $1100, which, he said, might have been saved. Mr. McMullen concluded a capital speech with a plea for the adoption of a more rational and profitable fiscal policy, a policy that would allow the people to sell in the dearest market and to buy in the cheapest restricted only by necessities of the revenue.

Mr. Northrup, the young member for East Hastings, made the assertion that the Government was justified in asking the people to stand by the policy that had done what it was said it would do.

The last speaker was Mr. McMillan of Huron, who brought his practical knowledge of the agricultural industry to bear upon the discussion with telling effect. He extracted from English blue books and other authoritative sources evidence that the condition of the British farmer and artisans is better under free trade than that of the Canadian farmer and artisan under the National Policy. By a comparison of the prices in Canada and the United States of agricultural products, he completely refuted the claim set up by the Government apologists that the farmers had benefitted by protection. After showing how the price of wheat had declined, he demonstrated the loss that the farmers had sustained, because of the absence of a reciprocity treaty with the United States. On the basis of prices at Buffalo and Toronto last year, he estimated that the farmers of Ontario had lost $7,691,000 on cattle, hogs, sheep, barley and oats. He declared that there was no market in the world that was equal to the American market for Canadian farm products. While speaking of the article of barley, he said that the Wilson bill had done more for the relief of the farmers of Ontario than the whole of the fiscal legislation that Canada had passed during the last 19 years.

Mr. Cockburn moved the adjournment of the debate.

The following interesting memoranda relating to postoffice business was issued by the department to-day:

Through an oversight it was not mentioned in the Postal Guide that the name and address of the sender of a private postcard may appear on the face or the address side of the card. The address may take the form of an ordinary business card and may be either printed or written.

Complaints are made from time to time of injury obtained in course of post by parcels, photographs and other articles of mail matter. In many cases, the fault rests with the sender for not putting up the article in such a manner as to protect it adequately against the friction and pressure to which mail matter is necessarily subjected; but in a certain proportion of cases there seems reason to suspect that the articles themselves, or the bags in which they were contained, have been too roughly handled. Postmasters and mail clerks are therefore requested and enjoined to do all in their power to guard the mail matter passing through their hands from injury.

Meteorological reports, addressed in open covers to the Dominion Observatory at Toronto, may pass free of postage, provided no writing of the nature of correspondence is added thereto or enclosed therewith.

Certain publishers have attempted to post as samples copies of their papers, prepaid at the rate of one cent per pound, "marked" copies, that is to say copies in which attention was called by marks or strokes to a particular advertisement, notice, article, etc. This is not permitted. A paper prepaid as third-class matter (one cent per four ounces) may be marked in that manner, but not a paper sent from the office of publication, free, or at the one-cent per pound rate.

In view of two cases that have recently occurred, the Postmaster-General considers it advisable to call attention to the fact that any person who falsely, and with fraudulent intent, alleges that money was enclosed in a post letter that was not so enclosed, or that a larger amount was enclosed than was actually enclosed, commits an indictable offence, the punishment for which is imprisonment. Two persons have quite lately been convicted of this offence and sentenced to imprisonment with hard labor.

Book packets addressed to Portugal are subject to duty, and unless the nature of their contents is indicated on the cover in large letters with an addition of the words, "A Soumettre a la Douane," (to be transferred to the customs) such packets will be subject on delivery to a fine in addition to the ordinary duty.

Advertisements, circulars or prospectuses, relating to foreign lotteries, cannot be sent in open covers to the United Kingdom.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

ST. VITUS DANCE.

A MALADY THAT HAS LONG BAFFLED MEDICAL SKILL.

A Speedy Cure for the Trouble at Last Discovered — The Particulars of the Cure of a Little Girl Who Was a Severe Sufferer.

From the Ottawa Journal.

In a handsome brick residence on the 10th line of Goulborn township, Carleton Co., lives Mr. Thomas Bradley, one of Goulbourn's most successful farmers. In Mr. Bradley's family is a bright little daughter, 8 years of age, who had been a severe sufferer from St. Vitus dance, and who had been treated by physicians without any beneficial results. Having learned that the little one had been fully restored to health by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a correspondent of the Journal called at the family residence for the purpose of ascertaining the facts, and found the little girl a picture of brightness and good health. Mrs. Faulkner, a sister of the little one, gave the following information: "About eighteen months ago Alvira was attacked by that terrible malady, St. Vitus dance, and became so bad that we called in two doctors, who held out no hope to us of her ultimate cure, and she was so badly affected with the 'dance' as to require almost constant watching. About this time we read in the Ottawa Journal of a similar case cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which gave us renewed hopes. We procured a couple of boxes, and before these were all used there was a perceptible improvement. After using six boxes more she was entirely free from the disease, and as you can see is enjoying the best of health. Several months have passed since the use of the Pink Pills was discontinued but there has been no return of the malady, nor any symptoms of it. We are quite certain Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured her, and strongly recommend them in similar cases."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Annual Meeting of the Non-Coms.

At the annual meeting of the non-commissioned officers Monday evening the report of the sec-treas. was received and found to be most satisfactory. The election of officers resulted as follows:—Pres. Sgt. Hillier, Sec.-Treas. Bugle Sgt. Sharp.

To-Day's Fire.

A huge pile of the material known as Excelsior and used for the stuffing of cushions, etc., took fire in some unaccountable manner at noon to-day in the yard of Mr. J. D. Craig's furniture store. A number of mattress springs and a few chair frames were destroyed before the fire was gotten under control by the brigade, which was promptly on the scene. The loss is a small one.

Ladies Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A.

For some time the ladies who are interested in the work for young men, have been talking of a reorganization of the auxiliary and the addition of new members. A meeting for that purpose will be held at the Y. M. C. A. parlours to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and all the ladies of the town who are interested in the work are invited to be present at the meeting.

Confirmation Services This Evening.

Yesterday afternoon the Bishop of Niagara held a reception at the residence of Rev. J. C. Davidson, from four until six o'clock, and many of the citizens availed themselves of the opportunity of meeting the prominent ecclesiastic. A private confirmation was held this morning, and this evening a class of almost a hundred will be confirmed in St. John's church at eight o'clock.

Ladies of the Baptist Society!

We would like to have you all stay with us while in Peterborough, but that is out of the question; and then, we like to share up with our neighbours. We, however, invite as many as possible to make the Peterborough Bookstore their headquarters during their visit. We shall give special reductions in every line we carry, particularly in Bibles, hymn books, stationery and fancy goods. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Salvation Army.

A meeting will be held in the Salvation Army Barracks of a very special character. An ex-officer will give his experience, how he fell away from God and the Army, also how he was restored. Thursday night, May 16th. Capt. Boyler will also be present, who is home from the States for a few weeks' rest. She will also sing a backslider's song. Every one should attend this meeting.

A Scrap at the Station.

A crowd of French Canadian shantymen passed through from Quebec this morning on their way back to the Howry timber limits, and while waiting for the train to pull out from the G.T.R. station, two of them became involved in a quarrel and came to blows over the matter. The police were telephoned for, and just as the train was pulling out Constable Stewart appeared on the scene and arrested the aggressor in the quarrel.

Condolence With the Family.

At a regular meeting of St. Peter's branch, No. 21, E.B.A., the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

That whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to take to Himself the father of our esteemed brother, Wm. McAuliffe, resolved that we the members of Branch No. 21, whilst bowing to the divine will of our Heavenly Father, do tender to Bro. McAuliffe and family of deceased our heartfelt sympathy in this their time of grief for the loss of a kind and affectionate father and fervent Christian.

Moved by Bro. Devlin, seconded by Bro. Ward, that a copy of this resolution be handed to Bro. Wm. McAuliffe and published in the official organs and local papers and the same engrossed on the minutes of our meeting

JOS. DALY, President
J. J. HICKEY, Secretary.
Peterborough, May 9th, 1895.

A Good Thing is Always Desirable

So it is with the visits of Prof. Dorenwend to Peterborough. On his last visit he was so busy that many ladies and gentlemen were unable to be attended to, he is therefore returning to give all who desire it another opportunity of procuring his art goods for the head. Prof. Dorenwend is undoubtedly one of the leaders of his profession on this continent, his skill in arranging the coverings for the head of either lady or gentleman is well known. His goods are acknowledged to be perfect, and in every way true to nature. They are the best protection to the head, besides giving a refined and youthful expression to the face. Call and examine those marvels of art and have them fitted in order to judge of the effect. Consult him about your hair, he will (free of charge) give you advice as to the preservation of it. He will be at the Grand Central Hotel on Thursday, 16th of May.

Work of the Children's Aid Society.

This morning after hearing the evidence of six witnesses and the admissions of the defendants the Police Magistrate handed over to the custody and control of the Children's Aid Society two young girls of tender ages who had before them a probable life of vice. The mother and father consented to the control for six months, and as at the end of that time the question of extension would be with the magistrate, the society closed with the admonition, grave moral danger is a mild term to apply to the circumstances under which the girls were growing up. The family has been for years in receipt of aid from the ladies of the town and from the Town Council. This undiscerning and indiscriminate charity was only perpetuating a state of affairs that has now undergone a change very much for the better. It is best described by saying that instead of leaving the children in questionable surroundings they are picked up and put in a healthy moral atmosphere.

GEORGE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE OFFICERS AND TEACHERS.

Reports Submitted by the Secretary, Treasurer and Librarian—Resignation of the Superintendency by Mr. Jeffries—The Election of Officers.

The teachers and officers of the George Street Methodist church Sunday school met last evening with the pastor, Rev. W. R. Young in the chair, and held their annual meeting.

THE SECRETARY'S report for the year submitted as follows by Mr. A. E. Dixon, and adopted:—

To the Officers and Teachers of the George Street Methodist Sabbath School.

Your Secretary begs to submit the following report for the year ending 30th April, 1895.

The number on the roll and actual attendance during the year as appears from the class books is as follows:

Primary Department—
Boys	123
Girls	118
		241
Junior Intermediate Class—
Boys	86
Girls	87
		173
Senior Interme diate Classes—
Boys	98
Girls	98
		196
Bible Classes—
Ladies	201
Gentlemen	197
		398
Home Class Department—
Ladies	85
		60
Making a total of		1,038

of whom 439 were boys and 599 girls.

In addition there are:

Teachers, including primary department	50
Officers	11
Orchestra	13
Making a grand total of	1,102

being an increase over the report of the previous year of 389.

The average attendance for the year was: Boys, 237; girls, 248; teachers and officers, 51. Total 536, being an increase over the average of the previous year of 50.

The largest attendance was 645 on March 31st, 1895.

The average number of teachers absent for the year was 5.

The average number of officers absent for the year was 3.

Number of verses recited by boys, 6,782; number of verses recited by girls, 11,259. Total, 18,041.

The average of the missionary collections was $5.68; average of ordinary collections, $4.84; general average of the collections, $5.03.

During the year aggressive work has been done. A normal class was established for the training of teachers and workers and a home class department for the benefit of those unable to attend the school and both branches of the work have been successful and beneficial.

Our library has recently been replenished by the addition of a large number of new books, and is greatly appreciated by the members of the school.

We have lost two of our members through death since our last annual meeting. Miss Ettie Armstrong, one of our efficient staff of teachers, passed to her eternal reward on the fifth of February, and two days later Miss Violet Dixon, a former teacher, was promoted to God's great class above.

Mr. J. S. Knapman, the treasurer of the Sunday school, submitted his statement concerning the finances as appended, explaining that there were some outstanding debts which would reduce the amount of cash in hand to about ten dollars:

On motion the report was seconded and adopted, after which

THE CHIEF LIBRARIAN,

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, laid the following report concerning the library before the meeting:

To the Officers and Teachers of the George Street Methodist Sunday School, Peterborough:

Your Librarians have pleasure in submitting a brief report on the state of the library and its work.

Availing themselves of your very liberal grant of $140.00 your librarians and committee named to assist, made a selection of books, which were purchased and placed in the cases. The wisdom of this course was immediately apparent in connection with the Junior Library. For years it had been felt that the works in this department were largely not suitable, of a trifling character, and lacking in interest. The new works procured were larger, and dealt with a variety of subjects calculated to interest the scholars in the Junior classes. So far, since the change was effected, nothing but satisfactory remarks have been heard from all reading the books in this department.

It was deemed advisable to change the system of giving out the books, to bring it into uniformity with that of the Senior Library, and to re-model the book cases. This expense has been met out of the sums granted. The number of books now in the Junior Library is 324.

In selecting books to replace the Senior Library, the teachers, officers and friends were invited to suggest the names of books suitable and interesting. A large number of titles were sent in. A careful review of the list showed that many were, while no doubt works of merit, not such as could be judiciously placed in the library. Yet enough were, however, left to be covered by the amount at disposal of the committee. Some 25 volumes, books of general interest, and which are regularly asked for, were replaced by new copies. The works of several authors much in demand were procured to complete the series. The Senior Library now numbers 561 volumes, making, with the junior library, a total of 905 books for use of the school. In all about 300 new books were added.

The organization of the Home Department, and the increased attendance at the adult classes has had an effect in increasing the number of books taken out each Sunday, and it will presently be a matter for consideration as to whether some additions will not be needed to meet the call for more books. There is no doubt that the library has a field in making the school attractive, and it would seem well that this field should be cultivated to its fullest extent. Of the 561 books in the senior library only about 165 are left on the shelves, as an average each Sunday. This fact will show the extent to which the library is made use of.

Your librarians are pleased to be able to state that ample assistance is at all times available in handling the work. The ability to change and send out a large number of books each Sunday is only to be measured by the number of books at hand and room to work in. As the school increases the librarians will cheerfully see to it that all are served.

A point which it is desirable that teachers should urge on the attention of scholars is the care of books. Many scholars are lacking in this respect. They should be told that the books are theirs, and that a personal interest shown in care of the books will benefit all others who care to read.

With feelings of pride in the success of our school, we remain,

F. H. DOBBIN,
J. R. H. DIXON,
J. S. KNAPMAN.

To the universal regret of the officers and teachers, Mr. B. Jeffries, B.A., who has discharged the duties of superintendent of the Sunday school most faithfully and efficiently for the past two years, tendered his resignation of the office. Though resigning the superintendency, Mr. Jeffries announced his intention of still continuing to take an active interest in the progress of the Sunday school. Numerous complimentary references were made to the efforts which Mr. Jeffries had made for the advancement of the good work.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Superintendent—S. R. Armstrong.
Assistant Superintendent—A. Parker.
Treasurer—J. S. Knapman.
Secretary—A. E. Dixon.
Librarians—F. H. Dobbin, W. F. Hilliard, R. Richardson, O. B. Shortly, R. Dickson, George Frost and A. Turner.
Orchestra Leader—J. Miller.
Chotristes—Alt. Miller.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Baggageman Osborne, of the G.T.R. has tendered his resignation of his position, and Baggageman Strike, of Cobourg, has been transferred to the local station.

Application for excursion rates are now coming into the railway offices by the dozen.

The local corps of the Salvation Army intends running an excursion to Sturgeon Point over the line of the Grand Trunk in the near future.

Mr. C. J. Pusey, of the I. B & O. Ry., passed north to Gooderham yesterday. Mr. Pusey seems to be about to reap the reward of his hard struggle against adverse circumstances since he commenced the construction of the road. Time and again he has been obliged to suspend operations for want of money, but he surmounted very obstacle. Now the road is in running order as far as Wilberforce in Cardiff township, and he has thus covered considerably more than half the distance to Bancroft on the western boundary of the township of Dungannon. A large force of Italians are now at work on the line, and the construction of the road across the township of Faraday, a distance of about 26 miles, is likely to be accomplished by this time next year at the latest.

BATTALION ORDERS.

HEADQUARTERS.
PETERBOROUGH, May 14th, 1895.

Orders by Lieut. Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers.

In accordance with recent general orders, Lieut. Col. Bell having assumed command of the 57th Battalion, hopes to have the entire confidence and support of every officer, non-com. officer and man in an earnest effort to bring the regiment to the highest possible state of efficiency and ready for any emergency, so as to be a credit to each individual connected therewith, as well as to our town and county.

Lieut. V. Eastwood is transferred from "B" Company and posted to "C" Company.

Captains will immediately make requisition on the quartermaster for the necessary number of uniforms, rifles bayonets and belts to equip their companies.

The Battalion will parade every Tuesday evening at 7.45 sharp until further orders.

All men of the Battalion who have not received their uniforms yet will be furnished with same on Thursday evening.

By order,
E. F. MASON, Capt.,
Adjt. 57th Batt.

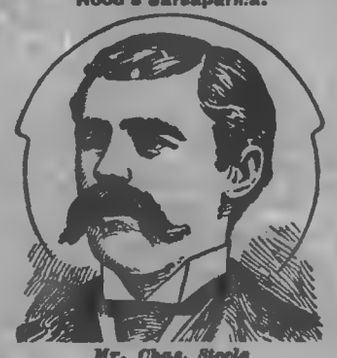
That Tired Feeling, Constipation and Pain in the Back

Appetite and Health Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.



Mr. Chas. Steele
St. Catherine's, Ont.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was gone. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any sources until, upon recommendation of a friend, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which made me feel better at once. I have continued its use, having taken three bottles, and

JACKETS and CAPES AT HALF-PRICE

AT

HALL, GILCHRIST & CO'S.

Great Realization Sale.

We have always made it a rule to carry no Mantles over to another season, and in order to clear out the balance of this season's goods, we have cut the price in two, and every garment will be sold at exactly half the price it is marked.

We prefer to make this heavy loss rather than carry the goods over, and we expect a great rush for these bargains. Everyone knows that we have had the cheapest—most stylish garments in town—and when we announce that we are going to offer them at half price, it will no doubt attract a greater crowd.

12 Capes, original price $7.00, sale price $3.50.
10 Capes and Jackets, original price $6.00, sale price $3.00.
5 Capes and Jackets, original price $9.00, sale price $4.50.
3 Capes and Jackets, original price $10.00, sale price $5.00.
4 Capes and Jackets, original price $11.00, sale price $5.50.
6 Capes and Jackets, original price $12.00, sale price $6.00.
5 Capes and Jackets, original price $14.00, sale price $7.00.
2 Capes, original price $15.00, sale price $10.00.

THEY GATHER IN THE MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

The First Session Opened at Half-past Nine This Morning and the Convention Will Last Until Thursday Evening—Many Interesting Papers Read To-Day—The Address of Welcome.

The annual assembly of the Baptist Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of Ontario commenced, this morning, in the Murray Street Baptist Church with a great number of delegates in attendance.

The first session opened at 9.30 o'clock, with the President, Mrs. Charles J. Holman, of Toronto, in the chair. The prayer service was conducted by Miss O. E. Dryden, of Greenbank, after which the hymn "Hail to the Lord's Annointed" was sung. Mrs. Morton, of Lindsay, read a portion of the Scriptures, after which Mrs. E. J. Hunter read the following to the visiting delegates.

In behalf of the Peterborough Mission Circle and the women of this congregation I extend to this convention a most sincere and hearty welcome.

We esteem it a great pleasure to have with us our presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries, treasurers and editors of our papers—those who bear the responsibility of our work, that we may express to them our appreciation of their ability and untiring zeal, and our hope that the coming year may gladden their hearts by its being the most glorious in the work done for Christ, both at home and in foreign lands.

We welcome all the delegates as Christian workers, who by their presence show their interest in the progress of the kingdom of Christ. We are sorry this convention is not as large as regards numbers, as in former years, but we earnestly pray that the Holy Spirit may be present to guide and direct all our deliberations.

That we may indeed be co-workers with God, working together with him, the Lord working with us. Will not this thought ennoble everything He gives us to do at this service?

We stand to-day upon one of these heights of retrospect and prospect. Hitherto we have had help, guidance, privilege. Hitherto answered prayers, fragrant memories, saved souls. Hitherto some loving work which has been accepted and glorified with the Master's own smile. And what henceforth? Surely there can be but one answer. Loyalty, unswerving devotion, undying expectation, unfaltering until the kingdoms of this world become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ. Again allow me to welcome you all.

MRS. HOLMAN,

the president, in her address thanked Mrs. Hunter for her kind words, and also expressed her appreciation of the hospitality of the Peterborough ladies.

The idea had occurred to her, she stated, of "how could the present convention be an inspiration." The desired end, she thought, could be achieved by, in the words of Dr. Gordon, "Having a mind clothed with inward prayer." Mrs. Holman enlarged on the theme of how the spirit of prayer glorified everything which was undertaken under its influence. In the routine business the monotony was always relieved through the instrumentality of prayer.

It was a very great privilege, the speaker thought, that prayers could be addressed to One whose promises were always sure. In comparison, Mrs. Holman instanced the case of Queen Esther, who when she went to the King asking the lives of her people, she took her life in her hand as the King's decisions were always governed by caprice, but as for us our petitions were always sure to be granted. If it was a privilege to pray, the measure of our privilege was the measure of our duty.

As the Almighty grants his blessings in response to prayer, the speaker queried if the blessings would not be withheld in the event of prayer ceasing. In closing she made another reference to the meaning implied in the beautiful words, "Having a mind clothed with inward prayer."

The Associational reports were read, showing the following contributions as having been received from the districts mentioned:

The Indian Report was submitted by Mrs. J. E. Wells, of Toronto, in the reading of the following paper:

THE HEATHEN AT HOME.

By "heathen at home" is meant the unevangelized Indians of Canada—our native or adopted home. And it is a serious fact that at the present moment there are thousands of heathen Indians in the Northwestern part of our Dominion. It is through the efforts of various Christian bodies thousands of Indian people have renounced their heathenism and embraced Christianity; yet it is estimated that about twenty thousand pagan Indians are still found in the above part of our home land.

Our Portage Indian mission aims to reach two bands of these Indians, among whom no school was established, and no missionary labored. The door was open and it was entered and the first Baptist mission among the pagan Indians of the Northwest was commenced.

Fallen human nature the world over most readily imbibes new forms of evil, and the "bad qualities" of the white man are soon copied by the Indian. There are no expressions of profanity, it seems, in the Indian languages, but after knowing a little English, the Indian can soon "curse and swear." The red man was formerly a stranger to the use of tobacco, but now, both Indian men and women are eager for the weed. In his former state the Indian knew nothing of spirituous liquor, or fire-water as the Indian word signifies; but through the white man, the "scum of the forest" is often made raving mad by this awful beverage; and that in spite of the Indian act which prohibits the selling of liquor to Indians. The liquor traffic is a great obstruction to the progress of Christian work among the Indians and other natives of the great west.

But the greatest difficulty to be contended with in our Portage Indian mission is the heathen religion of the people. To this they pledge themselves from father to son, and upon adherence to it they base their hope for the future; for as they say "If we don't follow Indian ways we don't know what will become of us."

They often dance and beat their drums for days and nights, until they are utterly exhausted.

At the presents dance, besides dancing they present each other with what things they have, even to their own clothes. And the person who gives all away is considered the bravest of all. It seems clear that this is done for praise more than from true kindness on the part of the giver. They have a medicine or conjuring dance, which is preceded by communion in a tent for that purpose, with the "spirit," and receiving the message for the people; and invariably the "message" is along the line of their traditional superstition. When this secret meeting of the conjurors is over, a large tent is made, if it be summer, or the largest house secured, if it be winter, and thither the people gather to listen these conjuring preachers, and then dance and feast on several dogs killed and prepared for the occasion.

They also observe what might be called a friendship dance. When some heathen friends come from other reserves, the invitation, by means of tobacco, is sent around, and the people, old and young, male and female, come together. They talk of old times, encourage each other in pagan ways, and dance and drum for several days. Dancing is a prominent feature in the superstition of these heathen people.

They appear to have great faith in their medicine men or conjurors. If any special advice is necessary the conjuror is sought; he is supposed to know what is best, for has he not communion with the "Great Spirit."

As offerings to their God, the "Great Spirit," they purchase remnants of print, of bright colours, and fasten them high on trees, and there the offering is destined to remain through rain and sunshine, cold and heat, until weather beaten and rotten it crumbles to the ground.

This brief reference to the heathen condition of these "heathen at home," shows somewhat of the greatness of the work of evangelising them, and the necessity of "patient contrivance" in missionary zeal and activity, in order to accomplish the desired result.

It appears from the experience of others that education and the Gospel should go hand in hand in elevating and saving a people. Among our "heathen at home" in the Northwest, there are schools in connection with the different missions conducted by other denominations. In our foreign work a school and mission generally go together. And even in Grand Ligne work the same principle prevails. The preaching of the Gospel is generally accompanied by school instruction in the great work of evangelizing the heathen of the world.

And the greater need at present of our Portage Indian Mission is a boarding school for heathen boys and girls. It is agreed that on account of the wandering habits of these Indian families, a day school on the reserve would be practically useless, but a school and mission house attached at the west end of the "Portage," where Indians camp most of the year, could become a combined day and boarding school. The school room might be used for Gospel meetings on the Sabbath and during the week, and also for Indian sewing class. An increased attendance should reasonably be expected, both at the sewing class and Gospel meetings.

This pressing need for a school in connection with this Mission is strongly urged upon the attention of Christian friends who desire the improvement and evangelization of these Pagan Indians. As Baptists we do not seek government aid for denominational schools, but because of this, shall we leave the education of heathen Indians to those who do seek it? and shall we continue to have no school among the Indians of the Canadian Northwest?

A number of children are promised for the school, some of whom are orphans, with only aged people to care for them. It would be eminently Christian work to feed and clothe such, aside from the thought of bringing them up in the knowledge and admonition of the Lord. May the Divine Father lay this school matter on the hearts of His children, and work out what is pleasing in His sight.

Miss A. M. Tapscott, of Hamilton, then read a very interesting paper on

THE MISSION BAND.

After a resume of some length of the mode of procedure adopted in the way of making the work of the Hamilton Mission Band so successful, the advisability of making the class meetings interesting was strongly advocated. This was to be accomplished by bearing the work ever in mind and making use of odd moments. As you read the papers and magazines, said she, read not for yourselves alone, but with the thought of the Band ever in mind. If you find a suitable poem give it to a friend to copy for Henry or Bessie. If a touching little story or appeal, put the book where you will not forget to give it to some one who will repeat it. Form the habit of being constantly on the look out for material from all sources. "Where there's a will there's a way" says the old proverb.

It may be that some Band leaders who hear me can procure the Baptist Union, the organ of the B.Y.P.U. It contains under the heading of the "Junior Movement," much material which our leaders could use with advantage.

Mrs. Wilkins and Miss McKean have won laurels for work among the young, and here in this department gather from all sources, suggestions which in many cases you might be glad to act upon, and which are prepared for just such young people as you wish to instruct. Certainly the devotional exercises of your band would be the richer for a study of the lesson given here every week, and illustrated so ably by the children's picture-maker, R. F. Y. Pierce. The longest course need not be followed closely, but the hymns, recitations and suggestions of all kinds which creep into these bright columns, will certainly repay a careful perusal on your part.

Pastors and Sunday school superintendents could, some do, render great assistance to our Bands, while others, again, seem totally to ignore this part of their work, not deeming, indeed, that they have any responsibility in connection with it. If they but realized the broad field these same bands afford them for training and educating their young people, they would more frequently visit the Band, and help with a blackboard talk or a map drill. They would also speak an appreciative and encouraging word occasionally, and so foster the missionary spirit, the lack of which is so greatly deplored in our churches.

OBSTACLES TO BAND WORK.

Many Bands during the winter have to be discontinued almost entirely because the church cannot be heated at a convenient hour. This is very discouraging. Yet even then the indefatigable leader will see that the interest does not die out. A few bright cheery words with the young people after church or Sunday school, a few enquiries as to their contributions to the Mission barrels, a little talk about the concert which you intend to have in the spring, or the picnic on Somebody's lawn, will keep the work in their minds and secure their eager interest.

In one of our small country churches there is a farmer's wife, who has a large cheery kitchen to which she invites the members of the Band occasionally. Why could not many others do the same? Yes, and at the close of the meeting treat their young visitors to a plate of apples or a taffy pull? One young lady thinks the greatest obstacle to our work is in the home. Mother, is that true of your home? Do you value so little the privileges that your children enjoy in the Band that you are careless about your attending the meetings? Have you so little sympathy with God's great purpose in sending His Son to our world that you will not lend your influence to help on the work? Put yourself in the place of the brave Band Leader, and you will soon find many ways to help and encourage her. The day school teacher depends upon the mother to see that the "home work" is not neglected, and she has five days in the week; the Band Leader has one hour. And her lessons, too, are important. Mother, will you not assist her by seeing that your little girl goes regularly to the meeting with well prepared recitation or thoughtfully written paper? Teach her, that though she may not have many pennies to spare for the mite box or collection plate, Jesus will be equally pleased if she faithfully does the work that is in her reach, and will say of her, "She hath done what she could."

Such training will have an indelible impression upon the child's mind. Children are so quick to catch the spirit, and follow the example of their parents, and no training in the Band can be half so efficient as that of the devoted Christian parent. Yes home is the true place for the fostering and development of the missionary spirit. It is told that Dr. Hooper, a saintly man, feeling the bitterness of the separation, said to his daughter, who was about to be married to Mr. Capron, and go with him to India, "How came you ever to think of going abroad as a missionary?" "Why father," she replied, "I do not count it strange, I have heard you pray for missions all my life, and now I am going to answer your prayers.

How many parents would be willing to have their prayers answered in a similar way?

What our Bands need, and what I would crave for them, is the co-operation of pastors, Sunday school workers, and parents, with the Band teachers. Then should we see souls saved, lives consecrated, work accomplished, and Christ's kingdom come.

Owing to lack of space, and to the fact of all the delegates not having registered, the list is not printed to-day.

A SOLEMN CEREMONY AT ST. LUKE'S.

The Bishop of Niagara Administers the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation—Three Score Renew Their Baptismal Vows.

The apostolic rite of confirmation was administered last night to sixty-one candidates, by the Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Niagara. There was a large congregation present. During the singing of the first hymn,

"Soldiers of Christ, arise," the candidates took their places in the seats reserved for them in the centre of the aisle. The Bishop was accompanied by Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. C. B. Kenrick and the rector, Rev. H. Symonds.

After the shortened form of Evening Prayer had been said, the confirmation service was introduced by the singing of the hymn,

"My God accept my heart this day," after which the Bishop advancing to the chancel steps delivered his ADDRESS.

His Lordship said there were many questions asked about the service in which they were engaged, of which he proposed to deal with three. (1) Is confirmation of universal obligation? (2) Who appointed it? and (3) what good is it?

In answering the first question he desired to draw their attention to Hebrews, vi, 1, wherein six foundation principles of Christianity were laid down. These were repentance, faith, baptism, laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment. Now no one would assert that repentance, or faith, or baptism, or the resurrection or eternal judgment, were not still fundamental doctrines of our faith. How then could, the laying on of hands, or confirmation, which the apostle included with these five be separated from them. There was nothing either in the Bible or in the history of the Church or in reason which could justify the arbitrary rejection of one of these six "first principles of Christ."

In answer to the question "who appointed; Confirmation," the Bishop drew the attention of his hearers to Acts viii, wherein would be found the record of

by the Apostles. How did the Apostles know that they were to administer this rite? Surely the only reasonable reply was that they had a charge from their Master who, we are told, for forty days after the Resurrection talked to them of the things concerning the Kingdom of Heaven.

If, lastly, the question was asked, "Of what good is Confirmation," we must say that whilst in practical affairs of this world such a question might be appropriate, in affairs of the Spirit, we should first of all ask "Are they according to the will of God"? If so, then we may be quite certain that they will be profitable. But we can give a more definite account of the blessings of Confirmation. Holy Scripture in Acts viii. and xix., teaches that God bestows upon the faithful the gift of the Holy Spirit, nor is there any reason to suppose that gift to have ceased. But, and here the Bishop more particularly addressed the candidates in words of deep earnestness, we must do our part. The gift

WILL BE ACCORDING TO OUR FAITH.

As we have believed so be it done unto us. Kneel and say "Lord, behold Thy servant, be it unto me according to Thy word." In your struggle with sin you will not be alone, in your life of devotion you will have a Friend. God gives us His Holy Spirit to aid us in our steady advance up the steep hill of entire self-consecration.

At the close of the address the Bishop asked the candidates if they renewed their solemn baptismal vows, and clear and distinct came the reply:

"I do."

The laying on of hands was then administered, the candidates advancing twelve at a time to the Sanctuary rail. Between each group of twelve one verse of the hymn

"Thine forever; God of love" was sung. The offertory hymn was

"O Jesus, I have promised,"

and after the benediction,

"Christian seek not yet repose."

At the close of the service, which will long be remembered by all present, the Bishop shook hands with each of the confirmed, who then returned to their homes.

WHEEL.

At a meeting held on Tuesday evening the Millbrook Bicycle club was organized with the following officers:—

Hon. President—J. C. Kells.
President—A. A. Duncan.
Captain—W. W. Gillott.
Lieutenant—W. Eakin.
Sec.-Treas.—W. W. Coombe.
Committee—A. A. Smith, W. A. Turner, H. Armstrong and F. J. Carless.

The new club starts out with a membership of fifteen, but this number will be increased, as many new wheels are being imported into the village.

LACROSSE.

The Checkers of Beaverton will play in Millbrook on May 24th.

Mr. Walter Phelan has called a meeting of the local district of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, to be held on Saturday afternoon next in the parlours over the Palace Restaurant, at two o'clock. The schedule for the season's games will then be drawn up, and clubs in this district wishing to enter the C. L. A. series will do well to have a representative at the meeting.

The Peterboroughs will turn out for practice this evening at Riverside Park, and the members of the club are urged to be in attendance as early as possible in order that there may be no delay in the choosing of sides.

A LIVELY COUNCIL MEETING.

Port Hope's Town Fathers "Raise Cain" in the Council Chamber.

Port Hope council had a bear garden session Monday evening. Councillor Quinlan accused Councillor Stevenson of trying to get his back taxes remitted, and Councillor Stevenson retorted by proving that the former had the interest on his back taxes thrown off, and also repudiated and refused to pay a portion of his taxes. He said Councillor Quinlan was a liar, that it was a fine thing for him that he had a father or he wouldn't own anything. Slurring personal reference was also made to Councillor Quinlan's sojourn at the Gold Cure Institute.

In answer Quinlan remarked that even if he didn't own anything, he didn't have to compromise every little while for 10c on the dollar.

Councillor Stevenson—"You hadn't anything to compromise with."

The mayor, it seems, during the fracas, in which several other of the councillors took part, was powerless to keep order. A few invitations were issued during the discussion to step outside and settle the matter.

BLAKE TO RETIRE.

To Become a Privy Council Judicial Lord.

PEERS MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.

A Question Whether M P's Succeeding to Peerages Can Retain Their Seats in Their Lower House—Colonial Judges for the Privy Council.

London, May 13.—I learn on good authority that it is understood in Nationalist circles that Mr. Edward Blake intends to retire from the British Parliament at the end of the present session.

He feels now no hope that his presence is efficacious towards healing the faction feuds of the party. Moreover, the adoption of the Home Rule bill by the House of Commons makes his presence indispensable.

Another reason is that some Nationalists, notably Timothy Healey, who worked to secure Mr. Blake's presence, now favor his retirement.

Mr. Blake himself says nothing; but his friends say it is possible to retain his association with England by making him a member of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, before which he has become a foremost advocate.

Mr. Blake still talks of Canada as his home, but expresses no desire to return to Canadian politics.

LORDS IN THE LOWER HOUSE.

A Question Whether Peers Can Sit as Commoners.

London, May 13.—William W. Wolmer, George Nathaniel Curson and William St. John Broderick, respectively members of Parliament for West Edinburgh, Southwest Lancashire and Surrey, and eldest sons of the Earl of Selborne, Lord Scarsdale and Viscount Middleton, are carrying out their intention to test the question whether heirs to peerages, sitting as members of the House of Commons, are entitled to remain in that body after they become Peers. To-day Mr. Wolmer, formerly a Courtesy Lord, with the title of Viscount, who has just succeeded to the Peerage in consequence of the death of his father, the Earl of Selborne, appeared in his accustomed place in the House of Commons, ignoring the fact that he had inherited a seat in the Upper House.

Mr. Labouchere asked the Speaker whether a peer had any right to a place within the bar of the House of Commons?

Speaker Gully asked Viscount Wolmer, otherwise Lord Selborne, whether he had applied for a summons to the House of Lords.

Viscount Wolmer replied that he had not made such an application, and, furthermore, that he did not intend to do so until the House of Commons decided that he was no longer a member of that body.

The Speaker said that the question had already been decided by the House, and called upon Lord Selborne to withdraw behind the bar, which he did.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that in view of the arising of an event so unusually and constitutionally important the House ought to take the matter under advisement and establish a course to be pursued in regard to such case. A person becoming a peer, he said, must necessarily become a lord in Parliament. It would be impossible to deprive himself of a seat in the House of Lords. He thought, however, that it would be proper to refer the inquisition to a committee, such as was appointed to deal with the college case.

Mr. Balfour agreed with Sir William, but Mr. Chamberlain differed with him, saying his sympathies were wholly with Viscount Wolmer.

After further discussion the matter was put over until to-morrow.

Sir William Harcourt, replying to a question by Sir George Baden-Powell, said a bill to enable colonial judges to sit in the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council would be immediately introduced by the Government in the House of Lords.

Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General, said in response to an enquiry on the subject that he hoped to effect an arrangement by which the concurrent arrival in New York of Saturday and Wednesday mails from London would not recur. He added that he had been advised that the mail contractors would not hereafter allow slow and fast steamers to alternate in their sailing day. They had promised to curtail the service of the slow boats. Mr. Morley further said that new engines had been placed in the White Star steamer Germanic, and she will be considerably faster than hitherto.

MET DIVERS DEATHS.

A DAY'S SUICIDES AND CASUALTIES

Some Killed Themselves, Others Waited for Death.

Two Suicides in Toronto—An Ex-Canadian Takes Poison in Kansas City Killed by a Ball—A Steamer's Boiler Explodes on the St. Clair.

Toronto, May 15. — George Williams, 80 years of age, who lived with his wife and daughter at 16 Denison-square, yesterday committed suicide in a novel manner.

Williams, who had been under treatment for some time for weakness of the mind, was left alone in his room for a few moments. When Mrs. Williams returned she found the old man kneeling on the floor with a rope around his neck. The rope ran over the bedroom door, and was attached to the knob on the other side. How he came into possession of the rope is not known. Dr. Mayberry was called, but life was extinct.

The Drowning of Tailor Home.

Toronto, May 15.—Early yesterday afternoon some person on board an Island ferry boat noticed the dead body of a man floating in the bay, about 300 yards south of Spadina-avenue. The police were informed, and they in turn notified Esplanade Constable Williams, who recovered the body and had it removed in the patrol wagon to the Morgue, where it was shortly afterwards identified as Thomas B. Home, a cutter, who has been living recently with his son, William Home, a traveler for R. Darling & Co., at 1 Macpherson-avenue.

TOOK CARBOLIC ACID.

A Former Lambton County Banker Suicides in Kansas City.

Kansas City, May 14.—John Shaw, 50 years of age, committed suicide at the Colorado Hotel, 811 Grand-avenue, this afternoon by swallowing carbolic acid. Shaw left a long letter, in which he gave his reasons for committing suicide. He said he was a banker in Warwick Township, near Sarnia, at one time, but failed and came to this country. He charged his wife with being faithless, and left 10 cents to each of his children.

"DR" ROSSIN'S SUICIDE.

A Medical Imposter at Charlottetown, P.E.I., Takes Strychnine.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., May 15.—Dr. Rossin suicided late last night at the house of W. S. Mackie. He swallowed part of the contents of a small black bottle, presumably strychnine, and died 20 minutes after. He talked freely after taking the dose, saying he would die this time sure. He had been drinking considerably yesterday, and was partially intoxicated. He claimed relationship with the proprietors of the Rossin House, Toronto, and also claimed to be a member of almost every society on earth, including the Masons and Oddfellows, but was unable to prove himself such. The case has created much excitement in medical and legislative circles, owing to the alleged infringement of the Medical Act in having assumed the title of doctor without being able to produce a satisfactory diploma.

Grief Drove Her Insane.

Brooklyn, N.Y., May 15.—Miss Julia Phelps committed suicide by jumping from the third floor to the sidewalk. Within a year Miss Phelps had lost a brother and two other relatives by death, and it is supposed she became temporarily insane from grief.

EXPLOSION ON A STEAMER.

Three Deaths by Accident on the River St. Clair.

Detroit, Mich., May 14.—While the river steamer Unique, bound up, was in Lake St. Clair last evening, a tube in one of her boilers blew out, killing Anthony Case, a coal passer, and fatally injuring John Hant, a fireman.

George Robinson, the engineer, who was sitting on the port rail, was knocked overboard and drowned.

There were 40 passengers on board the Unique, but a panic was averted. The Unique was brought here by a tug.

GORED BY A BULL.

Fearful Death of a Young Farmer Near Harriston.

Harriston, Ont., May 14.—James McMorran, nephew of Robert Scott, ex-reeve of Minto, was gored and trampled to death by a bull on Sunday. He was leading the animal to drink, when it attacked him, but no one was near to render assistance. He was found dead, the brute having left him.

Three Killed by a Boiler Explosion.

Wellsville, N.Y., May 14.—A terrible accident occurred this morning at West Bingham, Potter County, Pa., fifteen miles from here, in which five men were killed and three fatally injured by the blowing up of an eighty-horse-power boiler.

Fatal Results of Delay.

Sickness generally follows in the path of neglect. Don't be reckless! but prudently take a few doses of Scott's Emulsion immediately following exposure to cold. It will save you many painful days and sleepless nights.

Sick Headache

CURED PERMANENTLY

BY TAKING

Ayer's Pills

"I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I

that I received anything like permanent benefit. A single box of these pills did the work for me, and I am now free from headaches, and a well man."—C. H. HUTCHINGS, East Auburn, Me

MEN AND THEIR BEARDS

SOME DEDUCTIONS THAT IT IS SAFE TO MAKE.

A Father's Advice on the Value of Shaving Oneself—Locality Indicated by the Beard—Relations of Character and Whiskers.

If there is one sign of manliness that a boy admires more than another it is a beard, and probably no better preventive of the cigarette habit could be found than to convince him that the use of tobacco checks the growth of the beard. But with his admiration for the beard he also cherishes hankering for shaving. There are men who have reached mature years, proud of being able to say that a razor has never touched their face, but few can make this boast. On the contrary, the lads are in a hurry to begin shaving, and the father who shaves himself is not always right when he accuses some one of cutting corns with his best razor: it is quite possible that the edge may have been dulled by the first efforts of his son at shaving. Other boys who have made the barber's acquaintance as they have gone from time to time to have their hair cut gradually work their courage up to the point of asking at what age shaving is usually begun. If the decision were left to the barber it would be very early. Although at first a visit to the barber once a month may be enough, the time will come when the process must be repeated every other day, and with some even daily. So that the young man who begins by shaving himself can save time and money.

A story is told of a father's advice to a daughter who, shortly before her marriage, asked what present would be most suitable for her intended. He handed her a five-dollar bill and recommended that she invest it in a shaving outfit, saying that if used by her husband both would benefit by it. It would assure her much more of his society and the time saved, if utilized in business, would help to make him a rich man. He attributed his success in life in part to the fact that he had always shaved himself.

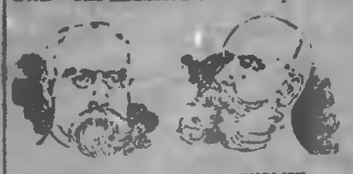
The manner how a man wears his beard is indicative of character, style he has chosen is indicative of character, and as he begins, so many men who go through life. There are many men who have the courage of their own convictions and will make a change in the way of wearing the beard, but not many. As the moustache is only a part of the beard proper and is so commonly worn that it attracts little or no attention, the lack of one has come to be more noticeable. The smallest moustache, particularly if just coming, has surely one and sometimes two admirers. The owner, bearing in mind that early training has the most lasting effect, gives it great attention. He is its foremost admirer. If the development is slow, he may have a sweetheart who is the second admirer and to whom he can go for encouragement, but a sister, never.



THE SEVERE WHISKER. ENGLISH.

Additional beard is not common. Occasionally a gray haired man sticks to the old style of a little tuft in front of the ear, and the goatee is worn by some. This varies in shape, from the smallest tuft on the under lip to something very elaborate reaching below the chin and twisted to a peak matching the pointed moustache and giving the idea of a three pointed star. Locality often affects the style of beard. An expert at once detects a countryman, by a glance at his beard. If the wearer has long chin whiskers the expert says "Chicago." The same beard and moustache, with the ends bushy and sunburned, brings out the words "Kansas." A clean-shaven chin, with the old-fashioned Burnsides and a smooth upper lip, brands its owner, as from Boston or down east. A person who is very observing goes further and is apt to not only judge locality, but character as well, by the style of the beard. This, perhaps, is going too far.

THE GENEROUS WHISKERS. GOING BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES.

If a man with a smooth shaven chin has a very pretty dimple in it, it is safe to assume that the chin is bared in order to show the dimple. A smooth shaven face suggests three associations—the priest, the actor, and the convict. People associate side whiskers with the professions and with old fashions. They give a judicial cast to the countenance and a look of severity, but there is many a jolly old fellow who sticks to the old style. A man with a full beard may be broad-minded and generous. Further than the limits suggested by these illustrations, the beard affords little indication of character.—N. Y. Sun.

WOMEN IN THE WORLD.

Facts as to the Distribution of the Feminine Population.

According to the most reliable estimates the world to-day contains 280,000,000 grown women. Among civilised nations the United States have actually the largest share, their feminine population being 30,554,370. Russia comes next with an adult feminine population of 28,200,000. Then a long way after come the German Empire with 10,980,000; Austria, with 9,680,000; Great Britain, with 8,766,000; France, with 8,586,000, and Italy, with 6,850,000. Spain comes next on the list with 4,180,000 of the fair sex, and she is followed by Belgium, with 1,840,000; Roumania, with 1,260,000; Sweden, with 1,170,000; Portugal, with 1,080,000, and Holland, with 1,070,000. The countries whose adult feminine population does not reach 1,000,000 are Switzerland, which has only 690,000; Norway, which has 465,000, and Greece and Denmark, which are tied at 490,000.

In this estimate it will be noted that the entire female population of the United States is given and only the number of grown women in the different countries of Europe. As a matter of fact, in proportion to its population this country has fewer women than most of the others mentioned.

The proportion of women to men in the United States is greatest in New England, where the women are in excess. It is least in the far west, where the number of men exceeds that of the women. Wyoming has the smallest female population, 21,362; New York the largest, 3,020,960; while it is said that one factory in New England employs 12,000 women.—Buffalo Commercial.

Shirt Waist and Deuteronomy.

One of the most significant signs of spring is the appearance of the shirt waist. It is worn by all classes and conditions of women.

Age or size is no bar to it. Comeliness or homeliness are equally susceptible to its attractions. It has come with bigger sleeves, brighter colors and more extreme styles. In its latest form, it is an exact copy of a man's shirt except that it has a drawing string around the belt and is endowed with the privilege of separating from the garment that supplements it.

This prevalence of the shirt waist is a token of the religious laxity of the times. Its hold upon feminine favor shows that the Bible is not read or heeded as in the days of our grandmothers. In Deuteronomy xxii, 5 are these words: "The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment; for all that do so are an abomination."

As the women are putting on not only the shirt waist but the collar button, the studs and the four-in-hand ties, which pertain unto a man, it is very evident they do not take scriptural injunctions very much to heart.—Denver News.

Little We Can Live On.

Now and then perhaps the most eminent authority upon diet, says that the average man in a state of absolute rest, can live on sixteen ounces of food a day, light work can a man doing ordinary work and a man live on twenty-three ounces. From twenty-doing laborious work needs from thirty six and three-quarter ounces to forty ounces.

This is food absolutely free from water, and it must be remembered that everything we eat contains more or less water, so that from forty-eight to sixty ounces of ordinary food are necessary to the work in which a man is engaged.

Sir Lyon Playfair, another great authority gives the following as all that is necessary for a healthy man to eat in a week: three pounds of meat with one pound of fat; two ordinary loaves of bread, one ounce of salt and five pints of milk; or, for the meat, five or six pounds of oatmeal may be substituted. This sounds like starvation diet, but Sir Lyon Playfair generally knows what he's talking about.

PEERS IN PARLIAMENT.

A Decision Shelved by the Formal Appointment of a Committee—Labouchere's Ridicule of the Debate.

London, May 14.—The motion introduced in the House of Commons to-day by Sir William Harcourt in regard to the status of Viscount Wolmer took the technical form of a resolution to appoint a committee to enquire whether Viscount Wolmer had succeeded to the Earldom of Selborne.

Mr. Chamberlain offered an amendment that the committee, if appointed, also consider the dormant titles of Earl of Hyndford, Viscount Inglisberry and Nemphlar. Lord Carmichael of Carmichael as Lord Carmichael yet held his seat in the House of Commons.

Sir William Harcourt declined to involve the committee in the consideration of separate questions.

A seat held by the heir of a peer, he said, was legally vacated upon the death of the peer. The only question, therefore, which could be referred to a committee was embodied in the motion he had just submitted.

Mr. George N. Curzon said that the late Earl of Selborne had encouraged his son to take the step he was now taking.

Mr. Labouchere ridiculed the course of Mr. Chamberlain in dragging the matter of a dormant peerage into the question. He himself, he said, had recently received a letter from a person offering for the sum of ten guineas to prove that he (Labouchere) was a member of the Royal family. (Laughter.) That being so, the question arose, according to Mr. Chamberlain's contention, whether he had a right to sit in the House of Commons. The whole debate, he thought, was a piece of absurdity, and a writ ought to be moved without delay, declaring Viscount Wolmer's seat vacant.

The motion offered by Sir William Harcourt was carried by a vote of 330 to 253.

LIBERALS LOSE WALWORTH.

Another Disastrous Bye-Election for the Rosebery Government.

London, May 14.—A Parliamentary election was held to-day in the Walworth division of Newington, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Saunders. The result of the poll was: Bailey (Con.), 2776; Reads (Lib.), 2103; Lansburg (Soc.), 347. At the last election Mr. Saunders, who stood as a Home Ruler, was returned by a vote of 2514 against 2213 for Mr. Isaacs, his Conservative opponent.

Britain and Behring Sea.

London, May 14.—The Foreign Office declines to make any statement as to whether the coming visit of Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador at Washington to England, is connected with the Behring Sea negotiations. It is stated, however, that in any case the fact that the United States has not settled the claims for damages on the basis suggested by the Paris Tribunal of Arbitration would not interfere with or delay any negotiations which may now be pending. It is further asserted that the proposal of the United States Secretary of State, Walter Q. Gresham, for a joint commission for the Behring Sea, to be composed of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, Russia and Japan, is still under consideration.

Rosebery Tries a Sea Voyage.

London, May 14.—Lord Rosebery embarked on board the Enchantress at Devonport this morning for a cruise throughout the channel.

SEEN A DEAD RISER.

Report That Newfoundland Cannot Accept Canada's Terms.

St. John's, Nfld., May 15.—It is admitted to-day that confederation is a dead issue. Canada has refused to assume the Newfoundland debt of $25,000,000, and Great Britain has declined to interfere while Newfoundland is a self-governing colony. The Whitewayites are preparing a retrenchment scheme, but admit its insufficiency to meet the present difficulties.

THE CAPE AND CANADA.

The Proposed Reciprocity Treaty Discussed in the Cape Town Parliament.

London, May 14.—A despatch from Cape Colony says that in Parliament today Mr. Wisner made a motion calling for the papers concerning the treaty with Canada. He contended that it would be better for the colony to cultivate relations with its own neighbors than with Canada, and said that there were no articles except what were already free that they could exchange with Canada.

The Premier, Hon. Cecil Rhodes, says that the negotiations have not gone beyond a proposal that a Canadian delegate visit Cape Colony.

Mr. Sauer remarked that the Government had placed heavy duties on American goods, and asked how, in view of the fact, it could admit Canadian goods free of duty.

Hong Kong Free From Plague.

London, May 14.—The Governor of Hong-Kong telegraphs that the plague has ceased, and that there are now no patients in the Hong-Kong Hospital.

In Love With His Mother.

Of all love affairs in the world, none can surpass the true love of a big boy for his mother. It is pure and noble, honorable to the highest degree in both. I do not mean merely a dutiful affection: I mean a love that makes a boy gallant and courteous to his mother, saying to everybody plainly that he is fairly in love with her. Next to the love of a husband, nothing so crowns a woman's life with honor as this second love, this devotion of a son to her. I never yet knew a boy to turn out bad who began by falling in love with his mother. Any man may fall in love with a fresh-faced girl, and the man who is gallant with the girl may cruelly neglect his worn and weary wife; but the boy who is a lover of his mother in her middle age is a true knight who will love his wife as much in her sere-leaved autumn as he did in the daisied springtime.

Why He Swore Off.

"Why don't you work? Don't like it, I suppose."

"Like it? Why, boss, work with me is a passion, a vice. That is just the trouble. The moment I commence to do a little, I cannot leave it alone, and it grows upon me like drink, opium or lawn tennis. That is why I have to make an effort to leave it entirely alone."—Life.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

SALEM.

The R.L. of C.E. met Monday night. There was an unusually large attendance. The meeting was as usual conducted by the President. After a short song service and prayer meeting, a chapter was read responsively. Mr. Thos. Sargent then took up the topic in a very able manner. Many practical hints and suggestions were presented as to how we might help our church. The meeting was a very interesting and helpful one. We received one application for membership. It is encouraging to see the interest which is manifested week after week, and with God's blessing we will work more earnestly than ever to "Look up and lift up, for Christ and the Church."

RANGER NOTES.

The Battalion will enter two teams in the Dominion Rifle League.

Squad drill was indulged in last evening at the armoury under the instruction of Sergt.-Major Peters.

The new uniforms for the men are being rapidly taken out.

The Battalion will hold a parade on Tuesday evening next.

Are you all tired out, do you have that tired feeling or sick headache? You can be relieved of all these by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Bankrupt stock of pianos, organs, melodions, violins, etc., to be cleared during the next thirty days, regardless of cost, at JACKSON & Co's., 378 Aylmer street.

Masculine Vanity.

They were lunching at an ice-cream parlor, and the girl in blue said to the girl in gray:

"Have you noticed that when the young men meet us nowadays they not only lift their hats off their heads, but hold them in their hands while passing?"

"Yes; isn't it dear of them. Shows such fine manners don't you think?"

"Wait a bit. You imagine, as I did, that they went through all that performance out of deference to our superior attractions. My dear, I have found them out—it is themselves they worship."

"What do you mean?"

"They carry small mirrors in the crowns of their hats, and every time a girl bows to them they take the opportunity to see their own faultless features."

"The sweet things!" ejaculated the girl in gray, "and yet they accuse us of being vain!"—Detroit Free Press.

An Oklahoma Courtship.

Miss Gladys Mock—How did you come to accept Alkali Ike?

Miss Birdie Slade—Because he was so brave and fearless. Why, when I asked him to do something heroic, to prove his love for me, he whooped and swore and kicked the chairs over till Paw got out of bed and came downstairs, as mad as a hornet, to quiet the uproar. And then Ike jumped on to him and licked him in less than three minutes. And you know that Paw has always been considered one of the hardest men in the county to handle.

Its One Drawback.

Mrs. Homer—Dear me, I must commence housecleaning to-morrow, and I hate it!

Mr. Homer—Why, how is that?

Mrs. Homer—It dirties everything up so.

False Economy.

Current Notes reports the significant saying of an old lady who was locally famous for her good health and her exceeding thrift.

An acquaintance was congratulating her upon her freedom from bodily ailments, when she replied:

"We be pretty well, for old folks, Josiah and me. Josiah hasn't had an ailin' time for fifty years 'cept last winter. And I ain't never suffered but one day in my life and that was when I took some of the medicine Josiah had left over, so's how it shouldn't be wasted."

Over fifty pianos, organs, melodions, violins, guitars, banjos, etc.—bankrupt stock. Must be sold during the next 30 days, regardless of cost at JACKSON & Co's., 378 Aylmer street.

Mrs. H. P. Hyams Again Faints in Court—One of the Insurance Cheques Used to Retire a Chattel Mortgage on the Furniture.

Toronto, May 16.—The first week of the trial of the Hyams twins, which terminated last night, saw the case for the Crown pretty well under way. The line to be pursued by the defence was also partially made manifest.

By the decision of Mr. Justice Street not to allow of the introduction of evidence proving that the prisoners had, subsequent to the death of Wells, attempted to place $200,000 on the life of Martha Wells-Hyams, the sister of the dead boy with the object, the Crown claims, of murdering her also, the case for the Crown was considerably shortened and the trial will probably conclude a couple of days earlier. As the result the 12 witnesses who had been summoned on this branch of the case were relieved from further attendance at the court,

A remark by Mr. Osler, that had the evidence been admitted the Crown purposed proving a conspiracy to murder the wife, was taken to mean that in the event of the acquittal of the twins on the charge of which they are now being tried, the Crown may proceed against them on the charge of conspiracy to murder Martha Wells-Hyams.

Even should this not be decided upon, the prisoners will not be released in the event of acquittal until the reserved case granted is decided, although they might be released on heavy bail.

The defence will be that Willie Wells went down the cellar of the warehouse early on the morning of Jan. 16 to fill the coal scuttle, preparatory to attending to the fires; that he put the scuttle on the elevator, which failed to work properly; that he looked up the weight shaft to see what was the matter, and the weight fell and killed him.

It is for this reason that the defence lay so much stress on the evidence of Fox, the expressman, that the boy had on his hands at the time of his death an old pair of gloves, which he was in the habit of wearing while doing chores around the warehouse.

Dr. King, who was the first party in the warehouse after the killing, testified yesterday, however, that he did not see any gloves on the boy's hands. He also flatly contradicted Fox with reference to the spectacles alleged to have been worn by the dead boy. Fox swore that there was a pair of spectacles on the boy when he came into the warehouse, and that he took them off himself and handed them to Harry Hyams. Dr. King, who was there before Fox, swore positively that there were no spectacles, and had there been he must have seen them. The Crown claims that, if Fox is not mistaken, both the gloves and the spectacles had been put on by somebody after Dr. King had left the place.

The evidence of the Crown yesterday was in many respects the strongest yet presented against the twins. It was proven by the evidence of several moneylenders that prior to the tragedy the Hyams' had mortgaged their household furniture, their office furniture and the effects in their warehouse. It was also proven that these chattel mortgages were retired subsequent to the death of Wells and after Harry Hyams had been advanced part of the insurance money by the sister of the dead boy—that, in fact, one of the cheques issued by Martha was used to retire the chattel mortgage on the Hyams' furniture.

Mrs. Harry Hyams, the wife of one of the twins, was in the witness box for a short time in the forenoon; but when she came to that part of the cross-examination where she was requested to describe the particulars of the killing, as given to her by the two prisoners, she became greatly unnerved and gave every evidence of fainting. Her examination had to be postponed in the meantime and she was sent home in a cab.

The question of the admissibility of the evidence as to the attempt to insure the life of Mrs. Hyams came up when Mr. Osler put in the box O. Leger, the manager of the French department of the Sun Life Insurance Co. at Montreal. Mr. Leger had spoken of a visit paid to him by Harry Hyams, when Mr. Osler asked what was the object of the visit. Then Mr. Lount objected and requested that the jury retire while the admissibility of the testimony was being argued.

Mr. Osler stated that he did not see why the jury should be asked to go out when the question was one bearing on the facts in connection with the guilt of the accused, but the judge ruled against him, and the jurors retired.

Then Mr. Osler said he proposed to prove by this witness and others, that Harry P. Hyams made the representation to Leger that there was a lady in Toronto whose life he wished to insure for $100,000; that the lady was wealthy; that the wealth would die with her, and she desired to insure her life in his favor. Subsequently, it turned out that the woman was the wife of Harry Hyams. Mr. Osler proposed to show that these prisoners attempted to put something like $200,000 upon the life of this woman, and the Crown was prepared to show that at the time the carrying of these policies was entirely beyond their means. He submitted that this was evidence that ought to go before the jury, on the issue that was being tried, because it was evidence as to the intent with which the insurance upon the deceased's life had been placed, and it was evidence within the authorities. He contended that, wherever an equivalent act was surrounded with good or based on evil intentions, the court and jury should have light thereupon, and it was for the purpose of throwing light on the first transaction that evidence as to the second transaction was desired. If the Crown's contention is correct that it was with a criminal design that the insurance was placed on Wells' life the jury had a right to hear the evidence.

His Lordship said that if the wife had been killed under suspicious circumstances, then the evidence would have been receivable, but he had looked over the cases that had been cited to him on Saturday and had found none that were analogous to this application.

Mr. Osler: Then if it applies on subsequent transactions, it is evidence on the antecedent. We say, if it was dishonest insurance, it means murder, and if I show an attempt to place $200,000 on the life of that woman, when the prisoners could not keep up that insurance, then it meant murder. That is, therefore, a most cogent reason why this testimony should be admitted.

Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright also argued for the admission of the testimony.

His Lordship stated that the fact that another insurance which was placed was dishonest does not prove that the insurance on the dead man was also dishonest. With regard to the cases cited by Mr. Osler, he held that if an incendiary was being tried for burning a barn, the fact that another barn owned by the same man was subsequently burned under suspicious circumstances might be used in evidence, as there could hardly be two or more accidents of a similar character occurring, but where the evidence does not show that any crime was committed there is nothing analogous to the cases cited. He had read the cases very carefully and could not find one under which this testimony could be admitted.

Mr. Osler said that what the Crown intended to prove was that there was a conspiracy to murder. The prisoners were charged with murder for insurance. The evidence which was now tendered would show a continuous course of crime and an intention to carry out crimes of this nature.

His Lordship: It is not an indictable offence to insure a person's life for a larger amount than you can carry.

Mr. Osler: No; but we propose to produce evidence of a conspiracy to murder the wife, evidence upon which the prisoners might be convicted if tried on that charge. Continuing, Mr. Osler said the matter was of extreme importance to the community. Murder for insurance was developing into a serious crime, and he thought that all evidence which was cogent should be admitted.

Upon His Lordship declining to allow the testimony to go in, Mr. Osler applied for a reserved case to the Divisional Court of Chancery.

His Lordship granted the reserved case.

The prisoners maintained the same anxious demeanor throughout the day, but they looked immeasurably relieved when the judge declined to allow the evidence as to the attempt to insure the life of Mrs. Harry Hyams.

DR. COOPER DROPS DEAD.

Sudden Call to a Former Toronto Episcopal Clergyman.

New Westminster, B.C., May 16.—Dr. Hugh M. Cooper, aged 86, a well-known physician, was found dead in his office this morning. He attended a reception given by the local Knights of Pythias last night to their Vancouver brethren and delivered the speech of welcome. He left the gathering at about midnight and went to his office, where he dropped dead, presumably while closing up. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Dr. Cooper was for many years Anglican clergyman in the diocese of Toronto, Ont. Some years ago he left the church and took up the practice of medicine, and has practiced here for the last thirteen years. He was a prominent member of the Orangemen's organization, and also of the Knights of Pythias and the Odd Fellows. He survived his wife only six weeks.

Will Challenge the Income Tax Law.

Washington, May 16.—The Supreme Court has determined to absolutely annihilate the income tax law. The report comes from such a source as to leave very little room for doubt as to its accuracy. It is learned that some of the justices have changed their opinions on the re-argument.

Montreal City Hall Condemned

Montreal, May 15.—The Provincial Board of Health is suing the corporation on account of the unsanitary condition of the City Hall, which has long been a disgrace. The penalty claimed is $25 a day from March 1 last.

Volney Ashford in Prison.

San Francisco, May 15.—Col. Volney V. Ashford, the Canadian who was one of the Hawaiian revolutionists, who was recently pardoned on condition of his leaving the country, was among the passengers on the steamer Australia, which arrived to-day.

UNION NOT IN SIGHT

Newfoundland Asks Revision of Canada's Terms.

THAT IS HON. MR. BOND'S MISSION

Report of the Delegates to Be Tabled To-Day—If Confederation Fails Whiteway Will Raise the Tariff 15 Per Cent. to Meet the Deficit.

St. John's, Nfld., May 15.—It is generally admitted that there is a deadlock in the confederation proceedings. The Government will to-morrow place the report of the delegates to Ottawa on the table of the Legislature.

If Mr Robert Bond, the Colonial Secretary, who is now on a mission to Ottawa, is unable to arrange with the Dominion authorities for a re-consideration of the question the Government here will introduce a measure for a revision of the tariff, placing a special increase in taxation of 15 per cent. on the regular duties, so as to provide the $250,000 necessary to cover the interest on the loan required to complete the railway.

A retrenchment scheme will also be introduced, cutting the expenditures to below $1,000,000.

The Custom House was to-day besieged by importers clearing their goods so as to escape the increased duty which will be collected as soon as the Budget returns are tabled.

A stormy session of the Legislature is expected to-morrow. The deficit for last year is reported to have been $400,000.

Will Not Assume the Debt.

London, May 15.—The Times says: To accede to Newfoundland's request that Great Britain guarantee the savings banks deposits would be merely the indirect taking over of a large portion of the colonial debt. There is no probability that the Government will reverse their previous decision that an enquiry must be held before financial arrangements are entered into.

The Morning Post says that Great Britain would doubtless be willing to administer Newfoundland as a Crown colony if the latter would withdraw her opposition to the settlement of the French shore question that was effected by Lord Salisbury during his last administration.

BRITISH-CANADIAN NOTES.

Hon. Edward Blake May Contest South Longford Again.

London, May 15.—The visit of deputations of Chambers of Commerce to Lord Rosebery, for the purpose of requesting his assistance in the establishment of a fast trans-Atlantic commercial and mail service with Canada, has been postponed until May 24.

It is announced that Lord Rosebery intends to introduce a bill to enable colonial judges to sit in the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. It is expected that there will be no opposition to the proposal in either House.

According to The Canadian Gazette, Hon. Edward Blake does not intend to return to political life in Ottawa; he is willing to make another contest for the seat for South Longford, but he will not devote so much time as hitherto in attending the sittings of parliament.

PROPOSED PACIFIC CABLE.

Australian Colonies Are Enthusiastic Over the Scheme.

Vancouver, B. C., May 15.—Mail advices by steamer Miowera from Australia say that the British cable scheme is booming in Australia. Each of the colonies has agitators who are systematically enthusing the people. Large numbers of circulars and financial statements are being struck off. They are of the most plausible nature, tending to show that the cable would be a paying affair from the start, and if Great Britain, Australia and Canada do not move quickly, America will forestall them. Some of the colonies guarantee, besides a bonus, that trade equal to the entire trade now going over the Asiatic route will be sent by the Pacific route. In 1890 Australians cabled 827,288; in 1891, 1,275,191 words. They guarantee in the face of reduced rates that 1,150,000 words will be sent by the Pacific route, the receipts for which must be £116,631. The feeling in favor of the Pacific cable is spreading and not a colony in Australia will withhold a bonus.

Jabez Balfour Sent for Trial.

London, May 16.—In the Bowstreet Police Court to-day the magistrate intimated that Jabez Spencer Balfour would be committed for trial upon the initial charge in the indictment against him, referring exclusively to the Liberator Building Society. Balfour, through counsel, reserved his defence in the hearing of the other charges against him, and the case was adjourned.

Conservatives Hold Dorset.

London, May 16.—The Parliamentary election in the west division of Dorset, which took place yesterday, resulted in the return of Col. Williams, the Conservative candidate, by a vote of 3538 to 2325 for Wood Homer, the Independent farmers' candidate, who was supported by the Liberals. In the last election the Conservative candidate was chosen by a vote of 3691 to 2813 for his Home Rule opponent.

LIVE LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. C. D. Crawford and wife were up at their cottage on Stony Lake.

Mr. J. T. Strickland spent a few days at his island on Stony Lake.

Mr. C. J. Bloomfield and son were up at their island seeing that things were in good shape for the summer.

Miss May Nelson, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough, returned home on Saturday.

Mr. H. T. Strickland, of Peterborough, and Mr. McEachern, of Argyle, has been in the village during this week interviewing the parties along the route of the proposed Trent Valley Canal, regarding the value of their property.

Mrs. Wm. Cox and family have gone up to their cottage at Stony Lake where they expect to make some additions.

Miss Wallace, Rev. A. R. McDonald and Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. W. Baker and Mrs. W. McDonald, are in Peterborough this week, attending the convention of the Baptist W. F. M. Society held there.

Mrs. D. McLean, of Calgary, is in the village visiting her father, Mr. W. Alford.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn, of Peterborough, were in the village on Monday.

Mr. Richard Briggs and daughter Winnie, of Burk's Falls, were the guests of Mr. F. Z. Webster. They sail for England to-day on a trip.

Rev. W. Limbert and Mr. John Hull went to Apsley on Saturday to dispense the communion to the members of the churches in the Apsley circuit.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church are making good preparations for their annual tea and concert on the 24th of May. The concert promises to be a good one, and the ladies will keep up their reputation for a sumptuous tea. Bear the date in mind.

Do you require a new carpet or lace curtains this season? If so you would do well to examine the stock of R. Graham & Son, as they carry a good stock at very low prices.

There was a large attendance at the Presbyterian church on Sabbath evening to hear the very interesting sermon delivered by Rev. A. C. Reeves on Jacob and Esau. Next Sabbath evening his subject will be Joseph. All young people should try and be present and hear this discourse.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

The following is the report presented at the annual meeting of the society by the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Blomfield:

The President and Directors of the Mechanics' Institute report to the members who are collected together to-day in accordance with statutory regulations.

We are pleased to be able to state that there were at the end of the official year ending April 30th, 1895, 57 full paid members, a gain of 19 over the previous year, and representing no less than 34 new members, 5 members of the third year not being on the present list. It is satisfactory also to know that we have now 8 ladies on our list of members.

Partly with a view to bringing the Institute more under the notice of the public, two lectures and two entertainments were given in the hall during the past year under the auspices of the Institute. In our opinion it is desirable that lectures should be given from time to time with the same object in view, and also as being in line with the educational aspect of Mechanics' Institutes.

In this connection it may be stated that an effort was made to establish evening classes in accordance with the expressed wish of Dr. May, the Inspector of Mechanics' Institute, but without success.

The Secretary-Treasurer's account for the year shows total receipts of $133.01 and payments of $122.45, showing cash on hand of $10.56, sufficient to meet some small outstanding claims and accounts.

The Institute this fourth year of its existence has been entirely self-sustaining, no aid having been received from the Government for the previous year, as the number of members was only 36.

The account of papers, magazines, etc., to Dec. 31st, 1895, has been paid, but no books have been purchased except some bound monthly magazines, which were obtained for a trifling sum at an auction sale. Several books, some very good ones, have been presented to the Institute during the last year and some papers, including the Union Light, subscribed for the Women's Christian Temperance Union. It has been long felt that to maintain an Institute in a proper degree of usefulness and efficiency a considerable purchase of new books is necessary. We have now a prospect of being able to add largely to our library during the current fifth year.

Our membership now entitles us to the [illegible] all from the government, calculated for last year, which amount to $52.30. Dr. May also gave our president to understand that if we could again raise our membership to 50, that the Government will be prepared to repay the Institute the sum of $24.27 paid the Rose Publishing Co. in 1893-4 for books now in the library.

The Lakefield Mechanics' Institute appears to have got a new start, and we have good reason to expect, as well as hope, that it will grow stronger every year, and prove a permanent and useful institution.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Village Council was held in the Town Hall on Monday [illegible] 13th inst. Present,—W. H. [illegible], in the chair, and Councillors [illegible] Hilliard and Lillicrap. A petition [illegible] by T. E. Bell and 14 or 15 others, requested the Council to construct a covered drain on Colborne street, from east side of Chippewa street to government drain; also a five hundred barrel water tank for fire purposes.

The Reeve explained to Mr. T. E. Bell that there was a drain sufficient to take off all surface water, and that the council could not spend money to drain private cellars.

Moved by Dr. Burgess and Mr. Lillicrap, that the petition of Mr. T. E. Bell and others be referred to the Roads and Sidewalk Committee, and that the request for tank be referred to special committee on fire protection.—Carried.

The Finance Committee recommended payment of the following accounts:—

Report adopted.

Moved by Dr. Burgess and Mr. Hilliard, that the reeve pay for work on the streets on pay list being certified to by chairman of the Road and Sidewalk committee and the Roadmaster.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap and Dr. Burgess, that this council grant $50 for street watering, and that the caretaker of town hall obtain a new rope for flag pole of town hall.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss Nellie McGuire, Hastings, is the guest of her sister, Miss K. McGuire, town

Misses B. Sperry and A. Downer, Peterborough, paid Norwood a visit on Sunday.

Miss L. McClelland spent Saturday in Peterborough.

The lawn tennis club has commenced practice on their grounds, adjoining the Union Bank.

Tuesday evening of last week, Mr. Robt. McConnell of Dummer, and Mrs. Enoch Thistlethwaite were married by the Rev. J. F. Sommerville. The wedding took place at the bride's residence, Belmont street, and was a very quiet affair.

A football match was played in the park on Thursday afternoon last between the High School and village teams. The game though somewhat rough, was close and interesting. The village team claim a goal, but their opponents say it was secured by a foul. Another match will be played on Thursday. A High School team visited Keene on Saturday and played a friendly game with the team of that village. On account of the rain the grounds were not in good condition, and there was no star playing. Two goals were secured by each team. The town and high school teams will compete in the tournament at Campbellford.

The High School has secured Miss Pauline Johnston, the renowned Indian postess and elocutionist, to assist at their annual concert on the evening of May 24th. The musical part of the programme is being prepared with great care, and a high-class entertainment will be given.

A handsome specimen of Provincial Government literature in two colours and penmanship combined, has been placed in each of the hotels in the village.

James Russell, the three-year old son of Mr. Geo. Peters, died last Wednesday. The funeral took place on Thursday. We sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Peters in their bereavement.

The School Board held a short session Monday evening last. Miss Lewis was appointed associate examiner at the coming entrance examinations. Several accounts were passed. The secretary was instructed to ascertain from Mr. Perney his idea of a truant in the eyes of the law.

HAULTAIN MAPPENINGS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Wm. Limbert held the quarterly communion service for the Methodist church on Sunday morning. He preached a good sermon to believers from I Peter, ii, 7.

A number of communicants who had been on trial for three months were received into full membership and the right hand of fellowship and a cordial welcome given them. There are over thirty members now and quite a number of adherents.

Rev. R. Emberson passed his third year examination at Cobourg very successfully last month.

Rev. W. Limbert was the guest of Will M. Church on Saturday night.

Mr. Dickens is teaching the remainder of the term in the lower school.

Mr. John Hull, of Lakefield, spent Sunday in the neighbourhood.

Our councillor, Mr. Geo. Matthews was married last week to Miss Cooms, of Burleigh.

The cold snap made us gather round the fire again. Some of the early vegetables were injured.

The farmers in this section are getting on well with their spring work. The prospects for hay are good.

The steamboats are up nearly every day now, although not connecting with the train yet.

A number of the cottagers have been up getting in order for summer.

Mr. Allan Church presented a nice collection plate to the Methodist church last Sunday.

GALWAY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A baseball club has been recently organized in the vicinity of Swamp Lake, and on Saturday a large number of members of the club assembled to elect officers:—Capt., B. Craig; Sec., J. Allen; Treas., J. W. Torpey. Then all enjoyed a pleasant and lively practice, and although the boys have not played for some time some very clever work was done, and we expect to play a number of matches with the local teams later in the season.

Miss Addie Collins is spending her vacation with her parents.

Mrs. Waters, of Kinmount, was the guest of Mrs. P. Collins on Sunday.

Miss Maggie Sullivan, who has been living in Peterborough, has recently returned home. She intends to visit her brother, who lives in the Rainy River District.

Miss W. E. Flaherty was the guest of Miss B. Hickey, on Sunday.

Mr. M. O'Brien is erecting a beautiful stable and straw house attached. The plans of the building possess all modern conveniences. Carpenter work done by Mr. J. McGann.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Ross and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

Violent Exercise Caused Sudden Death

St. Catharines, May 14.—Walter T. Duncan dropped dead to-day in the Queen's Hotel yard. He and eight or ten others in the morning were throwing a heavy stone, jumping, etc., stooping over, touching the ground at their toes, without bending the legs. Mr. Duncan stood on a stone about three inches high and touched the ground, then went to meet a horse just coming in. When he reached the horse's head he fell to the ground dead.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold travellers imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

COCKBURN WAS ANGRY

When the World's Fair Expenses Were Mentioned.

MR. DEVLIN MAKES AN ABLE SPEECH

A Lively Tilt Between the Members for Ottawa and Centre Toronto—Mr. Devlin's Three Reasons for Opposing the Government's Protective Policy.

Ottawa, May 16.—Rock-ribbed protection is the key note of all the speeches that have been made on the Ministerial side of the House during the progress of the long-drawn-out Budget debate. There has been no word of encouragement to the taxburdened people who at one time were led to believe that their load would be lightened by the process of lopping off the monldering branches, since the Manufacturers' Association set its mighty foot down upon Mr. Foster's tariff revision bill and furnished him with a brief embodying their demands no Government supporter has had the courage or the patriotism to say a word on behalf of the oppressed farmer or laborer. The Liberal party as represented in the House of Commons has steadfastly maintained its position that the interest of the masses must be considered before those of the favored few and that the only method of relieving them is to adopt the economically sound principle of a revenue tariff which will take from the people enough money to meet the requirements of government and not one cent more.

The Budget debate was resumed yesterday by Mr. Cockburn. The member for Centre Toronto began his speech in a very promising and effective style. But this did not last, and when he turned to a serious consideration of fiscal questions, the attention of the House left him. After discussing the balance of trade theory and the national debt, he came in due course around to free trade in England. He asked the House to remember that England had been preparing for free trade for 400 years.

Mr. Davies asked him whether it will take that long for Canada to make herself ready to abolish protection. To this Mr. Cockburn replied that he did not expect Canada to go to sleep, but not in Mr. Davies', or his own time, nor yet in their children's time, would Canada's industries be so fortified that they could be safely thrown open to the competition of the world. (Opposition applause.)

Mr. Charles Devlin, the bright young member for Ottawa County, followed with an exceptionally strong speech in [illegible] arraignment of the Government's policy of the classes. Mr. Devlin has a native eloquence that is always pleasing, and he is a clear and effective reasoner. During the progress of his remarks the baby member for Toronto acted so badly that the Speaker was obliged to reprove him on two different occasions. Mr. Cockburn persisted in interrupting Mr. Devlin without reason until even his own friends became weary of it. With a smile suggestive of the bravado of a bad little boy the representative of East Toronto continued to interject unintelligible, inapposite remarks until the Speaker, gently, but firmly, "turned him down." Mr. Devlin did not waste any more time in replying to the "member for St. John's Ward," as he termed Mr. Cockburn, than it required to administer to him a rebuke for the attack which he made upon Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. Devlin told Mr. Cockburn that if he would consider his own position in his own party he would have reason for serious reflection. He had been spoken of two years ago for the high position of Premier of Canada. Mr. Cockburn was not sufficiently independent of his own party to attack any member on the Opposition side of the House.

"Is he not the gentleman," asked the member for Ottawa County, "who two years ago went to Chicago and expended $4425 that was taken out of the treasury of the country, and that was collected under the National Policy?"

"That's what I call adding insult to injury," replied Mr. Cockburn, with an unwonted degree of warmth. "I went Chicago, spent five months and a half there and I received not one iota of salary. I state now, what I have not stated before, that I spent over $3000 of my own money, and that the whole expenses of that commission of Mr. Tasse and myself were less than the personal expenses of the commissioner from Ontario alone. I am glad that this subject has been brought up, and I shall be only too glad to appear to-morrow or any day before the Committee of Public Accounts, and I think I'll show that."

Dr. Landerkin: You will have a chance.

Mr. Devlin: If anybody has an apology to offer the hon. member for Centre Toronto, it should be the Auditor-General of the Dominion of Canada, because I find in its annual report that the sum of $4425 was paid to Mr. George R. R. Cockburn, M.P., as an advance on account of expenses.

Dr. Landerkin: Was that for refreshments?

Mr. Devlin: I find that the hon. member has sent in a statement of the whole amount of his expenses, and they amount to $4425.

Mr. Cockburn: I don't deny that they amount to that. You have a voucher for every dollar. I did not act as did the Commissioner for Ontario, who told the House that he kept two accounts.

Mr. Devlin: The hon. member is a little bit touchy on the subject, as is shown by the temper that he flies into.

Dr. Landerkin: Wait till we get at his gas bill. (Laughter.)

Mr. Devlin gave three excellent reasons for opposing the Government: First, because he looked upon the financial policy of the Government as worthy of condemnation; second, because he thought the trade policy of the Government unsound, and third, because he considered the administration of the Government could not be supported or defended. Mr. Devlin was saying that the Liberal policy of to-day was the same policy that Alexander Mackenzie and Edward Blake had supported when the new-fledged secretary of State interposed: "Blake left your party because he could not support your policy."

"The honorable gentleman will never leave his party because of its policy," was the ready retort of Mr. Devlin, and it produced a storm of Liberal applause.

Dr. Montague: The policy is always right.

Sir Richard Cartwright: You will stick to it while there is a shilling in it.

Mr. Gibson: Yes, indeed, as long as the cash holds out.

Mr. Devlin retaliated upon the Minister of Finance for his ill-tempered break of last Friday, and turned the charge of treason upon him in making such an accusation upon his fellow-Canadians.

Mr. Craig, the member for East Durham, is one of those who two seasons ago sought to combine reciprocity and tariff reform with the old policy. This year he had no distractions and gives an undivided allegiance to the National Policy. He entered into an analysis of the meaning of the policy of "tariff for revenue only." He concluded that it meant that no duty would be imposed that would give even incidental protection, and therefore that no duty would be imposed upon anything which could be produced in Canada.

Mr. W. B. Edwards discussed the question from the point of view of the practical business man, and he was obliged to condemn the restrictive policy of the Government. He showed how injurious it had been to the laboring men and to the farmers of Canada, and pronounced in favor of a revenue tariff.

The Controller of Customs was the next to take the floor. Without advancing any new arguments, he made a general defence of the administration and policy of the Government.

Mr. Charlton moved the adjournment of the debate.

ITALY'S CHEAP NAVY.

The Naval Department to Retrench to the Extent of 5,000,000 Lire.

Rome, May 16.—Admiral Morin, Minister of Finance, in a speech at Spezzia last evening said the total retrenchments in the Italian naval department for the current year would be 5,000,000 lire, and boasted that it would be the cheapest administrated marine establishment in Europe. The program of the Government contemplated a reduction of the number of arsenals, the sale of old ships and the construction of a few new ones to complete the sea force.

BROKE HIS NECK BY A FALL.

Fatal Accident Owing to a Defective Buggy Seat.

Ottawa, May 15.—A fatal accident happened Henry Tucker, employe of Judge Mosgrove, fell from the rear of a buggy in Richmond-road, owing to the back seat giving way. The young fellow's neck was broken. He expired almost immediately.

SIMCOE GRIST MILL GONE.

Twelve Thousand Dollars Lost by Spontaneous Combustion.

Simcoe, May 15.—The large flouring mills and elevator belonging to W. B. Browne & Co. were destroyed by fire yesterday. The insurance carried is $12,000. The origin of the fire was spontaneous combustion.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure. Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

Railway Accident.

Yesterday morning, shortly before 6 a.m., as the ballast train in charge of Conductor F. Russell was running into the gravel pit from the main line, near Fenelon Falls, the engine and one car were thrown from the rails by a misplaced switch, which had been changed by some malicious or irresponsible person. Fortunately the train was moving at a slow rate of speed, or the engine would have brought up in the lake. The auxiliary train was sent out in charge of Roadmaster Ferguson, who succeeded in cleaning the track without causing any material delay. The damage to the engine will cause her detention at the shops for a couple of days.—Lindsay Post.

GREAT REUNION OF CHURCH CHOIRS.

Over Two Thousand Members of Choirs Will be Present.

At a meeting held in the parlors of the Y.M.C.A. last night, at which were present representatives from all the church choirs of the town, it was decided to accept the offer of Prof. C. A. Winters for the holding of the immense gathering of choir singers in Peterborough. The date of the gathering was not definitely fixed, but it will be between the 1st and 15th of August next.

The choir singers last night organized, and on motion adopted the name of the Peterborough Choral Union. Mr. G. W. Mulligan was appointed director, and Mr. W. F. Skitch, secretary. Mr. Mulligan will immediately enter into the work of preparation and arrangements for the gathering.

This great gathering of musical voices will compose all the choirs between Toronto and Kingston, including both of those cities. Fully 2,000 voices will take part in this choral reunion. Last year the gathering was held in Sarnia, and it took eleven trains to convey the singers to that place. So great was the success of last year's meeting that this year the attendance, it is expected, will be increased by one half.

A committee was appointed to wait on the town council and ask for a guarantee of $250 in case the local choirs do not realize enough to defray expenses.

The choruses will be held in the Driving Park grand stand, which will be enlarged for the occasion.

PERSONAL.

Mr. T. Kelly has been confined to the house all this week with a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Dr. and Mrs. Ward, who have been spending the last day or so with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Delaney, left this morning for their future home in Montreal.

To Rent.

Two story brick house and acre of ground to rent. The lot is in a good state of cultivation and suitable for market garden. Possession at once. Apply to P.O. Box 635, Peterborough.

Peterborough Rifle Association.

A meeting of the Association will be held at the drill shed Friday evening the 17th inst. at 8. p.m. Every member is requested to be present. 1d

"F" Company, Attention.

Non-commissioned officers and men of this Company will meet at the armoury this (Thursday) evening at 7.30 o'clock, to re-organize fancy drill class under Sergt. Hillier. New uniforms will be issued.

Piano Tuner.

Mr. George Gumpricht, as a first class piano tuner, is highly recommended by Messrs. Heintzman & Co., and all leading piano dealers. Orders may be left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Social at St. Andrews.

The Junior Christian Endeavor of St. Andrew's Church will hold a social on Friday night, May 17th, in the school room. A good programme is being prepared, and we promise a good night's entertainment. Refreshments will be served by the juniors. Admission 10c. Follow the crowd. Come one, come all.

The Sun of the Woman.

The Belleville Sun has given the Woman's Christian Association the privilege of controlling the issue of that paper for the 1st of June next, and the proceeds are to be applied in aid of the building fund for a new wing to the hospital. Thus the Sun is to suffer partial eclipse by the daughter, and it is to be hoped that a large degree of benefit will accrue to patients of the new wing from the proposed Sun-bath.

A Meeting of Ministers.

Next week the ministers of the Campbellford district of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church, will assemble in Campbellford, at their district meeting, when reports of the progress of the various churches will be presented. It will be held on Wednesday and Thursday next, 22nd and 23rd of May. The ministerial session will begin at 10.30 o'clock the first day. In the evening the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Ladies of the Baptist Society!

We would like to have you all stay with us while in Peterborough, but that is out of the question; and then, we like to share up with our neighbours. We, however, invite as many as possible to make the Peterborough Bookstore their headquarters during their visit. We shall give special reductions in every line we carry, particularly in Bibles, hymn books, stationery and fancy goods. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Buried with Orange Honours.

The funeral of the late Wm. R. King was very largely attended indeed yesterday afternoon. Representatives were in attendance from all the Orange lodges in the district out of respect to the deceased District Master. Rev. Dr. Torrance officiated and the pall-bearers were Messrs. Samuel Stenson, P.C.M., J. G. Weir, P. C. M., Robert Weir, P.C.M., G. N. Hamilton, P.C.M., C.W. Sawers, P.C.M., and Rich'd. Bradfield, P.C.M. The burial ceremonies of the Orange Order were conducted at the grave by Messrs. H. S. Armstrong, D. M., Sidney B. Weir, D.M., and Joseph Batten, D.C.

Enemies to Fruit and Vegetables.

Let it be repeated that it will be for the benefit of the fields and gardens if a general onslaught is made upon the white caterpillar webs which now show forth so plainly on the trees. A web sometimes contains several hundreds caterpillers, which become strong after a few days of warm weather, and breaking their way through their silken enclosure, start out to feed, and every leaf that is in the line of their march is soon destroyed. Currant bushes are sometimes stripped of every vestige of leaf by these little devourers, and small trees in the fields suffer in the same way. Now while they remain in the web is the time to destroy them, and it will require but a few hours to remove every web that may be found upon the farm.

A Little Man Makes a Big Sale.

Mr. D. W. Little, local representative of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, has a hammer that is hard to beat. Recently in a single day he sold the large number of eighty machines. The sales were bona fide and for cash—not on the instalment plan. Mr. Little would like to have produced another sewing machine agent who can come within telephone distance of such a record. He will give a sewing machine, equal in value to those sold, to any person who will match his phenomenal sale. The fact that a dealer in from of the venerable variety was the purchaser does not alter the bald fact that Mr. Little sold eighty singer sewing machines in one day, and he didn't think it was a very good day for machines either.

CONFIRMED AT ST. JOHN'S.

The Sacred Rite Administered to 106 Candidates Last Evening.

The apostolic rite known as confirmation was conducted in St. John's church last evening by His Lordship the Bishop of Niagara attended by Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. H. Symonds, Rev. C. B. Kenrick and Rev. B. C. Andrews.

Never in the history of the parish has so large a class presented itself for confirmation, numbering as it did one hundred and three in all. The attendance at the church was very large, so large in fact that although chairs were placed in the aisles, the seating accommodation was not nearly sufficient for those who gathered to witthe solemn and interesting ceremony.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

In opening, His Lordship said he desired to remove some misconceptions regarding the nature of Confirmation. There was a popular idea that confirmation was joining the Church. The speaker declared that this was contrary both to reason and God's Word; also it degraded the church of the living God to the level of a mere human society, which men could join or leave just as they pleased. What, he asked, was the church? Holy Scripture declared it to be the Body of Christ. Of that body Christ was the head, and individual Christians were the members or limbs. Was it possible for a limb to join the body? No. Its union with the body was the result of birth, and was out of our control. The most skilled artificers were indeed able to replace a hand or a foot which had been lost, but the new member was a thing without life and power to move. The living member was only such because born a part of the body. As the members of the human body were members of that body by virtue of birth, so was it in the case of Christians and the Church. Only God could effect the union, and Christians were members of Christ's Church, which was His Body, by virtue of their new birth into Him by baptism. "Except a man be born again of water and of the Spirit he cannot enter into the kingdom of Heaven." "By one Spirit are we all baptised into one Body." That Body and that Kingdom were Christ's Church.

SPEAKING OF THE CHURCH

the Bishop said that many people objected that they put the church in the place of Christ. That, he said, was impossible. By what means were the limbs of the human body connected with the head? Only by their union with the body. So were Christians connected with Christ by their membership in His mystical body, the church. What, then, the Bishop continued, was confirmation? In very beautiful language he proceeded to point out that the little helpless infant was not the perfect man. As human birth was only the beginning of human life, so was our new birth in baptism but the commencement of the Christian life. There must be growth, development, expansion. In confirmation the Holy Spirit was given through the laying on of hands in order that growth in the Christian life might be stimulated and perfected. In laying his hands upon the heads of those before him he was following the examples of Christ's Apostles of whom it was said in Acts viii and xix that "they laid their hands upon those who had been baptized, and they received the Holy Ghost." His Lordship did not mean that the Holy Spirit was only given in confirmation, but confirmation was God's own way of imparting the gift of His indwelling spirit. Concluding, he addressed himself to the candidates gently and affectionatel, and urged them to make full use of what was about to be bestowed upon them, so that they might grow day by day more like unto our Lord Jesus Christ.

At the close of the address the Bishop asked the candidates if they renewed their solemn baptismal vows, and as each individual name was read out, in accordance with the expressed wish of the class, the answer "I do," clear and firm, was heard in response.

The candidates then advanced by sevens to the sanctuary rail and the "laying on of hands" was administered.

The members of the class gathered in the Sunday school at the close of the service and met the Bishop, who warmly shook each candidate by the hand, after which all dispersed to their homes.

INCLINED TO DO EVIL.

The Shrewd Game of a Havelock Young Person.

(Campbellford Herald.)

A young woman of Havelock came to Campbellford about three months ago, and tried to secure a situation as servant in a family, but was unsuccessful. She said she had worked three years and a half with a family in Norwood, and was anxious to get into a good place. Failing in this, she succeeded in obtaining employment in the weave room of the Trent Valley Woollen Mills.

Last week it was learned that she had been engaged in dishonest work. She went into a certain store and ordered some oranges, which were given her, telling the proprietor to charge the account for same to one of our citizens.

By practising the same game she obtained a pair of boots, and a hat, and a pair of gloves at two other business places saying on each occasion that the goods were for certain parties in the village.

At one store enquiry was made, and it was discovered that the family to whom the account was charged had not received the goods. Some of the young acquaintances of the girl who got an intimation of her moves, told her that the constable was looking for her, and she became frightened and made a hurried departure on Saturday. It is said she went east.

CUT HIS THROAT IN THE CELLS.

A Parkdale Prisoner Makes an Unsuccessful Attempt to End His Life With a Penknife.

Toronto, May 16.—Thomas Templeton, who gave several aliases and his address as 60 James-street, was arrested in Parkdale at 11 a.m., yesterday by P. C. White, on a charge of stealing a hammer, which he was seen to carry away from in front of a building in the course of erection. He was taken to the Sixth Precinct Station, where a hatchet and plane were found concealed beneath his coat. That all the sharp-edged instruments he possessed were not found by the station duty man was apparent, when at 3 p.m., after his arrest, Sergt. Metge and Detective Verney visited the prisoner in the cells and found him with his throat wounded and his clothing saturated with blood.

Templeton had used a small penknife in his efforts to end his life. The blade had pierced his windpipe and would undoubtedly have caused death had he not been discovered. He was sent to the General Hospital in the patrol wagon. It is thought he will recover.

ANNUAL CONVENTION W.B.H. AND F.M.S.

Delegates Present From All Ontario.

THEY GATHER IN THE MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

The Sessions Grow in Interest—Reports Presented by the Treasurer, Recording Secretary and Corresponding Secretary—The Work in Quebec.

At the afternoon session of the convention, the prayer and praise service was led by Mrs. Charles Raymond of Guelph. Mrs. H. P. Welton, of Toronto, offered prayer, after which

Mrs. Margaret Boyd presented the eleventh

REPORT OF H. M. S. RECORDING SECRETARY

as follows for the past six months:

The first meeting of the new board of the Home Mission Society was held in Jarvis street Baptist church on Wednesday, Oct. 25th, at which appropriations for 1894 95 were then made:

FOR ONTARIO.

Student labour	$1,000 00
Midland (salary)	300 00
Bracebridge	300 00
Sault Ste Marie (salary)	300 00
Sundridge and Sterling Falls	240 00
Burke's Falls, Doe Lake, Sprucedale	200 00
Parry Sound and North Bay	600 00
Chairs for Sprucedale church	25 00
Total	$2,765 00

FOR NORTH WEST.

Calgary	$ 350 00
N W Building Fund	300 00
Iceland Missionary (salary)	300 00
Total	$ 950 00

FOR QUEBEC.

Six pupils at Grande Ligne	$ 300 00
Mr Grenier, missionary	300 00
Mrs Grenier teacher	100 00
Total	$ 700 00
Printing and sundries	125 00
Grand total	$4,740 00

It was decided to appropriate only $300 to N. W. Building Fund, giving the remaining $200, with $100 extra, towards missionary for the Icelanders, thus making an advance over the previous year of $100.

The question of student labour was again discussed and resulted in the following motion: "That this matter be laid over for another year until the directors and presidents of the circle present it to their associations and circles." This motion was made in consequence of a proposal of the general board that the Women's Society should undertake a larger proportion of the work of supplying preaching to weak churches. It was thought by the ladies present that more prayer and Divine guidance is needed in the prosecution of our work, so it was decided that a regular prayer meeting of the board be held at Mrs. Holman's the first Monday of every month.

At a special board meeting held on Nov. 5th, a letter was read in regard to the $400 appropriated to Parry Sound, that that amount was not required, and suggesting that $150 of it be appropriated to North Bay, as they are badly in need of it. It was voted that this change in appropriations be made.

At the regular quarterly meeting on Jan. 17th three recommendations were voted upon and carried, and are as follows:—

1st rec.—The advisability of changing the time of convention to May.

2nd rec.—That the Circles and Bands be asked to close their books on the 31st of March, and the treasurers of the society their's on the 30th of April.

3rd rec.—That the following alteration of board meetings take place:—The society which occupies the first convention day hold its board meeting on the afternoon of the day preceding and the morning of the day following the full convention, and the society which occupies the second day hold its board meetings on the evening of the day preceding and the afternoon of the day following the full convention.

The motion made at the Hamilton convention in regard to limiting the year in which a life membership fee is paid to a conventional year was rescinded, and the motion now stands as it appears in the constitution.

At the semi-annual meeting held on April 11th, communications were read from the Northwest Board, stating that they are unable to secure a missionary to the Icelanders, and asking that the appropriation for that purpose be transferred from the Icelandic book to the Scandanavian book. Their request was granted.

One from Grand Ligne, referring to Mr. and Mrs. Grenier, who are run down in health, and requesting that they be sent to the Lower Provinces, Mr. and Mrs. Terrien taking their places. The Board complied with their request.

A request from the General Board was made that they be asked to appoint a committee to meet with the Women's Board at their last meeting at Peterborough to further discuss the change of policy in our Ontario work, recommended by the General Home Mission Board.

A pleasing event at this meeting was the presentation (by members of the Board) of a life membership certificate of the Home Mission Society to Miss Emma Dryden. She has faithfully devoted so much of her time and service to this society since becoming appointed.

Mrs. Ernest Norman, of Grand Ligne, P. Q., read the following paper on

"OUR WORK IN QUEBEC."

Quebec province extends from the 64th to the 76th degree of longitude, and from the 45th to the 50th parallel of latitude. This province is the stronghold of Roman Catholicism in America. And it is for this reason that Quebec Province, is about 50 years behind Ontario in civilization. The Romish church does not try to educate her people. On the contrary, she tries to give them as little education as she can. For she knows that only by keeping them in ignorance can she retain full control of the people. Give the French Canadian an education and he will soon break away from the chains of superstition which bind him down. It is not natural for a man to be a slave, for God made man free. Get him to realize that he is in bondage and he will crave for freedom and will not be satisfied until he finds it.

If you wish to form an idea of what this bondage means you may come to Ste. Anne de Beaupre, which is situated sixteen miles east of Quebec city. Here is a large Catholic church, which is the "Shrine of Ste. Anne," which has come into prominence the last few years. Here Catholics who believe everything that the priest tells them are led to believe that there is a piece of the bone taken from the arm of St. Anne, the reputed grandmother of Christ. They have been effectively told that this bone will cure any disease, and in consequence of this, pilgrimages have been made from all parts of the country. Here you will see in what deplorable ignorance the French Canadians are kept. It is a sad sight to see those poor people, with all kinds of disease and in filth, some of them having travelled hundreds of miles, coming here to be cured by the miraculous power of this bone. This is nothing less than heathenism disguised under the name of religion.

1st. Then we come to Quebec, 180 miles below Montreal. Here our missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Grenier and Mr. Burwash have laboured under many difficulties ever since the work was started, a little over a year ago. They have been persecuted from all sides, and mobs have come to the mission hall to create disturbance, but they were prevented from doing any damage by the police. The Grand Ligne board had rented a hall at St. Rock's, which is part of the Lower Town of Quebec city. There they carried on very successful meetings. Now they have succeeded in buying a fine lot and hall for holding meetings and for school purposes.

2nd. Coming up the St. Lawrence on the north side of the river is Maskinonge. Here the church is steadily increasing under Mr. Bullock's preaching.

3rd. Just opposite from Maskinonge, on the south side of the river, is Sorel, where Mr. Gendreau, our colporteur, was so bitterly persecuted and imprisoned two years ago, and where Mr. Cote, the missionary, was attacked by mobs, who broke the windows of his house and where he was boycotted so that he could not even buy bread or fuel for his family, here, in spite of all this opposition, the church has gained 28 active members.

4th. Here in Montreal a good work is carried on by Mr. Therrien.

5th. Coming to Ontario we have only two new mission stations which have been opened up within this last two years: Canaan and St. Eugene.

6th. Then coming to Grande Ligne, we find over 156 Protestants, 64 being church members. There have been 16 baptisms this winter, 14 of these were students from our college. Five of this number were formerly Roman Catholics. At the college there have been 135 students in attendance during this winter. In all we had 14 Catholic. The work has been very encouraging.

Taking our French mission stations and their missionaries, adding them up, we find in all 29 stations and 38 missionaries. In addition to these French fields there are 15 English Baptist home mission fields. But there are only six or seven regular established pastors to do the work, the rest of these churches are supplied by students during the summer.

Now, for a few general statements: According to the Dominion Census of 1891, the whole population of Quebec province is 1,488,535, of these 1,291,709 are Roman Catholics, leaving less than 200,000 Protestants of all descriptions. Taking all the territory of Quebec, dividing it into square miles, and placing one single Protestant on each square mile, there would remain 34,000 square miles and not a single Protestant man, woman or child to put on them.

In the Maratime Provinces there are another 65,000 French Romanists. Hitherto we have done nothing for these, but within the last few weeks Mr. Grenier of Quebec has been sent to Nova Scotia to open up the work. He is the only French missionary that we Baptists have in these provinces. Now you see the deplorable state of the province, and the greatness of the work. Let each one ask—"What is my duty towards those people in 'Darkest Quebec?"

Mrs. John Lillie, of Toronto,

THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY,

submitted a voluminous report, in which she carefully went over the progress of the work in the different parts of the provinces.

Mrs. Lillie was glad and grateful that no shadow of a defeat rested upon the society. This success, she thought, was due to the fact that many members had endeavoured to live up to the motto, "Pray, Work and Give."

Contributions had been liberal last year, but they would be even more so next year, for the President had great plans for the future and she had the most implicit confidence in the ability and willingness of the women of Ontario to help her to carry these plans to a successful issue, and if the line of action suggested by her was followed and the giving was done systematically and proportionately the results would be satisfactory.

During the past six months eight circles had been formed, one re-organised and three fallen by the way side. Over 500 baptisms had taken place in the Home Mission churches in the half year ending April 1st, and during the entire year that number has been increased by nearly 1,100.

Mrs. Lillie concluded by asking if the success which had crowned their efforts of the past six months should not stimulate all to greater labours. No note of discouragement should be heard but the needs of the work should stir every Christian to larger usefulness in winning Canada for Christ.

THE EVENING SESSION

was opened with a large attendance of delegates present, as well as a large number of citizens, many representing the women's mission societies of the town.

Mrs. Holman, president, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of that ever-stirring hymn of Rev. S. Baring Gould—"Onward Christian Soldiers," after which Rev. J. E. Trotter, pastor, read a portion of the 5th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, and led the convention in prayer.

After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the afternoon session, Mrs. Lloyd, of Hamilton, on "Our Mission to the French, evangelistic, philanthropic, and patriotic." The speaker, who possesses a fluent, pleasing delivery, began by giving a brief and interesting sketch of the origin of the McAll mission in France, which was followed by a reference to the shrine of Lourdes as the source of an immense amount of infidelity through the disgust of those who sought healing in faith and were disappointed. From here the transition was made to Quebec and its beautiful scenery and historical interest were cited to show that that province is worth saving. Reference was made to the necessity of Protestant mission work in Quebec. The speaker urged the duty of liberal giving for the evangelisation of Quebec, which was declared to be suffering from religious oppression. Touching upon the patriotic portion of her address, the speaker said we wanted the maple leaf in Canada and not the fleur de lis, and also the well worn, because well read, Bible. We wanted liberty of conscience and not Romish oppression. We wanted the whole of

GAVE AN ADDRESS

This is to certify that I have suffered from piles for a long time and tried several articles recommended for this complaint, but none of them benefitted me till I tried Chase's Ointment, which has completely cured me.

MRS. JOHN GERRIE.

R. Phillips, jr., Druggist Witness.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON.

Alone in London!

From a Realistic Novel.

"Heloise," said the fierce old man; "Heloise!" he gazed upon her as she stood before him, palpitating with the calm joy of a maiden who has successfully sat up all night with a clerk in the cotton goods department and has come down to breakfast at 11 o'clock. "Heloise, when that young man——"

"Stop, papa!" and she strode forward. "You may tear me limb from limb, incarcerate me in prison, banish me from home, but such love as mine and Walter's——"

"Shut up!" roared the parental tyrant. "What I was about to say is this—when that young man comes next Sunday night and you go nosing around at 3 o'clock in the morning to find pie for him do not leave the dining-room door open so that the cat can get in and drink the milk pitcher."

With a low, sad wail she passed out of the door and sank $10.50 that afternoon on a new Easter bonnet.

The Girls of Cuba.

It is not to be accepted as true that Cuban women are all beautiful. It can be stated, as a rule, however, that the Cuban woman has beautiful eyes. Faces that would otherwise be plain and unattractive are glorified by ravishing dark eyes with arched brows and long lashes that cast shadows on their cheeks. When the face, as is sometimes the case, is a perfect oval, the features prettily formed, with a touch of voluptuousness about the mouth, the hair raven black, such eyes complete a beauty that is well worth a journey to Cuba to see. One will often catch a glimpse of a face like that, framed in by a mantilla, at the opera or in the street. He (for I do not suppose a "she" would be under the same spell) will often find himself coming to a sudden stop in the street at the sight of such a face, peering out from the shadows of a carriage, perhaps with a fan provokingly held, so as to hide half the beauty. He will see such beauties, too, now and then at the windows of the houses, and this is likely to encourage him in a habit of looking into the wide-open windows as he sidles by them on the narrow footwalks. He will rarely see one walking on the street in the daytime, and when he does she will be accompanied by an elderly woman or a negro servant.—Washington Star.

The Habit of Saving.

The French suffer less from panics and depressions than any other people on the globe, and it is because thrift is the basis of their prosperity.

In France nearly every person saves something for a rainy day. The habit is almost universal, and those who earn the least are sure to be found in this great saving class. The French savings banks have more than 8,000,000 depositors, and their deposits amount to about $800,000,000, and this large sum is made up of large amounts.

The French schools teach the children to save money, and the most frequent prize given to a bright pupil is a savings bank-book with a small sum to the credit of the owner. This is given where, in this country, we would give a medal or a book.

When a community has a lot of money deposited in savings banks it is easy to borrow money without going to outside capatalists. The local banks are prepared to loan to home people at a moderate interest. In large cities and factory towns of the Eastern States the savings banks are the great safeguards of the poor wage-earners against hard times, and if the saving habit was as general here as it is in France, our people would have passed through the recent financial depression without seriously feeling it.

Every child should be taught the importance of saving without being avaricious and niggardly. We need more thrift. The average American wage-earner wastes enough in his lifetime to make him comfortable in his old age. We should take a lesson from the French in this respect. They know how to enjoy life and at the same time work hard and save money.—Atlanta Constitution.

Some of the Results.

An old bachelor who has been studying the woman's suffrage question from a purely scientific standpoint has summed up the following results of a successful termination of the movement:

The dethronement of high hats at the theatre.

No giving up of seats in the street cars.

The death of bargain counters.

The final exit of the Easter bonnet.

The abolition of street kissing.

The demise of the summer girl.

The extermination of the mother-in-law joke.

The production of biscuits as good as mother used to make.

The extinction of all secret societies.—Atlanta Journal.

Tart and Smart.

The difference between the martyr of old and martyr of to-day is that one was burned at the stake, and the other has his steak burned for him.

"Ah," said the old printer, who had just come down to be a waiter in a cheap restaurant, "this is like old times. Here I am distributing pi!"

Her Latest—"The silence was so great," said Mrs. R., "you could have picked up a pin!"

The Cry of the Free Library Frequenter—A cheap loaf.

The New Discovery—"Argon" is described as "a gaseous constituent." In most constituencies can be found plenty of "Argons."

Couldn't Oblige Her.

A bashful young man of Tiffin while attending revival meetings was approached by an earnest young woman, who said to him:

"My dear friend, it would do my heart good to lead you to the altar."

The young fellow hesitatingly replied that he appreciated the honor, but, as he was already engaged to two girls, he could not accommodate her.

Fatal Results of Delay.

Sickness generally follows in the path of neglect. Don't be reckless! but prudently take a few doses of Scott's Emulsion immediately following exposure to cold. It will save you many painful days and sleepless nights.

"I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I

DINING AT THE ZOO.

A BILL OF FARE THAT IS UNIQUE IN ITS VARIETY.

Among the Animals at the London Zoological Gardens—An Enormous Amount of Food Consumed Annually.

I have been initiated into the mysteries of the kitchens of a great West End hotel during the preparation of innumerable toothsome banquets; I have explored the nethermost corners of the "Ship and Turtle," and fathomed the depths of turtle soup; but I must say that the kitchens and storehouse of Kooland were new ground to me. For they have both at the Zoo, and very curious and very interesting were the revelations which Mr. Bartlett made to me one afternoon concerning the food consumed in the Zoological Gardens. As I was walking toward the superintendent's house I noticed a bowed figure a few yards before me. It was that of a man past middle age, his face tanned yellow, and his hair grizzled by wind and sun. The man carried a pack on his back, but it seemed scarcely to impede his progress, for he went along at a rapid shamble, and it was with difficulty that I kept pace with him. He and I both made for the office, and then I found that on the top of his back was a box full of mice, while the sack itself was filled with dozens of frogs.

Thousands of frogs must be consumed in the Zoo during the year. The snakes and the salamanders like nothing better, and really you may suppress that hypersensitive shudder. The frogs are fresh and tender, and probably much more toothsome than many a dainty which chefs rave of. In the winter months a store of frogs may be seen in the reservoirs of the Zoo, waiting their time, and consuming in their turn vast quantities of worms. These frogs cost sixpence a dozen. All sorts and conditions of vendors find their way to this little office. Boys bring for sale their rabbits pigeons, and guinea-pigs. The rat-catcher brings up rats and mice; the butcher, the baker, the fishmonger, and the greengrocer also pay their daily calls; and I must not forget the milkman. There are some three thousand living creatures in the gardens, each of whom has a palate of the greatest delicacy. It may be a choice mutton chop for an ape, or a parrot, strawberries or a pineapple for a chimpansee. Poor Sally was such a gourmet. Individual fancies must be gratified in such a valuable collection. If a lion is a little "off color," as they say, he likes nothing better than a rabbit with the fur on. It is as if you or I might fancy an oyster and a glass of Chablis after a late night.

Of eggs, 17,000 are consumed in a year. Some of them go to the reptile-house, but most of them are boiled and chopped up fine, as the cookery book say. In this state they form part of the breakfasts and dinners of a multitude of birds and monkeys. Fresh shrimps, which form another item, are given to certain birds, and the gulls and flamingoes are extremely fond of them. As for the fowls' heads, they go to such animals as the otter and the polecat, while the nuts, of course, go to the monkeys and squirrels.

In a day an elephant will eat about 224 pounds of food. Knowing this, you will have no difficulty in understanding where those huge quantities of drystuffs disappear. This mighty meal includes rice, biscuit, hay, clover, and a mangel-wurzel or two. The hippopotamus takes about the same weight of food, which includes vast quantities of green grass. The rhinoceros also takes green food, hay and so on. The polar bear takes flounders and cooked meat with much fat. The seals eat most of the whiting, while the cormorants, flamingoes, and pelicans take the rough fish. The bears eat meat and biscuits, the army of deer and cattle of all sorts are responsible for a large consumption of drystuffs. Bread and milk—the pleasant compound we all know—is given to monkeys and to other fortunate animals who possess delicate stomachs. The lions and tigers are also fond of a drink of milk. The rodents take most of the carrots.

Many favorite horses end their days in the Zoo. An aged carriage horse, a hack who has done his work, an animal that is incurably vicious, a violent animal that has thrown his master or his mistress—these find their way to the Gardens. It is better that they should die an easy death than linger on in the shafts of a hansom until they drop in the streets beaten and hungry. The lions and the tigers and leopards, whose allowance varies from ten pounds to six pounds a day, consume, on an average, one horse a day the year round. This demand exceeds the supply of gift-horses, so the society buys from the knacker a dead horse, costing from 25s. to £3, this latter being the price of a carthorse. Before passing on to the reptile house, I may mention that the owls and hawks like nothing better than dead birds or dead rats, or even a dead cat, fur and all.

You will notice that no mention is made of the frogs, ducks, rabbits, guinea-pigs, rats, and mice, which find their way into the reptile house. Nor, indeed, of the cockroaches, of which there is an ample supply in the Gardens. Nor again of powdered oyster shells, which the ostrich loves. These may be called the "extras," but, like most "extras," they mount up to a considerable total in the bills. One is on delicate ground in dealing with the live food. Years ago there was an absurd outcry by sham humanitarians against the practice of giving live food to the snakes. But as snakes prefer to slaughter their own food or starve, the question resolved itself into one of Zoos, or no Zoos. The Zoos carried the day, but by a blessed compromise the public are no longer allowed to be present at these banquets. Mr. Bartlett, the wisest of practical zoologists, who has passed years of hours in the reptile house, says that the theory that snakes fascinate their food is all nonsense. The guinea-pigs and geese are as happy in the snakes' cages as in their own hunting-grounds. The rattlesnake feels hungry, say; he sees them; he uncoils himself; he poises his head, and the guinea-pig is paralysed in a few seconds, dying a painless death. The python crushes his ducks with terrible certainty, which is quite as agreeable to the duck as having his neck wrung, I'm sure. Some years ago there was a cage full of spiders in the insect-house. One day a live cockroach was dropped in. The spider smelled food; the cockroach was surrounded by his savage foes, and made mincemeat of in a minute or two. Some person wrote to the papers, and cried "Fie!" on the wicked spiders, and a new cry rent the air. It was "Pity the poor cockroaches!" I believe it is the custom of timid housemaids to drop a flatiron on cockroaches. It would be interesting to know which method of extermination he likes best. The alligators and crocodiles which bask in the reptile house take their dinner dead, the amount of meat given to each ranging from a pound or two to ten pounds.—The Westminster Budget.

FORMATION OF COAL.

In Some Places the Complete and Perfect Forms of the Decayed Trees Have Been Found.

The formation of coal, according to Dr. Mercer Greene's comical theory, was due to the solar orb bringing forth, millions of years ago, when it was larger and hotter than to-day, a wonderfully luxuriant vegetation, including plants of strange kinds, mosses as large as forest trees, and ferns 30 feet in height, growing up richly from the clayey soil and forming dense jungles in the vast marshes, the latter covering great areas of the earth's surface; these ferns, mosses, and the leaves, branches, and trunks of trees in time falling and decaying where they grew, only to render the soil more fertile and the next growth more luxuriant—year after year, century after century, this process of growth and decay going on, until the beds of vegetable matter thus deposited became of great thickness; the earth's body, however still continued to shrink, in consequence of which her crust at times contracted and fell in, the land then sinking through vast areas, the beds of vegetable matter going down and the water sweeping again over the great marshes, sand and mud and gravel were laid down anew over the deposits, and the clayey soil from which the next rich growth would spring was spread out on the surface, this process being repeated again and again, as often, indeed, as seams of of coal in any coal bed.

In this way, according to Dr. Greene, the conditions for the formation of coal were made complete, atmospheric air being entirely excluded while the vegetable beds underwent the processes of decomposition, so that in some beds of coal whole trees have been found, with roots, branches, leaves and seeds complete, and all converted into the same kind of coal as that by which they were surrounded.

VICTORIA'S HOUSEHOLD.

The Queen Has One Thousand People Employed Around Her.

Queen Victoria's household is a large one, consisting of just under a thousand persons, for the maintenance of whom the nation sets apart the sum of $2,500,000 every year. Most of the posts are sinecures or fixtures for life.

In the early part of Queen Victoria's reign a mistress of the robes may possibly have done a few hours' work in the year, giving orders that the apparel of the sovereign should be carefully preserved from moth and dust, renewing the regal ermine, velvet and lace at stated times, and seeing that the crown jewels were always locked safely after a public airing.

She could not affix her name to warrants empowering one worthy tradesman to sell sewing cotton to the royal household and allowing others to put up the royal arms over their doors because their various wares were bought by personages of illustrious degree.

Harriet Sutherland's signature was always most as good an addition to business advertisements as "To the Queen" emblazoned in big gilt letters over the shops.

Some of the posts are entirely ornamental and others have very little duty attached to them. Probably the only additions to the household since the time of Henry VIII. are two steam apparatus men.

Although there is no longer a royal barge nor any pageantry on the Thames, there are still a bargemaster and a waterman, with a salary each of $2,000 a year.

For the past 200 years there has been no hawking in the forest of Windsor, but the office of grand falconer, held by the Duke of St. Albans, has only been suppressed within the last two years.

There are four table deckers whose sole duty is to lay the dinner cloth and see that the plates, dishes and cutlery are fairly set forth.

There is also a wax-fitter, who sees the candles properly disposed, and a first and second lamplighter, who receives the same salary as that of the poet laureate, which is $500 a year.

This may seem shabby payment, but it must be confessed that most of the poets laureate have been overpaid for the stuff supplied.

Then there is the "keeper of the swans," who annually pockets $150 for looking after the sacred birds on the royal waters. Lastly there is the "Queen's rat-catcher," who is especially attached to Buckingham Palace. His salary, $75, is provided outside the civil list. Every session the House of Commons, in committee of supply, considers this vote and gravely agrees to it.—Boston Globe.

NO SUCH THING AS OLD AGE

To those who use South American Nervine

A Lady of 80 Years Permanently Cured by this Wonderful Medicine.

Three Doctors said "Old Age was Her Complaint" and Gave Her Up—Three Bottles of Nervine Gave Relief—Twelve Bottles Cured Absolutely.

MRS. JOHN DINWOODY, Flesherton, Ont.

Wordsworth speaks of "An old age serene and bright, and lovely as a Lapland night." And elsewhere this same writer talks of "An old age, beautiful and free." These are conditions that come to the man or woman, though their years may border close on to a century, when in the enjoyment of good health. In fact it is difficult to think of some of the old men and women on the stage of life to-day as old people, there seems to be such a perennial youthfulness about their every movement and act.

Does someone tell us that cases like this must be the exception and not the rule with those who have approached to or gone beyond the allotted three score years and ten? Not so, if they have become acquainted with the virtues contained in South American Nervine. Before us in this sketch is the picture of Mrs. John Dinwoody, of Flesherton, Ont., a resident of that town for forty years. No person in the town and country side around is perhaps better known than this lady, and none more highly esteemed. Three years ago it was her sad lot to loose a daughter who had been all the world to her. The shock sustained by this event completely broke up the system of Mrs. Dinwoody. She supposed her end had come. She loostored for one year with three doctors, and they gave her case up, saying that it was one of old age and no one, nor any medicine could do her good. Made of the kind of stuff that gives beauty to age at any time she did not despair. She was influenced to try Nervine. She took three bottles, and this was sufficient to show her that her end was not yet. From these she obtained relief. She persevered, and in all took twelve bottles of the medicine, with the result that she is to-day completely cured of that breaking-up of the system that threatened her three years ago.

There is nothing wonderful in the fact that Mrs. Dinwoody would proclaim to the thousands of old people throughout this broad land, that with old age does not necessarily come decline, decrepitude and disease. Why should we not live into the eighties and nineties, and cross the border of the century?

South American Nervine, whether the person be young or old, gets at the nerve centers, and when they are kept in proper condition the system is as well able to withstand disease at eighty as at thirty. With this prospect in view who would not live to an old age and enjoy the pleasures of family, friends and society, and take a part in watching the marvelous progress and developments of these closing days of a wonderful century, which marks as not the least of its wonderful discoveries, the discovery of South American Nervine.

ANNUAL CONVENTION
W. B. H. AND F. M. S.

Quebec for Jesus and not for the Pope.

After the singing of the hymn, "Stand up for Jesus," Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, of Toronto, spoke upon the subject, "The Gospel of Christ, the Stability of the Nation." The did not depend upon material conditions. True national stability depended upon a right relation between the people, a proper exercise of legitimate rights and a proper relation between man and the living God. Sectional and racial antagonisme in Canada would not tend to national integrity. If there were antagonism between Catholic and Protestant or between capital and labour, or between other important factors there were instability and danger. Selfishness of the appetites and affections bred evil conditions and danger of national perdition. Stability of the nation demanded a sense of the living God, as much as a sense of the magnetic pole was necessary to the compass of a ship. The Gospel of Christ met the nation's need—it brought to the people great thoughts—the thought of the fatherhood of God—the thought of an Advocate in sympathy with man—the thought of the enlightening and comforting Holy Spirit—the thought of human brotherhood, that knit the whole fabric of society together. The necessity and importance of these were urged. The Gospel of Christ tended to national stability because of its relation to the training of children and to the character of women—the two most important elements of national life. The uplifting and ennobling influence of the Gospel in these regards was eloquently presented. Another element in the gospel, was the fact of it appealing to the unit of society—the individual who, while being uplifted himself, exercised a beneficial influence upon his environment, and this condition permeating society, worked a blessed revolution. The panacea for the evils of society was the universal application of the Gospel to the individual. With its reforming spirit the Gospel had a restraining and corrective influence—God permitted the grandest movements to progress only so fast as was beneficial to their interests.

CONFERRING NATIONAL STABILITY,

In conclusion, the speaker addressed the women of the convention, and pointed out the unmeasured possibilities for good inherent in their organization. They were warned to beware of the temptations that come to the prosperous. It fell to the mothers and wives to see that the homes of the land were homes of Christian humility.

This address was well received and heartily applauded at the close.

After prayer, offered by Rev. R. B. McEwan, and the taking of a collection, excellent music was furnished by the choir, and the interesting evening session of the convention closed with the singing of the hymn, "God Bless our Native Land," and the pronouncing of the benediction.

THE FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its first session this morning with the President, Mrs. Booker, of Woodstock, in the chair. The meeting for prayer was led by Miss Eva Rose York, of Belleville, after which Mrs. James Stratton, of Peterborough, read a portion of the Scriptures. Mrs. Ellis, of Peterborough, then led in prayer, being followed by Mrs. Booker, who delivered

as follows:

The months have passed so quickly since meeting in our last convention that it is hard to realise we are here to-day. But we are humbly grateful to God for the prosperity and success that has attended every effort made for His sake. These gatherings are always so helpful and full of interest that we are glad to come. The better we know one another the more smoothly and effectually we shall do our part in the work undertaken. We must ever bear in mind that the first object of our society was, not that we might have good meetings at this annual gathering, or at our monthly circle meetings; but that we might increase our interest in, and knowledge of, the heathen world, that our hearts might be opened to send the blessed message of salvation into the dark places of the earth, and that souls might be saved, and our Master honoured. To do this in the best way it is necessary to learn what the need of the world is, and also to devise ways and means to carry it on successfully.

Do you all realise that we now have nine lady missionaries in the foreign fields? And just hear what the secretary of the conference in India writes to us about them. "I am sure that the Woman's Board should have the fullest confidence in every one of its representatives in India. A wiser, truer, abler or more devoted band of workers could hardly be found."

We are glad for those words of appreciation of our young ladies, and we are proud of them. They heard the cry and realized the need of the perishing ones in India. They were willing and anxious to go and tell them that Jesus loved them, and died to save them as well as us. We accepted them and sent them forth in our stead, and if we sustain them while doing that work and bear them up by our prayers we will be fulfilling our part of our Lord's commands—"Go ye into the world and preach the Gospel.

If we only understood what it means to be a heathen in India, China or Africa. If we could even for a short time realise the suffering and disgrace that millions of our sisters endure all the time, how different it would all seem to us. It is easy to say we are sorry for them, but we must show our love by doing something tangible.

Whether our gifts during the year be large or small, the greatness of the gift will depend upon how much we keep for ourselves. The Master measures our gift by what we have, not by what we give.

"For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sake He became poor, that you through His poverty might be rich."

The nineteenth annual REPORT OF THE RECORDING SECRETARY

was received as follows:

Three Board meetings have been held since October. At the first meeting of the newly-appointed Board, held in the Board room October 18th, it was decided, in addition to the usual appropriation of $7205, including Miss McLeod's outfit and passage to India, it was decided to loan to the General Board $600 without interest for three months to aid them in their extremity; also that the funds on hand for a medical missionary be used for Miss Pearl Smith's outfit and passage to relieve the General Board. At the quarterly meeting held in January, after conferring with the Home Mission Board and giving the subject some serious thought it was decided to change the time of the Convention from Oct. to May in accordance with the step taken by the General Society at St. Thomas. It was also decided that the Treasurer should close her books on the 30th April.

Two applications have been received from ladies wishing to go to India. Though specially fitted for the work owing to the state of the finances they could not be entertained.

It is with sincere regret the Board have accepted the resignation of Mrs. Dryden, of Brooklyn, who has been a member since the foundation of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Mission Society, faithfully discharging the duties. Her place will not be easily filled.

At a special meeting of the members of the Board residing in the city, it was found that in about one hundred churches all of the money contributed for missions is given by a few women. It was decided to obtain a list and send a communication to the president of each circle, or to the most active woman in the church, asking them to try and create a greater interest in the work. This was done with gratifying results. After gaining all possible information it was thought advisable to make a new departure in the matter of the post office crusade, leaving tract distribution, etc., to the missionaries.

The following life members have been added since October.

Mrs. Chisholm, Port Hope.
Mrs. John Jones, Brampton.
Mrs. A. D. Kitchener, Toronto.
Mrs. John Firstbrook, Toronto.
Mrs. O. C. S. Wallace, Toronto.
Mrs. James B. Standing, Burford.
Mrs. Preffer, St. Thomas.
Mrs. W. H. Gandon, Woodstock.
Mrs. J. C. Yule, Brantford.
Mrs. Dunecombe, Delhi.
Mrs. Hannah Timpany, Aylmer.

Respectfully submitted,
A. MOYLE, Rec. Sec.

The adoption of the reports as submitted was carried on the resolution of Mrs. C. J. Holman.

Miss Elizabeth Dryden, of Brooklyn, read a most instructive paper on "Educational Work," which was greatly appreciated by all the delegates in attendance.

THE BAND REPORT

was presented by Mrs. C. T. Stark, Toronto, showing the large number of conversions to have taken place during the year, and dwelling on the fact that a number of new bands had been organized during the year and were doing good work.

As the

took place only six months ago, it was decided on motion to re-elect the same officers for the ensuing year. The offices are filled as follows:—

President—Mrs. Booker, Woodstock.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Freeland, Toronto.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Yule, Brantford.
Recording Secretary—Miss Anna Moyle, Toronto.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Buchan, Toronto.
Treasurer—Mrs. Elliott, Toronto.

The sessions continue this afternoon and evening.

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

Evidence Touching the Weight and Hook.

MRS. HYAMS ILL AND EXCUSED

Dallas' Effort To Insure His Own Life—Medical Testimony Commences To-Day—The Trial Expected to Conclude on Thursday—Blood-Stained Barrels.

Toronto, May 17. — The second week of the Hyams trial opened yesterday with a day full of darkness for the prisoners. A greater number of witnesses were examined than have been on the stand in any one day since the opening of the trial. The greater part of the day was spent by the Crown in clearing up the ground over which they have been working during the past week, and towards evening called the first of their expert witnesses, by whom they will endeavor to prove that the weight could not come off the hook, as the prisoners said when they were telling how the alleged accident occurred.

It is remarkable, as showing the strength of the Crown's case, and the partial abandonment by the defence of their original contention on this point, that the witnesses who spoke of the possibility, or rather impossibility, of the weight becoming loosened from the hook while in the shaft were allowed to slip down from the witness box without a single challenge of their statements by the defence.

It was also shown that the shaft in which the weight ran was continued down to the basement floor, when the prisoners took possession of the warehouse, and the Crown will ask the jury to believe that the facing of this shaft was cut off by the Hyams' in order to lend the color of accident to the murder they were planning. The evidence relating to the hoist and its general condition was the strongest feature of the Crown's case as presented yesterday, and, coming as it does from men who operated the hoist for years, goes far to offset the contention of the defence that it was a rickety, rameshackle, dangerous affair, unsafe for even ordinary use. Of this evidence, possibly the most important part was that which proved that prior to the occupancy of the warehouse by the prisoners the weight shaft was absolutely free from obstruction of any kind, and was only large enough to give the weight an inch and a half swing either way.

The insurance on the life of Dallas, to which the defence have given such prominence throughout the trial, was placed after the policy had been issued on Wells, with the exception of one policy for $5000, taken out one month prior to the date of the Wells' policy. An application for a policy for $25,000 in the New York Life on the life of Dallas was under consideration when Wells met his death.

Mrs. Hyams was unable to appear, and Mr. Lount announced that he would waive his right to complete his cross-examination of her. She will not appear in court again during the trial.

The Crown's medical testimony will begin after lunch to-day, lasting a day and a half. This will complete the Crown's case, and the defence will open on Monday. Their evidence will occupy about two days and a half, and allowing a day and a half for the addresses of counsel and judge to the jury, the verdict will be given on the evening of the 23rd instant.

When the reading of the letters had been concluded, Mr. Samuel Smoke, barrister, was called. Mr. Smoke said that on March 30 H. P. Hyams and his solicitor, T. W. Horn, came to the office of the witness.

said that Mr. Horn proposed that certain moneys in the hands of Miss Wells should be invested though the agency of H. P. Hyams. It was stated that Miss Wells had agreed that it should be done, and the only matter to be settled was the manner in which it should be invested. Mr. Smoke said he replied to them that he did not understand that Miss Wells had so agreed, and he refused to consent until he had consulted her. The sum involved was $30,000.

On the same day he received from Mr. Horn a draft agreement, but he declined to sign it. On April 7, after consultation with his client, he gave his final answer to Mr. Horn, refusing to allow the money to be invested by H. P. Hyams.

The agreement was produced by Mr Smoke, but as it was virtually the property of Mr. Horn, and the defence taking that that ground, it was not admitted, and the proposition and its terms contained therein were not made known to the jury.

In a second interview on April 22, H. P. Hyams told the witness that he had between $8000 and $9000 of Miss Wells' money and that he had securities for the amount that he could hand over to the witness. Witness pressed him to do this, but the securities were never produced. Instead he received $500 in cash and $615 in promissory notes. This was all the return ever given for the $9000. On May 10th, 1893, the day following the marriage of Miss Wells, he received a telegram from her instructing him to cease to act as her solicitor.

Undertaker B. D. Humphrey, who removed the body of Wells from the warehouse, was called to prove that the body brought from Oshawa was that of young Wells. He also told of the removal of the body from the warehouse. He saw blood on the hands of H. T. Hyams, who told him that the weight had slipped from his hands while he was lifting it off Wells' head. It was shortly before 12 o'clock when he received the message from Fox that an accident had occurred at 26 Colborne-street. The coroner came 15 or 20 minutes after the witness arrived. One of the prisoners told him that the weight had fallen and killed the young man. He understood from what was told him that it had fallen three stories.

The position in which this witness said the body lay did not differ materially from the evidence of previous witnesses. The head lay in a pool of blood. There were no indications of the body having been moved. The witness saw no glasses on the face and no gloves on the hands.

The explanation the defence will offer to the jury of the blood stains on the boxes found on the second floor was shown by Mr. Lount's questions to Mr. Humphrey, "You say the blood was slowly dropping from the body when you removed it?"—A. Yes.

John Thompson, who described himself as a sail-maker by trade, said he was employed by Mr. Fenson for nearly four years. In the fall of 1892 he did some work at the Colborne-street warehouse. He was acting under instructions from his employer, who gave him an order for a hook for Rice Lewis & Son. He took the hook to the warehouse and spliced it into the weight rope. When he had finished splicing it he found his hook was too large, and was obliged to cut the weight with a chisel in order to get the hook into the weight. The splicing and hook in the rope shown in court was very similar to the work done by him on that day. The witness told the counsel for the defence of his experience as a sailor, and said the hook in question, in nautical terms, was called a "luff" hook.

John Fenson, jr., identified the order produced as the one given to the previous witness on Rice Lewis & Son. The order was dated Dec. 22, 1892. At the preliminary investigation the defence endeavored to prove that the hook was changed after the death of Wells, but after this evidence was submitted yesterday they announced their intention to abandon this point.

Speaking of the possibility of the hook becoming loose from the weight, Mr. Fenson said he did not think it could be. At Mr. Osler's request he described with elaborate details the mechanism of the elevator in the Colborne-st. warehouse. It was so constructed that to get motion the hoist rope must be worked. When a man ceased working this rope both weight and cage would stop.

"What would you say as to the possibility of the weight coming off, when the cage was ascending and the weight descending, or vice versa?" said Mr. Osler.

"It would be utterly impossible," said the witness. His evidence was given with such decision and clearness, the defence thought the sooner he left the box the better for the lives of their clients, and allowed him to step down without asking a question.

Henry Kidd, the carpenter whose name has so frequently been mentioned, was next called. He repaired the hoist in the warehouse in December, 1892. The work he did was to put gates on the shaft on the four floors. The old gates had been used for barring the windows. On another occasion, a little later, he built a platform to be used, the prisoners told him, for taking the weight off the rope. This platform was built on the first floor, according to the instructions of the Hyams brothers. He cut a large hole in the weight shaft to permit of it being placed in the platform. He noticed a barrel or two of salt, also two barrels of sugar and some boxes of groceries, as being the entire contents of the warehouse.

Another Powder Mill Blown Up.

Troy, N.Y., May 16.—Four of the mills of the Schagticoke Powder Company of Schagticoke, N.Y., blew up this morning at 11 o'clock. The shock was terrific. Chauncey Lohnes, unmarried, was killed, and Charles Clum, who had a wife and three children, was fatally injured.

Mrs. Mack to Be Taken to Buffalo.

Washington, May 15.—Chief Hazen of the secret service left for Hamilton, Canada, to-day, with authority to bring to Buffalo, N.Y., for trial, Mrs. M. T. Mack, charged with counterfeiting and uttering United States postage stamps.

Wholesome Breadmaking.

The temperature at which bread is both raised and baked is of the greatest importance in producing the perfect loaf. Dr. Woods of the Connecticut Experiment Station, places the proper raising temperature at from 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit, and the baking temperature at from 400 to 500 degrees. In a late paper on breadmaking he cautions the housewife against cooling the loaves of bread too rapidly after taking them from the oven. "Much of the sourness of bread," he adds, "is doubtless due to lack of care during cooling. Owing to the high-water contents and the larger amounts of nitrogenous substances and sugar which bread contains, it is, especially while warm, a good soil for development of various kinds of moulds and bacteria. A loaf of bread hot from the oven, if put into a poorly-ventilated room crowded with people, will become sour in the course of two or three hours."

JUMPED FROM BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

Thomas Tremaine, a Toronto Newsboy, Makes a Daring Leap.

New York, May 17.—Toronto Red came from Buffalo a few days ago. He went out on the Brooklyn bridge early this morning in a wagon accompanied by Michael Houlihan of No. 3 Fulton-street, Brooklyn. When unobserved he made a break from the vehicle, quickly mounted the bridge rail and jumped over. On reaching the surface he struck out and attempted to swim to the Brooklyn shore. His friends who were waiting in a row boat quickly pulled to his assistance and lifted him into the boat. He was rowed to Morrison's dock near the Brooklyn end of the bridge.

Bridge Policeman Broderick arrested Houlihan on the charge of violating a bridge ordinance in assisting a man to jump from the bridge. Houlihan was the only one of "Red's" friends to be arrested. The others who picked him up were John C. Bachman and Sam Davis of Buffalo, who came on with him to witness the feat. The daring jumper wore a coat which had an outside covering of cork, while lead weights were attached to the soles of his shoes. By a clever string arrangement he was able to release the lead as soon as he struck the water.

The right name of the lad known as "Toronto Red," is Thomas Tremaine. He is a newsboy, about 18 years old, who has performed several aquatic feats in and around Buffalo harbor and Niagara River, and whose home is in Toronto.

CHARGES AND COUNTER-CHARGES.

The Directors of the Ontario Stereotype Plate Co. at Loggerheads With Manager Watson.

Toronto, May 17. — On Wednesday last a writ was issued by Mr. W. J. Watson against Evelyn Macrae, George E. Macrae, H. M. Pellatt, A. H. Campbell, F. O. Cayley and Lydia Hill. The plaintiff claims $10,000 damages for wrongful dismissal and for loss sustained by reason of a conspiracy on the part of the above-named defendants, who are directors and stockholders of the Ontario Stereotype Plate Co. The affairs of the company appear to be in a tangle by reason of a squabble between the directorate and the management. Two or three years ago Mr. Evelyn Macrae induced some of his friends to put money into the business, leading them to believe that there was a fortune in it. Altogether the company have sunk $23,000 in less than three years, and Mr. Watson is now trying to wind it up.

THINK THE INCOME TAX DOOMED.

Treasury Officials Expect the Law To Be Declared Ultra Vires

New York, May 17.—Treasury officials have settled down upon the conclusion that the income tax law will next Monday be declared unconstitutional by six to three. Advices which have reached the Commissioner of Internal Revenue indicate that such will be the attitude of the court on the question.

A Washington special to The Mail and Express says: The positive statement is made that the income tax will be declared unconstitutional by a vote of six to three, even if Judge Jackson votes for it. Besides the four justices who voted against the constitutionality of the Act at the first hearing, Justices Brown and Shiras, it is alleged, have changed their views, and the majority opinion against the constitutionality of the law will be signed by them. The exact position of Justice Jackson is unknown.

E. N. WILLIAMS EXAMINED.

A Batch of Toronto Lawyers Examine Him at Detroit.

Detroit, May 16.—A commission from Toronto were in the city to-day to examine C. N. Williams, the absconding bookkeeper of Buntin, Reid & Co. Mr. Charles Miller, barrister, of Toronto, examined Mr. Williams as to his dealings with the defunct Central Bank. Mr. C. J. Holman (of Pattullo & Holman) and Mr. W. H. Wallbridge examined Williams as to his private affairs. Mr. Walker, barrister, of Hamilton, was also in attendance.

Still Fighting For Buchanan's Life.

Sing Sing, N.Y., May 17.—Warden Sage of Sing Sing Prison was last evening served with papers to show cause in Albany next Monday, before the Court of Appeals, why he should not produce Dr. R. W. Buchanan before that court for re-sentence to death in the electric chair. It is held that it is the only court that now has jurisdiction over the case. Similar papers were also served on Dr. Buchanan.

Toronto Markets.

Toronto, May 17.—Flour—Firm; moderate demand. Straight rollers sold at $4 to $4.05.

Bran—The demand is inactive, with small lots selling here at $15 and car loads quoted at $13, west. Shorts, in car lots, $17, Toronto freights.

Wheat—The feeling is firmer, owing to the strength and higher prices of outside markets. Sales of white and red winter are reported at 87c to 88c, outside, at point of shipment. Manitoba No. 1 hard is also higher, selling at 90c to 91c, west, and at 93c, Montreal freight. At Fort William the price is now 85c.

Barley—There is a good demand, but some offering. Prices are firm at 45c to 47c for feed.

Oats—The demand is fair and prices steady. White sold at 35 1-2c to 36c, outside.

Peas—The demand is better and prices firmer, sales being made outside at 60c to 61c.

Rye—Business dull and prices nominal at 58c to 60c.

Buckwheat—The nominal price is 41c.

The Brantford Courier, Conservative, says the cold snap is a "direct result of Sir Richard Cartwright's chilling speech on the Budget." No doubt it was a "cold day" for Mr. Foster when Sir Richard made his budget remarks.

The Dominion Senate absorbs the value of the product of 8,000 acres sown to wheat, and also absorbs all the foul odours arising from divorce proceedings. Of what use is the Senate anyway? It is said to be a check on hasty legislation. So is a ball and chain attached to a man's leg a check on hasty locomotion.

WEDNESDAY'S issue of that live journal, the Buffalo Express, contains a list of lands for sale for taxes, covering twenty-two full pages in close set type. A generation of high tariff, while it has helped a few to amass fabulous fortunes, seems to have pretty thoroughly peeled the scales off the small fry in the good city of Buffalo which may be regarded as a type of the enterprising and prosperous cities of the United States.

The Toronto News declaims against the useless waste of time on the Budget debate. The Budget debate is a very important matter, and apart from the expense involved in prolonging the session, is time very well spent. Finance is a multi-sided matter, and the oratorical auditors who size up the situation during debate let in a good deal of light where light is needed. A financial statement that will not stand exhaustive examination suggests the importance of such an investigation.

New South Wales, after a disastrous experience of the effects of protection, has determined to return to free trade and even direct taxation. People do not like to pay out hard cash for taxes, but it is, says the Montreal Witness, by far the most economical method of taxation. A taxpayer knows exactly how much he parts with, and knows that all he parts with goes to the public treasury, and not two-thirds of it to the combines and monopolist manufacturers. If the taxpayers had to pay out twenty or thirty millions in direct taxes, they would feel it and would not be at all inclined to laugh at the jokes made during the Budget debate.

WHAT a mine for corruption lands the proposed grant of two and a half millions to the Hudson Bay Railway will be! Sir Adolphe Caron had better stake out a claim at once. The proposed grant is based on an estimated cost of $10,000 per mile. The C.P.R. Company says it can be built for $7,000 per mile; or three thousand dollars less than the Government's generosity concedes. This $3,000 dollars difference will afford, on the whole contract, a margin of three quarters of a million for the contractor's benefit, and wont the contractor, whoever he may be, be milked exhaustively for the benefit of the ministerial campaign fund?

Mr. Emanuel St. Louis has been acquitted of the charge of stealing $150,000 of Her Majesty's money in respect of the Lachine bridges. Now it is Hon. Mr. Haggart's turn, and he should be arraigned to make to answer for the waste of $150,000 on a work conducted under the superintendence of his department. Judge Desnoyers, who tried St. Louis, declares that gross frauds were practiced on the government, and implies that the government is to blame for the extravagance, which wasted money in so careless a manner. No doubt Hon. Mr. Haggart was trying to carry out the spirit of the Hon. Mr. Foster's promises of rigid economy.

Thirty-One Hits and Eleven Errors.

Toronto, May 17. — The Wilkes-Barre aggregation made its first appearance over the Don yesterday, and was beaten in an agricultural game by the Torontos. It was a contest of much slugging and very many errors. Pitcher Gray held the fort for Toronto until the sixth, when the visitors batted out one single, a double and a home run, with only one out. McGarry came in and was very wild, but he succeeded in retiring the side without scoring. Crane finished the game out, and only two more runs were added.

The game was interesting to the 800 spectators on account of its see-saw nature. In the fifth the score was 7 all. In the sixth Toronto was ahead 11 to 10. In the seventh Wilkes-Barre had the call 12 to 11. Toronto took a lead in the eighth, and in the ninth clinched the game by good clean hitting. Score:

THE DEAL CALLED OFF

Newfoundland Cannot Accept Canada's Terms

THE RAILWAY THE MAIN DIFFICULTY

Acceptance of Canada's Offer Would Leave the Colony With $7,000,000 Debt and An Annual Deficit To Be Met By Direct Taxation.

Ottawa, May 17.—The long-expected papers in reference to the Newfoundland negotiations were presented to Parliaments last night. They contain simply the protocols of the Ottawa conference, the despatches in which the Imperial Government is interested not appearing in them. At the recent conference it appears that each side asked for a number of statements bearing on the trade, commerce and financial conditions of both countries.

Then, after a few days, Mr. Bond, on behalf of Newfoundland, filed the following basis of union:

1. A subsidy at the rate of 80 cents per head.

2. Bounties to fishermen, $150,000. This, they say, would be largely increased subsequently, as the number of boats increased.

3. Canada to assume the debt of the colony in proportion to the debt of the Dominion, and if it was less than the proportion Canada to give Newfoundland 5 per cent. on the excess. The funded debt of the colony is stated to be $9,116,000 and the floating debt $675,000. The total debt is put down as $15,829,000. The Newfoundland delegates claimed that there was an excess of $4,078,000, which at 5 per cent. would yield an annual amount of $203,873.

4. Give the amounts to be paid by the Dominion for the various provincial services, including $12,000 for the Lieut.-Governor, the total being $862,858.

5. The Dominion to pay for a battery of artillery to be raised for Newfoundland.

6. The Dominion to build the railway and other large public works, leaving nothing to be provided for by the Colony except roads, bridges and education.

7. The Dominion to pay $150,000 annually for Crown lands. A contention was put in that $100,000 extra should be given on account of timber and minerals of Crown lands of Labrador, which are not surveyed.

8. The Dominion to efficiently protect the fisheries and arrange for the stocking of the lakes and rivers. A statement was put in of the quantity of herring exported to the United States between 1802 and 1895. It is contended that this should be borne in mind in considering the question of fishery bounties and the loss to the colony from foregoing the advantages of the Bond-Blaine convention.

9. Provides for the steamship subsidies, about which there seems to have been no subsequent difference.

10. Exempts the fishermen from the payment of a license fee or for the use of cod traps.

11. At the present time there are a number of local industries established by protection. These industries, after Confederation, would be considerably hampered, if not entirely closed, and it was submitted that in consequence compensation in the way of aid for a limited period should be allowed.

12. The establishment of a naval brigade in the colony, which will take the form of a naval training ship.

13. Precious metals to be reserved to the colony.

14. Allowance for legislation $50,000; a statement of the services to be borne by the colony was put in, totalling $835,794.

Canada's alternative proposition, submitted a few days later, was as follows:

1. Canada will assume of the present debt of Newfoundland $8,350,000; Canada will assume an excess of debt over the foregoing amounting to $2,000,000; total $10,350,000. This is equal to $50 per head of a population of 207,000. On excess of $2,000,000 Canada will pay interest at five per cent. per annum half-yearly.

2. Canada will pay yearly allowance to Newfoundland in the following sums: Allowance for legislation $50,000; subsidy of 80 cents per head of population up to $400,000, which at the present population of 207,000 equals $165,600, payments to be made on the population of each decennial census after union. Allowance for Crown Lands and rights of minerals and metals and timber thereof and thereon $150,000. Interest at five per cent. on $2,000,000 excess debt, $100,000. Total $465,600.

3. Canada will maintain all that class of services in Newfoundland which fall under the head of general or Dominion services. These comprise the Governor's salary, customs, excise, savings banks, public works of a Dominion character, Crown lands, administration of justice, postoffice, steamship services, marine and lighthouses, fisheries, penitentiaries, weights and measures and gas inspection, arts, agriculture and statistics, quarantine and insurance inspection and geological survey.

4. Canada is to maintain in regard to steamship service, passenger and mail communication in at least a sufficient manner as at present, as follows: Between the mainland and Newfoundland, between Newfoundland and Great Britain, the coastal steam services east and west, and between Labrador and Newfoundland.

5. In lieu of expenditure on militia in Newfoundland, until such time as parliament may deem necessary a more general militia system, Canada will grant $40,000 annually towards the maintenance of a police constabulary, to consist of men, and to be, as to efficiency, equipment and discipline, up to the standards approved by the Minister of Militia. This force is to be at the disposal of the Dominion Government for use anywhere in Canada in cases of general and serious emergency.

6. The fishermen of Newfoundland are to participate equally with those of Canada in any bounties to fishermen which may be granted by the Federal Government at any time.

7. Canada will take at fair valuation the steamer Feoria, now in use by the Government of Newfoundland for fishery service.

8. Newfoundland shall be represented in the Senate by four Senators, and in the House of Commons by 10 representatives.

The following, dated May 1, from Mr. Whiteway to Sir Mackenzie Bowell, is given: "In the absence of your assuming the public debt and completion of the railway to Port Aux Basques, also providing $650,000 expenses for local government, it is impossible to accept the terms of union. Can you not manage to arrange for this? If you do not concur I must introduce an alternative policy when the House opens, consequently beg your early reply."

To this the Premier sent the following reply, dated May 4: "Impossible to accede to your proposition. If a favorable answer is received from the Imperial Government we will make a definite proposal as to the annual subsidy."

The correspondence closes with following cables from Sir Mackenzie Bowell to Premier Whiteway, dated May 10:

Lord Ripon's despatch, May 9, to Lord Aberdeen, forwarded to the Governor of Newfoundland, will inform you of the position taken by the British Government. If Newfoundland adopts Lord Ripon's proposition, it may be modified by aid from the Home Government. If not Canada can only supplement the proposal made to your delegates by agreeing, in addition to aid in construction of the Newfoundland Railway from River Exploits to Port Aux Barques, by a subsidy of $6000 per mile, and to add $35,000 additional to yearly allowance.

CANADA'S TERMS UNACCEPTABLE.

The Delegates Report Adversely on the Offer Made.

St. John's, Nfld., May 16.—The idea of the confederation of Newfoundland with the Dominion of Canada was abandoned to-day. In the Legislature the Whiteway Government almost unanimously opposed the proposal.

Mr. Morris, one of the delegates to Ottawa, reported to the Legislature the proceedings of the conference between the Canadian authorities and the Newfoundland delegates. Canada's terms included the assumption of $10,000,000 of Newfoundland's debt, leaving $5,000,000 to be assumed by the colony. The Dominion proposed to grant 80 cents per capita for the local administration, $50,000 for Legislation, $150,000 for the Crown Lands and $40,000 for police in lieu of the formation of a militia body, a total of $505,000. This was exclusive of the services to be taken over and maintained by the Dominion Government. These services now demand an expenditure of $900,000, so that it conceded Newfoundland the equivalent of $1,405,000.

The main objection to these proposals was that they left Newfoundland in debt nearly $7,000,000, on which sum interest would have to be paid annually.

Newfoundland demanded a bounty to fishermen, a subsidy of $1,500,000, of which $203,000 represented the interest on the difference between her debt in 1888, when Canada urged Newfoundland to accept union, and before Newfoundland undertook to build the railway, which Canada was willing to finish after union was consummated. Newfoundland also demanded an additional $100,000 for the Crown Lands in Labrador, and for the fisheries of the Maritime Provinces, an efficient weekly mail and passenger service with Halifax, bounties to local industries and the establishment of a naval brigade. She reserved for herself all the precious metals in the colony.

The acceptance of Canada's proposal would have left a total annual beficit of $520,000, which would be required to be made up by direct taxation in Newfoundland, besides another $150,000 yearly after five years, when the colony would be obliged to operate the railway itself.

Canada negotiated with the British Government, hoping to secure assistance therefrom to help to complete the railway. These negotiations failed, and Canada then made her last offer of $6000 per mile to complete the railway, Newfoundland to assume the remaining $9000 per mile. This was beyond Newfoundland's means, and the negotiations were broken off.

The Government now proposes a policy of retrenchment, and hopes to carry the colony through its troubles, but this is generally believed to be impossible, owing to the difficulty of obtaining a loan because of the bad condition of the public affairs.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

B. B. B.

Purifies, renovates and regulates the entire system, thus curing dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, biliousness, rheumatism, dropsy and all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels. It also removes all impurities from the system from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitaliser saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 399 George street.

THE C. P. R. TAKES OVER THE T. H. & B.

The New York Central and Michigan Central Roads Are To Have Entrance To Toronto.

New York, May 16.—A railway deal, which concerns Canada has just been put through here. At a meeting held in the office of Mr. Chauncey M. Depew, President of the New York Central, and attended by Mr. Depew and other leading officials of that road; Mr. Ledyard, President of the Michigan Central; Sir William Van Horne, President of the Canadian Pacific, and Mr. J. M. Beckley, President of the Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, an agreement regarding the latter line was reached.

The line is to be completed at once, and the three big railroads named will control it in their own interest and give it every advantage as to traffic arrangements. It is understood that the Canadian Pacific will control that part of the new road between Toronto and Hamilton. Mr. Beckley has gone west to Hamilton and then the public confirmation of the deal is expected.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

A Very Sudden Death.

On Tuesday evening about about 8 o'clock, Mr. Jas. W. MacFadden, a resident of Lindsay, died very suddenly at his residence, 76 Peel street, of heart failure. The deceased, who was 57 years of age, resided in Peterborough many years ago, and after moving to Lindsay held the position of county constable for a long time. He had the reputation of having been a very powerful man in his younger days, and his large frame and massive shoulders bore out the statement. For the past few years his health has been very poor, and he was seen but seldom on the streets. The funeral took place this morning at 11.30 to the G. T. R. station, Lindsay, and interment took place at the Little Lake cemetery.

ANNUAL CONVENTION W.B.H. AND F.M.S.

Delegates Present From All Ontario.

THEY GATHER IN THE MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

The Closing Sessions Held Yesterday—Most Interesting Report From Miss Buchan, Corresponding Secretary—The Evening Meeting.

At the conclusion of the devotional exercises yesterday afternoon, Mrs. (Dr.) Tracey, of Belleville, read a paper on "The Three Calls," which proved intensely interesting and fraught with home truths the strength of which were fully appreciated by those in attendance.

The first call—"He calleth thee," she said, was a direct personal appeal to each one of His children. The second call—"We declare unto you glad tidings of great joy. For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believed on Him should not perish but have everlasting life," she said was the servant's call, and was an outcome of the responsibility assumed in responding to the first call. The third call—"Come over and help us," was the call of the perishing, that sounds to us from those who are seeking the light and peace, and are groping in the blackness of despair. "Who will show us any good?" they were saying.

The first call was an invitation to be His guests and to be separated and live from the world and its aims, desires and expectations. One must be in the world, but it is not necessary to be of it. Finally God says: Come ye out from among them and be separated.

The admonition to Timothy is still true to-day, that all that will live godly in Christ Jesus, or in other words, be saints, shall suffer persecution. It is but reasonable that they should be, for "is the servant greater than his master?" In this first call we have been called into liberty and are not to be bound by worldly usages and methods or the service that encumbereth.

The second call, the servants', was the work of sounding the invitation of "the Spirit and the bride say come." This call is now to do and to work that when all are gathered in, the Lord will the bride, which is the Church, that is now being gathered out of every kindred and nation and tongue. So shall we be ever with the Lord.

"Owe no man anything," was a command and all were debtors to their fellows until they had told them the glad message of the Gospel. Paul said in his day, "I am a debtor to the Greeks and barbarians." Mrs. Tracy showed that as Paul was a debtor to the heathen in a much greater sense were the Christians of to-day, who enjoyed many greater blessings than did Paul, also debtors to their brethren in darkness. This debt was only to be discharged by carrying the gospel to them and with it peace and love. Again, Paul says, "Yea, woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel." And this noble, consecrated servant, after acknowledging his responsibility says: "I am ready." She asked her hearers were they also ready to sacrifice self and wordly interests for the gospel. The fields of work were opening up faster than the workers were ready to go in.

GEOGRAPHICAL AND POLITICAL

obstacles were vanishing in answer to prayers that God would open up heathen lands to the missionaries. Even war had opened up heathen lands to the missionaries, immense fields and possibilities of the spread of the gospel in the east, and the peace just concluded between China and Japan had immensely enlarged these opportunities.

The third call was sounding urgently to us from across the seas. Returned missionaries tell us that the question always greets them, "Why, if you have known this great news so long, have you not come sooner to tell us?"

Mrs. Tracey here quoted figures showing the great disparity in the number of workers at home and on the foreign field, which were very much out of proportion. There were 9,000 missionaries on the foreign field, but there were 130,000 ordained ministers at home, although the population to be reached by the missionaries was many times larger than at home.

She urged her sisters of the society to seek more earnestly to learn the Lord's will in regard to this work, and she reminded him of David's words: "The Lord gave the Word, and the women that publish it are a great host," and it may be that the Lord is giving us that will not be for those who are content to stay at home without ever heeding the great commission to preach the Gospel to the whole world. In her closing remarks she quoted the words of the late Dr. Gordon: "There can be no work comparable with that of making known the Gospel to the unsaved millions for whom Christ died." She directed a special appeal to all young Christian workers on behalf of the Telugus, among whom Baptist work has in recent years been so largely and successfully carried.

"Greetings from Sister Societies" was the next number on the programme. Mrs. C. T. Stark, of Toronto, spoke for the McCall Mission; Miss Halcut for the eastern convention; Mrs. James Kendry, of Peterborough, for the Methodist Mission; Miss Dickson, of St. Paul's church, for the Presbyterian Mission, and Miss Moyle, of Toronto, for the Congregational Mission. A letter containing warm greetings from the Charlotte street church was read by Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter.

Miss Buchan then submitted the RECORDING SECRETARY'S REPORT

as follows:

In presenting the report which represents only six months' work, we desire very gratefully to acknowledge the continued blessing of our Heavenly Father. A blessing which is apparent not only in the increased success which has attended the labours of our missionaries in India, but also the increased offerings of the women and children of our circles and bands, whereby there has been meat in God's house; and although the board has not seen its way clear to take any advance step in the work this year, still we have been able to send regularly out of our abundance, to give the "Bread of Life" to the "hungry, starving and poor" women and children of India.

CIRCLES AND BANDS.

The change in the date of the convention has necessarily caused a little confusion in the returns from the associations, some circles having reported for a year, while others have reported for the six months since the last convention. If in the future the associations, circles and bands will close their year on the 31st of March, all discrepancies will be avoided. The Treas-

Scrofula in the Neck—Bunches All Gone Now.

Sangerville, Maine.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

"Evil thoughts and how to overcome them" is the topic at to-morrow night's song service.

The Sunday afternoon meeting will consist of a rousing sing, a straight talk by T. S. Cole, travelling secretary and music by the Fire Brigade Band." Men are invited.

Owing to the number of ladies, who were unavoidably absent from yesterday's meeting of the Auxiliary, another meeting will be held Thursday next at the same hour.

A Queen's Birthday excursion is next on "the carpet." The Lindsay Y.M.C.A. run their second annual excursion on that day to Haliburton. They have so arranged the excursion that those wishing to go from Peterborough can leave on the 8.35 G.T.R. local and connect with the excursion train at Lindsay, returning home at 8.55 p.m. During the five hours' stay at Haliburton special attractions are promised to make the time interesting. The fare from Peterborough is $1.20 and no doubt many will avail themselves of this opportunity to spend a pleasant holiday.

AT

HALL, GILCHRIST & CO'S.

Great Realization Sale.

We have always made it a rule to carry no Mantles over to another season and in order to clear out the balance of this season's goods, we have cut the price in two, and every garment will be sold at exactly half the price it is marked.

We prefer to make this heavy loss rather than carry the goods over, and we expect a great rush for these bargains. Everyone knows that we have had the cheapest—most stylish garments in town—and when we announce that we are going to offer them at half price, it will no doubt attract a greater crowd.

12 Capes, original price $7.00, sale price $3.50.
10 Capes and Jackets, original price $6.00, sale price $3.00.
5 Capes and Jackets, original price $9.00, sale price $4 50.
3 Capes and Jackets, original price $10.00, sale price $5.00.
4 Capes and Jackets, original price $11.00, sale price $5 50.
6 Capes and Jackets, original price $12.00, sale price $6.00.
5 Capes and Jackets, original price $14.00, sale price $7.00.
2 Capes, original price $15.00, sale price $10.00.
1 Cape, original price $20.00, sale price $15.00.
2 Capes, original price $25.00, sale price $18.00.
1 Cape, original price $30.00, sale price $23 00.

These goods are all new this spring and the prices we sold them at early in the season was low as any wholesale house's price, hence the very great reduction made gives everyone a special chance to get a lovely garment for little money.

ANNUAL CONVENTION W. B. H. AND F. M. S.

urer's receipts from October 10th, 1894, to April 30th, 1895, show an advance over the same dates last year both in the number of circles reported and the amounts received.

INDIA.

Miss McLeod—After a fairly comfortable and safe voyage, Miss McLeod in company with Miss Hatch, arrived in Cocanada on the 25th of December, 1894.

On the last day of the old year she "began the struggle with the Telugu language." Each day for about six hours the struggle is kept up. Miss McLeod attributes what progress she has made to the prayers of God's people.

COCANADA.

Cocanada Girls' School.—The delay, because of scarcity of funds at home, in putting up the longed for and much needed new school buildings has been a great disappointment to Miss Baskerville, who finds it impossible to carry on the work as efficiently as she could if she had proper accommodation. Still she reports, "With good health on the part of the missionary and good behaviour on the part of the girls the work was more of a joy than ever before."

She writes: "Two Sunday schools under my care have been carried on, and of late have both increased in numbers. We began a temperance society among the girls, in which they pledge themselves not to use tobacco, liquor nor opium. We trust to draw in others and accomplish some good among the little ones at least. One little boy took home the pledge card to sign, but the elders in the family dissuaded him, lest he might need at some time to use some of the prohibited articles medicinally."

Miss Baskerville is assisted by four teachers.

ZENANA WORK IN COCANDA.

Miss Simpson reports: "The work among the women and children of Cocanada grows more and more hopeful as the months go by.

"Five Sunday schools have been carried on in connection with the work.

"A few still come for medicine, and 538 patients were treated during the six months.

Miss Simpson has three assistants, two Bible women, 4 teachers.

Mrs. De Beaux writes: "The name of Jesus is coming to be known in all this town as the Saviour we are teaching the people."

Miss Gibson reports many women having heard the message for the first time. Her visits have been made weekly, fortnightly or monthly, according to the desire of the women to hear. While many who profess to have given up idol worship are widows, a most encouraging feature of the work is that a few married women who have been taught that the life and well-being of their husbands depend on their attention to poojas and ceremonies, have also seen the sin and follies of these, and have given them up. She speaks of the influence the Caste Girls' school has had in opening the Zenanas to the workers, and tells how the restoration to health, through Miss Simpson's efforts, of one of these girls, has been the means of breaking down caste and deepening the interest and faith of the women of the house. They often ask about prayer; and the mother of the girl says she cannot help but think often of Jesus Christ who restored her child.

The women are becoming ashamed of idol worship. "The seed has been sown in many hearts; superstition and idolatry, the result of ignorance, has given way and the knowledge that gives true light is reaching many through the feeble efforts of our Zenana visitors."

Miss Beggs reports: "Much to be grateful for—sad days and glad days—sorrows and joy—mercies and trials, not room enough for all the mercies, but very little space occupied by the trials."

AKIDU.

Miss Stovel—The boat, "Glad Tidings," has been a great boon to Miss Stovel in her work. The name is suggestive and often opens the way for little talks with people on the banks. The women and children in many villages have already learned to know it as our "Miss Amma's Boat."

TUNI.

Miss Rogers, 4 Bible women—Weekly meetings for the Christian women and the school girls have been conducted with pleasure and the Sunday School in the compound looked after. Miss McLaurin came to us in November; both she and Miss Priest are an inspiration and a comfort.

For more than a year there has been no man missionary on the Tuni field. Mr. Walker has visited it monthly.

Miss Rogers spent the two last hot seasons on the plains, and worked very hard, so that when taken with a very severe attack of fever she had little reserve strength to meet it and her recall to Canada is imperative.

Miss Hatch—4 Bible-women.—Mr. McLeod writes, "We welcome Miss Hatch to this large and needy field with great joy. We believe that the Lord has led her here, and we confidently expect his continued guidance and blessing."

Miss Hatch writes, "I feel very thankful for having gone home when I did, as the ranks are being so thinned, and I feel so glad to have health and strength given me so that I can the better fill the breach."

"Some two or three Bible-women have been working from time to time and the village schools have been kept up by your Society, and many of the Christian girls have been educated in the Cocanada boarding school. Otherwise this work is to you a new work. Some of us also have made a few tours on this field, but none of us have had it as our special work, so I pray you to take it anew upon your heart and minds, and may it become as dear to you as Cocanada, Samalcotta, Tuni or Akidu. New privileges mean now responsibilities, new cares, and to you the new privilege of speaking through your representative to more thousands of women in these scores of villages that lie on every hand will mean the care of providing means of locomotion to these different places, and more Bible-women are required and houses for them to dwell in, but of these I must let you know later, after an opportunity of again meeting with Conference. In the meantime, your missionary has been touring in the 'Canadian.'

There are 20 villages within three miles or so of this station, and as the canals close this month, I hope to spend my time getting better acquainted with them. A ten-minutes' walk through the trees to the south of us brings us to a village, composed mostly of Koumin people. Mr. McLeod has already won the confidence of the people by performing a rather remarkable cure upon the wife of the head man of the village, and now I go back and forth to them frequently, and they often come to see me.

Two of the preachers have generally accompanied us on our tours and have been very helpful, as they have gone off to talk to the men while we talked to the women, but in many cases we have had meetings together. In many and many a village I have seen the women disappearing in some bye-way or into their homes, as I approached them, but on my workers calling out to them that I was a woman, not a man, they have come out fearlessly, explaining hastily that they did not know any better, that they thought I was a man. Evidently they were more afraid of a white man than a black, for at these times the native preachers have sometimes been with us. This will illustrate the need of lady-workers.

Mr. Brown reports for Vuyyuru:—

"The two Bible-women have done faithful work. The fruit of their labours has been very apparent, for a large number have been baptised in the region in which they work—thirty-five in all. These converts are very largely the fruit of their earnest effort. Besides those already baptised a large number are near the kingdom, and several are asking for baptism.

RAMACHANDRAPURAM.

Mr. McLeod writes:—

"We have only three Bible-women on this field, Sarah, Marthama and Annama; Sarah and Marthama give all their time during the year to Gospel work. Annama was laid aside by sickness for four months. She is regaining her health again, but it is not yet strong enough to travel round and visit the villages, she therefore teaches a school in the village in which she lives. Their monthly reports show 895 visits to different villages during the year. Their work has been largely among the Christians, because that seemed to be the most pressing need for the time being. They have no conversions to report, but their work has been faithfully done, and will show result in conversions in the near future, through the increased efficiency of the Christians taught and strengthened by them."

SAMALCOTTA SEMINARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are in charge of the Seminary during Mr. Stillwell's absence. Mr. Davis speaks feelingly of the warm spiritual life manifested by the students in their prayer meeting, and of their general good conduct throughout the term. He tells of their efforts to assist the widow and children of one of their number, who was left unprovided for, and writes: "I cannot express my gratitude for this act of benevolence on the part of the students. It shows that they can be changed from beggars into givers, and from dependents into men and women of thrift and independence."

Our great defect in church work is a lack of men who are fit to be pastors. May the Lord raise up shepherds to care for the straying sheep.

VILLAGE SCHOOLS.

Mr. Davis reports 4 village schools on the Cocanada field, with 56 pupils; also an evening class attended by young men, which is taught by K. Lydia. He says: "The Bible, or portions of the Bible, is taught in all of these schools, and the children can all sing some of the Gospel hymns.

VUYYURU.

Mr. Brown reports 13 schools, with 165 pupils on this field, including the Station, Boarding and day school; nearly all of them are in a highly satisfactory condition. A number of the scholars have recently been baptised; one recent convert, a young man, is diligently learning to read. On this field, also, grown-up men are attending night school.

RAMACHANDRAPURAM.

Mr. McLeod reports 14 schools on this field, and says: "The number of pupils in attendance varies from month to month, no two months giving the same average. Keeping three villages which are Christian centres. Christians as a general thing send their children regularly. From these village schools we have selected twenty-four boys for our boarding school at the station.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

Mr. Davis writes, "I regard this branch of the work as second only to oral preaching." Much of this work is done by the colporteur, who sings and preaches the Gospel as he travels from village to village with his satchel of books. On one or two of the fields there has been difficulty in getting the right man for this work. The reports received from Messrs. Davis, Brown and McLeod tell of many thousands of handbills, tracts and Messengers of Truth that have been distributed, as well as the Bibles, New Testaments, Bible portions, books and hymn-books which have been sold in great numbers.

This work has been also carried on at every station.

On motion it was adopted.

Miss Clemesha, of Port Hope, reported great advancement in the work of the Prayer Union, and gave some interesting data in connection with its progress.

Resolutions of thanks were passed by standing votes to the ladies of Peterborough for their hospitality, and to the choir for its willing service so kindly rendered. Resolutions of condolence for their recent bereavement were also passed with the family of the late T. S. Shenston and with Mrs. Barrow.

THE EVENING SESSION

was opened with the singing of

"Forward be our watchword," after which Rev. Mr. McDonald, of Lakefield, read a portion of the Scriptures and offered prayer.

An address on "Medical Missions," by Miss Pearl Smith, of Toronto, proved very instructive. India, she stated, though not a very large country, was populated very densely, being inhabited by one-sixth of the residents of the globe. In consequence of this overcrowding disease was always prevalent. Under the English rule the wretched sanitary arrangements of the country had been somewhat improved, but still the streets in all the cities fairly reeked with filth. Another cause of disease was the climate. For nine months in the year the sun poured down its hottest rays in India, making the atmosphere most oppressive. During the remaining three months it rained constantly and the prevailing dampness was a great producer of malaria and kindred diseases.

Even in healthy Canada there were hospitals throughout the length and breadth of the land to cope with disease. What then would be the condition of overcrowded, fever infested India, where little or no measures can be taken to prevent the infection spreading?

In India the natives have no knowledge of drugs and handle with carelessness those of the most poisonous nature. Charms are greatly depended upon to work cures and in cases of fracture the treatment as the limb is generally bandaged in wet mud and frequently decomposes.

Universities have recently been erected in this great empire, Lady Dufferin, herself, founding a school for girls at Lahore, which already was occupied by over 200 girls. One of the reasons why medical missionaries were so much needed in India was that a doctor can always gain confidence and can go into homes where none else can enter. Even at home, it is noticeable how a doctor has the confidence and trust of his patients, and how much more so would this be the case in India where the cures are regarded almost as miracles. If a doctor is a Christian either at home or abroad, he has wonderful opportunities of sowing the seed. The Queen would never think of sending an army into the field without surgeons; how much more need then has the great army of Christ for the assistance of medical advisers. A man cannot do good work unless he is strong and healthy, and great care should be taken of the missionaries already in the field by means of scattering as many medical missionaries among them as possible.

There are many towns in India, continued the speaker, where it has been impossible for a missionary to obtain a foothold until disease had opened the doors. When affliction entered a household the medical missionary was almost always summoned, and once entrance was gained, access was forever open to the Christian messenger.

Medical women were the most needed as the women of India were more easily reached through women. In many of the castes a man was not permitted to gaze upon the face of a woman.

In conclusion, Miss Smith drew attention to the fact that Jesus Christ was a medical missionary, and went about healing the bodies of those who afterwards gave their hearts to him.

An octette composed of the boys and girls in the choir then sang in a manner which reflected great credit on their ability and upon their training.

"Here am I, take me."

In the absence of Rev. H. F. Laflamme, returned missionary from the Telugus,

Mrs. Garside of Toronto, who, with her husband, was also a missionary to the same tribe in India, gave an address on the work in a manner so attractive as to make an hour slip away very quickly indeed.

Mrs. Garside's address was given upon the subject of "Some of the Women of India," and was illustrated through the medium of a number of young ladies attired in the national costume of the Telugus. The work in the schools for girls, which are established at every mission, was first taken up by the speaker, and the trials and difficulties which beset the path of the missionary, fully explained. The robe worn by the girls is a simple white tunic, woven at home, and a small brass cup which they carry with them serves the purpose of a dish for eating, a wash bowl and several other things. For a towel the girls at the mission use the lower portion of their tunic, as they do in their homes, as Mrs. Garside explained, that it would be not only useless but harmful to educate them above their station. If they were taught to use towels at the Mission they would perhaps be dissatisfied with their condition after leaving, as no Indian women could afford such a luxury as a towel. It was a case of hand to mouth livelihood with the majority, as the day's work brought only the day's food, not the next day's.

The costumes of the bride and bridesmaid of India was then shown, accompanied by a humourous little narrative of the first wedding which was celebrated at the mission school of which Mrs. Garside was in charge.

The children under the care of the native missionaries are first taught to write in the sand, and after six months tuition in this manner, if they are sufficiently advanced, are given first books.

The sad case of the widows of India was particularly dwelt upon by Mrs. Garside. These unfortunate beings, who formerly threw themselves to die upon the funeral fires of their husbands, are now compelled to live by order of the British Government. They were only given one meal a day, were compelled to do the drudgery of the household, had their heads shaven and were shamefully shunned and neglected by all.

The speaker closed with a strong appeal for prayers for poor benighted India.

The session was brought to a close by a few remarks from Rev. J. E. Trotter, the popular pastor of the Murray street church, who expressed the great pleasure it had given him to be privileged in hearing the various discussions which had taken place at the different meetings. Mr. Trotter then offered prayer, after which the convention formally adjourned.

To-day the Home and Foreign Mission Boards are holding meetings in the church and the delegates will probably all leave for home this evening.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

A Harvey Farmer Goes to Law—Judgment for the Plaintiff.

(Lindsay Post.)

A sitting of the High Court (non-jury) opened in Lindsay Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Justice Rose presiding. There were only three cases on the docket, but one of them was of considerable importance. Messrs. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., and W. A. Stratton, Peterborough, and Wallace Nesbitte, Q.C., Toronto, represented the visiting counsel. Following is a resume of the leading case, which will be of interest to the residents of the county.

THEXTON VS. PEARSON AND HALL.—In this case the facts were that the plaintiff, in the year 1891, purchased from W. J. Trennum, lot 19, con. 11, of the township of Harvey. Sometime before the lot had been sold for taxes to the defendant, W. J. Hall, and Trennum was required to redeem and did redeem by paying the redemption money to Hall and taking an assignment of the tax certificate to Thexton. Subsequently when the year was up the county treasurer of Peterborough by mistake issued a deed of the lot to Hall, which Hall registered. In October last W. J. Hall, having forgotten that the lot had been redeemed, conveyed the same to Pearson for $30, and Pearson commenced to cut timber on it. On hearing of this the plaintiff commenced this action and got an injunction restraining Pearson from cutting any timber. Judgment was given for the plaintiff, granting a perpetual injunction restraining Person from cutting on the lot, and setting aside as void the tax deed issued by mistake and the deed from Hall to Pearson. Costs of plaintiff to be paid by defendant, Pearson; no costs for or against defendant, Hall. R. A. McLaughlin and F. A. McDiarmid for plaintiff; Poussette, Q.C., Peterborough, for defendant Pearson; Wallace Nesbitt, Q.C., Toronto, and W. H. Stratton, Peterborough, for defendant Hall.

HOW TO WALK.

The Proper Length of a Step Twice the Length o the Foot.

A Delsarte teacher, who is peculiar in knowing something of Delsarte's system of expression, says that women can improve their walk without a teacher, though they can't learn about walking from print. The proper length of the step is twice the length of one foot, and it is measured from the hollow of one foot to the hollow of the other. Now take a piece of tape, and sew on it bits of flannel at intervals twice the length of one of your feet, stretch it across the longest room you have at your disposal and you are ready for practice. Maybe you don't know that each foot should cross the same line with each successive step? It should—that is very important. so now you must walk your tape and set one foot and then the other right over one of those bits of flannel, letting the flannel come just under the instep. Do this and turn your toes out well, and swing your leg from the thigh, and you are far on the road to a beautiful walk.

Current Literature.

The newspaper, people say, and the magazine are coming to monopolize the attention of reading men and women, dissipating their minds, frittering away their care for books and all-sustained intellectual effort, bringing on gradually a sort of softening of the general brain, which makes the serious book a bogey and impossible thing. Our busy, feverish, overstrained generation, they say, is sliding from the book to the magazine and review, from the review to the review of reviews, to the newspaper, to the headlines in the newspaper, where the popular pressure already centres. The evils of the newspaper and of much of our newspaper readings are undeniable and very great—have we not preached much about them, and are we not ready to preach much more? If we think well of the magazine—our own and some others—as in all decency and honor we are bound to do, we should be the loudest to lament if we believed that it were burying the book. But we do not believe it. While men a hundred times had better be reading books when they are reading newspapers and magazine, while a hundred times, in reading these, they are wasting time, and worse, and had better be whittling, we believe that a hundred times as often they are getting good, giving hours to real education—not the best but still real education—which the man of their rank and in their place a hundred years ago would have given to whittling and not to books; and we believe, which is the main point here, that the newspaper and magazine, with all they have to answer for, lead their readers to books ten times as often as they draw them away from them. So far from being the library's enemy or rival, they are the library's best and veriest drummer, floating "Trilby" and "Mercella" into universal currency, sending Porter to the library for the translation of Viollet le Duc reviewed to-day, Myron for the new edition of Coke on Littleton, a dozen juniors in the college for the new life of Gladstone, and a dozen workmen from the Central Union, for "Work and Wages."—New England Magazine.

His Three Reasons.

"Take something to drink?" said his friend.

"No, thank you."

"No! Why not?"

"In the first place," said the party in question, "because I am secretary to a temperance society that is to meet today, and I must be consistent; in the second place, this is the anniversary o my father's death, and out of respect to his memory I have promised never to drink on this day, and in the third place I have just taken something."

Business.

The Friend—And how is it you don't get married?

His Ludship—Me deah fellah, you would be most confoundedly surpwised if you were to heah of the dis'ngingly low offers I've had. Not me! I'm waiting till these blawsted times blow ovah.

MISTRESS OF THE ROBES.

The Dowager Duchess of Buccleuch's Connection With an Important Affair of State.

An English paper says: It is seldom indeed that two of our limited number of duchesses are carried away in a few days, as has occurred with their Graces of Leinster and Buccleuch. Very different was their position in every other respect than rank; for the one had reached a patriarchal age, and was surrounded by almost as many descendants, to the third generation, as the Queen herself; while the other's sun has gone down ere it was yet noon—the Duchess of Leinster died before her thirty-first birthday. The Dowager Duchess of Buccleuch was associated with an affair that gave immense trouble at the time of its occurrence, though now it seems almost childish. When the young Queen came to the throne she found a Liberal (or, as it was then fashionable to call it, a Whig) Government in office; Lord Melbourne, the Premier, won her personal friendship, and he placed around the young sovereign great Whig ladies, who also became dear friends. About two years after the accession the Whigs were in a minority in the House of Commons, and the Tory leader, Sir Robert Peel, was about to form a Government. He announced that, as a part of the change, he must have all the offices of Her Majesty's establishment vacated, to fill with his own friends' wives. The Queen (then still single) replied that she thought this was as unconstitutional as it was disagreeable to herself. As Lord Palmerston tells: "They came three times to the charge. First, Peel made the demand, then he brought to his aid the Duke of Wellington, and finally he came back with the unanimous opinion of his Cabinet that it was to be. The Queen, alone and unadvised, stood firm against these assaults, showed a presence of mind, a firmness, a discrimination beyond her years, and had much the best of it in the discussion." As she finally refused to send away her ladies, Peel gave up the attempt to form a Ministry, and Melbourne and Palmerston kept their places. However, when next they had a majority against them, two years later, matters changed. Then it was that the Duchess who has just died became the Mistress of the Robes, a position that she held during the Tory Administration from 1841 to 1846.

Stonewall Runs Unplaced.

This was the second day of the Newmarket Second Spring Meeting, with the Newmarket stakes for three-year-olds, at a mile and a quarter, as the feature. The race resulted in a surprise and the defeat of the Derby favorite, Kirkconnel, who ran unplaced. The Owl, a 20 to 1 shot, securing the verdict.

The Selling Plate, for all ages, at five furlongs, saw the colors of Mr. M. F. Dwyer, which were carried by Stonewall, again suffer defeat. The American horse, who was favorite, and backed heavily by his stable, got away well, but was unable to hold his own and finished in the ruck.

The Newmarket Stakes of 4500 sovs., a Sweepstakes of 30 sovs. each, for 3-year-olds, colts, 126 lbs., fillies 123 lbs., 1 1-4 miles:

Duke of Portland's ch.c. The Owl, by Wisdom—Rattlewings, 126, . . . 1
Mr. A. W. Cox's b.c. Solaro, by Galopin—Capri, 126 2
Lord Rosebery's b.c. Sir Visto, by Bercaldine—Vista, 126 3

The other starters were Mr. W. Cooper's Kirkconnel; Sir R. Jardine's Lord Roberts; Lord Derby's Oleander, and Mr. L. Brassey's Butterfly.

Betting—5 to 4 against Kirkconnel, 3 to 1 each Solaro and Sir Visto, 20 to 1 each The Owl and Lord Roberts and 33 to 1 each Oleander and Butterfly.

The Selling Plate of 100 sovs., for all ages, the winner to be sold for 400 sovs: Rous Course; 5 furlongs:

NO PIPE WON THE HANDICAP.

Keene's 15 to 1 Shot Bowls Over the Brooklyn Favorites.

New York, May 15.—The ninth Brooklyn Jockey Club Handicap was run at Gravesend to-day and was won by Hornpipe. The result was a complete surprise, only one of the horses that was well supported in the ring finishing among the leaders. Lazarone got the place, and game little Sir Walter was third. The last named was in active demand on the future books, and was heavily backed on the track. Hornpipe and Lazarone opened with 26 to 1 obtainable against each to-day and closed at 15 to 1. Ramapo and Dr. Rice were dead first favorites during the early quotations, but Ramapo had a slight call over last year's winner of the prize at the close.

There was the usual delay at the post, the 12 candidates making five false breaks before they got the signal to depart. Sir Walter showed slightly in front of the others for a few strides after the flag fell, and then gave away to Assignee, who set a killing pace for the first six furlongs, and then dropped out of the race. Sir Walter, who had been in a good position all the way, then resumed the command. Dr. Rice attempted to close up on him, but soon had enough. At the far turn everybody was crying "Sir Walter." Then the shout, "Look at Ed Kearney," arose.

This erratic brute was moving up to Sir Walter. All at once Ed Kearney began to swerve and stagger about, and finally dropped back in the rear. This was as they were rounding up the far turn. Jockey Penn had lost a stirrup. In trying to keep control of Ed Kearney he interfered with Dr. Rice and Ramapo. Neither, however, suffered much through the jostling, as both were beaten when it occurred.

Another big change occurred when they were half-way around the upper turn. Lazzarone, who had been in the rear ranks, began to thread his way to the front. With a phenomenal burst of speed he collared Sir Walter as they swung into the home stretch. Doggett at once went to the whip, and Sir Walter responded nobly, and again his name rang in the air. Lazzarone came up again, but was hotly challenged by Hornpipe, who had crept up almost unobserved. A desperate struggle ensued. The task was too great for Lazzarone. He faltered under the fierce attack of whip and spur, and Hornpipe, running true to the last gasp won by a good neck. Lazzarone beat Sir Walter a length and a half for the place.

Counter Tenor, the 3-year-old, who went begging at 50 to 1, was fourth. In the hands of a capable jock. this colt could have given Hornpipe an argument. Rey El Santa Anita, who was kept out of the race in Bergen fashion until the stretch was reached, flattered his backers for a few strides only. Dr. Rice, Ramapo and Rubicon ran off totally unfit. They were beaten before they had gone a mile.

The races despite the fact that the weather was threatening during the morning were well attended. There were fully 15,000 persons present. The betting was conducted on a private and alleged credit basis. No odds were placarded, but money changed hands freely. Some bookmakers stood on high stools and others wore their names on their hat bands. A few irresponsible men tried to do business and were ejected. Summaries:

J. R. & F. P. Keene's b.c. Hornpipe, 4, by Mr. Pickwick—Round Dance, 105, Hamilton 1
Eclipse Stable's ch.c. Lazzarone, 4, by Spendthrift—Spinaway, 115, I. Murray 2

Toronto's First Home Victory

Toronto, May 15. — An even thousand spectators saw the Torontos win their first game at home and their fourth of the season, Shaw was in excellent form, and the coal heavers banged steadily and ineffectively at his mysterious up-shoots until 26 of them went out. Peter Kynn's Saints gathered in the game in the second innings, when Pitcher Quarrels went all to pieces. He fumbled two grounders, threw wildly once, gave a base on balls and allowed five singles. Besides Brady dropped an easy fly and the whole netted eight runs.

$30,000 for Alix, 2.09 3-4

New York, May 15.—Monroe Salisbury last night confirmed the rumor relative to his having had an offer of $30,000 for Alix, 2.09 3-4, the queen of the trotting turf. The offer came from Edward Derrick, who is said to represent James Gordon Bennett. A misunderstanding as to the engagements of the racer of the coming season prevented the sale.

Minnie's Lineman is the Best.

She Was Insulted.

Little Isabel's mother had very injudiciously allowed her to drink weak tea with her meals instead of milk. One day Isabel was taken out to lunch at a friend's house, and the friend, never dreaming that a child could drink anything other than milk, placed it before her in a broad low fancy cup. The child gazed at the milk in silence for a while, and then astonished her hostess by remarking disdainfully, "I are no cat."

Why She Married.

Gen. Neal Dow may profitably cite his own case in proof of the benefits of total abstinence. There is probably no livelier man of 91 in all Maine, a State prolific in vigorous old men, and none sounder in mind and body. When Gen. Dow celebrated his birthday, a week or so ago, he greeted all his numerous callers with a hearty handshake and exhibited a liveliness of demeanor that was surprising. He is as active as ever in the cause he has championed for so many years. During the winter just passed, for instance, on five occasions he left home at daybreak to journey to Augusta to make protracted arguments before legislative committees.—Frank Leslie's.

NO SUCH THING AS OLD AGE

To those who use South American Nervine

A Lady of 80 Years Permanently Cured by this Wonderful Medicine.

Three Doctors said "Old Age was Her Complaint" and Gave Her Up—Three Bottles of Nervine Gave Relief—Twelve Bottles Cured Absolutely.

MRS. JOHN DINWOODY, Flesherton, Ont.

Wordsworth speaks of "An old age serene and bright, and lovely as a Lapland night." And elsewhere this same writer talks of "An old age, beautiful and free." These are conditions that come to the man or woman, though their years may border close on to a century, when in the enjoyment of good health. In fact it is difficult to think of some of the old men and women on the stage of life to-day as old people, there seems to be such a perennial youthfulness about their every movement and act.

Does someone tell us that cases like this must be the exception and not the rule with those who have approached to or gone beyond the allotted three score years and ten? Not so if they have become acquainted with the virtues contained in South American Nervine. Before us in this sketch is the picture of Mrs. John Dinwoody, of Flesherton, Ont., a resident of that town for forty years. No person in the town and country side around is perhaps better known than this lady, and none more highly esteemed. Three years ago it was her sad lot to loose a daughter who had been all the world to her. The shock sustained by this event completely broke up the system of Mrs. Dinwoody. She supposed her end had come. She lectured for one year with three doctors, and they gave her case up, saying that it was one of old age and no one, nor any medicine could do her good. Made of the kind of stuff that gives beauty to age at any time she did not despair. She was influenced to try Nervine. She took three bottles, and this was sufficient to show her that her end was not yet. From these she obtained relief. She persevered, and in all took twelve bottles of the medicine, with the result that she is to-day completely cured of that breaking-up of the system that threatened her three years ago.

There is nothing wonderful in the fact that Mrs. Dinwoody would proclaim to the thousands of old people throughout this broad land, that with old age does not necessarily come decline, decrepitude and disease. Why should we not live into the eighties and nineties, and cross the border of the century?

South American Nervine, whether the person be young or old, gets at the nerve centers, and when they are kept in proper condition the system is as well able to withstand disease at eighty as at thirty. With this prospect in view who would not live to an old age and enjoy the pleasures of family, friends and society, and take a part in watching the marvelous progress and developments of these closing days of a wonderful century, which marks as not the least of its wonderful discoveries, the discovery of South American Nervine.

Canada's Industries Increased More Under Liberal Rule.

MR. CHARLTON'S EFFECTIVE SPEECH

Protection Fails in Its Object By Killing By One Set of Duties on Raw Material the Benefit of Another Set on the Finished Product.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Budget debate was resumed yesterday by Mr. Charlton in one of the most effective speeches of the discussion. He first considered the relation of the Canadian farmers to the National Policy. He declared in the vigorous language which is his, that the National policy is incapable of giving any profit or advantage to farmers. He laid it down as a fixed principle that a duty could only raise the price received by farmers upon an agricultural product of which the consumption within the country was greater than the production. Going into this subject in detail, he substantiated the statement that the tariff is of no benefit to the farmer by giving a comparison of prices to show that upon all the products likely to be brought into Canada the prices in the United States markets are higher than at Toronto. The United States, Mr. Charlton said, was Canada's best market for hay, small fruits, horses, sheep, lambs, poultry, eggs, hiddes, wool, flax, cattle, barley, beans, malt, vegetables, potatoes, turnips and wheat if the duty were off. How, then, could it be said that the Canadian farmers needed a tariff to protect them upon their products? So far, therefore, as the farmers of this country were concerned the National Policy was simply a mockery and a fraud.

Having shown what is the true relationship of the agricultural interest to the National Policy, and having shown how unprotective to it is the protective tariff, Mr. Charlton devoted himself to a consideration of the Conservative claim that Canada is dependent upon protection for her manufacturing industries. Conservatives always assumed at the outset, he said, that Canada had no manufacturers prior to the adoption of protection. But the falsity of this assumption was seen, he continued, by a comparison of the census figures, and the rate of increase in the periods of 1861—1871, 1871—1881 and 1881—1891. Into this comparison he proceeded to take his auditors, and, taking the amount of capital invested, the value of the raw material used and the value of manufactured products, he reached the following results. That in the decade ending 1871 the rate of profit was 73 per cent.; in the decade ending 1881 it was 42 per cent. and in the last period, ending 1891, 33 6-10 per cent. The rate of increase of the number of hands employed in the industries in the period ending 1881 was 35 6-10 per cent., as compared with 45 per cent. increase in the decade ending 1891. The increase in the capital invested was, in the decade ending 1881 112 per cent., and in the following period 114 per cent. of raw material. The increase between 1871 and 1881 was 44 per cent., and between 1881 and 1891 42 1-10 per cent.

Going into closer examination of the industries of the Dominion under a revenue tariff, Mr. Charlton contended that under that fiscal system manufacturers had not only been able to live but many had been prosperous, that in many lines they had control of the home market, while in many others they were well established, and fortunes had already been made in 1878 by many manufacturers in this country. J. R. & R. Molson were worth a million dollars, J. G. Worts had made a million, and E. & C. Gurney, starting without a dollar, were worth three-quarters of a million. E. K. Green and A. H. Gait and others were worth half a million and a large number of smaller manufacturers had made from $50,000 to $100,000 That protection was not essential to the development of manufactures the facts clearly proved.

Mr. Charlton contended that Canada's manufactures were in a healthy condition under a revenue tariff, that they weathered the depression of 1874-9 better than did the protected industries of the United States. There was, therefore no ground for the introduction of the protective system into Canada. The desire for protection among the manufacturers was due to the period of depression, and there was not the slightest doubt that if the manufacturers had held on for a couple of years' time reviving trade conditions would have done for them what they in 1878 asked the Government to do. (Applause.)

In a very thorough and comprehensive way he went into an examination of what protection has done for the United States. He found as the conclusion from this part of his speech that the operations of the protection had not been profitable to the industries of that country. In support of his contention he gave a vast array of figures, the effect of which was to prove that at no time since 1860 had the condition of the manufacturers of the United States been so prosperous as they were under a moderate revenue tariff. All this was to establish his initiatory proposition. That protection when extended around the whole circle of a country's manufactures fails to secure its object, because it neutralises by one set of duties upon an industrious raw material the promised benefit of the duties which it imposes upon that industry's finished product. For that reason the manufacturers are no better off under it than under a moderate revenue tariff. (Applause.)

Then, when having done with the tariff issue, he came to consider the financial administration of the Government, he found the text for one of the most effective portions of his speech. He made a comparison of the Mackenzie expenditures with the present Government's, and responded to the application which some Conservative had made to know in what items the Liberals, if they were in power, would expect to reduce the present expenditures. The subject of the increase of the public debt drew from him an emphatic declaration that for every dollar of the increase since 1867, the present Government and its predecessors were responsible. The increases during Mr. Mackenzie's time were due, he said, to obligations entered into by the Conservatives for construction of the C.P.R. and the enlargement of the canals. This last statement drew from Dr. Montague the denial, "No, no," but Mr. Charlton repeated his words and the Opposition gave them the support of a hearty round of applause.

Speaking of the deficits he declared that those which occurred during Sir Richard Cartwright's regime were caused by Sir Richard expecting a revival of trade following the depression, and had declined to increase at that time the burdens of the people by raising the duties.

Dr. Montague: That was not the cause assigned by him.

Mr. Charlton: I think it was.

Dr. Montague: You will find it in his budget speech.

Mr. Charlton: I think I will find it there.

Dr. Montague: The hon. gentleman will not say that that was the reason he assigned.

Sir Richard Cartwright: It most certainly was. (Applause.)

Mr. Charlton, proceeding, said he had listened to the speech, moreover, he remembered hearing the subject discussed in party caucus and the party had endorsed and supported the course which was then pursued.

The concluding portion of the speech was devoted to an inquiry whether the handling of the finances by the Government had been honest and clear. In its course he called in evidence of sweating of public contracts, toiling railway bonuses such as the Hudson Bay Railway, granting lands to speculators, the Tay canal, Trent valley canal, the Curran bridge, Sheiks Island Dam and a dozen other similar transactions. He concluded with a vigorous statement of the Liberal policy and and the liberal victory with which the future prosperity of Canada he declared was bound up.

THE WHEEL.

At a largely attended meeting of the votaries of the wheel held Wednesday evening in Port Hope, a Bicycle club was organized as a permanent institution.

The Port Hope Athletic Association propose constructing a track on their grounds, and this was the great factor in reviving the old club.

The following staff of officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—Chas. Stewart, Esq.
President—T. A. Kirkconnell, B.A.
Captain—R. W. Johnson.
Sec.-Treas—W. Upton Bunnalls.
1st Lieut—B. Davidson.
2nd Lieut—Jas. Kelly.
Standard Bearer—Jack Rosevear.
Bugler—Frank Helm.

BASEBALL.

At a meeting of the Omemee baseball club recently held, the following were the officers and members elected:

Captain—L. Fowler
Secretary—A. Parsons.
Treasurer—W. Kerr.

The position of the players will be as follows: L. Fowler, pitcher; W. Kerr, catcher; J. Graham, first base; J. English, second base; E. Roland, third base; A. Parsons, short stop; J. English, right field; L. Lamb, centre field; Sam Johnson, left field.

Judging from the ability of the above players, Omemee will have a first class junior nine, and it is expected they will make a good showing with the Peterborough juniors, when they meet in Omemee on the 24th of May next.

CRICKET.

Very promising are the prospects of the Lindsay cricket club for this season. Practice was begun last week, and a goodly number were on the crease. An encouraging feature was the appearance of new blood, and when they meet their northern foes on the 24th of May at Haliburton, they will no doubt give a good account of themselves. The Lindsay men are hot for a match with Peterborough.

To morrow afternoon a match of Veterans vs. Colts will be played on the P.A.A. A. grounds.

LACROSSE.

As no answer has been received by Mr. Walter Phelan from any of the outside clubs in this district in response to his call for a meeting of those intending to go into the C. L. A., the Saturday meeting has been indefinitely postponed. Probably representatives of the Peterboroughs and Athletics will meet during the week and draw up a schedule.

It has been decided that both the Peterboroughs and Athletics will play in Campbellford on the Queen's Birthday. As Campbellford is also in the tournament one club will have to play a bye in the first draw. Both the local clubs are sure of coming away with the valuable lockets which are offered as prizes.

Great pressure is being brought to bear on Mr. Will Lech to induce him to once more accept the position of field captain with the Peterboroughs. Under his experienced eye the players are hopeful of upholding the name Peterborough has held of putting a first class team in the field. Practice will be held on the Riverside Park to-night.

The Athletics practice at the Driving Park to-night. A full attendance of members is required.

It is still unsettled as to whether the Athletics or the Peterboroughs will go to Orillia on June 6th.

RAILWAY NOTES.

It is said that the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway will be under the control of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and be worked in connection with the New York Central and Michigan Central Railways.

One day last week we observed a number of young lads indulging in the dangerous practice of placing pins and other things on the track as a train was approaching. Some times those young boys stick to the track until the engine is almost on them, and the engineer begins to feel cold shivers running down his back. When a lorry approaches the men at times have to stop up to avoid crushing three or four of the hope of Canada. A fatal accident will some day result if this practice continues. Young as the offenders are, the railway authorities should treat them as trespassers and by making an example of a few give warning to parents of the danger their children are in.

Got His Money's Worth.

It was a farmer-looking man, with one arm in a sling and a bandage over his eye who wandered into the office of the superintendent.

"I was in that little smashup down near Plunkville," said the farmer-looking man, and then he smiled.

"I guess he can be fixed up for not more than $50," thought the superintendent.

"Yas, I was there," continued the visitor, with a chuckle. "Jist sailin' along, smooth as grease, listenin' to a hook-nosed feller tellin' a funny story, when all of a sudden—kerblip! That there ole car went sailin' so high that I could see the gray hairs in the whiskers of the man in the moon, and then she come down. How she did come down! And when I come to, there sot that hook-nosed feller with his hook-nose changed to a pug; another feller about seven feet high was hung over the bell-rope like a snake hung up fer rain, and over in the woodbox was a fat woman jammed in so tight that she couldn't even holler—couldn't do nothin' but make faces. By Gravy, it was the funniest time I ever had in all my life. And so I thort how much extry you thort I'd orter pay fer the fun you gimme."

The superintendent sat there with his mouth open for so long that the farmer-looking man grew alarmed and fled.

Over fifty pianos, organs, melodions, violins, guitars, banjos, etc.—bankrupt stock. Must be sold during the next 30 days, regardless of cost at JACKSON & Co's., 378 Aylmer street.

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

Dallas Hyams to Take the Stand.

MEDICAL EXPERTS UNDER FIRE

The Skull of the Dead Man Produced in Court—Further Evidence Concerning the Weight and Hook—Wells Was Dealt Two Separate Blows.

Toronto, Ont., May 18. — The forgoing of the last link in the chain of circumstantial evidence with which the Crown has, for ten days past, been endeavoring to connect the Hyams twins with the murder of Willie Wells, was begun yesterday. Those who have attended the trial since its opening are unanimous that, if the character of the medical evidence given yesterday afternoon is a fair criterion of what the remaining nine Crown witnesses on this point will say, the last link will be stronger than any of those previously welded.

The evidence of Drs. Caven, Johnson and Richardson was expressive of long and careful research and study, and though it was given in technical terms that were somewhat confusing to the minds of those outside the medical profession, the conclusions reached as to the causes of the different fractures and the lines of applied force were well defined.

As a consequence of the somewhat modified opinions of these witnesses, the Crown has abandoned the theory that the blow which they say felled Wells to the floor was applied to the top of the head, and will now ask the jury to believe that he was struck with the back of an ax, on the right side of the face, one corner of the ax driving the right eye into the head, completely out of sight, and causing the fractures of the internal angular process of the frontal bone, and also of the malar bone. This would account for all the fractures found in the skull, excepting those resulting from the crushing force of the immense weight on the side of the head.

The Crown's medical witnesses admitted yesterday that the fractures to the condyles at the base of the skull might, under extraordinary conditions, be caused by the weight crushing the skull and driving the lower and back part of the head backwards and downwards, thus bringing the condyles and vertebrae into violent contact. This admission disposes of the theory of a blow applied to the top of the head.

The defence contend the fracture of the internal angular process of the frontal bone and the fracture of the malar bone were caused by the weight crushing the brain matter outward, thus attributing all the fractures to a single blow from one line of force. In support of this theory they propose to call fifteen medical men, who will speak of it as being quite within the range of probability.

A big legal argument is expected this morning, when the Crown calls witnesses to speak of the previous character and records of the prisoners. If the evidence is admitted it will show that both men have served time in an American prison. Officials of this prison are here, and will tell of the incarceration of the prisoners. The fact will also be brought out that the men are at present fugitives from American justice.

The Crown will close their case on Monday, the defence opening on Tuesday with Dallas Hyams as the first witness. He will then tell, under oath, for the first time, his version of what took place in the warehouse on the morning of Jan. 16, 1893. In his present weakened condition, he will be ill-able to undergo the ordeal of Osleronic cross-examination to which he will be subjected.

The first witnesses to be called were Albert E. Friar and Charles Hackney, carpenters, who repaired the elevator and weight shafts one week after the tragedy occurred. Expressman Fox gave them their instructions and told them to repair the hoist wherever they found it necessary. Several boards were loose in the elevator shaft between the weight box and the wall. They also tore away the stand which had been erected to assist in getting off the weight. Witness Hackney said that Fox told him to look closely in the weight box for any projection which might be there. He sawed off about 3-4 of an inch of the floor, but did not think this would have been necessary if the boards were in their proper places.

The defence eagerly seized this first direct evidence of any projection and made the most of it in their cross-examination. They could not shake the witness, however, in his belief that no projection would be there if the boards were nailed into position. He could not say whether it was on the first or second floor.

John Aldridge, builder, said that in October, 1893, he was called upon to cut away that part of the hoist which ran into the basement.

Donald Craig gave evidence as a hoist expert. He said that with the cage and weight standing no motion could be had without the application of power to the pull rope.

The witness had made experiments with the hoist, placing an obstruction in the weight box. When the weight struck the projection the slack in the rope would be scarcely perceptible. Working the pull rope would not increase the slack at all.

For the first time since the opening of the trial the theory of the defence as to how the weight became loosed from the hook was made manifest. Placing the hook in the eye of the weight, with the nose caught directly beneath the centre of the eye, Mr. Lount asked the witness if he thought the weight striking the obstruction would throw the hook out. The witness said it might occur, but the chances were even between the hook going out or in. The hook was placed in the position suggested by the defence. On the first trial the hook came out, in the second it went in. On behalf of the Crown the hook was again placed in position and a measurement made, which was compared with the dimensions of the weight box. The comparison showed that with the hook in the position suggested the weight could not be operated in the box.

John Galt, C.E., made experiments with the weight on Thursday last. He obstructed the weight in every conceivable manner, but could not get it into any position in which it would by any possibility come off the hook.

"You had the hook full in the eye?" was the question put by the defence.

"Yes," was the reply.

The last branch of the Crown's case was opened at 12 o'clock noon, when Dr. John Caven entered the witness box. Dr. Caven told of the post-mortem examination made of the body of young Wells. There were no appearances of injury except to the head, which fell away from the body when it was moved in the coffin.

A skull more perfectly preserved than that of young Wells was brought into court in order to illustrate to the jury the injury to the lower portion of the Wells skull, which had fallen completely away from the main portion.

The witness minutely described the several fractures on the skull. There was a complete division of the skull into lateral halves from the top downwards. The posterior portion was cut off, the line of fracture running down and forwards, and going completely through the base from side to side. The third peculiarity was a complete fracture of the front from side to side. There were also several minor fractures. The right side near the cheek bone had evidently been driven inward.

"Now can you suggest, having regard to the description we have of the wounds on the outside of the face, can you suggest the cause of the injuries we have here? What instrument would be used and where would the force be applied?" asked Mr. Osler.

"To produce these injuries there must have been force applied from the side, with the head resting on something solid, and the force applied on the right side. To produce the damage to the base there must have been a force to bring the base and vertical column in contact with each other."

"Is what you find there consistent with one application of force?"

"I don't think so."

"How many applications of force would be necessary?"

"There must have been one force to produce the injuries to the vault and another to cause those to the base of the skull."

"Where was the force applied to cause the injuries to the frontal portion of the skull?"—A. "From the front."

"Anything else to indicate force from the front?"

"The cheek upon the right side was sunken backwards and inwards. These might have been caused by force from the front or force from the side."

"Where on the side of the head was the force applied?"—A. "It was applied diffusely, the more prominent parts catching it first. Why do you say the head was resting on something solid?"

"It was the only way I could account for the condyle fractures."

"Are you able to state the area over which the force was diffused on the right side?"

"It must have been struck with an instrument that covered the whole of the side of the face."

The witness was taken back over his evidence at the Police Court, and an effort made to point out discrepancies in his testimony of then and yesterday, but the Doctor held firmly to the ground he had taken, contending that there was no material change in his views.

A new theory was introduced when the witness said he thought three blows had possibly been dealt. On the head from above, a second on the side of the head and a third, causing the fractures to the upper jaw, dealt out he face. The latter two were more consistent and most probable.

When asked if he ever saw a skull as badly crushed as that of Wells, he said he did not think he had. After going once again over all the fractures to the skull, counsel for the defence asked:

"Will you say that a heavy weight falling over on the head while it was lying on the floor could not cause every fracture found there?"

"It is difficult to deny the possibility of anything," was the guarded answer, "but," continued the witness, "I don't think it would."

The anatomy of the skull was laid aside for the time, and the attention of the witness drawn to the weight.

Mr. Osler: Could a weight falling on a recumbent head produce all the injuries found here?

"No," said the witness.

Dr. Caven was followed by his associate at the post-mortem. Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson. Dr. Johnson said he had practised medicine for 25 years, 10 years of which was spent in the Toronto General Hospital.

Mr. Osler: How do you think the injuries were produced to this skull?

"I believe they were caused, first, by a blow applied to the right side of the face, suffused over quite a large surface, the line of force being upwards and inwards."

"Could the force have been applied from any other direction, to cause the wounds of which you speak?"

"I don't think so. The force must have been upwards and inwards. The fracture at the apex, running from front to back, must have been caused by a crushing force on the right side of the head, while it was in a recumbent position."

"Do these two blows account for all you find?"

"There is a fracture in the left side of the skull, which I thought at one time indicated force from the back of the head."

Continuing, the witness said, in reply to question that the skull could not be compressed into a thickness of two inches, as Dr. King said it was, and leave the skull in its present condition. The wounds, as found on the skull proper, could all be produced by the weight being tipped over on to it. The fractures in the malar bone were produced by another line of force, applied so as to drive it inwards and upwards. He did not think a blow sufficient to cause the fracture of the malar bone would necessarily leave a mark, more especially when the man died almost immediately afterwards.

The weight being tipped over onto the head would cause the injuries to the skull provided the malar bone was already broken. The greater the altitude from which the weight fell, the greater the resulting fractures would be.

Dr. Richardson, professor of anatomy in Toronto University, said all the long fractures must have been caused by a line of force applied to the side of the head. The fracture across the brow and that through the apex from front to back must have been caused by the same blow.

The point is an important one, as the theory of the defence is that the fracture across the brow was caused by the weight striking Wells when he was standing erect, the long fracture resulting from the weight falling on the side of the head after Wells had fallen.

The witness could not see how the fractures of the internal angular process of the frontal bone could be caused from any blow on the side of the head. Force must have been applied from the front.

"What kind of an instrument would be used in causing the injury to the frontal bone?"

"Some hard blunt instrument," answered the witness.

Mr. Johnston made a complete failure in his effort to shake Dr. Johnson in his testimony or lead him into contradictions, and, no doubt fearing the same ill-success, he allowed Dr. Richardson to step down from the box without putting a single question.

BEHEADED BY A SAW.

Fearful Death of an Old Man in a Hamilton Sawmill.

Hamilton, May 18.—Adam Smith of Taylor's corners, Barton Township, aged 72 years, went to Degeer's sawmill in Binbrook yesterday to borrow a horse. At the mill he undertook to show some young men how cleverly he used to run a saw when he was young. The board slipped and he was thrown upon the saw and instantly killed. His back was ripped open and his head cut completely off.

GRAND MASS CHOIR CONCERT.

The EXAMINER has always strongly encouraged and advocated every enterprise that would tend to bring outsiders to town, either as permanent residents or as visitors, and on this account has much pleasure in drawing public attention more particularly to the proposed grand choral festival to be held in Peterborough this summer. In Thursday's issue a report of the preliminary meeting appeared, giving the information that a choral union had been formed under the management of Mr. G. W. Mulligan.

The proposal is to mass the choirs of the district between Toronto and Kingston, in Peterborough. It is estimated that the mass chorus will embrace at least 2,000 voices. On the day or days selected for the production of the grand choral music, the singers to the number indicated would come to town by special trains, giving low rates, and it is safe that each singer would attract two or three friends to accompany him or her. These with the large numbers who would come to hear the grand volume of song from 2,000 trained voices would mean an addition of between five and six thousand persons to our population for the occasion. These union choir excursions are not experiments. Successful meets have already been held in other places. The first was in Goderich three years ago, and there were 600 singers who went to that town from Waterloo. The great success of the first occasion was followed by still greater success at Sarnia, where 1,200 singers and about 4,000 visitors were present. The next year, last year, the "meet" was again held at Sarnia, and the chorus had increased to 1,500, and the attendance to 5,000 a total of 6,500. And now it is proposed to even do greater things at the meet at Peterborough this year, for, whatever Peterborough puts her hand to in earnest is sure to "go," and, with the populous district between Toronto and Kingston to draw singers and visitors from, there is no doubt that we can beat the record the coming summer. The programme in brief is this: In the afternoon of the day, the grand chorus of 2,000 voices will be assisted by the Waterloo Band and an orchestra of about 40 pieces. A grand stand sufficiently large to accommodate the chorus will be erected. In the evening the largest hall in town will be secured, where a choir competition for prizes will take place, and the second day the visitors will do the town, and, during the two days, they will leave thousands of dollars with us, not to speak of the impetus that will be given to musical interests. The local expense connected with this enterprise will be considerable, and, as has been done in other places, the Town Council guaranteed $250 to be only drawn on in case unfavourable weather brought about a failure of attendance. Will our town fathers take the matter into their serious considerations? The people expect something big in town this year. They lost the wheelmen's meet by a hair, and the present proposed enterprise should not be allowed to fall from lack of practical encouragement. At least the Council will have an opportunity of dealing or not dealing generously with the matter. The date of the meet is August 1st and 2nd, a time when business is dullest and when the money spent by thousands of visitors will be especially welcome to our business men.

VERY HELPFUL TO LADIES.

Quick Relief, with No After Unpleasantness, Comes to Those Who Use South American Kidney Cure.

Whilst both sexes are sufferers from kidney trouble, in many respects women are liable to peculiar weaknesses and pain, because of disorganization of the kidneys. Objection is taken, and rightly, to many remedies because of the methods of use, as well as after-unpleasantness. This is never the case with South American Kidney Cure. It gives ease to the patient in six hours, and no annoying effects follow, for in a short time, even in aggravated cases, an entire cure is effected. There is no other medicine like South American Kidney Cure. It is a remedy for the kidneys and bladder only—not a general specific that is supposed to cure everything and end by effecting no cure. South American Kidney Cure does its particular work and does it well. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

SPYING ON IMPORTERS

Manager of a Combine a Government Emissary.

SENT TO THE U.S. TO LEARN PRICES

Mr. Hawthorn, Head of the Agricultural Edge Tool Combine, Sent By Controller Wallace To Visit U.S Exporting Firms—A Warm Time in the House.

Ottawa, May 18.—The zeal of the Government in the interest of the combines is truly astonishing. Not content with imposing duties that are in many instances almost prohibitive, it has resorted to a most disgraceful system of spying upon the importers of the country for the purpose of further hampering their operations and increasing the advantages of the heavily protected manufacturer. A statement was presented to the House by Sir Richard Cartwright yesterday, which, though it disclosed discreditable methods on the part of the Customs Department, was neither denied nor justified by the Controller.

Sir Richard read the following letter, which had been addressed to him under date May 10, by a business man.

"For some time past the hardware trade of Toronto and Montreal have been greatly troubled in getting goods purchased in the United States through Canadian Customs. They would purchase a bill of goods, pass the entry and then get a notice to make an amended entry, some 15 to 30 per cent. being added to the original invoice, and then a fine equal to the amended entry being added."

This has unsettled the trade for some time and set them to ferretting out what was at the bottom. Imagine their surprise at discovering what follows:

What the Customs Department have said was that they sent a special agent who visited all the manufacturing centres, called on the different manufacturers and asked them for their prices to the home trade, as the Customs held that the United States manufacturers sold cheaper to Canada than to the home market, and on the special agent's report based the prices on which duty should be paid, regardless of what prices they were bought at, although the invoices were duly sworn to as correct. Imagine the surprise of the trade to discover that this special customs agent was no other than a Mr. Hawthorne, manager of the Welland Vale Manufacturing Company, which controls all the manufactories of agricultural tools, axes, etc., made in Canada, and situated in St. Catharines, Oshawa and Cote. St. Paul. Imagine the Government playing into the hands of the manufacturers to such an extent as to send the general manager to such works mentioned to visit competitors in the same line in the United States to examine what they make, to examine their books as to prices and terms, acting as a spy, and all this time at the expense of the Government for the benefit of the protected manufacturers and to the great inconvenience and anhoyance of the trade, thus carrying the N.P. to rather a farce."

Commenting on the statement, Sir Richard declared that if the facts which it stated were true, he could imagine nothing more indecent or improper. If the Customs Department had engaged an agent of the Canadian manufacturers to gather information upon which the importers of Canada were to be fined and hampered in the pursuit of their business, he could imagine "No more tyrannical, unfair or outrageous infringement of the rights of the subject." It showed clearly, he declared, in conclusion, the state of the servile dependence of the Government upon the protected manufacturers, and they were merely the tools of the protected interests. In order that there might be an opportunity of discussing the matter, Sir Richard moved the adjournment of the House.

It fell, of course, to Controller Wallace to reply. He admitted that the Customs Department had sent Mr. Hawthorne upon the mission referred to in the statement read by Sir Richard. The reasons which had actuated him in the selection of an agent were the difficulty of detecting the deception which was being practised by American manufacturers, and Canadian importers upon the Customs officials and the knowledge that Mr. Hawthorne was an expert. The information which he had commissioned Mr. Hawthorne to obtain was as to the selling prices in the United States of goods which were being sold in Canada at lower prices than they were being sold for over there. As an illustration of the practices which the department had set out to prevent, the Comptroller told how that it had come to the knowledge of the department that American manufacturers were selling scythes to the Canadian trade at a special discount. This fact they sought to conceal by changing the description of the scythes so that only an experrt could detect their real value and quality. The Controller declared that it had been his duty to protect the revenue and that he had acted in the interests of the people of the country.

"No," in the interests of the manufacturers," ejaculated Sir Richard.

Mr. Edgar pointed out that the right of the Government to enquire into the valuation of imports entered at the Customs was not being questioned. The complaint was that the provisions of the law were being made the instrument of a species of tyranny on the importer, and he, too, asked whether anything could be more indecent than to take one of the highly protected manufacturers, who last year came down and obliged the Government to put on a high duty and send him as an agent to gather evidence upon which the Government would shut out of Canada the goods which were coming in to compete with his own manufactory.

Mr. Taylor, chief Conservative whip, supported the Controller and spoke with the warmth of one who, for tariff benefits which he was enjoying from the Government, should give it his assistance in an emergency of this kind.

"If the question were put, which is the head and which the tail of this country, the manufacturers or the Government sits so much on them, it [illegible] answer," began Mr. Charlton.

"Not difficult at all," Sir Richard corrected him, and the Opposition laughed and applauded. Mr. Charlton again asked the question, which had as yet received no answer, what could be so indecent as for the Government to employ as their agent a man who was chiefly interested in excluding the importation of the goods which he manufactured. Upon what authority, he asked, had the Government proceeded against importers on the evidence of an interested party, of a

Another Seizure of Poachers' Nets.

Windsor, Ont., May 17.—The Canadian Government fisheries protection cruiser has made another seizure of nets near Rondeau. Five miles of nets, said to be owned by J. R. Eaton of Cleveland, proprietor of the steamer Harrow, were seized yesterday. It is claimed the nets were in Canadian waters, 11 miles from the international boundary line. They were six miles from Rondeau. The Government at Ottawa was at once appraised of the seizure.

Crane Was Wild in the First.

Toronto, Ont., May 18. — Wilkes-Barre beat Toronto yesterday in a harder hitting contest than the score would indicate. The outfielders on both sides sad, the visitors especially, playing deep, gathered in many flies that on small grounds would have been home runs. Crane was very wild in the opening innings and three bases on balls, a wild pitch, two singles and a two-bagger, scored four runs. Toronto made two in the second on Lutzenberg's single, Lake's triple and Demont's long fly. The visitors added two more in the seventh on a base on balls, a two-bagger and Meara's error. Toronto added a couple in the eighth on Sippi's single, Betts' excusable muff, Freeman's long fly and Lutzenberg's safe hig. The weather was again chilly and the attendance 600.

A CUP OF DELICIOUS

MAZAWATTEE

Will Remind you of the HOIE CHINA TEAS of THIRTY YEARS AGO.

You can give no greater treat to yourself or to your friends than a cup of Mazawattee Tea. It is all that Tea should be, and is undoubtedly the finest in the world.

There is probably no extravagance greater than that of drinking inferior and low-priced Tea. Better by far drink one cup of really fine Tea than a gallon of common, which is at once an insult to your palate and a source of serious injury to your digestion.

The Young "Kids."

A YOUNG CONCERN.

The Baby is the youngest concern in the family. It is a growing concern and needs immediate attention. The first need to satisfy is its need of getting out of the stuffy house and into fresh summer air. It is too young to walk and our Baby Carriages are so easy to push, it's no extra work for you. We wish you to see them.

They are made with bamboo or rattan baskets, and are upholstered in Satin or Plush. They have good solid springs, good iron wheels and worth more than we ask. Look at the different styles at $6 to $20.

Too Big For a Baby Carriage!

This is the "pushing" concern of the family—the noisy "Kid"—who has grown to old for a Baby Carriage, and wants to do its own pushing. Some day they'll want to ride a bicycle but just now a Tricycle is good enough, and if they don't get look out for trouble in the house.

For the sake of peace, come and look at our fleet of little three-wheeled racers, for boys or for girls. Children's Waggons, Carts, Wheelbarrows and wheeled goods of other kinds. The maker's character behind every one. Designs the most dashing. Workmanship the most thorough. Prices the LOWEST.

Let Us Reason Together, Reader.

When Paine's Celery Compound Cures the Most Desperate Cases of Disease, is it not the Medicine for Your Trouble?

A TERRIBLE CASE OF RHEUMATISM

It Baffled the Doctors' Skill.

The Racking Disease Was Completely Banished by the Great Health-Giver.

All sensible and rational men and women will certainly admit that there must be merit and efficacy in a medicine that cures the most desperate forms of disease, and saves life after the failures of physicians. The medicine that accomplishes such magnificent work, is surely worthy of the attention of all sick and suffering mortals.

Past experiences and results have heaped up mountains of proof that Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can rescue and save in extreme and desperate cases of disease. The annals of medicine cannot show or tell of any medical prescription that has won such a bright and lustrous fame as Paine's Celery Compound. This marvellous medicine has succeeded and conquered when all other agents have failed; it has saved life when men and women were given up to die. No wonder that thousands use it and sing its praises every day.

The following letter of testimony from Mr. Douglas Hixon, of Beamsville, Ont., proves that the worst cases of rheumatism can be cured by nature's wonderful lifegiver:—

"In June, 1893, I had a severe attack of rheumatism. I was doctored, and used liniments of all kinds, but grew worse instead of better.

"In November I was carried on a bed to the General and Marine Hospital, St. Catharines, where I received kind and careful treatment. My general health improved, but my rheumatism remained the same.

"I returned home in January, and again commenced trying doctors and medicines, but I grew worse, and in April I once more returned to the hospital. My general health again improved, but the rheumatism remained very painful. I could not raise my arms to my head, and was dressed and undressed like a child.

"About two months I again returned home. A friend of mine in Scotland, Brant County, wrote me not to despair, but try Paine's Celery Compound. I have taken ten bottles, and can truly say it is the only thing that has done my rheumatism any good. Since using the Compound I feel no return of the disease, and can now go about doing work. I take pleasure in recommending it to all who are afflicted with rheumatism."

POLITICS IN THE ANTIPODES.

Suppression on a Want of Confidence Vote at Sydney.

Sydney, N.S.W., May 17.—Ex-Premier Sir Henry Parkes' motion of want of confidence in the Government was defeated in the Assembly yesterday. Premier Reid made a spirited attack upon Parkes, scoring what he characterised as his apostasy to free trade principles in an unholy scramble for office, and an alliance with Ex-Premier Dibbs. The leader of the Labor party supported Premier Reid, declaring that a land tax was of more importance than Australian Federation. The debate was adjourned until Tuesday.

JUSTICE MEREDITH TO BE KNIGHTED.

The London Free Press Expects The New Chief Justice Will Be Thus Honored on the Queen's Birthday.

London, Ont., May 17.—The Free Press says: It is generally expected that knighthood will be conferred upon Ontario's recently appointed chief justice, and the honor will fall on worthy shoulders, whether it be accorded within the next few days, as is confidently expected or in the more distant future.

Improvement in Trade

New York, May 17.—Bradstreet's says: Advices from the Province of Ontario report some improvement, based on higher prices for staples. At Montreal, as at Toronto, the business outlook is favorable. Crop prospects in Nova Scotia are favorable. In New Brunswick collections are far from satisfactory. There are 28 failures in business reported from Canada this week; last week the total was 27, a year ago it was 25, and two years ago 19.

Bank clearings at Winnipeg, Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax aggregated $20,610,000 this week, against $21,442,000 last week, $19,732,000 in this week a year ago, a like sum two years ago, and $18,305,000 in the third week of April, 1892.

Britannia Beats Ailsa.

London, May 17.—The new Thames Yacht Club's regatta over the old course began this forenoon. The weather was cloudy and cold, and a strong northwest wind was blowing. The starters were the Britannia, rated at 152 tons, and the Ailsa, rated at 168 tons, the Ailsa allowing the Britannia two minutes and eleven seconds. The Isolde and Dareas, 40 raters, also started, the Ailsa allowing them 35 minutes and 15 seconds. The prizes in this race were £50 to the first, £25 and £10 to the second and third. The time at the finish was: Britannia, 3.47.50; Ailsa, 3.50.32. The Britannia thus won by 2 minutes and 42 seconds, actual time, and by 4 minutes and 53 seconds with her time allowance added. Near the close of the race it was noticed that Ailsa's topmast was down, apparently having been broken.

Bicycle Racing at Sarnia.

Sarnia, May 17—The Sarnia Bicycle Club held their first meet this evening. The weather was fine and about 700 spectators witnessed the races.

One mile, novice, club members—Maxwell 1, Wilson 2, Clement 3. Time 3.04 3-5.

Quarter mile, heats, class B.—The heats were won by Davidson, McLeod, and Gibbons, respectively. Time 36 2-5. A toss-up for the race resulted in Davidson winning.

Two-mile handicap—Shillinglaw, 100 yds, 1st; Little, 100 yds, 2nd; Harley, 75 yds 3rd. Time 5.75 3-5.

One mile, class B.—Davidson 1, McLeod 2. Time 2.37 2-5.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

A Norwood Citizen Praises South American Rheumatic Cure.

William Pegg, Norwood, Ont.: "Last Christmas I could hardly walk, and was nearly doubled up with rheumatism. I procured three bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure from W. Rutherford, druggist, of Norwood, and found it the best and quickest acting medicine I ever saw. The first dose gave relief, and the three bottles completely cured me. I have had neither ache nor pain from rheumatism since." Sold by H. S. McDonald.

Men Read Fashion Notes.

Why shouldn't a man read fashion notes if he wants to?

He has a perfect right, certainly, and it is quite commendable in him to keep himself thus "posted," for it is a sort of satisfaction for a woman to be told by a man who she knows "knows" that her gown or bonnet is "just the thing."

He is a modest-looking young man, working for a very moderate salary, but has a very charming wife, and it was known among their friends that they meant to attend, just once, that grand opera.

Riding out on a crowded Washington avenue car the other evening he unfolded his paper and began to read.

There was a whole column of fashion items, illustrated, with suggestions as to how to get up an economical and pretty toilet for grand opera wear, and of course he was interested and began to follow it.

A lady sitting next him innocently enough glanced at the paper, and, as a matter of fact, the first thing that her eye rested upon was the fashion column.

The young man looked up at her from his paper and blushed as if ashamed to have been caught in the act, and immediately his eyes sought some telegraphic news, while the lady smiled knowingly and encouragingly; so he presently turned down the page of the paper and finished reading, word for word, all that was said about bodices and bonnets.—St. Louis Republic.

Perspiration on Noses.

I ran across a new superstition the other day. It is the distrust the Virginia negroes have of persons who perspire on their noses. A friend of mine has had a really estimable maid for several months, but the other day the mistress found the maid on the eve of leaving, and all because she had seen beads of perspiration on my friend's nose, and people with noses of that kind are "mean," a word which to the Virginia negro signifies all that is undesirable, untrustworthy and evil.—Washington Post.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a "Marvel" of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

NEWS NUGGETS

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

Beginning on Monday next the Haliburton hotelkeepers will charge ten cents a glass for whisky.

—For men—T. S. Cole and the Fire Brigade Orchestra at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon.

—A number of loads of gravel have been distributed on market square, levelling it off where most needed.

—Messrs. Watson and Shevlin are executing some very artistic fresco work on the ceilings of Mr. Wm. Rudkins' brick terrace, King street.

—Diphtheria has broken out in West Guilford, Haliburton, and the local physician has quite a few cases; among them is Miss Gilbard, school teacher at Pine Lake.

—Mr. James Dolan has had a small new awning erected in front of the City Hotel. It is 25 feet long, and is a new style of striped duck in red and white. The awning was supplied and erected by Mr. Alf Kingscotte.

—The different selections played by the band in the Court House Park last evening were rendered with a spirit and precission which was greatly appreciated by the hundreds of citizens who gathered to liften to the sweet music which was so admirably discoursed.

—A correspondent of the Lindsay Post objects to the purchase of a typewriting machine for the town clerk. The correspondent may be right for a last century town, but for the present advanced age "Taxpayer" is kicking against the pricks of progress with a vengeance.

—The STAR'S portfolios of "Wild Flowers of Canada" are realising a magnificent success, and as each successive number is issued the pleasure of those who are securing them is greatly enhanced. It would be hard to imagine a more interesting and valuable collection than these Wild Flower portfolios will make. It will be when people cannot get them that the appreciation will be at a height somewhat approaching what the work merits.

Captured the Contract.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son have received the order for furnishing about 72 awnings for the new Quinte Hotel, Belleville. This contract was gained in competition with firms in Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa and Montreal. It takes hustlers indeed to get ahead of Turner & Son. 1d

Attempting to Obtain Liquor on Sunday.

Patrick Kane and Dan Simons were each fined $10 and costs this morning for attempting to obtain liquor at a hotel on Sunday. Thos. Ritchie, summoned on the same charge, was not in court at the time sentence was passed, but coming in later entered a plea of guilty, and will be sentenced on Monday.

A Fugitive from Justice.

The police received word a few days ago that a certain fugitive from justice was in town, and surrounding his residence they guarded the different doors and searched the house. Their man was too many for them, however, and utilizing the fire escape from an upper story, was outside their jurisdiction while they were still searching the house.

That Log Boom.

Mr. R. B. Rogers would confer a great favour indeed on the canoeists if he would order the removal of the boom extending between the first and second piers in Little Lake. It is strung in such a manner as to cut off fully half the lake from canoeists who sail their craft, as the passage way between the first pier and the shore is so small as to make tacking impossible on the run to the boathouses. The objectionable boom could be slung between the second and third piers until needed.

The Saturday Market.

Although there was plenty of butter on the market this morning, the sellers held for high prices and in the majority of cases got what they asked. Some of it sold for 16c., but as high as 20c. was realised by a few of the farmer's wives. Eggs were plentiful at 9c. and 10c., and there was also lots of "green stuff" on the market which readily sold at 5c. a bunch. There was a great deal of fowl brought in. Chickens realised from 40c. to 60c. a pair, and turkeys sold at 75c. and $1. Potatoes brought 60c.

How to get "Sunlight" Books.

Send 12 "Sunlight" Soap wrappers to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, who will send postpaid a paper bound book, 160 pages. For 6 "Life-buoy" Carbolic Soap wrappers, a similar book will be sent. This is a splendid opportunity to obtain good reading. Send your name and address written carefully. Remember "Sunlight" sells at 5 cts. per twin-bar, and "Lifebuoy" at 10 cts. One cent postage will bring your wrappers by leaving the ends open.

THE WOMEN'S BAPTIST HOME MISSION BOARD.

They Hold Their Annual Session—Election of Officers, Etc.

The Board of the Women's Baptist Home Mission Society met yesterday morning in the Murray Street Church, with Mrs. C. J. Holman, the President, in the chair.

The secretary introduced the new members,—Mrs. George Mathews, of Lindsay, and Mrs. John Hume, of Port Hope, to the Board, after which the following officers were elected:—

Corresponding Secretary.—Mrs. John Lillie, Toronto.

Treasurer—Miss Emma J. Dryden, Brooklin.

Secretary of Mission Board—Mrs. Charles T. Starke, Toronto.

Editor of "Visitor"—Miss Helen E. McMaster, Toronto.

Owing to the very successful results of the last six months it was decided to increase the appropriations to the churches and missions by $284, raising the total appropriation for the year to $4,974.00.

It was also decided to take up a new mission at Rat Portage and continue the support to student labour as well as to the churches already under the wing of the Board in Muskoka. The work will be continued amongst the Scandanavians in the Northwest, as will also the work at Calgary now under the direction of the Board, and the donations to the building fund for the Northwest, as in past years, will be continued.

Concerning the question of assuming the responsibility of the entire support of the students while engaged during the holidays in working in the mission fields, it was thought better to leave the matter in abeyance for another year.

The churches which at present receive aid from the Home Mission Board, are located in Midland, Bracebridge, Sault St. Marie, Sunnidge, Sterling Falls, Burke's Falls, Doe Lake, Sprucedale and Parry Sound. The work in Quebec consists in the support of six pupils at Grand Ligne and the sustaining of a missionary and his wife in the city of Quebec.

It was decided in response to an invitation, to hold the next annual meeting in Chatham.

Before adjourning the Board expressed its appreciation of the kindness of Mr. McKeown, the general secretary of Baptist Missions, for his kindness in being present and giving assistance in the way of furnishing information. A very sincere vote of thanks was also returned to the press for the very full reports given of the meetings held.

Tea was served during the afternoon in the basement by the ladies of the Murray street church, thus enabling the delegates to leave the meeting and proceed directly to their train.

A LIVELY TIME WITH TRAMPS.

The Police Make a Raid on Them and Scoop in Four.

The gang of tramps which has been camping over on Burnham's Point for some time and has been a source of considerable annoyance to the residents of the town by haunting the suburbs in the evenings and begging, were routed out last evening by the police, who encountered four of them hanging around the premises of the C. P. R. There was a grand break for liberty when the quartette sighted the police and three of them made good their escape. Officer McGinty trailed the fourth along Sherbrooke street and drove his quarry out on the C. P. R. bridge siding. The constable, being swift of foot, thought he was sure of his man now and dashed out on the siding bridge in pursuit, but what was his surprise when the tramp promptly took a header into the river and struck out boldly for the Ashburnham shore. The current was too strong for him, however, and he had to land again. The police were after him immediately and the tramp took refuge on the Ackerman harness factory premises, where he was arrested by Officer McGinity. As the prisoner had a wooden leg his agility under the circumstances was a matter of surprise.

During the evening three more tramps were brought into the cells. One of them, who was arrested by Constable Moore, created quite an excitement by his resistance to arrest.

The four were a hard looking lot indeed when they lined up before the magistrate this morning. One was allowed to go as he had not been in the vicinity long, but the others were remanded until it is ascertained if they have been up to any mischief while sojourning at Burnham's Point.

BY-LAWS INTRODUCED TO RAISE MONEY.

Six Thousand Five Hundred is Needed for the Addition to the South Ward School, and $3,000 More for a Bridge at Auburn—The Ratepayers Will Vote on Them on June 17th.

At a special meeting of the Town Council, last evening, called for the purpose of passing a by-law, to submit to the ratepayers for ratification, to raise funds to the amount of $6,500 to defray the cost of building an addition to the South Ward school.

Councillor Cahill, on motion, was requested to take the chair as Acting Mayor. Other members of the council present at the meeting were Messrs. Denne, Phelan, Dawson, Clinkscale, Sawers, Stone, Mason and Brady.

A communication from the Prisoners' Aid Association, asking for money assistance, was referred to the Charity Committee.

Concerning the case of Chrysler vs. the Town, several communications in connection therewith submitted by the Town Solicitor were referred to the Streets and Bridges Committee, with instructions to confer with the solicitor, with power to act.

James Fisher wrote re his assessment. Referred to the Court of Revision.

Alex. Graham asked for work, and his communication was referred to the Streets and Bridges Committee. Councillor Dawson promised to see Acting Street Supervisor Martin in reference to the matter. Robert Steadman's case will also be looked into.

Patrick Laveny's request for a remission of his taxes was referred to the Court of Revision.

Through Councillor Brady, chairman, the begged leave to report and recommend that the Light and Power Company be instructed to have the band stand in the Court House Park lighted with gas on the evenings on which the Fire Brigade Band give open air concerts in the park.—Carried.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE

Councillor Denne reported that the appointed to confer with the Board of Education in reference to the bylaw to provide for an addition to the South Ward Public School, beg leave to report that they met the Property Committee of the Board, and after hearing the explanations of the Board your committee recommend that the bylaw be sumbitted to the ratepayers with the support of the members of the council, as we are satisfied that the plan proposed is, on the whole, the best in the interest of the school.

Carried

BYLAWS.

The bylaw to raise $3,000 for a highway bridge at Auburn, was introduced by Councillor Stone.

Councillor Dawson in the chair, opposed the bylaw on the ground that a highway bridge had never been asked for. The Auburn workmen wanted a footbridge to cross the river, and he advocated the erection of one. The town could not afford to build a highway bridge.

Councillor Stone stated that a footbridge would cost $1,800, and it would be a poor and short-sighted policy to stop short at such a structure when an additional $1,200 would be sufficient to erect a highway bridge.

Councillor Denne stated that a highway bridge would be useful to the merchants of the town in delivering goods.

Councillor Dawson held that $3,000 would be expended in the building of the approaches to the bridge.

Councillor Brady pointed out that the estimates of the engineer was that the bridge in question would only cost $2,500, being just $700 more than the cost of a footbridge.

Councillor Cahill spoke strongly in favour of the erection of the highway bridge. It would be a convenience not only to the town but county. It would be a wise expenditure of money. In two years the wisdom of such an action as by that time the council would be laughed at for erecting a footbridge instead of a highway bridge. He would like to add a clause to the bylaw, stating that no steps be taken to construct the bridge until the Auburn Company had deeded a right of way to the bridge, sixty feet in width.

The suggestion was fallen in with by the council and the bylaw was read the second time, as was the bylaw to raise $6,500 for the erection of the addition to the South Ward school, Councillor Denne taking the chair.

The opinion of the ratepayers will be asked concerning the two bylaws on June 17th and the voting places in the different wards are as appended :

Councillor Brady

INTERVIEWED MR. BAMFORD,

of the C. P. R., who stated that a committee of railway employees would meet next week to decide as to the objective point of their annual picnic. He asked the Council for the free use of the Driving Park as a picnic grounds to offer the committee as inducement to bring the picnic to Peterborough. Last year the picnic was held in Perth, and thirty coaches of railroad employees and their families were brought in on the C. P. R.

Mr. D. H. Low wrote objections to the removal of the hydrant from the north to the south side of the C.P.R. railway track. The hydrant was a great protection to the Central Bridge Company's works, and its removal would place the premises in danger in case of fire.

The hydrant, it will be remembered, was ordered to be moved at the request of the Matthews' Company.

The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee for settlement.

The following petition was presented by the local bicyclists :

Whereas the Peterborough Bicycle club has had sanction granted to it by the Canadian Wheelmen's Association for the holding of bicycle races at Peterborough on June 18th, Aug. 15th (Civic Holiday) and August 30th, at which three events, we understand that prizes purchased in town to the value of $1,000 or more will be given.

Whereas large crowds of outsiders will be attracted to Peterborough on the above dates, especially on August 30th, when 200 of the fastest American riders will be present, including Zeigler, Bald, Sanger, Johnston and others.

And whereas the races on the Civic Holiday will be an important factor in keeping large numbers of our own citizens at home to spend their money instead of going away.

Moreover, we think the town will be amply repaid by the money spent in our midst by outsiders on the above days.

Your petitioners do hereby pray that your honourable body do grant to the Peterborough Bicycle Club the sum of $350 to be spent by them towards buying prizes.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

Signed by the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, and fifty-two others.

MR. DENNISTOUN was invited to speak in regard to the petition, and set forth how the holding of the meets in question would attract large numbers to town, who would leave a great deal of money necessarily with the merchants.

MR. GUS HAY followed, and pointed out how advisable it was to keep Peterborough before the eyes of the public in order that the town might stand a good chance of securing next year's annual meet of the C. W. A.

Councillor Stone stated that the grant would be illegal. If the council decided to make it, he would see that an injunction be applied for in the courts to restrain the treasurer from paying the money over.

Councillors Dawson and Sawers also opposed the grant.

Councillors Stone and Dawson moved that it be refused.

Councillor Mason inquired of Mr. Stone how it was that if making a grant of this nature was illegal that he (Councillor Stone) was so energetic in advocating a grant for the big C. W. A. meet. Would not this latter grant also have been illegal?

Councillor Stone had to admit that it would have been, but that this other meet would have been of more advantage to the town, bringing, as it would, more people into the town.

Councillor Mason could not understand how Mr. Stone could juggle with the law in this fashion—voting for what he termed an illegal appropriation at one time and voting against a similar one later on just as it suited him.

Mr. Brady and Mr. Denne wanted the matter referred to the Finance Committee, but Councillor Mills and Mason moved in amendment that a grant of $100 be made to the bicycle club for the celebration of the Civic Holiday on August 15th. This amendment was carried.

The council then adjourned.

LACROSSE.

The Clothiers and Grocers, it is said, have decided to pick lacrosse teams from their ranks and issue a challenge to the printers. They cannot send in their challenge too soon, as the newspaper lacrosse and baseball teams have been lying in wait for some time for just such a challenge, and when it comes an acceptance will be sent in by the next mail. Any lacrosse team outside of the Peterboroughs can get a game on with the newspaper men by sending in their challenge.

The Peterboroughs turned out very strong last evening for their practice on Riverside Park, fully thirty players being on the field. Sides were chosen and the practice which followed was a good one. If a suggestion would not be considered amiss would it not be a good idea for the first team of the Peterboroughs to line up together each evening in order that the necessary combination work may be developed. If the team played together against all of the rest of the club it would certainly go far towards putting them into good shape for the 24th. They need to be in good shape too, as the Campbellford team is reported to be developing wonderfully under the skilful tuition of Lattimer, who is playing with them this year.

BASEBALL.

The Vaticans are getting into good shape for the season's work though it would be more encouraging to the management if more of the members would turn out for practice. The weather has probably had a good deal to do with the difficulty as "bat" balls are not any too nice to take, while the evenings continue as chilly as they have been for the last week or so.

It is within the possibilities that the Vaticans and the newspaper men may have a game within the next week or so.

CRICKET.

The cricketers are trying to make arrangements for a trip out of town on the Queen's Birthday. They would like to give either Belleville or Millbrook a match on that day and Secretary Gurd is writing to both clubs to see what can be done. The Peterborough's will send out a strong team.

DR. BARNARDO'S WORK.

Five Thousand Girls and Boys in His Homes.

In his April issue of "Night and Day," just to hand, Dr. Barnardo supplies abundant material for reflection. Although he has nearly five thousand boys and girls under his charge, it seems that a constant stream of new candidates is flowing into the Homes through the numerous Ever Open Doors, which welcome the destitute in London and the Provinces alike; and, judging by the instances of waif rescue set forth in Personal Notes, the pitable conditions from which Dr. Barnardo saves so many young people appear nearly as bad as they did thirty or forty years ago. Dr. Barnardo believes more firmly than ever in the efficacy of wisely managed emigration. Already this year 167 selected boys and youths have gone out from the Homes to Canada, making a grand total of 7,462. It is claimed that actually over 90 per cent. of the boys thus placed out beyond the four seas have acquitted themselves satisfactorily! We commend the Magazine to the perusal of our readers as a deeply interesting record of what is being done to cure, and better still to prevent, many of the social ills from which the body politic now suffers. The needs of the work are urgent. One item alone is $700 every day for food. It may be well to remember that Dr. Barnardo sits at the receipt of customs daily at 18 to 26, Stepney Causeway, London, E.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder disease relieved in six hours by the "GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN KIDNEY CURE." CURED OF CONSUMPTION.

DOCTORS DECLARED THAT THE CASE WAS A HOPELESS ONE.

One of the Most Remarkable Experiences on Record—The Patient Received a Doctor's Affidavit of Total Disability—Now on the Road to Complete Recovery—Dr. Williams Pink Pills the Life Saving Means.

From the Grand Valley (Ont.) Tribune.

Recently an item appeared in the Tribune's Marsville correspondence to the effect that Mr. John East, of the township of Garafraxa who for some time past has been in a condition of serious illness, was recovering his health. As it had been announced that Mr. East was suffering from consumption, the report of his recovery created much interest, and the Tribune determined to consult Mr. East and obtain the facts.

Mr. John East is about forty-five years of age, was born in the township of Garafraxa, and is well known and respected in the community. He is not a seeker for notoriety, but did not hesitate to relate the facts of his illness and the benefit he has derived from the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, when the Tribune reporter called on him. Mr. East's story is substantially as follows:—"About two years ago his house took fire, and as a result of the exposure and inhaling smoke he caught cold and was taken ill with pleurisy. His condition continued to grow worse and he was finally told by his doctor that it had developed into consumption. "At the time I took sick," said Mr. East, "I weighed 160 pounds, and was able to do as good a day's work as any man in the country. I consulted in all three physicians, but they held out no hope for me, and told me I was in consumption, one of them stating that my case was in an advanced stage. I am a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and a policy holder in the Massachusetts Benefit Association. From the former I received benefits for thirteen weeks, and so serious was my condition of health that I received a doctor's affidavit that I was totally disabled and could have drawn half the amount of my policy in the latter. My attention was first called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through the receipt of an anonymous letter urging me to give them a trial, and as you can see today, I have much reason to thank the writer of that letter. I commenced using Pink Pill about three months ago, and up to the present I have gained in weight 40 pounds. I am still using Pink Pills, and from what they have already done for me I have every confidence in them, and look to be soon as well as ever I was in my life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People make pure rich blood, restore shattered nerves and drive out disease. They cure when other medicines fail and are beyond all question the greatest life saving medicine ever discovered. Sold by all dealers, but only in boxes the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Pills offered in loose form by the hundred or ounce, are imitations and should be avoided, as they are worthless and perhaps dangerous.

CALIFORNIA'S VIOLETS.

They Arrive in New York Frozen in a Cake of Ice and Attract Much Attention.

A species of violet has been cultivated in California during the past year that surpasses the pansy both in size and fragrance.

A New York florist has been the recipient of a bunch of 100 of these California violets embedded in a large cake of ice.

They are about five times the size of the ordinary Russian violets, with stems varying in length from 15 to 18 inches. In shape and in size they resemble the pansy, but are far more fragrant than the violet which has become so popular for boutonniere purposes.

As yet no attempt has been made to cultivate the California violet here, nor is such an attempt likely to be made this season; but next year this flower, which is of such luxuriant growth, and which possesses such delightful fragrance will doubtless usurp the popularity gained by the Russian violet. Its color is of a deeper hue.

Of course, these flowers will be more expensive than the ordinary violet, but there is little doubt in the minds of leading florists that the California violet, despite its expensiveness, will become the favorite flower among society people.

Those in the florist's window looked as bright and fresh as though they had just been plucked and many were the passers by who gazed longingly and with admiration at the pansy-shaped violets frozen in the cake of ice.

Newfoundland's Affairs Are in a Sorry Condition.

$15,000,000 LIABILITIES NOW DUE

Retrenchment Will Provide for the Future But Present Needs Must Be Met—The Feeling Is That Canada's Offer Was Best Refused.

St. John's, Nfld., May 18.—Confederation, or rather the refusal of Newfoundland to enter the Dominion of Canada on the terms proposed, is the sole topic of conversation here. The conditions proposed to be imposed by Canada are considered to have been very poor and they would have been rejected had they been submitted to the electorate.

The Government appears to be frightened in the face of the severe retrenchment that is necessary to preserve the equilibrium of receipts and expenditures, and has postponed the introduction in the House of its retrenchment proposals until Tuesday next. These retrenchments will include the curtailment of every branch of the public service, and it is believed they will ruin the Government's chances of re-election.

Furthermore, it is questionable if retrenchment, however severe, will be capable of arresting the colony's progress towards bankruptcy. Ther is nearly $3,000,000 of floating debts, deficits, loans due banks, interest, etc., requiring some form of settlement by July 30. The question of how to grapple with this condition of things is agitating the Government.

Retrenchment will only provide the means of paying the colony's way in the future; nothing is arranged to provide for the payment of present debts. These now amount to $10,000,000, and obligations have been incurred requiring another $5,000,000.

The business people, those possessing money or property, are unanimous in desiring that Newfoundland be made a Crown colony, which would take her out of the hands of the local politicians and give her a clean, economical administration by British experts.

Canada Was Liberal—Newfoundland Perverse.

London, May 18.—The Pall Mall Gazette expresses much regret at the failure of negotiations for the Federation of Newfoundland with the Dominion of Canada. Canada, The Gazette says, has behaved most liberally.

The Globe says Canada has acted in an extremely liberal fashion towards Nefoundland, which has been correspondingly perverse. The Globe expresses hope that Great Britain, Canada and Newfoundland will jointly reconsider the negotiations.

London, May 18.—The Daily News says that the protest of the St. John's, Nfld., merchants against confederation is well adapted to influence public opinion here. There is no desire to force Newfoundland into union with Canada, although there will be no objection to confederation if the colony desired it. The refusal of the Marquis of Ripon, the Colonial Secretary, to give financial help is justified by the merchants' plea. The merchants should get the colony to request the appointment of the proffered Royal Commission.

Imperial Relief Will Soon Cease.

London, May 18.—In the House of Commons Sir Charles Dilke asked how long persons were to be employed upon relief works in Newfoundland at the expense of the English taxpayers, and how long a commissioner would be retained there to give state aid to the unemployed, whic was refused the idle workingmen in England.

Mr. Sydney Buxton, Under Colonial Secretary, replied that the Government expected that the necessity of such work would cease at the end of the present month and the duties of the commissioner would then cease.

Replying to another interrogation, Mr. Buxton said the Government could not make any statement in regard to the negotiations looking to the federation of Newfoundland with the Dominion of Canada.

Toronto Markets.

Flour — Firm; moderate demand. Straight rollers sold at $4 to $4.05.

Bran — The demand is inactive, with small lots selling here at $15 and car loads quoted at $13, west. Shorts, in car lots, $17, Toronto freights.

Wheat—The feeling is firmer, owing to the strength and higher prices of outside markets. Sales of white and red winter are reported at 88c to 89c, outside, and holders are now asking 90c. Manitoba No. 1 hard is also higher, selling at 94c, west, and 96c, Montreal freight. At North Bay it is scarce and firm at $1.03.

Barley—There is a good demand, but none offering. Prices are firm at 45c to 47c for feed.

Oats—The demand is moderate and prices steady. Ten cars of white sold at 36c west and five cars of mixed at 35c.

Peas—The demand is fair and prices firmer, sales being made outside at 60c.

Rye—Business dull and prices nominal at 58c to 60c.

Buckwheat—The nominal price is 43c.

Fatal Results of Delay.

Sickness generally follows in the path of neglect. Don't be reckless! but prudently take a few doses of Scott's Emulsion immediately following exposure to cold. It will save you many painful days and sleepless nights.

Sick Headache

CURED PERMANENTLY

BY TAKING

Ayer's Pills

"I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I

Began Taking Ayer's Pills

that I received anything like permanent benefit. A single box of these pills did the work for me, and I am now free from headaches, and a well man."—C. H. HUTCHINGS, East Auburn, Me

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the Best.

MR. DENNIS'S SURPRISE.

Mr. Dennis—An' ut's a foine bye you do be havin': he's the picture of his mamma.

Mrs. Ginnis—Sik him, Chesterfield.

LIGHT SENTENCES.

He—Did you know that Jimkins had been living a double life for the past six months?

She—No! The horrid wretch.

He—Yes; he gave up single life when he got married.

A Distinction Without a Difference.

Jinklets—I want my wife to be a woman who thinks before she speaks.

Plunkett—Why don't you say you are a confirmed bachelor.

A Reflection.

Landlady—I'm always forgetting—do you take cream in your coffee, Mr. Spluds?

Mr. Spluds (a pessimistic boarder)—Very seldom in this house, madam.

The Effect.

A strip of red flannel she wears 'round her neck,
She talks in a hoarse kind of way,
The pretty rose tints of her cheeks are a wreck!
For she was a Queen of the May.

The Character of It.

Manager—What is the character of the play you have written?

Playwright—Very bad. I made it to meet the taste of the times.

A Guess at It.

"What is the golden mean we hear about?" asked one small student of another.

"It must be a miser," replied the latter.

The Baker Got Mad.

Mother—Take this money to the baker's. It's to pay for last month's bread, and don't forget you are to ask him for a receipt.

Little Son—Yes, mum; I'll remember.

Mother (half an hour later)—Well?

Little Son—He got angry.

Mother—What?

Little Son—I gave him the money, and when I told him you wanted to know how he made his bread, he said that was his business.

A CAT'S WONDERFUL LEAP.

Fifty Feet to the Ground and Safety at a New York Fire.

An incident of the Columbus avenue apartment house fire on Thursday night which was unobserved by many of the thousands of spectators was the escape from cremation of a cat from a window on the fourth floor facing Ninety-fourth street. While the multitude was gazing with bated breath upon Detective-Sergeant Armstrong's rescue of the sick man, Caesar Pinto, it was apparent that the flames had eaten back into the rear of Prof. Kern's flat on the top floor.

A dull red glow was soon followed by the breaking of the window. At this instant a large black cat with shining yellow eyes appeared upon the sill. It was apparent that the rooms behind were a seething mass of flames. Tom arched his back, and his uplifted tail further bespoke his terror.

He hesitated but a moment, and then he lauched himself into space. His flight through the air was like that of a squirrel. His poise was perfect and his legs were spread out as wide as possible. He descended in a long, graceful plane, seeming to move slowly, as if buoyed up. There was a curve to the descent, as if the animal were an aeroplane. A reporter stood within five feet of the spot where Tom landed.

There was no dull thud, although those who had followed the black streak through the air naturally expected to see a cat with all of its proverbial nine lives crushed out in an instant by the impact. The perpendicular distance was all of fifty feet, and the cat landed at a point about thirty feet east of the line of the window from which he had leaped.

The spreading feet of the flying animal seemed to group together just before the asphalt pavement was reached. For a single instant did the animal pause, as if to recover from the shock it had experienced, and then, with a long-drawn meouw that spoke only of terror, and with every hair on end, it dashed down the brilliantly lighted street and disappeared in the shadows near Central Park. The cat was a pet in the family of Prof. Kern. So far as known it has not as yet come back to the scene of its great scare and still greater exploit.—New York World.

Won't Eat Their Own Dishes.

The fact that cooks rarely have much appetite for the food of their own preparation is illustrated nightly, at a well-known up-town chop house. There may be found the chef and several of the assistant chefs of one of the first hotels in New York. These men can have anything they want from the kitchens in which they are employed free of cost. The greatest luxuries of the market are at their disposal, and furthermore they know that everything is beyond reproach. The kitchens are supplied with all the latest improvements, and are so clean and appetizing that visitors are taken through them. As for the cooking, the fact that many of the best-known gourmets of the city have forsaken their old resorts for this one is ample recommendation. Yet the men who are responsible for all this go nightly to a simple chop house, where they have to pay the same as other customers for their suppers. The chef gave this explanation:

"When is constantly surrounded by food stus he gets tired of the sight of them. It is so with any other business. It is all right while you are at it, but when your work is done you want to get away from it. We come here to forget our work, and to eat things we have not seen nor handled."—New York Sun.

Warmed Up Fat Sparingly.

Every housewife has experienced that delightful pleasure of being caught scantily prepared at meal time and a number of unexpected guests on hand to provide for.

Recently such a situation presented itself to a lady in this city. Turning over in her mind the condition of the larder, she decided that the supply was sufficient if the members of her family would curb their appetites and the unbidden guests were not ravenous.

Taking her seven year old son aside she said: "Now, Johnnie, I want you to be a good boy and remember this, eat sparingly, and don't ask for a second help of anything. Mind that, and I'll see if your father won't buy you that bicycle."

At dinner the lady was so busily engaged in measuring things and figuring out whether the quantities would be sufficient that little Johnnie was entirely neglected. For a long time he struggled between his craving for food and his fear for losing the bicycle.

At last nature obtained the ascendant and he wailed out, to the shame of his mother and the information of the guests: "Say, mamma, how'm I eat sparingly if I don't get nothing to eat at all?"

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

THREE NOTED EPISCOPALIANS.

Who Have Used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powders, and in the Interests of Suffering—Humanity Say How Much it Has Done for Them.

In the ecclesiastical history of Canada the names of the Right Rev. A. Sweatman, D.D., D.C.L., Lord Bishop of Toronto, and Rev. John Langtry, M.A., D.C.L., stand out prominent, and within his own parish may be added to these the name of the Rev. W. R. Williams, Dr. Langtry's popular curate. These gentlemen believe in acting out the axiom of the Good Book, that having learned of that which has been a source of benefit to themselves, it is their duty to tell the good news to others. These three clergymen of the Episcopal church have each used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and found that for cold in the head and catarrhal troubles it is a great helper, and over their own signature they have said to the public that these things are so, that others may be likewise benefitted and helped.

One short puff of the breath through the blower, supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves in 10 minutes, and permanently cures catarrh, hay fever, colds, headache, sore throat, tonsilitis and deafness. 60 cents. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

She Was Complimented.

"Tie yer shoe, miss?"

"Yes," hesitatingly: the time of dragging shoe strings had come, but she hated to be reminded of it.

"Put yer foot right thar." He dropped on one knee, and placed his kit to receive the foot, and in a twinkling the strings were tied. Then the young woman fumbled in her purse and produced a nickel.

"I'd ruther not," said the boy, "'cause yer see we want yer for a mascot."

"Oh!"

"We're going into pardnership, man Jim—that's my brother—and Cripled Mike, and we agreed that the prettiest young lady we could find should be our mascot—an' you jest filled the bill."—Detroit Free Press.

SPYING ON IMPORTERS.

paid agent of a monopoly—a spy who would be most likely to present to the Government evidence which would be in line with his own interests?

The leader of the House had not proceeded far with his defence of the Controller, when he was brought up by the Speaker for using an unparliamentary expression and imputing an unworthy motive. His assertion was that the object of the Opposition was not to ventilate a grievance, but to make an attack upon the Government in an underhand way.

"Order, order," cried the Opposition members.

"I will explain what I mean," said the Minister. "Order, order." "What I mean is this"—"Order, order." The Speaker asked Mr. Foster to withdraw his objectionable statement, which that gentleman very promptly did.

Before the post of leader of the Government fell to Mr. Foster, it was not a usual thing for the occupant of that position to transgress the rules of the House, but Mr. Foster's capacity for leadership is not that which distinguished his predecessor. The sight of a party leader swallowing his own words is not a particularly agreeable one to his following. This is the second occasion in a few days that Mr. Foster has been obliged to retract.

When he was allowed to proceed he made the complaint that an attack had been made on the Government in a "left-handed" manner without notice having been given. So long, he said, as the system of protection was the law of the country, it was the duty of the Government to have the system carried out in its entirety. Fault had been found with the Controller because he had engaged an expert who happened, at one time to be engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements, but not one of those who had complained had asserted or proved that the information given by this expert was incorrect. It had been called tyranny. Was it tyranny to carry out the law? He contended that the Opposition had abused the privilege of moving the adjournment of the House, and he would favor the adoption of a rule that would protect the dignity of the House.

Mr. Casey: Put on the gag.

Mr. Mills said that Mr. Foster had not very long been the leader of the House, and before he undertook to interfere with free discussion he should wait until some serious difficulty arose. Mr. Mills vigorously condemned the course that the Government had followed in selecting for the work a man whose interest it was to keep competitors from selling goods on the Canadian market. The Government claimed that it was protecting the revenue, but as a matter of fact it was guilty of a conspiracy to sacrifice the revenue by preventing importation. The statement of Mr. Foster showed that the Government was not making a sham of the law, but an intolerable nuisance of it to the business men of the country.

Mr. Casey, Mr. Davies and Mr. McMullen also took part in the discussion, and emphasized the impropriety of the Government's action.

The subject then dropped, and the Budget debate was continued. Mr. Flint of Nova Scotia made an effective criticism of the Government's policy and administration.

Public Accounts Committee.

The Public Accounts Committee had the Sault Ste. Marie Canal contract before it to-day. Mr. Schrieber, Chief Engineer of Railways and Canals, appeared before the committee and was examined by Mr. Davies in regard to the papers produced. The witness gave particulars of the different changes that had been made in the contract of Messrs. Ryan & Co. for the construction of the canal. There were two changes made in the contract, increasing the size and depth of the lock. The contract was practically completed now. It might take $10,000 more to finish the lock in the way of levelling ground, etc. There were also about 500 feet of cribbing to be done. With these two exceptions the work was complete. The first contract called for the completion of the work in December, 1892. The time was extended to December, 1893. A bonus of $90,000 was to be given to Messrs. Ryan & Co. if the lock masonry was completed in 1893. The money was paid to the firm. The contract was again extended to December, 1894, and the lock was practically completed in July, 1894.

Mr. Ouimet objected to the evidence until such time as the orders-in-council were printed. As several papers were not included in those brought down the case was put off until the next meeting.

The case of F. M. Hamel, Assistant Engineer of Public Works, was next taken up by the Public Accounts Committee. Mr. Gobeil, Deputy Minister of Public Works, was examined. He said he knew nothing about the charge against Mr. Hamel, which was that he held $986, collected at different times, in his possession for two years, until this money was paid over on Feb. 6. Hamel was suspended on March 16 following. He never ordered Hamel to collect any moneys, but he supposed Mr. Coste, Chief Engineer, who was next called, knew very little about the case. He denied that he ever gave any authority to Hamel, who was his assistant, to collect moneys. He knew he was doing so since 1892. When the Auditor-General had written in July, 1893, complaining that the money was not paid over, that was the first time witness knew about the shortage. He then ordered Hamel to pay it over, although he did not do so until February, 1895. Coste then wrote to the Minister that Hamel had forfeited his right to his position, being guilty of gross negligence in the department. Although Mr. Coste had written this letter, he held that he was not responsible for Hamel. Messrs. Bergeron and Taylor defended Mr. Coste, while Davies and McMullen examined the witnesses.

At the Public Accounts Committee to-day the Fredericton Bridge case, in regard to the Government loan of $800,000, was called, but Mr. Foster asked that the Hamel case be taken up instead. There are several witnesses who are in the city, and who will be examined in this case.

The Royal Society concluded its labors to-day by electing the following officers: President, Dr. Selwyn, Ottawa; vice-president, Archbishop O'Brien, Halifax; hon. secretary, Dr. Bourinot; hon. treasurer, James Felcher. The different sections elected officers as follows: geological and biological sciences: President, Prof. Wesley Mills; vice-president, Prof. Penhallow; secretary, Dr. Burgess; all of Montreal. Mathematical, physical and chemical sciences: President, Prof. Bovey of McGill University; vice-president, Prof. Dupuis of Queen's University; secretary, Mr. E. Devillie, Ottawa. English literature: President, Dr. J. G. Bourinot; vice-president, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Archbishop of Halifax; secretary, Dr. Geo. Stewart of Quebec. French literature: President, Hon. Joseph Royal; vice-president, Abbe. Gosselin, Quebec; secretary, Mr. E. E. Roy, Montreal.

An interesting meeting was held to-night in the Assembly Hall of the Normal. It was entitled "An Evening With Canadian Poets." Miss Machas, Miss Pauline Johnson, Mrs. Harrison, Archbishop O'Brien, Rev. F. G. Scott, J. D. Edgar, M.P., N. F. Davin, M.P.; A. Lampman, D. C. Scott, W. W. Campbell, Bliss Carman, John Beade, all Canadian poets, read some of their own selections, specially prepared for the occasion.

XIII.

THE USE OF LIFE—IV. RELIGION.

Religion is not a business by and for itself, which a man may practise apart from his other occupations, perhaps on certain fixed days and hours; but it is the inmost spirit, that penetrates, inspires and pervades all our thoughts and actions.—Fichte.

Religion in daily life is a rule of conduct, a safeguard in prosperity, a comfort in adversity, a support in anxiety, a refuge in danger, a consolation in sorrow, a haven of peace.—Lubbock.

The charities of more and more widely-extended peace are preparing the way for a Christian Church, which shall depend neither on ignorance for its continuance, nor on controversy for its progress, but shall reign at once in light and love.—Ruskin.

And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy and walk humbly with thy God.—Micah.

A new commandment give I unto you, that ye love one another as I have loved you, that ye love one another.—Jesus Christ.

There is one body, and one spirit, even as also ye were in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all, and through all, and in you all.—St. Paul.

The attitude of the scientific and literary world, from the professor in his chair down to the Sunday afternoon spouter in the city parks, towards religion has of late years undergone a great change. Contempt for religion is now out of date. Men have learned to regard the scoffer as a very shallow person; for the ranks of religion number thousands of men as learned, as sober, as honest, as truth-loving, as are to be found the world over. The Rev. Winnington Ingram, who is perhaps the best informed man in London on the

in the East End, has recently declared that secularism is dead. At the other end of the scale the attitude of such thinkers as Edward Caird, Mr. Kidd and the Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, towards the spiritual factors in the development of humanity as it presses on to its goal, is quite sufficient to show the trend of opinion in the highest ranks of literature, philosophy and politics. Even science, as evidenced by the posthumous publication of the "Notes on Religion" by the lamented George Romanes, and the suggestive essay of Professor Fiske, is steadily deserting its old position of agnosticism, in favour of that of a somewhat vague, but very real faith.

Nor is this more than we should expect. There is as much reason for asserting that man is a religious, as there is for asserting that he is an intellectual, creature. It has been well said by Principal Grant that "scepticism and unbelief are only stages that mark the halting places of the human spirit in its search after God, the pauses of a religious people while new and wider religious forms are being prepared."

But whilst the religious outlook is full of hope and promise, whilst we may already discern the dawning of a new period in the history of our faith, and one of vastly greater triumphs than it has ever yet achieved, we must not shut our eyes to the fact that there is amongst us, and the world over, a sad amount of meanness, bigotry, and oftentimes it is this, and not scepticism, that induces good men to hold aloof from religion, lest they should become involved in religious disputings. A late learned professor in one of our universities was asked to which of the church newspapers he subscribed. To which he replied that he had too much respect for the small amount of grace that he possessed to risk it by taking an ecclesiastical paper. It would be good for us all, Protestants or Roman Catholics, Anglicans, Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, or what not, to lay to heart the words of our Lord, "Why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thy own eye?" We must have our own predilections, but let us cherish these without condemnation of others.

UNCHARITABLENESS AND INTOLERANCE,

The first quotation at the head of this letter emphasizes the all-important truth that at bottom religion is neither a form of worship nor a formal creed, but the spirit which gives the tone and colour to all our thoughts, words, and deeds. All our life is comprehended in these relations, God, self and the world. Every action, every word, every thought, has to do with one or other of these. To God we owe reverence and love, to self we owe it to keep "unspotted from the world," to our neighbour, "to love him as ourselves." Loving reverence, purity of thought and intention, in these things, consist true religion; all else is but the means through which we are strengthened in their performance.

AND LOVE OF HUMANITY;

For the worship of God we have our services of common prayer, praise and thanksgiving. For ourselves we have especially private prayer, meditation and reading. For aid in the service of men we have the Church of the living God, the one Body, with its one Faith, its one God and Father, its one initiatory symbol of baptism; of which it is declared that Jesus Christ is the Head, and which exists to bind men together in the unity of a common faith. This universal society is the "New Jerusalem" that appeared to the inspired vision of our Christian seer, St. John, which he beheld "coming down out of heaven from God, made ready as a bride adorned for her husband."

But just as human sin divided the one people of Israel, into the two kingdoms of Judah and Israel, so has human sin and weakness and impatience murdered the ideal unity of St. John and St. Paul. Men have too lightly separated about matters of opinion. But there is a rising tide of the purest and most which is, slowly it may be, but surely submerging in the depths of the love of Christ, the old landmarks of division—forms of Government, forms of worship, non-essentials of doctrine. We shall never all find one form of government equally adapted to all men and all circumstances, nor one form of worship equally uplifting and inspiring, nor stereotyped forms of doctrine, equally credible, but we are beginning to see that these things wherein we agree are infinitely greater than those wherein we differ, and formed the staple of the teaching of Jesus. Upon these we may join hands, and about the rest, "Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim."

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

Ninth Day of the Trial of the Twins.

THE CROWN HAS CLOSED ITS CASE.

Willie Wells' Picture Laid Alongside His Skull in Court—Carpenters Swear There Was no Obstruction in the Shaft—First witness For the Defence Called.

Toronto, May 20.—The case for the Crown against the Hyams' twins was brought to a close Saturday afternoon. Nine days were required to weld the chain which the prosecution claims connects these two men with the butchery of William C. Wells, and in the awful peril of the conclusion which the Crown will ask the jury to draw from these facts the twins stand to-day.

The greater part of Saturday was taken up with the testimony of surgeons for the prosecution, all of whom testified that the injuries to the head showed evidence of having been made by well-defined lines of force. It was also proven that there was no obstruction in the weight shaft.

Detective Sergeant Heidelberg, who came from New York city to give the criminal record of the prisoners, was called to the witness stand. Mr. Lount objected to his evidence being taken, contending that the Crown had not the right to put in evidence as to previous acts of the accused. Mr. Osler claimed that the defence had raised the question of character in their cross-examination of Broker Grandige, who, in reply to questions put by Mr. Lount, said he had always found them honorable men in all their transactions. He quoted authorities as showing that if the defence even attempt to prove good character the Crown has the right to put in records of previous convictions. His Lordship asked time to consult authorities. Later His Lordship held that the evidence of character put in by the defence did not go to the extent of entering into the general reputation of the prisoners, and, therefore, the Crown could not go into evidence as to bad character. The testimony of Detective Heidelberg and of Robert Pearson, a Jersey City detective, were, therefore, ruled out.

Heidelberg arrested the twins in New York fourteen years ago. The records in the detective bureau show that Harry P. and Dallas Hyams were arrested Nov. 30, 1881, by Heidelberg, on a charge of grand larceny. Three other men were arrested with them on the same charge. They were John H. Body, Hermen Gurkis and Don Child. The complainant against them was Manuel F. Martinis, who lived at 327 East Fifteenth-street. The Hyams brother were allowed out on trial by Recorder Smyth, but the other three each received a sentence of three years in State Prison, and were also fined $250 each. The Hyams' brothers were about 25 years of age at the time they were arrested by Heidelberg.

If an attempt is made to put in evidence as to the general character of the accused Heidelberg may be called in rebuttal.

The medical evidence was continued with Dr. Grasset in the box. The witness took the skull in his hand, and after speaking of the various lines of fracture, Mr. Osler asked:

Have you formed any opinion of the location of forces applied to produce the fractures found there?—A. There are evidences of two blows; one applied to the side, another to the front of the face.

What sort of instruments do you think would be capable of causing those wounds?—A. I think the blow on the side was with a heavy flat instrument. I could not gain from the evidence of the undertaker an intelligent understanding of the outer condition of the face, and, therefore, cannot give an opinion as to what instrument inflicted the blow on face.

After a lengthy consultation the defence announced that they did not wish to cross-examine the witness.

Dr. McFarlane agreed precisely with those who had preceded him, that the two lines of force were necessary. The fractures of the internal angular process of the superior maxilla and of the frontal bone were caused by the blow from the front.

Dr. Sweetnam also coincided with what had been said, with the possible modification of attributing in some measure the fractures of the condyles at the base of the skull to the line of force started by the blow delivered on the front of the face, provided it had a downward tendency.

A lengthy cross-examination was devoted to an effort to elicit from the witness the admission that, provided the skull was compressed into a space of two inches the fractures might result from the crushing pressure of the weight. The witness qualified his answers, but finally said it was possible, but very improbable.

After Inspector Stark had proved that the weight weighed exactly 200 pounds, Dr. Mackenzie was called and swore that the wounds indicated applied to more than one direction. He agreed with the opinions of Dr. Caven and Johnson.

Dr. J. Cotton of Lambton Mills and Dr. Primrose, associate professor of anatomy in Toronto University, swore there was certainly a lateral force, and a force from the front required to produce the injuries in the skull. "If a crushing force came obliquely from in front it could not produce all the fractures in this skull," said Dr. Primrose emphatically. He admitted that he had not observed the second line of force until it was investigated at a meeting of medical men in County Crown Attorney Dewart's office.

Charley Hackney, who cut off the supposed projection in the weight shaft, swore that there was no obstruction whatever in the shaft. Civil Engineer Galt, who examined the point where the sawing took place, testified that the board was flush with the joist. There could have been no obstruction in the box.

To Mr. Lount the witness said if the weight descended perpendicularly it couldn't catch, but if there was a vibration of even an inch to the east it might catch. The joist was flush.

Then The World was again brought into the case. There was a consultation between Mr. Osler, County Crown Attorney Curry and Detective Cuddy, and the officer absented himself, returning shortly with a crayon portrait of Willie Wells, the victim whose head had been handled for two days by the medical experts in the case. George Peart testified that he knew Willie Wells intimately, and that the portrait produced was a fairly accurate one. Willie was seen to be a thin, weak boy, resembling in many respects his two sisters. The object of this picture was to show that deceased was of no greater stature than either of the prisoners.

The bridge of Wells' nose was of a peculiar formation, throwing the glasses closer to the face on the right side of the head. A blow administered on this side of the face, however slight, would be sufficient to knock the glasses off.

This was the case for the Crown.

Mr. Johnston wished to know why the coroner was not called. It is true his name was not on the back of the indictment, but counsel thought that as the Coroner was there on the morning of the tragedy it was fair to the prisoners to call him.

His Lordship said as Coroner Aikins' name was not on the back of the indictment he could not order his call.

Mr. Osler said information had reached him that Dr. Aikins had, as coroner, applied for permission to give evidence as an expert for the defence. That was the reason his name was not on the indictment.

Dr. Aikins was then called, and said that he had a conversation with the Deputy-Attorney-General as to the advisability of giving expert evidence for the defence. The Deputy-Attorney-General thought he had better not do so, and he had decided that he would not.

Continuing, Dr. Aikins said that he received a telephone message from Dr. King about 10 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 16, 1893, and went down on a street car. He made enquiries from one of the twins, but did not know which one. He did not notice that the man's hands were bleeding. He had a dim recollection that Fox, the expressman, was there. "I went down into the basement," said the coroner, "and saw a body there. The body was lying north and south, the head a foot or a foot and a half from the box containing the cage. There was no weight box in the basement. The trunk of the body was lying partly on its left side and partly on its back, the right side of the face being up.

The easterly side piece of the weight shaft was in the basement, but there was no front on the box of the shaft. The weight was lying on its long narrow side close up against the cage shaft. The head looked as if it had been drawn further from the cage. There were two pools of blood, there being more blood where the head lay than in the other. He examined the head and found it very much shattered, badly fractured, the scalp was broken more at the top and possibly some at the back. The sides were crushed together as if had been pressed by some side pressure. It was considerably flattened. The head was soggy and resembled a bag of bones, with soft material around it. The temporal and parietal regions had been crushed. Dr. Aikins swore that he did not see the eyes, the eyelids must have been covering them, otherwise he would have seen them.

He didn't see any spectacles on the face or any gloves on the body. If either spectacles or gloves had been there he thinks he would have seen them. After examining the body he went upstairs and examined the top flat and found the rope and hook there. He could not remember whether he had examined the first flat. He had gone there in consequence of a request by Dr. King that he should examine and see if he could hold an inquest. Under the circumstances he could not take the necessary affidavit under the law. In cases of death, accident, mischance or natural causes a coroner is not supposed to hold an inquest. "As it presented itself to me entirely as an accident from enquiries and examination, I telephoned Dr. King that I did not think I could take the necessary affidavit."

Mr. Osler: You didn't know of the motive, you didn't know of the large insurance policy. There was nothing there to negative or exclude murder?—A. What do you mean?

Mr. Osler: I mean exactly what I say: Was murder necessarily excluded?—A. Well, in answer to that, I can say that I could form an idea of circumstances occurring there which might mean murder, but I don't think the conditions existing indicated murder.

"And what you were told assisted you in arriving at your conclusion?"—A. "Yes."

"You have been consulting with the medical men for the defence?"—A. "No."

"Nor communicating with them?"—A. "Except in a general way."

"And you suggested an inquest was advisable after the exhuming of the body. Was it because of the new light thrown on the case?"

"There were no glasses on the face. I did not see any gloves," said the coroner.

"Are you prepared to say your description of the place where the body was lying is correct, as against the testimony of others?"

"If its Humphrey's, yes, decidedly."

"You'll go for Humphrey, then? Have you it sufficiently impressed in your mind to warrant you in contradicting another witness?"—A. "No."

"How do you remember after two years that it was 10 o'clock when you received the telephone message from Dr. King?"—A. "The fact that I had a patient at Parkdale and I visited him helps me."

Mr. Osler: "Well, it don't help me a bit."

"Can you tell me, Doctor, how many inquests you have held this year?" A. "About six."

"Well, tell us the hour at which you received the notice to go to the first inquest this year."

"Well I really don't see what this has to do with the case." (Laughter.)

The Doctor could not recollect, and intimated that Mr. Osler was trying to rattle him, while the counsel denied the impeachment.

The Doctor continued: There was no clear explanation given him of how the tragedy occurred. He would not say whether he examined to see if the weight could fall off the hook.

He did not remember seeing a block there at the bottom of the weight shaft, and, not knowing whether there was a block, he could not of course say whether or not there was blood on the block.

He had no recollection of telling Dr. Bingham "not to make up his mind, as there was money in it for the defence."

"Will you swear you did not?" thundered Mr. Osler. "I have no recollection," said the witness. "Will you swear you didn't?" thundered the counsel for the fourth time.

Said the Doctor: "Jokingly, jestingly, I may have made this remark." "Yes," said Mr. Osler, "Jokingly, yes."

"Did you speak to any doctors to act for the defence?"

"I had no authority to ask anyone to act for the defence."

"Did you, whether you had authority or not?" said Mr. Osler.

"Yes, I may have," said the witness, and he was dropped there.

To Mr. Johnston witness said it was only in a general way he had spoken to Dr. Powell.

Mr. Osler: "How many times did you see Mr. Johnston, the prisoners' counsel, in respect to this case since the preliminary examination and the time of entering the box?"—A. "I cannot tell you how many; perhaps half a dozen."

Found Dead in the Berth

Collingwood, May 19.—Daniel McDonald, a middle-aged man, who has been working in the shanties at Collins' Inlet, left there on the City of Parry Sound on Thursday last, in order to consult medical men in Toronto. He spent the evening on the deck, retiring to his berth about 11 o'clock. In the morning he was found dead in his berth. It is said he has a brother a physician in Toronto.

Sudden Death of a Doctor.

Picton, Ont., May 20.—Dr. Fred Morden of Demorestville was found dead in his office about 11 o'clock this morning. He was around during the morning in his usual good health.

Farmer Shoots Himself.

Maxwell, Ont., May 20.—John Russell a wealthy farmer living near this place, committed suicide by shooting himself at noon to-day while in a state of mental aberration. He was unmarried and lived alone.

Killed on the Grand Trunk.

Jarvis, Ont., May 18.—The operator here found the remains of a young man of dark complexion and about 20 years of age on the G.T.R. track, shortly after daybreak Saturday. In a pocket of his coat was a card inscribed, "John C. Witty, attorney at law, Canton, Ohio," and on the back of the card was written with a pencil the name, "J. Norison, or Morison." It is supposed he was walking along the track and was struck by a train. The body was badly cut up.

Japan Wants Its Pound of Flesh.

London, May 20.—A despatch received from Shanghai says it is reported there that China asked Japan for an extension of time in which the former was to deliver the island of Formosa to the Japanese. Japan refused to grant the request, stating that she could not permit any modification in the ratified treaty of peace.

Attempted Suicide.

Hamilton, Ont., May 20.—Easson Ernest Bishop, a young man who was discharged from jail Friday, was arrested by Police Constable Zeats Saturday while attempting to hang himself with a rope.

France Objects to a Russo-Chinese Harbor

Paris, May 19.—La Lanterne, in an article on the Japanese situation, expresses the hope that France will decline to support Russia if that power insists upon having an open port, free from ice, in Chinese territory.

IS THE GAME WORTH THE CANDLE?

According to the returns, suspender manufacturers in Canada employ 64 hands altogether, and to give these employment suspender wearers in Canada paid nearly $20,000 in the way of tax on $56,000 worth of imported suspenders. Again the umbrella and parasol factories in Canada employ at least 105 hands. To keep those hands employed purchasers of these goods paid a tax of $72,000 on $206,000 worth of imported umbrellas and parasols. In other words it cost the tax payers $312.50 cents for every hand employed in a suspender factory, and it cost the tax payers $685 for each and every man, woman and child employed in the parasol and umbrella factories in Canada. Does this sort of thing pay? It is well to be good to the workingman and give him all the employment possible, but the tax payers paid out $92,000 in taxes to enable the owners of these factories to compel the people of Canada to buy their output, but you may be sure that the employees, instead of getting the figures (mentioned as the cost of receiving employment—that is $312 and $685 each respectively—or an average of about $350 per year—their pay probably averaged $200 a year.

Increased cleanliness in factories is reported by all three inspectors employed by the Ontario Government. In some case it is noted, too, that special dining and dressing rooms are provided for female operatives. These conveniences should be furnished in all establishments where many iris are employed.

Deficit seems to dog every department and enterprise of the Dominion Government. They bought butter at 20c., sent and sold it in England at 16c., when every one else was getting 22c. or 23c. for it. The butter deficit is added to the budget deficit, the Lachine Bridge deficit and other gaps in the financial garment.

OUR Newfoundland cousins are not very well acquainted with us. Recently there was in Newfoundland a run on the banks, and the Bank of Montreal came in for its share of the panic. The Newfoundlanders, if they had known the facts, would not have been guilty of such folly—they would have known that the Bank of Montreal itself could pay the whole of the island's debt of $12,000,000 without serious impairment of its cash reserves. Newfoundland should send its statesmen to Ontario to take a few lessons in government.

THE Toronto News says:—"There are suspender factories in Canada that employ all told 64 hands. In order to secure the home market as far as possible for these factories the consumers of this country were fined nearly $30,000 last year for purchasing a little over $56,000 worth of suspenders abroad." Our contemporary makes no calculation of the fine imposed on purchasers of suspenders made by the sixty-four hands. Since 1878 the Dominion has sought to lift itself by its boot straps, and this attempt to haul itself up by its suspenders will be equally futile.—Globe.

Words From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

PAP FOR THE PRESS.

Disclosures Made By the Auditor-General's Report.

SUBSERVIENCY MEANS SUBSIDIZED

A Million and a Quarter Spent on the Tory Papers—Civil Servants' Traveling Expenses Excessive—Interesting Reading For the Overburdened Taxpayers.

Ottawa, May 20.—It is quite as essential that the press, which assumes to discuss public affairs from a lofty and disinterested point of view, should be as independent of the Government of the day as the members of parliament, or the private citizen who undertakes a similar responsibility. A man or a newspaper may be accused of party ties and still be entitled to credit for disinterested motives, but when there is a substantial pecuniary inducement to support a particular administration and a particular line of policy, there is often good ground for the suspicion that the motive is selfish rather than patriotic. In the vocabulary of the politician, the expression, "subsidised press," occupies a prominent place, and its use has become so hackneyed that in the minds of many people who have not had the opportunity of perusing the pages of the Auditor-General's report, it is merely a rhetorical phrase, incapable of literal acceptance. That it means just what the words imply, is shown by the statement of expenditures during the last year. The advertising and printing account of the Government amounted to the enormous sum of $269,726, a large portion of which was distributed amongst the Tory organs of greater and lesser degree, from one end of the country to the other. The public is not concerned as to the disposition of the spoil, as far as the claims for consideration of the various organs go, but it is justified in protesting against the expenditure of its own money to purchase the favor of a certain portion of the press. When the Government pays over the people's cash it insists not on a delivery of the goods to the people, but to itself. It requires of these papfed newspapers a subservient support under all circumstances, no matter how unpatriotic or humiliating the service may be, and the public knows only too well how faithfully the contract is kept.

Mr. Foster has confessed a deficit, present and prospective, of $7,500,000; he has increased the taxation to deviate the anticipated shortage of next year, and he has indulged in some talk about producing an equilibrium between revenue and expenditure. If he is really in earnest in his desire for economy he could not begin at a better place than the press subsidy fund, but he would no more think of reducing this expenditure to a legitimate basis than he would of incurring the enmity of the combines by reducing the taxes of the people. In the past five years the Government has spent of the people's money almost a million and a quarter of dollars for advertising and printing, a large portion of which has gone to keep the Tory press up to its work. Here is the record:

	Advertising.	Printing.
1890	$46,701 65	$135,775 60
1891	60,212 77	215,608 24
1892	46,220 19	190,755 01
1893	41,890 38	190,049 59
1894	44,690 96	224,935 24
Total	$239,715 95	$957,123 68
Grand total		$1,196,839 63

A few examples may be given of the method adopted by the Government to secure the favor of subservient newspapers. These figures are taken from the Auditor-General's report for 1893-4:

There are in the Auditor-General's report some interesting details, showing how royally the civil servant maintains the dignity of his station at the expense of the overburdened taxpayer, and with what a lavish hand he dispenses the bounty of the country to obsequious car porters and others who contribute to his comfort. With the air of a multi-millionaire he showers about him the hard-earned money of the people, and supports a style that the average man could not even afford to think of. The country would not quarrel with a public officer for maintaining himself decently while traveling on the public business; it does not require meanness in discharging the ordinary obligations of the road, but when he has the effrontery to charge against the Treasury his laundry bill, his barber's bill and the fee of his bootblack, trifling as these items may be, it is time to protest. The petty smallness of such a proceeding is almost as great as the impropriety, and the astonishing part of it is that the superior officers of the man who make such charges will consent to initial them. This is a sample among scores of expense accounts put in by civil servants that the people of Canada are called upon to pay.

W. B. Billings, 12 trips:

Cabs to Ottawa Station $9.75, stations to hotels $8.10, hotels to stations $6.50, from Ottawa Station $10.50, sundries $14.75—$49.60.

Single fares $8.12, parlor cars $14.50, sleepers $41.25, car porters $5.75—$73.

Board $175.78, servants $14.95; less charged in 1892-3 $8.85—$181.88.

Barber, 27 times, $4.15; 9 baths $3.15, 11 books $4.95, boots 10c—$12.35.

Papers $2.56, postage $3.02, telegrams $2.32, elevators 41c—$8.22.

Street cars $7.80, parcels $1.70, ink 10c, phones 35c, ferries $1.14—$11.09.

Total $636.64.

Here is another specimen in which it it interesting to compare the amount expended in actual travel with the cab bill, porters' tips and sundry accounts of the official named:

J. B. E. Bedard, two trips:

Cabs: Office to house $1, house to station $1.50, stations to hotels $2, hotels to stations $1.50, paying accounts in Buckingham $1.25, station to house $1.75, sundry $4.50—$13.50.

Single fares $9.70, return tickets on steamer $1.55, parlor cars $1, porters 50c—$12.75.

Board $7.50, telegrams 29c, papers 5c, boots shined 5c, sundries, not named, 80c—$8.19.

Total $33.44.

It will be observed that in the following account the country has paid $12 for the rental of a fur overcoat for a gentleman named Cote, and that it has presented him with a new umbrella valued at $2.55. His statement of traveling expenses follows:

I. Cote, paymaster, 33 trips.

Cabs: Office to house $13.50, to Ottawa station $30.25, stations to hotels $72.05, hotels to stations $66.75, sundry $87.75, from Ottawa station $50.25—$304.55.

Single fares, Ottawa and Montreal, 38 at $3.50; sundry $5.34—$667.

Pullmans $90, car porters $31.50—$121.50.

Steamers $37.30, boat hire $5.75, ferries $2.55—$45.60.

Horse hire $57, team, St. Anne to Murray Bay, etc., twice at $25—$107.

Board $468.16, telegrams $10.87, phone 30c—$479.33.

Fur coat, 28 days at 50c, $13; umbrella $2.55—$15.55.

Total $1821.28.

The private secretary of the Minister of Public Works is Mr. R. C. Desrochers, and if anybody doubts that he is a jolly good, open-handed, free and easy fellow, let him read the following accounts:

R. C. Desrochers, Private Secretary, 27 trips:
Cabs—To Ottawa station, $26.75; stations to hotels, $21.50; hotels to stations, $18.85; sundry, $54; from Ottawa station, $20.75.	$ 141 85
Single fares, Ottawa and Montreal, 46 at $3.50, $161; sundry, $68.70.	229 70
Fares to New York, March 28, and return, $22; to Calumet and return, two at $3.10.	28 20
Pullmans, $49; porters, $13.25; steamers, $5.	67 25
Telegrams, $15.28; 'phones, $1.05; stationery, $1.	17 33
Railway to Chicago fair grounds, $1.50; entrance tickets to World's Fair, $3.	4 50
Board, $255.20; American postage, $2.	257 20
Sundries not divided (waiters, porters, bell boys, papers, etc., in early accounts).	14 40
Waiters, porters, bell boys, car boys, $9.15; newspapers, $3.05.	12 20
Barber, $1.50; laundry, $1.50; cleaning boots, $1.05; two books, $1.	4 40
	$ 778 03

From the bill of Octave Dionne, accountant in the Public Works Department, it appears that he spent $16 for Pullman cars and tipped the porters to the generous amount of $8.20, or about $1 per tip. The country paid 30 cents for shaving Mr. Dionne, $1 for blacking his boots and $6 for the "wear and tear" of his coat and vest. J. Ewart, assistant to the chief architect of the Public Works Department, charged the country $11 for a bag and $5.20 for newspapers. Chief Architect Fuller charged the Treasury with $17.65 that he had given in gratuities to hotel porters and waiters and $10.25 to car porters. Such generosity is admirable. E. B. Goodwin received from the Treasury $3.50, which he had to pay for medical attendance, in consequence of a cold contracted while performing his duty at Goderich. In the statement of F. M. Hamel, ex-assistant chief engineer of the Public Works Department, there is an item of $150 "not accounted for." Mr. Hamel, who is the person that defaulted in his return of the dues collected on the Du Lieure lock, which he was compelled to pay up, spent $729 in traveling, and gave away $13.50 in tips to porters. James Howden, superintendent of dredging, was generous to the servants who attended upon him. He gave them $33 of the public's money. Arthur St. Laurent of the Public Works Department, whose headquarters are at Winnipeg, is credited with $384, of which $14 was for "rent of room at Ottawa for clothes and trunk while away, at $3 a week." In the account of J. B. Laurent, jr., is this item: "Papers, shining boots, waiters, porters, sundries (details not given) $16.94." The account of J. C. Tache, engineer, stationed at Rimouski, contains the item: "Washing $11." The traveling expense accounts of J. W. H. Watts amounted to $384, of which 25 cents went to his barber and $14.75 to Messrs. S. and H. Borbridge of Ottawa for a new valise for him.

There are many trifling amounts in these accounts, but the report is full of such disgraceful charges, which, in the aggregate, make a large sum of money. The subject is one that should cause the taxpayer to reflect.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold travellers imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out these samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

BRITISH ELECTIONS

Are Expected to be Brought on in July.

ROSEBERY'S MAJORITY ONLY TEN.

The Westminster Gazette Declares That The Sooner the House is Dissolved the Better—Earl Selborne's Seat to be Declared Vacant—O'Brien's Debt paid.

London, May 20—The imminence of a dissolution of Parliament increases. It is not alone that the Government majority is now only ten, but that the Government party organs are clamoring for an appeal to the country and demanding that the Ministry shall go immediately before the constituencies as the wisest resource in order to escape ultimate overwhelming disaster. It is also known that there are grave dissensions in the Cabinet over the question whether to proceed with further business or to indicate that the time is up.

The Westminster Gazette, in its issue of Saturday, publishes an article under the caption, "Now or Never," in which it asks the question, does the Government mean to persevere in its policy of filling up its cup in promoting a bill for the House of Lords to reject and taking a line which only timid Liberals can approve? Unless the Ministers take a decisive step, and quickly, too, The Gazette adds, they cannot complain if the party gets out of hand. All things considered, the sooner they dissolve the better.

The Westminster Gazette in these utterances voices the unanimous feeling of the Radicals as well as the Liberals.

Mr. Labouchere, in a speech to his constituents at Northampton last evening, declared that the Radical Government could not possibly, without a gross breach of the Radical principle, continue to meet in Parliament with a majority reduced to 10 votes. A Conservative Government might do this, he said, because the Conservatives did not represent progressive legislation, but a Radical Government must necessarily have a working majority in order to carry out the Democratic measures that the country desired.

In the meantime the Liberal-Unionists are contentedly waiting the upheaval within the Liberal party and make no effort to accelerate the crisis. It is believed, however, by everybody that the crisis is certain to come in the vote on the Local Veto bill, which Sir William Harcourt continues to be determined to press forward. The height of the London season is not a period that the Unionists and Conservatives would naturally select for a general election, but the Government once decided to dissolve Parliament can choose their own time and their opponents will have to abide by the decision.

Commenting upon the situation, The Spectator makes this point and warns the Unionists throughout the country that they ought to make preparations without delay, and be ready when the mine is sprung.

The National Liberal Club accepts the end of July as the most probable date for the new elections.

The Selborne peerage episode was practically closed when the Parliamentary Committee, in accordance with the provision of the motion of Sir William Harcourt, was appointed on Monday with only a few minutes of formality. Of course it is understood that the committee will after mere perfunctory discussion declare Viscount Wolmer's seat vacant and his gentleman, as the Earl of Selborne, will immediately apply for his writ of summons to a seat in the House of Lords. His intention to abandon his assertion to right to sit in the House of Commons was announced in a letter in which he advised the Liberal candidate for the seat he vacated to vigorously prosecute his canvass in the eWst Edinburgh constituency.

In leaving the House of Commons, Viscount Wolmer leaves to thew friends of Mr. William O'Brien a subscription sufficient to pay the claim of Mr. Patrick A. Chance, M.P., against the member for Cork city, and thus prevent Mr. O'Brien from becoming a bankrupt, in which case he would have to vacate his seat in Parliament, as no person who has been formally declared a bankrupt and has not removed that disability can sit in the House of Commons. Mr. O'Brien is entirely indifferent about remaining in Parliament, and will accept assistance only in order to keep his seat from being contested by the Opposition. It has long been known that he cared nothing about keeping his seat in Parliament, preferring to devote himself to literary pursuits, and he has remained as long as he has solely for the purpose of keeping the seat securely in the column of his faction of the Irish party.

DULL UNIFORMITY.

Matters Tend to That Condition in Britain's Parliament.

No institution can stand unless it is idealized, unless it is mirrored in the histroic imagination, unless our analytic judgments about it are taken, as George Eliot says, in a "strong solution of feeling." No one, therefore, will critise too closely the tender sentiment of reverence for the histroic House entertained by Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Peel. Where we should be inclined to criticise Mr. Peel's farewel utterances is in his laying exclusive stress upon the maintenance of the historic dignity and traditions of the House. It would, indeed, be unfortunate if the lack of traditional dignity, which characterizes the American House of Representatives, were to pervade the House of Commons. But we do not think it probable, for unquestionably the manners of the House have improved. The House rather tends to be commonplace, to the colorless monotony of an assembly of respectable city men. In this, too, it reveals its representative character, for that is the note of an English public assembly to-day.

We have no sleepy, ignorant country squires, stupefied by strong ale; but then we have no Pitt, no Grattan, no Burke. Things is therefore likely, on the whole, to maintain its dignity, which has certainly never been lowered by a single labor member. The real question is whetner it will maintain its efficiency. Old traditions are well enough, but we need them wedded to new methods in order that the new tasks of to-day may be performed. The methods which did well enough for a narrow-minded, middle-class electorate and a less complex social life, are scarcely equal to the far more difficult and onerous duties of to-day. The machine is clogged, and the nation's work is in serious arrears. If Parliament is to overtake its work, if the national demands are to be satisfied, a great scheme of legislative reform is inevitable. Until that is undertaken we fear that there will be little else than "ploughing the sand."—London Chronicle.

BRAIN WORK AND VITALITY.

Mental Exercise is Said to be Conducive to Longevity.

As a factor in longevity the London Speaker calls attention to the fact that those people who have been accustomed to the continued disciplinary use of their brains daily and who have placed their nerve power under a highly-developed constitutional training are enabled by these very means to escape the so-called early decay and to avoid those alarming accidents to health from which so many apparently healthy men succumb. People who use their brains and observe ordinary hygienic care of their bodies resist diseases in the first place; and when they are actually ill they prolong their lives or recuperate sooner than do those who have lived less intellectual lives. Thus there is given a new force to the assertion that you may kill a man with anxiety very quickly, but it is difficult to kill him with work.

Whether the brain can actually give power to the muscles is not certain, though the enormous strength sometimes developed in a last rally looks very much like it. That it can materially affect vitality is quite certain, and has been acknowledged by the experienced in all ages.

Victims of the "Rush" Habit.

That much of the "rush" that is so characteristic of American life is the result of habit rather than necessity is shown by the fact that it quickly yields to curiosity. Instances of this are afforded daily in the busiest thoroughfares. The familiar spectacle of a man or woman frying griddle cakes in the front window of a restaurant is one that never fails to attract a knot of observers, even in the most crowded part of Broadway, at an hour when business is most brisk. The tide of travel always has to turn aside when a big safe is being hoisted to the seventh or eighth story of some tall office building because of the crowd of clerks, salesmen, and men of business who have stopped for a few minutes to look on, and most of whom will soon be tearing through the streets at a rate which would seem to indicate that his or death depended on the speed they made.

It is at the elevated railroad stations that there is the greatest display of haste. Men rush upstairs and push and elbow one another about on the platform as though to miss a particular train would involve a delay of several hours and no end of inconvenience to each and all of them. And yet, only a few days ago I saw two score men and a half a dozen women let three trains pass them while they watched a sign painter at work on a patent medicine advertisement on a blank wall. And before he attracted their attention they had all been struggling like mad to catch the first train that came along.

Some day as a nation we may awake to the discovery that we can do this time now and then when we feel like it.—New York Sun.

Babies, Not Nonentities.

THEY CLAIM OUR BEST CARE.

They Thrive Best on Lactated Food.

Some mothers act as if their babies were nonentities—being not worthy of thought as far as proper dieting is concerned.

In nine cases out of ten such mothers have cross puny and delicate babes, because they are badly nourished. The happy, contented, and loving mothers make Lactated Food their friend, and baby's protector and nourisher. The results that flow from the use of this food are far beyond computation.

Lactated Food makes fat healthy and robust babies, who are able to pass safely through the hot summer weather without fear of dysentery, diarrhœa or other prevailing infantile troubles. Lactated Food "Saves babies' lives."

A NEW GUIDE.

The Beauties of the Lake St. John Railway Route.

From the Morning Chronicle, April 1, 1895.

The Lake St. John Railway has just issued a new edition of its illustrated guide to Lake St. John and the Saguenay, which is acknowledged by railroad men to be one of the most tasty and well-prepared pieces of tourist literature issued by any railway or steamboat company.

The literary work is from the pen of Mr. E. T. D. Chambers, and comprises, besides a most interesting description of the points of interest and beautiful scenic attractions of this route, some very interesting historical facts and traditions in connection with the antiquities of Quebec and the Saguenay country, which has never hitherto ben published. The covers of the pamphlet, in bright colours, prepared by the Toronto Lithographic Company, are most striking and attractive, one being an illustration of a salmon, ouananiche, in the act of rising to the fly, the other a souvenir of the old military glories of Quebec, in a port hole view of the Citadel from old Prescott Gate, with a Highlander of the Black Watch standing on guard. The printed matter is from the Chronicle press and the illustrations from half tone plates of photographs by Livernois. The guide is the most attractive piece of work of its kind which we have ever seen, and is well worth preservation as a souvenir.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life, I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 369 George street.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON 112 Anne St., Toronto

A Parallel Case.

The present cold weather brings to mind the terribly cold time in June, 1839—a frost on the nights of the 5th, 6th, and 8th June. Everything was blighted—apples were as large as walnuts and fell off the trees; clover in bloom, and fields of waving grain were in a few days like ploughed fields, and wheat never matured. It was a terrible year for the farmers and fruit-growers.—Port Hope Guide.

Dave McNab in Charge.

Well Done, Port Perry.

The Port Perry town council and authorities have made up their minds that bicycle riding on the sidewalks, street lounging on the corners, swearing, drunkenness, and all manner of rowdyism must be stopped, and they intend an example will be made of each and every one violating the law. Notices of warning have been printed and posted. It is also rumoured those young men and lads who still persist in making annoyances of themselves standing in front of the churches on Sunday evenings will have a lesson given them not very profitable to their purses.

The Horse Strayed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Brown, of Peterborough, had an unpleasant experience on Wednesday night. It appears that they stopped at the Queen's Hotel, Lakefield for a short time, and the hostler brought their horse and rig out when they were ready to go home, and tied it to the post, leaving it there. When they went to get into the rig a short time after they found that the horse had broken the snap and wandered away. After hunting around for some time, they concluded the animal had started for home, and procuring a rig Mr. Brown started for town, but he had not gone far when he met a man returning with the horse, he having found it at Mr. Jas. Sanderson's, in Smith. Needless to say it was a relief to Mr. Brown when the horse turned up all right.

BADLY BITTEN BY A HUGE MASTIFF DOG.

A Little Boy is Mauled by one of These Big Brutes.

The large number of big mastiffs roaming the streets of Peterborough and Ashburnham has often attracted attention and the attending danger if one of these should ever attack a man, woman or child has also been frequently commented upon.

On Saturday an incident occurred which will probably result in the muzzling of all these huge brutes.

A ten-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Gibbs, of Ashburnham, together with a companion, was hanging on to the back of one of Calcutt's delivery waggons driven by Mr. M. Costello riding over into town to see the circus, when just as the wagon reached the bridge, one of the boy's hats blew off and young Gibb's jumped off the waggon to recover it. Just as he was climbing back into the vehicle Mr. Faint's big dog rushed out and seized the lad's thigh between his massive jaws. The boy was dragged from the wagon into the road and severely bitten by the dog before it could be driven off by Mr. Costello.

Dr. Clarke was summoned and dressed the wounds, and the little fellow is now doing well, though his nerves were considerably shaken up though the incident. He will be confined to his bed for some days. The dog has been the subject of complaint before, and it is understood will be either despatched or sent out of town to-night.

Fishing.

Mr. Fitzgerald, the Fishery Inspector, was in the neighbourhood during the week paying his attentions to the parties who are spearing maskinonge. A visit to Nogey's Creek was productive of several fines of $5. The Inspector might well organize a special raid upon Emily Creek There is not the slightest doubt that illegal fishing is being carried on to a very large extent. Some years ago a raid was made around these lakes, that cleared out the nets, spears, and illegal appliances so closely that for several seasons after there were scarcely any infractions of the law. Through absence of any patrol, the appliances have been renewed again, and another thorough raid is much needed.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Fishery.

Mr. Wilmot, of the Newcastle Fish-Hatchery, took out 50,000 salmon trout fry on Friday last and placed them in Brady's Lake, in the township of Hindon, Haliburton. The settlers in the locality are greatly indebted to Mr. McIntosh, as it was entirely owing to his personal work and influence that the fish were obtained. Notwithstanding the long distance the fry were brought, and the rough roads they had to be taken over, they arrived at their destination in splendid order, but much of this was in consequence of the care taken of them by Mr. Wilmot, who is an expert in this line of work. It is hoped the experiment thus made will prove successful and that the settlers in the neighbourhood of Brady's Lake will have the benefit thereof. The lake is a large one but has never before been stocked with salmon trout.

ELOQUENT SERMONS BY DR. MILLIGAN.

MAN LIVES BY REASON OF HIS STRENGTH.

The Anniversary Services in St. Paul's Yesterday — Large Congregations Assemble to Hear the Well Known Pulpit Orator.

Rev. Dr. Milligan, pastor of Old St. Andrew's, Toronto, preached both the morning and evening sermons at the anniversary services which were held in St. Paul's church yesterday. As the doctor is one of the most popular pulpit orators in Canada, the congregations in attendance during the day were very large.

In the evening he preached from the verses: "If a man die shall he live again? All the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change come."—Job, xiv, 14; and, "the days of our years are three score and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet it is their strength, labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off and we fly away."—Psalms xc, 10.

In these two verses, said the speaker, we have two

VERY IMPORTANT STATEMENTS

1. Man has but an appointed time to live on earth.

2. The time is limited to fourscore years.

It was to be noticed that in the latter verse of the two he had chosen for his text, it was stated that the fourscore years might be attained through vigour—by reason of strength. It would be seen by the verse that God reached his purposes through rational means. The statement that we might, by reason of our strength, attain the age of four score years was rational. Four score years was the time set, and the statement formed a part of our religion. All of our religion would be found as rational as this if investigated. Everyone could understand that if a man husbanded his strength and wasted it not in riotous living or otherwise, that his years would be prolonged to the glory of God. God owned the body as well as the soul, and He did not like to see the body abused. The Greeks thought everything was in the disembodied spirit, and many persons living to-day were of the opinion that the

and the depriving it of nourishment, was a glory to God. Not so. St. Paul did not belittle the body. The time appointed for a man to live was three score years and ten, and actions tending to shorten the life upon earth were not at all a glory to God. The earth and its material contents belonged to Him, as well as the spiritual things, and should be used in His name.

"Ignorance is the mother of Devotion" was an old maxim, and many people of the present day pinned their faith to it and would have nothing to do with the new inventions, holding that the great material evolutions of the present age were works of the devil. These men say, "Dispense with all theological schools and with discussion of the Scriptures," and they think it would be glorifying God if a man stepped into the pulpit to preach without any preparation and depended upon the Spirit for inspiration. This might be all very well for some men, but for others a very poor sermon would be the outcome, as the action would be irrational and therefore not in accordance with religion.

SOME MEN HELD

that if one only had faith in God there would be no need of doctors, but the speaker pointed out that this also was irrational, as all the arts in medicine were the gifts of God and were provided with a purpose and to serve an end. Why else were they placed at man's disposal. It was by reason of strength, not weakness, that four score years were reached and man should take advantage of these God-given herbs to prolong his life.

When the Almighty had a great work to be done he sent great men to do it, not men of weakness but such mighty men as Calvin Wesley and Knox. No pigmy could have accomplished the work which they performed, and God never sent a pigmy to do a giant's work. Great strength, not weakness, was the glory of God. Whenever the word of God came for a great work to be done, there in line were to be found the great men. Men and nations were only great where the word of God had spread. Where were Spain and Portugal now—dead and half forgotten. Where was China, with her hoary centuries? China, whose army came down to the coast only recently to fight with bows and arrows, a fact which would be ludicious

WERE IT NOT SO PITIABLE.

Religion needed no easy going devotee. The men gifted with aggressiveness, the strong belligerent men, were those who did the grandest work for Christ after their conversion. Look at St. Paul, chief of sinners, a fire-eater, a man whose deeds caused children to shiver at mention of his name, whose pleasure was to drag women through the streets by the hair of their heads, one of the worst characters, in fact, which the world had ever seen, but when he was converted and clothed in his right mind, he connected this same aggressiveness with his religion, and like the swiftest of ships, he swept the seas and accomplished such deeds as have caused his name to be handed down as a saint, and his early career almost forgotten. This, Dr. Milligan thought, was ample proof of the fact that it was by strength, intellectual and physical, that one becomes great, not by weakness.

Religion, the speaker held, was that which made a man truly natural. If religion did not make a man reasonable and kind to his wife and family, he had better look closely into his religion and see if it was not ONLY A MAKE-BELIEF.

The eight commandment should be an important factor in every man's life, public and private, though some of the members of parliament did not appear to think it applied to them.

A man in the pulpit should preach with the grace and love of God in his heart, for unless this was the case a man could be positively cruel in his vindictiveness in the pulpit and could do irreparable wrong to those whom he desired to reach by his words. The love of God only should be dwelt upon and charitableness went a long way. Was it not said in I Corinthians xiii chap., that Though I speak with the tongues of men and angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.

And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity I vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.

These verses, Dr. Milligan thought, were worthy of the most thoughtful consideration.

As he said before, to be religious was

TO BE TRULY NATURAL,

and in working up to what a man should be a man was filled with the Holy Spirit and fulfilling a divine purpose.

The only cure for the ills of time was religion. It makes everything come right. For if the spirit is right, all is right — in schools, politics, home, economies, etc. In the various labour troubles occurring every day, the difficulty was caused by the fact that the employers didn't know their men. It was the duty of every Christian employer to know something of the lives of his employees, his duties as between man and man could not be discharged through cash. Help should be extended in other ways.

In closing Dr. Milligan dwelt strongly upon the fact that all the appliances of human life were a means of grace to man, and should be used as such. Men said that none should go into the pulpit for the purpose of earning bread, but simply for the glory of God. This was true, but it was also true of every other walk in life. A man should not enter law nor medicine except with a holy purpose. Both these were as much a means of grace as the sacraments of the church.

THE RECENT BAPTIST CONVENTION.

The Ladies Express Their Gratitude for Favours Received.

The ladies of the Murray street and Park street Baptist churches wish to express through the Examiner their cordial thanks to all those who assisted them in extending hearty and much appreciated hospitality to the visiting delegates to the recent convention. Irrespective of denominational lines homes were generously thrown open to entertain the "strangers within our gates. The following communication was received this morning:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—At the Board meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Society held in the Peterborough Baptist church, on May 17th, a vote of thanks was past to the reporters for the full and satisfactory account of the meetings published in the papers.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. B. C. Andrews, conducted services last evening at St. Luke's.

The anthem "Praise the Lord" was well rendered at the George Street Church yesterday morning.

Mrs. Seward sang Mendlessohn's "Rest in the Lord" very sweetly in the George Street Church last evening.

Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's, conducted services in the South Ward mission last evening. For his sermon he took the theme "The Love of God."

The members of the large class which was confirmed at St. John's church last Wednesday will partake of Holy Communion in a body on Whitsunday, June 2nd.

Misses Montgomery and Paterson, and Messrs. McKeown and McCallum took the quartette in the anthem "How Long wilt Thou Forget me," in splendid voice yesterday in St. Paul's.

The anthem "Christian, the morn breaks sweetly o'er Thee," was sung with fine effect by St. Paul's choir last evening. Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and Mr. W. F. Nelson took the principal parts.

In the Charlotte Street Church, yesterday morning, the anthem "Light of the World" was sung very effectively. Mr. Steers took the solo, and Messrs. A. L. Davis and W. J. Squires the duet.

There was an especially large congregation in attendance last evening in the Charlotte street church to hear Rev. J. J. Rae, the popular pastor, on the subject, "Men that God did not Make." In this category he placed selfish men, liars and all classes of criminals. Man, he argued, was made in the image of God, and those falling short were not God-made men.

Mr. T. S. Cole, travelling Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., addressed the congregations of the Charlotte street and George street Methodist churches, respectively, yesterday morning and evening. He explained the aims and objects of the association very vividly, and laid stress on the good work it was doing here and in other places, where its rooms proved a haven and home for young men.

The anniversary services will be held in St. Andrew's on June 2nd. The Rev. Dr. Smith, of Kingston, will conduct these services. On the following Monday there will be a social tea, after which there will be special music by the choir, etc., and Dr. Smith will deliver his far-famed lecture on "The Boys I Have Known." This lecture, bristling with wit, humour and sound sense, delivered in the doctor's inimitable style, should be heard by all.

Yesterday morning the congregation in St. Andrew's was quite small owing to the heavy rain. Mr. Cole was present and spoke for a short time on the Y.M.C.A. work, after which the Rev. Mr. MacWilliams preached a practical and eloquent sermon from 1st Kings, 19, 13, "What docest thou here Elijah?" The choir was large and excelled itself in the rendition of the anthems. The solos were specially were taken by Messrs. Mulligan and King. The evening congregation was very large, when a stirring sermon was delivered from Rev. 3, 20, "Behold I stand at the door and knock." The music was again greatly appreciated.

TO SEE HER MAJESTY.

LADIES ARE CURIOUS TO GET A GLIMPSE OF THE QUEEN.

How People Crowd the Streets Where Her Majesty Will Pass—The Queen's Dresses—Her Health is Good.

A London correspondent of a New York paper writes:—On the rare occasions when the Queen does come to London her subjects always show great eagerness to catch sight of her, and the aspect of the metropolis undergoes quite a curious change when the Royal standard is floating from the roof of Buckingham Palace. By merely walking about the West End I am certain I could tell that the Queen had arrived, even if the daily paper had not already told me so. There are various signs and portents which mean royalty in residence. One of the most interesting and quaint of these is the old ladies. When the Queen happens to be in London the observer will not fail to note the swarm of old ladies that sweep like a swarm of locusts through the streets and lanes of our city. They are all trying to see the Queen. Glance at any policeman and you will find him surrounded by old ladies, who expect him to be acquainted with every thought that passes through the mind of what Carlyle calls "Majesty." Where will Majesty drive, and when? From what gate of Buckingham Palace will the carriage of Majesty issue, and what precise hour? These and a thousand other questions drive the men in blue almost to despair, when the court is in London. But the energy and determination of ladies desirous of seeing the Queen overcome all obstacles. They will stand in the mud or frost for hours on the chance of catching a glimpse of the royal carriage, and many of them travel up from distant country places merely in order to wave a handkerchief, and give vent to a murmur of welcome. The uncertainty that prevails as to the Royal movements sometimes leads to rather comical scenes. About half-past four on the last drawing-room day I was walking quietly up Piccadilly, when I noticed a gradual haste overtaking the people whom I met. Sedate ladies suddenly began to hustle,

SHOP BOYS OPENLY SCOFF.

and ran, even serene individuals in top hats and fur coats caught the general infection, and there was a regular stampede. All who met me were continually on the trot. When I looked back I found the cause of the confusion to be the Horse Guards returning from the Palace. These good people fancied they were escorting the Queen on her afternoon drive. I was at Victoria station to witness the royal arrival, and the crowd extended from the station yard all the way down Buckingham Palace road. The train was a quarter of an hour late in reaching the terminus, and the ten royal carriages, all of them horsed with fine bays, had a long while to wait. The Queen's Indian attendant drove out of the yard first in a brougham, accompanied by two ladies, then came the Guards, then the outriders in scarlet, and then the Queen's carriage and four. The by command of Her Majesty, so that all could plainly see the sovereign, who was very warmly wrapped up, and who bowed frequently in response to the loud cheering and waving of handkerchiefs. The Empress Frederick, who looked as if she had a cold, sat at the Queen's left hand, and Princess Henry of Battenberg was opposite. The Queen seemed to sit much lower in the carriage than usual, I thought. The Empress Frederick, who was of course, in black, wore a very long thin black veil, which blew about in the bitter wind as the carriage went by. Princess Henry was looking the picture of health and very handsome. She holds herself splendidly, even regally, and was dressed in a beautiful light fawn coat, trimmed with sable, and wore a hat with violets. The horses trotted very slowly, so that every one was able to have a good look at the Queen, who is in excelent health and spirits at present.

HOODS WERE THROWN BACK,

THE QUEEN'S DRESSES.

It has been pointed out that those who grumble at the Queen's simplicity of dress are mistaken in thinking that she does not encourage trade. During the past year she had nearly seventy gowns made by one dressmaker alone and these ordinary ones, not court dresses. The reason why people imagine that the Queen never has new things is that the new are exactly like the old. Always averse to change, merely for fashion's sake, the Queen insists on having her gowns all made alike, so that she may avoid the feeling that she has on new clothes, and be as comfortable as in the old. On either side of the bodice she has a small pocket—one for her watch, the other for her eye-glasses—and they must be in exactly the old position, so as to be found without trouble. Just below the collar—which, by the way, is never allowed to be of fashionable height or tightness—is a secret pocket for the

KEY OF THE DESPATCH BOX.

Moreover, no matter what the material of the gown, a piece of crape has to be placed upon it somewhere, the Queen having kept up this custom ever since her widowhood. Her Majesty is very particular about her gloves, she has very small hands, of which she is, perhaps, a trifle proud. Though she possesses magnificent furs, she very seldom wears them, hence her adoption of sable—and such sable!—at the drawing-room caused considerable satisfaction. Sealskin she cannot endure, and she even dislikes the smell of it. It was noticed at the drawing-room last week that a great many of the young ladies, and not a few also of those who have reached middle age, wore their hair puffed out over the ears, in the new Parisian fashion. The style is rather more universally becoming than some of those which have been the rage lately. English hairdressers do not, however, cover the whole of the ear, as the mode is in Paris, and the hair, which is very thickly waved, is raised at each side of the center parting, whilst the puff, which partially covers the ears, is held in its place against the coils at the back by little jeweled combs.

JUNIOR SMILES.

Kind Old Lady—Are you a good boy—a very good boy?
"Yes'm."
"Then, here's a penny for you."
"Make it a nickel, and I'll be better."

Bobby was told that descendants were those who come after us; and promptly applied the name to his sister's beau, who came to take her for a drive,

The only way—Kindly Disposed Gentleman—Why do you cry in that way, my little man? The Little man—C-c-cos it's the only way I know h-h how to c-c cry.

What He Thought of Church—Papa—Well, Tommy, and how did you like it? Tommy (who has been taken to church for the first time)—Very much, indeed. Every one had to keep very quiet, but one man got up and talked the whole time and at last we all had to get up and sing to keep him quiet.

"Father, is yours a long sermon, today?"
"No, Jimmy, not very."
"But how long? Please tell me."
"Well, about twenty minutes I should say. But why are you so anxious to know?"
"Because, father, the boys say they will thrash me awfully if you are more than half an hour."

A Conflict.

A tear clung for an instant to her curving lash. Her lips quivered.
"I have quarrelled with my husband," she faltered.
"I thought you were two souls with but a single thought."
"That was just the trouble. I wanted to use it for spring millinery, while he wished to devote it to the new baseball rules."
All of which goes to further illustrate how foolish it is to get married without a second thought.—Detroit Tribune.

Understood.

She was weeping softly.
"If I had only dreamed," she moaned, "that you married me for gold. Why was I left to discover it only when it was too late?"
Her husband turned upon her with a sneer.
"You ought to know," he retorted, "that a contract always means gold unless other money is specified."—Detroit Tribune.

The Worst That Could Befall.

The following is a story of an incident that actually took place at the marine barracks at the Charlestown Navy-Yard:
A soldier was one morning brought before the commanding officer, charged with the offence of telling a lie to one of the other officers. After the major had heard the evidence he said to the culprit: "Do you know what may become of you if you tell lies to your officers?"
The soldiers quickly replied: "Yes, sir; I shall go to hell."
"Worse than that, sir: worse than that," said the commanding officer. "You will be tried by a naval court-martial."

"I was troubled a long time with sick headache. WOMEN AS INVENTORS.

PATENTS FOR ODD THINGS HELD BY THE GENTLE SEX.

Ploughs, Bee-Hives, Axles, Rafts—Sleep-Inducers, Nose-Improvers, Skirt-Supporters, and Many Other Articles for Feminine Use.

Significant of the times is the fact that woman is rapidly coming to the front as an inventor. Women are not only filling thousands of applications for patents on improvements in articles especially adapted and intended for their sex, but they are exercising their ingenuity in the direction of improving many of the implements with which men only as a rule are supposed to deal.

The first invention in this country by a woman was in 1809 and perfected on May 5 of that year. It was a device for straw weaving with silk or thread. The name of the inventor was Mary Kies. The next invention by a woman was in July, 1815. This was a corset perfected by Mary Brush. Then came a number of years with only an occasional invention.

Lavinia H. Foy, of Worcester, Mass., was one of the early woman patentees, and she has applied for patents on a great many improvements. Her first patent was issued on July 22, 1862, for an improvement in corset-skirt supporters, and nearly all the patents granted her have been for articles connected with the wearing apparel of women. In fact, nearly all of the early patents by woman were for improvements on articles connected with her surroundings or apparel, such as cooking utensils, picture frames, articles of dress and things useful and ornamental about the house.

A Philadelphia woman, however, started the ball rolling in the other direction by patenting an improvement in bee-hives, and about the same time another woman from the same city invented a mode of preventing the heating of journals or axles on cars. Still another from the Quaker City patented a railroad car-heater.

Not to be outdone in the race a California woman invented a dumping wagon and an improvement in desulphurizing ores. A Georgia woman patented a plough and was followed with a similar device by a sister inventor in Illinois. More watchful over the comforts of man, however, was some fair Philadelphian who made application for a patent on a "moustache spoon," and she received her patent, too.

An Ohio woman patented a car coupler. About this time, from among the snowy Alps in far-off Switzerland came an application from a woman for an American patent on an improvement in stem-winding watches. The women of the Quaker City, however, still continued to lead, and one of them patented a life-raft and another a fire-escape; from Pittsburg came an application for a car wheel.

A woman in England made application for a patent in this country for an improved method of constructing screw propellers. A Chicago woman patented a process of concentrating ore and another from the same city invented a tug for harness, while a damsel of Buffalo patented an ozone machine. A New York woman invented a dice-box and a Washington woman a pyrotechnic night signal. A Washington woman patented a street car awning.

An application was once made by a woman for a patent on "artificial dimples." It was rejected, however, by the Commissioner of the Patent Office, so that any of the fair sex who now desire to experiment can do so without fear of infringement. Her claims were as follows:

"Smear a small spot on the cheek or chin with colorless shellac varnish mixed with glue. With a pencil or penholder press the flesh with the paint, holding it there until the substance on the fact becomes dry and hard. The stiffened indentation thus retains the exact shape of a dimple, and a little face powder carefully dusted over the "artificial dimple" will completely conceal the varnish and glue compound.

"Some care must be observed in smiling too suddenly, or the dimple may be broken. But with ordinary, gentle usage it will retain its pretty shape a whole evening, if not longer. While the dimple process is applicable to those whose faces comprise a soft, velvety or pulp surface, as then a very deceptive dimple can be produced, it is not so available for thin or bony faces, nor where the skin is very thick and unyielding."

Another interesting and amusing invention by a woman was a crimping pin which could be used as a paper-cutter, skirt-supporter, paper file, child's pin, bouquet holder, shawl fastener and book mark.

On March 10, 1885, a New York woman patented a device for inducing sleep. A description would be too lengthy to be given here in full, but the device consisted of a collar-like band of rubber, partly encircling the neck, and was fashioned so as to control the flow of blood to and from the head by limited pressure on certain veins and arteries.

In 1881 a patent was issued to a Boston woman on two somewhat novel devices. One of them was for restoring facial symmetry, and consisted of a spring plate with a head and two prongs or forks. The head was to be attached to the teeth and by placing the prongs inside of the mouth so that they would press outward against each cheek, caused the cheeks in time to look plump and full. The other was a finger compressor made on two longitudinal conclave plates hinged together at one end by spring hinges, and thus adapted to fit the tips of the fingers while the constant pressure reduced the size.—N. Y. World.

These Are Chinese Maxims.

When the sword is rusty, the plough bright, the prisons empty, the granaries full, the steps of the temples worn down and those of the law courts grass grown, when doctors go afoot, the bakers on horseback, and the men of letters drive in their own carriages, then the empire is well governed.—L'Arlequin.

A Startling Suggestion.

Perhaps the most startling suggestion for "a reminder" was that of the little boy whose grandmother had forgotten his Christmas present the year before. She wished to know what thing she should do in order that she should not forget it again. "You might put your teeth in upside down," said the boy.

Would Have Its Uses.

"Poets use some absurd phrases," said the sentimental youth, between the acts of the play.

"Yes," replied the sensible girl.

"One whose works I was reading today refers to a girl as having a 'swan-like throat.' Did you ever observe a swan's throat and think what a human being would look like if she had it."

"Yes," she replied. "It wouldn't be nice ordinarily. But it would be very handy to have at the theatres sometimes. It might enable one to see around some women's hats.—Washington Star.

'Twas on the Lady Typewriters.

All stenographers are fined, but these three head the procession. They are employed in an office on Main street, and the other afternoon they were left in the office alone. They were each chewing lustily on a piece of "kiss-me" gum when the door opened and with the dust that blew in came a low-sized peddler with a large-sized beard.

He started to say "gentlemen," but his eyes resting that moment on the typewriter sisters, he stopped short.

"Holy Moses, all ladies! Guess I'm in the wrong place."

"No, this is the place," said one of the trio. "What did you want?"

"Ladies, I'm selling pants stretchers."

Now they are trying to put the blame on the peddler.

An Impertinent Question.

There's a man in Chicago who has a mania for collecting all sorts of queer facts in history, science and so forth, and his wife can't appreciate him at all. The other evening he laid down his paper.

"That's odd," he said to her.

"What?" she inquired.

"The statement that it would take 12,000,000 years to pump the sea dry at the rate of 1,000 gallons a second."

She studied the statement profoundly for a full minute.

"Where would they put all the water?" she asked, innocently; and he paid no attention whatever to the question.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

A Snake the Negro Fears.

Mr. Powe, in speaking of the other kinds of snakes, said that the "coach-whip snake" was the terror of the negroes. There was an old superstition among them that the coach-whip would whip a man to death, and then put the tip of its tail into the nostrils of the victim to see if he was dead. An old negro man went out to catch the horses of the party, which were turned into pasture, while they were out fishing and hunting, and on the way began to think about snakes. The old man had a bridle on his arm, and by some means one of the long leather reins had got loose, and was dragging behind him. His imagination had worked him up so that the sweat was standing out on his black skin. He chanced to look back and catch a glimpse of the rein. He let a blood-curdling yell and ran. He looked back and on came the rein which he took for a coach-whip snake after him to beat him to death. The negro actually ran till he fell exhausted, and then fearing the superstitious act of having the tip of the snake's tail run up his nose he clapped his hands over his face and prepared for the whipping.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A BOON TO ALL SICK ONES

Cures When Other Medicines and Doctors Have Failed

RESTORES THE SICK TO HEALTH.

"I Can Attribute My Restoration to Health Solely to South American Nervine." Says C. J. Curtis, of Windsor.

C. J. CURTIS, WINDSOR, ONT.

When one has climbed a high mountain it is not difficult to mount the ordinary hill. A medicine that will cure when the case is a desperate one, may be safely taken as a good all round medicine in ordinary cases, and it is not alone the very sick who need medicine.

The statement is borne out by a multitude of facts, thousands of testimonials from reputable citizens, that South American Nervine cures, after what are considered the best medicines in the country have failed, and where the skill of the ablest physicians has come to naught.

The acknowledged scientific principle of disease is weakness and disorganization at the nerve centers. These nerve centers are the main spring of the whole system. When the stomach is out of order the certain remedy is to set the nerve centers in right condition again, so with every other trouble. Thus it is that it may be liver complaint, nervousness, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, loss of appetite, impoverished blood, consumption of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, sick or nervous headache, sleeplessness, pains in the kidneys, or other ailments from which a person is suffering South American Nervine will cure, and cure quickly, and best of all cure effectively and lastingly in every such case.

Much as we were disposed to laugh at La Grippe as a trifling complaint when it first made itself known in this country, later developments have proved that it is a serious malady. The after effects are such that very thorough measures need to be taken to ensure perfect restoration to health. South American Nervine has proven wonderfully efficacious in giving back health to the victims of La Grippe. Mr. C. J. Curtis, a wealthy and well known farmer near Windsor, Ont., suffered from a severe attack of this malady, leaving him exceedingly weak and with no appetite. No medicine seemed to do him any good until he was influenced to try South American Nervine and his testimony is this: "After taking one bottle I found very great benefit from it, my appetite improved wonderfully, and I felt my strength returning very fast." Mr. Curtis then purchased five bottles, but after taking only three out of the five, to use his own words "I am feeling as nearly well to-day as I ever did, and I can attribute my restoration to health and strength solely to South American Nervine."

DR. DEWART AND THE GUARDIAN

A Resolution Heartily Appreciative of the Work of Dr. Dewart as Editor of the Guardian for Many Years.

At the annual May meeting of the Western Section of the Book Committe of the Methodist Church held at the Wesley Buildings, Toronto, representatives from the various conferences were present. The following resolution, moved by Mr. Warring Kennedy and seconded by the Rev. John Learoyd, was unanimously passed:—

"This Western Section of the Book Committee of the Methodist Church desires, upon the retirement of the Rev. Dr. Dewart from the position of editor of The Christian Guardian, to place upon record its hearty appreciation of the invaluable services rendered to Methodism by his faithful, fearless, able and indefatigable editing of that periodical for the long period of twenty-six years, a duration in office unprecedented, we think, in the history of an elected editor, at least in the Dominion of Canada. By his distinguished literary abilities, by his stalwart defence of the Christian faith and of Methodist doctrine and polity, by the discussion of the great religious, social and economic movements of the times, he has in a large degree contributed to the great advances which Methodism has made in this land in the last quarter of a century. Among the most conspicuous of these are the successive unions which have taken place among the different branches of Methodism, as compared with their divided state twenty-six years ago, a movement which has made our country a shining example to the whole Methodist world. Still another is the federation of Victoria University with the University of Toronto, from which has since resulted the erection of the splendid new Victoria and the enlarged educational facilities placed at the service of our church. The extraordinary growth of our publishing interests from a comparatively small extent to becoming the largest publishing house in the Dominion is a development to which The Guardian and its editor have duly contributed. This venerable paper has grown in strength with the passing years, and is now transferred to his successor in office more vigorous and more influential than ever.

"Personally Dr. Dewart commands the respect and esteem of his brethren in the ministry. The General Conference of our church, which assembled in London last September, bestowed upon him the distinguished honor of electing him to represent the Methodism of Canada at the several Methodist Conferences of Great Britain and Ireland. We wish him a pleasant time during his visit to the brethren of the old land. We desire for Dr. Dewart a long period of literary and religious activity, and pray that the blessing of God may continue to rest upon him as in the past and yet more abundantly."

CHEESE BRANDING.

An Act to Make the Action Compulsory to Brand the Date.

A local cheesemaker has received from Mr. C. J. Higginson, secretary of the Home and Foreign Produce Exchange (Ltd.) of London, Eng., a circular in regard to the branding of the date of make on all Canadian cheese manufactured. The circular reads:—

"It has no doubt come to your knowledge that there has been considerable dissatisfaction among the cheese distributors on this side of the Atlantic as to the course of the business during the last two or three years; especially as to buyers who in many cases alleged that they did not receive the special month's make they had contracted for, which called for frequent arbitration during the season just closed. The result has been to injure the good reputation of the Canadian product, and to destroy that confidence in dealing which is so essential between seller and buyer.

"As a result of a Conference representing a great majority of the trade in Great Britain, suggestions have been made to your Government as to the desirability of an Act making it compulsory to brand the date at the time of manufacture upon each cheese. It is fully believed that such protection will be a decided advantage to the factorymen and to the distributors throughout the United Kingdom, as it will at once restore confidence on this side, and effectually prevent any speculative or unscrupulous shipper covering his transactions by substituting one month's make for another. It is earnestly hoped that the factorymen throughout the Dominion will at once commence dating their cheese, especially as the desire is pretty general among the importers to favour those factories adopting this system. Our interest is as yours, that goods should be sold honestly for what they are, and that the reputation and market price of fine fall makes should not be destroyed by the improper substitution of the earlier summer product.

"The specimen form we have suggested for use is enclosed herewith, and this and nothing else should be put upon the cheese.

"Several of the shippers now and recently in England have also been approached on the subject, and they cordially endorse the action taken.

The circular contains a specimen brand to be used by cheesemakers.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mr. Isaac Snelgrove, of Lakefield.

The death of Mr. Isaac Snelgrove, of Lakefield, took place on Easter Friday, the 12th of April. The deceased was 79 years and 6 months old. He was born in Chipmanslade, Wiltshire, England, in the year 1816. He came out to America in 1832 and went to live in the township of Dummer. In 1841 he married Miss Charlotte Payne daughter of the late Levi Payne. To this union were born 8 children—5 sons and 3 daughters. Two are dead, namely, Mrs. Charles Butcher and Mr. Isaac Snelgrove. After residing in Dummer 27 years, he came out to Smith and took up his residence on the farm now occupied by Mr. John Chasty. After remaining there for 8 years he then moved to Lakefield where he had resided till the time of his death. He was a faithful and devoted member of the Methodist church to which he had belonged for a number of years. The remains were taken to the Methodist church on Easter Sabbath afternoon. The service was performed by the Rev. W. Limbert and was very impressive. The church was filled with people showing the great respect in which the deceased was held. The pallbearers were Mr. Silas Cox, Mr. William Harper, Mr. William White, Mr. James Jory, Mr. John Jory, Mr. Wm. Abbott. So closes the life of one of the oldest settlers of Lakefield.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The Grand Trunk Railway smashed all previous records of fast runs of live stock from Chicago to Buffalo. A train of eight cars of horses left Chicago at 6.30 p.m., eastern standard time, Thursday, and arrived in Buffalo at 9.55 a. m., Friday, making the run of 500 miles in 15 hours and 22 minutes. The train ran from Chicago to Port Huron in 8 hours and 10 minutes, and from the Canadian side of the tunnel to Buffalo in 6 hours and 35 minutes. The one hour and forty minutes was due to car and customs inspection at Port Huron and Bridgeburg (International Bridge).

What a Potatoe Will Do.

There is a great deal of cleansing power in an ordinary Irish potato. In many laundries boiled and mashed potatoes are used to produce snowy whiteness, and more than one camper-out who has found himself without soap has fallen back on potatoes as a substitute and washed out handerchiefs and shirts with them. As a matter of fact, potatoes will remove stains which refuse to yield to soap, and the chemical action is much less injurious to fabrics.—North Hastings Star.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Saturday night's topic proved to be a practical and helpful one. Mr. Spencer had charge of the meeting.

Mr. Cole talked to 78 men at the meeting yesterday on "Religion for Life, not for Death." The Fire Brigade Orchestra was present and their part in the musical programme was much appreciated by the men. The next meeting will be one that no man can afford to miss, the topic being "Ropes that bind."

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Directors will be held to-morrow night at 7 o'clock. The "meet" is short but important.

Beginners' Bible class to-morrow night at 8 o'clock.

Travelling Secretary Cole is with us this week, and will co-operate with the directors in financial work. The Association "horse" has been moving on three legs lately, but it has been found necessary to add the fourth that a collapse may be avoided. The three legs that we have been using are "look up," "pray up," and "work up." The fourth—"pay up"—has been missing. The directors look to the citizens to supply the fourth leg, and will give them a chance to do so, and thus participate in this work for young men of our town.

THE HYAMS TRIAL

The Defence Putting Up a Strong Case.

DID WELLS FIX THE DEATH TRAP?

Said to Have Been Experimenting With the Weight the Day Before He Met His Death—Many Surgeons Give Evidence—May Have Been Two Blows.

Toronto, May 21.—Yesterday the defence in the Hyams' trial placed many of their witnesses on the stand.

Dr. Luke Teskey, professor of anatomy in Trinity Medical College and a member of the staff of Toronto General Hospital, was the first medical witness called by the defence to testify as to the condition of the skull of the alleged murdered boy. The Dr. saw the skull after the body was exhumed, but the body was too much decomposed to tell whether there had been any external injuries. Subsequently he examined the skull and had also examined the weight. Then he was asked, "What do you say as to the injuries having been caused by that weight?" He said: "I believe that the injuries could have been caused by the weight falling upon the skull in a certain way. That is the easiest way I could account for the condition of the skull and the most probable way."

Questioned as to the fracture of the condyles, the Dr. said the fracture of the small bones in the skull might reasonably result from a general crushing.

The theory of the defence was here made manifest. Mr. Johnston explained to the doctor that the ceiling in the basement was seven feet high, the young man 5 feet 6 inches in height and the weight 20 inches in length. "Now, Dr.," said the counsel, "you take a man looking up a shaft to see what caused a weight to be caught. The weight which is caught a foot or foot and a half above him, slips, strikes him on the head and knocks him down, and the weight falling and striking the buffer tilts over on his head, what do you say as to this weight and the injuries to the skull?"—A. "I am quite willing to acknowledge the possibilities of the injuries having been occasioned in this way. I would have expected to have found a great shattering to the head, in exactly such shattering as I find on this skull. The suggestion the defence has made as to the occasion of the injuries are the most reasonable that I can conceive as to their cause.

Touching on to the two lines of force theory, the Dr. said to Mr. Johnston that he could not tell whether if he was struck by the weight with the head poised in the air any fracture would have been produced.

Then Mr. Osler took charge of the Dr. and an interesting dialog occurred:

At the outset Dr. Teskey admitted that there were two blows to the head and that he could not distinguish the location of the first from the location of the second blow.

"Then the man was knocked down by one blow and while in a recumbent position he was struck a second blow and the skull battered?"—A. "Yes."

"You don't know how the first blow was inflicted?"—A. "No."

"There was nothing inconsistent with it having been delivered with an axe or sandbag?"—A. "There was nothing to show that it was a blow from an axe."

"Or a sandbag?"—A. "Yes, it might have come from a sandbag."

"And there is nothing to distinguish the force of the first from the second?"—A. "The force of the second might have obliterated that of the first."

Mr. Osler then got the Dr. to admit that if a man were stooping in the manner described his height would be reduced by 8 inches. Proceeding, he pointed out that taking the height from which the weight fell and the height of the man in his stooping posture a momentum of 4 feet 7 inches would be given the weight. Then he put this question:

"Then there was an impact between this weight of 200 pounds having a momentum of 4 feet 7 inches and an inert body with a certain resistant force, and your idea is that the body got to the earth first and the weight reached the floor after the body?"—A. "Yes, if the weight reached the earth."

Mr. Osler—"Then the body ought to have fallen on the weight instead of the weight on the body?"

Dr. Teskey—"Yes, but there is nothing to show that the weight reached the earth."

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Osler, "it remained there waiting."

The important part played by the spectacles worn by the deceased was here made manifest to the jury. Illustrating with his own eyeglasses, Mr. Osler showed that if a man wearing spectacles were to look up a hoist he would, in order to see the object, have to lean back so far that he would almost require to hold on to something to keep himself up.

Dr. I. H. Cameron said the skull showed a very extensive series of fractures. He did not think it was possible to account for all the fractures on any line of force, unless it was by a generally applied crushing power. The fracture to the internal angular process of the frontal bone, he thought, was caused by a force applied to external angular processes, and the vibrations traveling in two ways, meeting on the internal angular process. The fractures of the condyles at the base of the skull were due to vibratory force waves traveling from the lateral blow. All the fractures, he thought, were caused by the crushing blow laterally applied.

Counsel for the defence illustrated the position in which they allege Wells to have been standing when the weight first struck, and asked the witness if the weight following the body to the floor and after striking the buffer fell over onto the head, would be expect to find the skull in the present condition. "If the weight fell obliquely it might produce the fractures," was the reply of the witness. The doctor said he did not see any evidence of two lines of force. There were no evidences of a blow from a common nail hammer. The could not conceive of the pole of an axe producing the fractures to the internal angular process of the frontal bone without injuring the side of the nose. He thought it might be possible for a weight to strike the head and the latter reach the floor first. Speaking generally the weight would travel much faster. If the weight struck Wells while he was in the position indicated by the counsel for the defence the legs and head would collapse and fall to the floor more in a heap.

Continuing, the Dr. said the whole of the injuries could not have been occasioned by a blow in the air, but a blow while the man was in a recumbent position would account for them all. The injuries must have been occasioned while the head was supported on both sides. He had known cases where a man could receive a blow and be rendered insensible without leaving a mark, although he doubted if it could be received on the head, although such marks might be obliterated by the other blow.

Dr. Bertram Spencer said he was present at the post-mortem examination. It took two hours to separate the bones of the skull from the disintergrated brain tissue and other matter. The nasal bone was altogether out of place. The most reasonable explanation he could offer for the fractures of the skull was the weight falling upon the head while the victim was looking obliquely upward. If the head was compressed into a space of 2 inches it would be difficult to conceive of any bone in the head escaping fracture. When the weight first struck the head as it was lying on the floor the external angular process received the first force, but the force was almost instantaneously distributed over the entire side of the head, the right parietal bone being the point of greatest impact.

He thought with the weight falling and striking the head while the man was standing erect, there would be little deflection in the falling motion of body. The victim would be more likely to fall as though he was shot through the heart. The convulsive movements of the body after falling would cause the limbs to straighten out.

Dr. Adam Lynd, who has been a coroner for some years, had examined the skull and thought the one force might have occasioned all the fractures and injuries found thereon. A heavy crushing force would have caused these fractures if the head were resting on the left side and the blow was applied obliquely, as to the lineof the skull and the skull resting upon a solid, non-resisting body. The weight falling a foot or a foot and a half and striking a man looking up a shaft the man would be knocked down, the head would fall straight down, the feet would be found in about the same position as before immediately following the receipt of the blow. If the weight hit the buffer and fell off on the head he would expect the injuries found on the skull produced. If a man were hit with the weight with his head poised in the air the blow might or might not fracture the skull, but it would render the man insensible. In a distance of 4 or 5 feet the difference in time between the weight and the body reaching the ground first would be almost imperceptible, but he thought the weight would reach the floor first. If the weight had struck and injured the head before reaching the ground the injuries of the first blow would be merged in the injuries of the second.

This concluded the medical testimony, and the defence entered upon a new branch of its case. Robert Bruce Preston of 72 Springhurst-avenue spoke of visiting the warehouse the day before the tragedy. He continued: Wells showed me the improvements that had been made on the first floor and the gate that had been put on the elevator. Then we went downstairs to see the cellar. Wells showed me the hoist. The cage was down in the cellar and Wells pulled the pull-rope and the cage went up and the weight came down. At least, I supposed it did, but I did not see it. Wells then pulled on the pull-rope four or five times, but could not dislodge the weight. With my stick he poked up the chute of the weight shaft four or five times, and finally released it, and it came down to the ground. Then Wells took off the large weight and put on the smaller one. He took the hook out of the eye of the large weight and put the hook on the smaller weight. Then he replaced the larger weight by the smaller one on the rope, and, having done that, started to pull the cage down again by means of the pull-rope. When the weight was about 18 inches from the ground I saw that the hook was only partially fastened in the eye. I mentioned the fact to Wells, and he let the weight down again. I also told Wells he should always be sure and get the hook fast in the ring. I also told him the hoist wasn't very safe. We then went upstairs. No change had meantime been made in the hook as it was fastened in the eye.

Preston then described a visit to the upper flat of the warehouse, where he remained about twenty minutes. Descending, he found his father, Oscar Preston, whom he had left on the sidewalk, beside the flat on the lower floor beside the stove.

Witness described another visit he made to the warehouse two days after the tragedy with two men named Crone and White, where he experimented with the weight, and it again caught in the chute. The reason was because the weight did not hang plumb. He demonstrated that the weight could be lifted up by the nose of the hook, and when it came in contact with the ceiling it caught. He then lowered it.

"Now, did you help manipulate the ropes or change the weights?"—A. "No."

"He took the hook off the heavy weight without anyone's assistance?"—A. Yes.

"And he didn't put the hook on with your help, but changed and rechanged without your aid?"—A. "Yes."

"Now, show me how he put the hook so that it wasn't properly fastened?" said Mr. Osler.

Witness indicated with the weight and hook the position in which he claimed the hook was, but admitted that it could not be placed in that condition if there was the slightest slack in the rope.

"Any financial transaction between you since with either of them?"—A. No.

What money have you got in this matter?—A. Nothing.

What?—A. Yes, no; yes I did.

Well, which is it, yes or no?—I got $10 for loss of time during the Police Court investigation.

Nothing more?—A. No.

Continuing, witness said he commenced to visit Nearny since February. "Since the arrest?" said Mr. Osler. "Yes," was the answer.

To His Lordship witness explained that when he experimented with the weight after the accident, with only the point of the hook in the eye, the corner of the weight caught when it reached the mouth of the shaft, and he guided it in with his hand. Then it went up all right.

The Crown claims that with the hook imperfectly in the eye it could not go up the shaft.

If this theory is correct, then the medical testimony for the defence is valueless. If the weight struck the edge of the clute in a slanting condition, as indicated by the witness, it could not have alighted on the bufferat all, but clear of it, and on its flat or narrow side and not on its end.

James A. White, tailor, whose place of business was, on Jan. 16, 1893, at 11 King-street west, visited the Colborne-street warehouse with Preston and Crone. He coroborated Preston's evidence with respect to the experiments. While they were in progress the weight caught on the outside of the shaft, and Preston shoved it in with his hands. Witness remarked at the time, "Look out or there will be another accident."

Then White was asked how far the weight went up the chute, with a view of showing that it did not catch upon any obstruction therein, but witness could not say how far it was raised before being lowered.

WAS HE ROBBED OF $3000.

Mysterious Case in Which Two Spaniards Are Mixed Up.

Kingston, May 21.—Alfred R. Duman, have been staying together at Charles' C.E., and Rafaele Ungaro, two Spaniards, Hotel, Wolfe Island, for a few days. On Saturday Ungaro came over to Kingston and left shortly afterwards for New York. He stated to a hackman who drove him to the station that he had $3000 on his person and that Duman had tried to take the money from him with a revolver.

Duman arrived in this city shortly after his former chum and had a warrant issued for Ungaro's arrest, charging him with having stolen $3000 which he had entrusted to him, but afterwards refused to have the warrant executed, stating that he would go himself to New York and stop a draft for $2500 which constitutes part of the money stolen.

Duman claims to be a railroad contractor, and says Ungaro has been for for some time his foreman. He says that they both come from New York, where he (Duman) owns considerable property. He claims that they were out on a pleasure trip and that it was his intention to send Ungaro to New York on business connected with his property to-day. Duman tells his story in a rather unlikely manner, and there is a considerable amount of mystery in it.

$70,000 Blaze in Kingston

Kingston, Ont., May 21.—A fire took place in Murray & Taylor's dry goods house, Princess-street. Gas connections were evidently burned away, for soon after an explosion occurred, blowing the plate-glass windows out of the second flat and wrecking the rear part of the building. The fire was soon subdued. The stock is ruined: loss $70000; partly insured; building owned by the Wilson heirs, and damaged about $2000, but insured.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

In response to the enquiries of Sir Richard Cartwright a statement has been given in the commons by Hon. Mr. Wallace in regard to the imports of raw and refined sugar in 1894 and 1895.

Mr. Wallace said that 3,304,389 lbs. of raw sugar were imported and entered duty free at Montreal, between April 30th and May 2nd inclusive, 1894. No refined sugar was imported during that time.

At Halifax 2,174,287 lbs. of raw sugar were imported and entered duty free between April 30th and May 2nd inclusive, in 1894. No refined sugar was imported during that time at Halifax. In 1895 no sugar was imported between April 10th and May 2nd, but 23,547,313 lbs. of raw sugar were imported between Feb. 20th and May 20th, stored and free, and delivered between April 30th and May 2nd inclusive; also 11,035 pounds of refined sugar.

At Montreal 9,285,499 pounds of raw sugar were imported between April 30th and May 2nd inclusive, passed duty free and delivered; also 141,830 pounds of refined.

The inference of some people is that the refiners got a tip, and, taking the sugar out of bond, got the advantage of the duty which was imposed by the government, commencing with the date on which Mr. Foster made his budget speech. That advantage will be an immense one to the refiners, and they will profit by it much more than the government by its change of tariff. And the consumers of sugar will pay the piper in any case. The entire amount of this tax cannot now be accurately estimated.

The American eagle sometimes has the attributes of a hen—it makes a monstrous cackle on a very small egg.

MALICE and uncharitableness sometimes become so violent as to be ludicrous. This is the nature of the attack of hysterics which recently affected the Chicago Herald which says: "There can be no doubt either that Canada desires annexation or that in the fullness of time it will be annexed. At present it is an absurdity; a blank spot on the map of nations; neither fish, flesh, fowl nor good red herring; an excuse to Great Britain for the maintenance of a highway to the Orient, but otherwise despised by the mother country, as it deserves to be despised; having none of the attributes of statehood or national virility; with no pride of ancestry or hope of posterity—anything you like but a nation among nations." Does the Herald know just where the United States "is at" as a nation, with a foreign element largely predominant and alternately engaged in murderous strikes and running elections.

THE RIGHT OF APPEAL.

(Montreal Herald.)

A motor man named Bond, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Company, was injured some time ago while in the performance of his duties. He sued for damages, and was awarded $500 by a jury. The company carried the case through three courts of appeal, the verdict of the jury being upheld in each case. In concurring in the Supreme Court judgment dismissing the appeal of the company, Judge Taschereau used language which does credit to his head and heart alike. "That a poor man," he says, "who, under the circumstances disclosed by this record, can be dragged from the jury to the Divisional Court, from the Divisional Court to the Court of Appeal, and from the Court of Appeal to this court, to get a paltry compensation of $500, which the three courts, together with the jury, hold he is entitled to, is alike a reproach to the system which allows of it and to those who take advantage of it."

Of his own resources, Bond would have been unable to follow what appears to be a just cause through the several courts of appeal to which the company dragged him. But his case attracted the attention of the Toronto News, which organized a series of subscriptions on his behalf and to whom the credit for his ultimate success is entirely due. The right of appeal should not be rashly set aside. Had the case gone against Bond with the jury, there might have been just grounds on which he himself might have appealed. But the jury declared in his favour, and if it had not been for the timely assistance of a watchful press, that verdict might have been overridden through the inability of the plaintiff to bear the expense of defending it in the higher courts. The law reform agitation is in good hands in Ontario, and it is not probable that its promoters will overlook this striking illustration of the justice of their cause.

COULD NOT FIGHT THE TRUST.

A Large Grocery Firm Compelled to Go Into Liquidation.

Montreal, May 20.—Lightbound, Ralston & Co., one of the old st grocery firms in the east, who have been financially embarrassed for a year past, have gone into liquidation. The failure of this firm, it is claimed, is due to their persistent fight against what is termed a sugar trust existing here.

LUMPY JAW IN CATTLE.

The Disease Becoming Prevalent in Canada.

Montreal, May 20.—Cattle shippers here say that there has been a large increase in the number of lump jaw cattle, which have been stopped on their way to England. The trouble now is that these cattle are now being slaughtered here, and evidently sold for healthy meat. The matter is being thoroughly investigated.

INCOME TAX LAW DEAD

The Supreme Court Declares the Law Unconstitutional.

Washington, May 20.— The Supreme Court has declared the Income Tax law unconstitutional. The Chief Justice announced the following conclusions: First, we adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate being undisputably direct taxes. Second, we are of the opinion that taxes on personal property, or on the income of personal property, are likewise direct taxes. Third, the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37, inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of real estate and personal property, being a direct tax within the meaning of the constitution, and, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because not apportioned according to representation, all those sections constituting an entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Miller says that all the money paid in on account of the income tax will be refunded to the payees by the Treasury Department without delay. It amounts to only $73,000.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desire effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can testify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. KILMER.

HOLD FAST TO THE ASHES.

The London Farmers' Advocate says:—"In the issue for April 15th a number of considerations were presented, indicating how short-sighted is the Canadian policy still persisted in—though we have often protested against it—of selling potash, in the form of ashes, to the farmers and gardeners of the United States. In some form or other, either we or our children must restore this potash to the soil, and with the rapid development of fruit growing in Ontario and other provinces this becomes all the more imperative. One of the great needs of our orchards is potash, but still the "ash peddler" goes his rounds, trading the housewife a few bars of cheap, yellow soap for bushels and bushels of ashes—a species of short-sighted barter that has no redeeming feature. During the year ending June 30, 1894, Canada exported $57,654 worth of pot and pearl ashes, and $52,110 worth of unleached ashes, or a total of $109,764, representing a vast quantity in bulk. It is not to be wondered at that our neighbour, the Rural New Yorker, should exclaim:—"Why in the world Canada permits this wholesale drain is something that baffles the wisest!"

Barber's Itch—"A Guaranteed Cure."

Messrs. Douglas Bro. & Co.:

Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in offering you testimonial on the cure of Barber's Itch. For over three weeks my face was nothing but a mass of sores, and it was still getting worse. It got so bad that I was ashamed to go out on the street. I went to a very prominent doctor of this town, and he told me it would be a few months before I could get rid of it. On a Sunday a neighbour came in to see me with about half an ounce of your Douglas' Egyptian Liniment and requested me to try it. I thought I would give it a trial; I put it on my face the same day, and inside of three days my face was as smooth as ever it was. I might also say that I only bathed my face since, and that I consider I have a permanent cure. I cannot recommend your liniment too highly for the value it has been to me. This I declare to be true and correct.

I remain yours,
C. A. MURDOCH, Painter.

Paine's Celery Compound Saves a Well-Known Norfolk County Farmer.

Completely Cured After Four of the Best Doctors had Failed.

Few men in Norfolk County, Ontario, are better or more favourably known than Mr. Joseph Rolston, of Nixon. This gentleman some time ago, was in such an extremely alarming condition of health, that relatives and friends were fearful of results. Four skilled physicians did all for the sick man that could be done, but a cure was beyond their best efforts. Providentially, Mr. Rolston was induced to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, with the result that sickness and disease were banished, and a valuable life saved to the community. Mr. Rolston, who writes for the benefit of suffering men and women, has his statements vouched for by two well-known Methodist ministers, Rev. T. R. Clark, of Delhi, and Rev. D. Williams, of Nixon.

Mr. Rolston says:

"It gives me great pleasure to add my testimony to the ever increasing popularity of your preparation known as Paine's Celery Compound. It is now a year past since I had a severe attack of nervous prostration caused by chronic dyspepsia, and for a year I could not sleep at night. This condition of sleeplessness brought on delirium. I was attended by four of the best doctors of the country, and took a great quantity of medicine, but all failed to do me any good. Having been persuaded to read your books, I thought I would try your Paine's Celery Compound, and after I had used four bottles the nervousness and dyspepsia left me, and I have done more work since than for years past. I now enjoy excellent health, and consider myself completely cured. I have highly recommended your Paine's Celery Compound to others, and I know of several persons who are now using it."

M'ISAAC'S ALARMING SUMMING UP

The Government Glad to Close a Mortgage on Kingston Property at 50 Cents on the Dollar—House to Adjourn From Wednesday Until Tuesday.

Ottawa, May 21.—While the Minister of Finance and the whole Government following have been singing the praises of the National Policy and denying, among other things, that values have declined under its benificient influence the Finance Department has been worrying itself about the depreciation of a block of property in the city of Kingston, upon which there is a Government mortgage.

The situation has become so bad that the Minister of Finance has decided that the only way to prevent further loss to the country is to compromise the claim and discharge the mortgage as speedily as possible. Yesterday he introduced a bill to enable the Government to do this. The property has been for many years in such a position that the Government has been unable to sell it or realise upon it. The mortgage was given in 1858 by the late Hon. George Markland. The property was sold in 1862 under that mortgage, and the purpose of the bill is to give power to convey the property so sold free from the mortgage upon the payment of about 50 per cent. of the original claim.

"During all this time," said the Minister, "that the Crown has been unable to give a title the property has been depreciating."

Mr. Laurier: What! Under the National Policy?

Mr. Foster: Even though the National Policy has been in force, and it is the opinion of the department that the sooner we get something for the discharge of the mortgage the less loss we will ultimately sustain.

Dr. Landerkin: It's wise to get this property sold as speedily as possible. In another year we won't be able to realise 25 per cent.

Mr. Foster confirmed the statement which had appeared in the press, that an application had been made by Mr. Provand, M.P., managing director of the Chignecto Marine Railway, for an extension of two years' time for the completion of the enterprise. The subject was brought to the attention of the Government by Capt. Welsh, the gallant old salt from Prince Edward Island, who protested in vigorous language against the expenditure of any more money on the railway, which he described as a wildcat scheme.

The Minister said that the company's case had been presented to the Government, but no decision had yet been reached.

The cry of nepotism was raised against Sir Oliver Mowat in the last Ontario campaign by the Conservative leaders. They are silent on that question now that the political storm centre has been transferred from Toronto to Ottawa. With the Tuppers, the Langevins, the Chapleaus and the Ouimets, so strongly represented in the public service it has been found inconvenient to pursue this particular line of attack. Mr. McMullen had two questions on the paper to-day as to the remuneration, occupation and relationship to the Minister of Finance, of three persons employed in the service, but Mr. Foster fought shy of the subject of relationship. He did not think his relationships were so important as to be worthy of a place in the Hansard.

Canada's representation of the Columbian Exposition cost the country $243,019. Accounts to this amount have been approved and paid, and Dr. Montague does not expect any further appropriation will be required. This information the Secretary of State gave in reply to Mr. Campbell.

In resuming the Budget debate, Mr. Semple made a speech from the farmers' standpoint and presented his case with force and clearness. He read a petition at the outset, which he had submitted to Parliament from the Dominion Grange declaring in favor of a revenue tariff. This was, he said, the expression of the opinion of a considerable body of farmers. The platform of the Patrons of Industry and the representative body, whose views were those of a very large proportion of the farmers of Canada, also supported a tariff for revenue, imposed as much as possible upon luxuries. Tariff for revenue was the policy of the Liberal party. Thus it was this policy had received the endorsation of a majority of the electorate of the country, including many who hitherto have voted with the Conservatives. He said it was perfectly clear what was the policy which the farmers of Canada believed to be necessary to their prosperity. They had come to understand at last that the interests of the monopolists and combines were not identical with theirs.

The Government side was represented by Josiah Wood of Westmoreland, N.B., He spoke as a National Policy man out and out, and through his speech ran the inevitable note of apology and regret which is now never absent from protectionist speeches.

Mr. McIsaac, the new member for Antigonish, made a strong speech on the condition of the country and the position of the two parties. In the course of his speech, he enumerated the various steals, swindles and stupidities which the Government had been parties to, by means of which the money of the country had been wasted. The list consisted of:

Onderdonk	$1,118,000
Tay Canal	476,000
Caraquet Railway	224,000
Little Rapids lock	184,000
Galops Channel	600,000
Quebec harbor	1,000,000
Esquimalt dock	207,000
Curran bridge	270,000
Hard pan claims	272,000
Harris land job	100,000
Sheik's Island dam	125,000
St. Mary's bridge	372,000
Langevin block	281,000
St. Charles' branch railway	1,500,000
Liquor traffic commission	125,000
Labor commission	87,000
Total	$6,941,000

Strong speeches were also made by Mr. Perry of P.E.I. and Mr. Dawson of Addington.

With the concurrence of both sides it was decided to adjourn from Wednesday night until Tuesday of next week on account of Ascension Day and the Queen's Birthday.

WILDE TO HAVE A SPECIAL TRIAL

Taylor's Case to be Heard Before That of Wilde

London, May 20.—Oscar Wilde and Alfred Taylor were arraigned in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, this morning, for re-trial. Wilde was accompanied by his surety, Lord Douglas of Hawick, and the Rev. Stuart Headlam, and entered the dock smilingly. He is obviously very much improved in health, and spirits as well. Sir Edward Clarke asked for a separate trial for Wilde, on the ground that the indictment against him differed from that against Taylor. The court granted Wilde a separate trial, and the first case, that against Taylor, proceeded.

Wilde was released on bail, his former sureties being renewed until the conclusion of Taylor's trial.

ADDRESS TO ARCHBISHOP CLEARY.

New York Home Rulers Testify to His Grace's Labors For Ireland.

New York, May 20.— Many prominent people connected with the Irish Home Rule cause attended the presentation of an address to the Most Rev. James V. Cleary, Archbishop of Kingston, Canada, this afternoon (Monday), by the officers and trustees of the Irish National Confederation of America.

This presentation was made at the rectory of the Church of the Holy Innocence, where the Archbishop is on a visit. The Archbishop responded in appropriate terms. He said that his people were firmly devoted to the Irish Home Rule cause, and were determined to stand by it until it was achieved.

MAY RESULT FATALLY.

Fell on His Head and is Suffering From Concussion of the Brain.

Toronto, May 21. — Thomas Beaver was working on a scaffold at the ruins of the Darling Building in Wellington-street at about 4.30 p.m. yesterday, when he slipped and fell about six feet to the ground, alighting on his head. He was removed to the General Hospital, where he now lies suffering from concussion of the brain, which may perhaps result fatally.

TROOPS IN BRITISH HONDURAS.

A New Police Force Which Will Replace the Militia

London, May 20.—In the House of Commons to-day Sidney Buxton, Under Colonial Secretary, replying to a question by Vice-Admiral Field, said the Legislature of Honduras had made provision for the establishment of a new Civil Police force, whose sphere of duty would be in Belize and the Southern districts. The existing semi-military force, he said, would serve in the northern districts. This arrangement would constitute adequate provision, and enable the withdrawal of the British troops in July.

Sir Edward Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, in reply to a question by Sir George Baden-Powell, said that no explanation had yet been received from Venezuela in regard to the hauling down of the British flag and imprisonment of police officers. He said the Government would not allow the matter to drop.

Mr. John C. Macdona asked if the Government was aware that the White Star and Cunard Steamship companies had chartered a tug to search for derelicts in the Atlantic, which ought to be the duty of the Admiralty.

Sir Ughtred Kaye-Shuttleworth, Secretary to the Admiralty, said that when it was known that a derelict was afloat in the track of ships it was the practice of the Admiralty to send vessels to search for it.

The committee appointed by the House in connection with Lord Coleridge's succession to the peerage, has adopted a report affirming the fact that succession to a peerage disables the successor from being elected to or sitting or voting in the House of Commons.

A rumor was current in the lobbies of the House of Commons this evening that Lord Rosebery, the Prime Minister, had resigned. The report, however, was not credited. Leading members of the Liberal party declare that they are not aware of such action on the part of the Premier.

Does It Mean Dissolution?

London, May 21.—The delay of the departure of the Queen for Balmoral and the return of Lord Rosebery to London are associated in the public mind with the known differences among the Ministers on the question of dissolution. A Cabinet Council has been summoned for Thursday.

A Scotch Liberal M.P. Resigns.

London, May 21.—Dr. Donald Macgregor, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Invernessshire, has accepted the stewartship of the Chiltern hundreds, which is tantamount to resigning his seat. His action in retiring from the House is due to his indignation at the Government's supposed neglect of legislation for the benefit of Scottish Crofters.

The sugar-coating on Ayers Pills not only makes them easy to take but preserves their medicinal integrity to an indefinite period. It dissolves immediately after reaching the stomach and thus permits the full effect of the physic to be speedily realized.

A Commercial Man's Experience in Smoking.

The Sir Robert Peel is the best 5c. cigar on the market. After buying one I went back to Billy Morgan's and bought a box, as I find they are the best smoking cigar I ever used. They are equal to, and better than any, 10c. cigar selling.

For Stout or Slender Ladies.

The P. N. Corset is the delight of slender ladies—supplies deficiencies in form, produces the desired contour, and assists nature in her work of development. Priceless in value to fleshy ladies—reduces the size, supports the bust and corrects the figure. For sale only at ROBT. Fair's, Sign Golden Lion.

Foresters' Church Parade.

The members of Courts Peterborough, Little John and Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, will attend divine service on Sunday, 2nd of June next at 3.30 p.m., at the Charlotte street Methodist church, when the Rev. J. J. Rae, will preach the annual sermon. Members of Juvenile Court and visiting brethren are cordially invited.

The Wool Question.

The wool season for 1895 is at hand, and activity and improvement are both lacking. The market is in a waiting attitude and not fully established, but a careful study of the conditions should enable dealers to form some idea of the immediate future, whatever may be the trend of values at sometime distant. The removal of the duty last year in the United States has no doubt influenced the wool market on this side of the Atlantic, and, to-day, is a dominant factor in determining prices. —Port Hope Guide.

The Non-Coms. Excursion.

If the weather is fine on the 24th a big crowd will accompany the non-commissioned officers of the 57th down the river to Jubilee on the City of Peterborough. Everyone knows that a most enjoyable time is always had at a military picnic, and the one on Friday next being under the auspices of such a genial lot of boys will prove exceptionally pleasurable.

The Y.M.C.A. of Lindsay, are running an excursion to Haliburton on May 24th. Fare from Peterborough $1 20. Train leaves at 8.35 a.m.

Left-Over Stock.

This week we are holding a sensational sale of remnants of wall papers and odd ends of window shadings, cornice poles, and frame mouldings. It is the result of heavy selling that can't be helped. Profit time for them is over, and any price for our left-over stock is better than keeping them cumbering the racks and shelves. Shrewd buyers will find many useful ends that will come in handy. Clearing out prices all this week at the Peterborough Bookstore, A. H. STRATTON & Co. See advt.

What About Asphalt Walks?

Do our Town Fathers know anything about asphalt pavements? Is'nt there something preferable to pine planks for our best streets? The town of Galt, with about 3,000 less population than Peterborough, is advertising in the Globe for tenders for the construction of 800 yards of pine-plank walk and 2800 yards of asphalt walk. Galt is beginning at the right place—the foundation—for making the town attractive. Have our Town Fathers given any attention to asphalt for pavements?

The lawn mowers we have imported this year are the Lawn Razor, New Delight, F. & N. Maguire's Diamond, New Departure and the Pennsylvania, and we believe they are the choicest goods made in the United States. We have also imported garden hose, grass catchers, lawn rakes, hammocks, single and double acting spring hinges, smooth, even mosquito netting and spring window screens, as cheap and better than Canadian made. Trolling baits and lines, bass and trout flies, lines, hooks, steel and bamboo rods, and bamboo poles up to 20 feet long, at 134 Hunter street, next the Post Office. GEORGE-STETHEM & SON.

Chemong Park and Hotel.

Chemong Park and Hotel are now ready for the reception of summer guests. The hotel has been repainted and thoroughly renovated. The Park has been cleaned up and is now as tidy as a town lawn. With the whole place so inviting the hospitality and attention to the wants of guests of mine host Fobert, make Chemong Park and Hotel a delightful ending for a bicycle run or a drive. Many of the rooms are already engaged, and a large Rochester party is booked for the 15th; and the other day, Mr. Thomas Fuller, C. E., Government architect, Ottawa, was at the Park making arrangements for the summer residence of himself and family. This season picnic and excursion parties are welcome to the grounds free of charge. Chemong Park and Hotel never were more attractive than this season, and never was a better prospect of a large visit of transient and permanent guests. It is no exaggeration to pronounce it one of the most charming summer resorts in Ontario.

Putting Off the Brakes.

Two little boys appeared in the Police Court this morning charged with the serious offence of having taken the brake off a car and moving it from its position. As it was loaded with a heavy boiler there was great risk of damage to property, and, perhaps, life as well. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, the Children's Aid Society was notified, and at once took the case in hand, arranging for the summoning of witnesses for the defence, and providing a lawyer who appeared in court in the boys' behalf. Many witnesses were called, both for and against the prisoners, those for being summoned to testify to the good character of the boys. The Magistrate went very carefully into the case, and ultimately determined to give the boys another chance, rather than fasten the stain of conviction upon them. The Children's Aid Society deserves the gratitude of the boys for looking to the clearing up of the case on their behalf, but this show of interest should not be regarded by the lads as any license for dangerous meddling with the cars in question. If the offence is repeated, they will not escape so easily.

A Chilling Experience.

Mr. Sam Williamson, a Lindsay butcher had an unpleasant experience the other day. When the hour arrived for closing he began removing the meats to the cold storage room in the rear of the shop, and after making a couple of visits the door, fitted with a spring lock, happened to close behind him, making him a prisoner. For the first quarter of an hour he waited patiently, expecting one of his brothers to return; after that he elevated the collar of his vest (his coat was in the front shop) and wished to heaven it was July; half an hour later, when chilled to the very marrow of his bones, with his face glued to the small window looking out toward the sidewalk, he espied Dr. Lynch in conversation with a friend directly in front of the shop window. Cheered by the sight, and feeling certain of a speedy release, he uttered a shrill "halloo!" but the sound failed to penetrate the thick walls of the refrigerator. The desire to get out at last triumphed over his fear of ridicule, and he shouted at the top of his voice, uttering yells that would have put a Comanche scalping party to the blush, but still Dr. Lynch talked away unconcernedly, and never turned his head to look inside. Finally, realizing that it was a question of life or death, Williamson smashed the window sash and crawled through. He is now willing to wager any amount that if a cold storage chamber can chill a carcass in three minutes, his refrigerator can do the trick in about half the time.

ST. PAUL'S SERVICE OF PRAISE.

A Delightful Musical Entertainment.

The Service of Praise given in St. Paul's Paul's last night, as the conclusion of the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the restored church, was in all respects a most gratifying success. True, the attendance was not as large as it might have been, but those who were present enjoyed a rare musical treat, of a devotional character so high as to fully merit the title, "Service of Praise," and to the Ladies' Aid Society, Mr. Crane and the choir the greatest credit is due. The service opened with the Doxology, sung with great heartiness by choir and congregation, and prayer by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

The regular programme opened with a fine, stirring rendering of Dudley Buck's anthem "There Were Shepherds," in which Mrs. Sanderson took the solo in excellent voice. Mr. Geo. Arnold, late of Manchester, England, gave in beautiful style "Cantilene" by Salome, as an organ solo. The delicate effects were given with an artistic daintiness and perfection of performance which the selection demanded. It was a striking contrast to his second organ solo, Pearce's robust "Offertoire in F Minor." This selection received a most virile and artistic interpretation at Mr. Arnold's skilliful hands. The sublime effects inherent in the piece were brought out with vigour, taste and feeling, though the celerity of the tempo in the gigue passages, with the slight echo, may have been responsible for an occasional suggestion of lack of clearness. Mr. Arnold's first appearance in public in Peterborough fully justified the reputation that has preceded him of being an organist of rang premier. Miss Hansen, of Oshawa, who has been heard in Peterborough recently with great pleasure, gave a most satisfactory production of Milliard's "Tantum Ergo." Her sweet, though not powerful organ, was under fine control and gave evidence of careful training. Mrs. Sanderson excelled herself last night in her singing of "Light of the World" by Pinsuti. Her response to the exacting vocalisation of her selection was artistically praiseworthy. Warm words of praise are due to the ever-beautiful duet by Stainer, "Love Divine," sung with fine expression and accord by Miss Hansen and Mr. Crane. Mr. Arnold accompanying. The vocal harmony and harmony of shading and expression, so to speak, were in keeping with the demands of the selection. The other anthems were, "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me," Pfueger—quartette—Misses Montgomery and Patterson and Messrs. McKeown and McCallum and the choir; "There is a Holy City," Shelly, Miss Rose, Miss Carey and the choir; "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee," Shelly, Mrs. Sanderson, Mrs. W. F. Nelson and the choir, and "Saviour, When Night Involves the Sky," Mr. Nelson and the choir. Of these, particular mention should be made of the second last. It was sung with splendid taste and expression — the unwavering crescendi, the delicate shading, and the exquisite piano effects were charmingly produced. The same general remarks apply to the rendering of all the anthems, a circumstance that reflects the greatest credit upon Mr. Crane's skill as a trainer, and upon the choir for so intelligently responding to his leading. The incidental solos to the several anthems were generally excellently sung. Mr. Crane's sympathetic accompaniments were responsible in no small degree for the smoothness that marked the choral numbers. Altogether, the "service of praise" was most successful, and the good judgment in preparing the programme was shown by the fact that when at 9.30, "God Save the Queen," was sung there was a general feeling of a desire for more—a marked contrast to the sense of wearisome satiety that too often follows injudiciously long programmes. St. Paul's may well take pride in their organist, choir master and choir, and the Ladies' Aid Society can afford to be highly gratified at so successful a conclusion of the anniversary services.

The buyers present were Messrs. Cluxton, Wrighton, Cook, Fitzgerald and Gray.

Mr. Cook bid 6 cents for selections, but the offer was refused, as was a subsequent offer by him of 6¼ for the product of several factories.

The factorymen cannot account for the depression in the price of cheese, as meat and other products are ranging comparatively high.

The Board adjourned for one week without the factorymen being given permission to sell.

As Well as Ever

After Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured of a Serious Disease.

"I was suffering from what is known as Bright's disease for five years, and for days at a time I have been unable to straighten myself up. I was in bed for three weeks; during that time I had leeches applied and derived no benefit. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised in the papers I decided to try a bottle. I found relief before I had finished taking half of a bottle. I got so much help from taking the first bottle that I decided to try another, and since taking the second bottle I feel as well as ever I did in my life." GEO. MERRETT, Toronto, Ont.

NEWS NUGGETS

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—New moon on the 24th.

—It doesn't get much warmer.

—Orders are being taken for June butter.

—The Band goes to Campbellford on the 24th.

—Queen's Birthday picnic parties are being arranged.

—The dust was flying in clouds on the street this morning.

—Some action should be taken in regard to the handsome drinking fountain in Central Park.

—No news has been heard of Jesse Freeman, the escaped prisoner from the Central, who was thought to have come to Peterborough. It is surmised that he has crossed the border.

—Chatham is following the example of Brantford, Woodstock, Ingersoll, Belleville, and other live towns in the matter of granolithic pavements. It's a pity Peterborough does not follow her example.

—The straw hat has been called in, likewise the white shoes, the ice cream purveyor is in despair, and the festive mosquito has gone into winter quarters until the cold snap has expended its energy.

—Bicyclists think they should have the right of way between the street car tracks as far as carriages are concerned. A small expenditure of money could turn this strip into a splendid path for wheelsmen.

—Small boys, whose consuming ambition it is to run about without shoes in the warm weather, will probably be interested in learning that the ten-year-old son of Mr. John Myers of Wingham, is dead of lockjaw caused by a splinter running into his foot.

—A couple of youngsters, ten or twelve years of age, aired their grievances in the Police Court this morning. One, it appears, fell and the other one laughed at him, whereupon the one who fell pummelled the other and called him naughty names. The case was dismissed, but the defendent was cautioned not to allow a laugh to incense him again to such an extent.

The Board of Trade Think the Town Should Own and Fill in This Valuable Property—The Deputation to Toronto—Discussion on the Exempting of Machinery From Taxation.

The meeting of the Board of Trade held last evening in the council chamber, was very largely attended indeed. There were present Mr. Benjamin Shortly, president, and Messrs. Geo. A. Schofield, R. McWhinnie, Wm. Berry, Louis M. Hayes, Jno. Carnegie, Adam Hall, W. H. Manson, Geo. McWilliams, Peter Campbell, Macfarlane Wilson, T. F. Matthews, F. Bartlett, H. LeBrun, J. W. T. Fairweather, H. S. Macdonald, G. W. Ranney, Geo. B. Sproule, R. M. Dennistoun, S. Munro, Rev. J. C. Davidson, W. A. Meldrum, T. Cahill, A. Dawson, and many others. So large a turnout was encouraging indeed, and the president complimented the members on the fact.

The names of the following new members were submitted and elected as members of the Board: W. A. Sanderson, H. Rush, W. H. Cluxton, W. Buller, R. D. Gough, F. T. Schneider, W. Hamilton, Jr., P. Simons, E. B. Clegg, W. A. Brown, J. B. Oke, Samuel Munro, C. Legros, A. G. Parker, J. G. Knapman, James Edgecombe.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received from the Montreal Board of Trade, asking the local Board to petition the Dominion Government relative to the appointment of a Board of Experts in connection with the customs department.

Received and referred to the Merchantile Committee with power to act.

From John Buckham re W.R. Morrison, of the Committee of the Council of South Monaghan, stating "That whereas the township of South Monaghan has been taking steps towards the erection of a new bridge over the Otonabee river for direct communication with the town of Peterborough, and as the township has passed a by-law to raise the sum of $2,000, and the Ontario Government has voted $2,500 and the Dominion Governmen the sum of $3,000, making $7,500 in all, and the estimated cost of the bridge being $10,000, we would respectfully solicit your assistance in procuring from the town a proportion of the remaining $2,500."

Referred to the Municipal Committee.

THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE appointed at the last meeting to strike the personnel of the standing committees of the year reported as follows:

Council—Messrs. W. Manson, chairman; P. Campbell, H. LeBrun, R. P. Gough, D. H. Moore, R. Fair, G. A. Schofield, H. S. Macdonald, Macf. Wilson, R. Mulholland, T. F. Matthews, Dr. A. Rose, Robt. Innes, D. W. Dumble and W. H. Hamilton, jr.

Manufacturers' Committee—R. Fair, chairman; Geo. McWilliams, J. Carnegie, J. Kendry, J. M. Irwin, B. F. Ackerman, T. Brooks, R. D. Hamilton, W. H. Meldrum and A. G. Gough.

Mercantile and Municipal Committee—D. W. Dumble, chairman; R. B. McKee, T. E. Bradburn, R. Hamilton, W. G. Morrow, H. Rush, R. Mulholland and J. H. Burnham.

Railways and Canals' Committee—R. Mulholland, chairman; T. F. Matthews, J. R. Stratton, J. M. Irwin, J. E. Belcher, G. W. Ranney, R. B. Rogers.

Board of Arbitration—J. M. Irwin, chairman; H. S. Macdonald, D. W. Dumble, P. Campbell, J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., D. H. Moore, and R. H. Kells.

The Board of Arbitration was elected by ballot, and the report adopted as read.

On motion of Messrs. R. Fair and Thos. Barrie, the following members will compose a committee to accompany a committee of the Town Council to Toronto to-day to view the works of several manufacturers who are thinking of locating here:—Messrs. B. Shortly, R. Fair, J. Carnegie, W. H. Manson, A. Hall, G. McWilliams, A. L. Davis, Wm. Ackerman, W. H. Meldrum, H. LeBrun, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and R. M. Dennistoun. Mr. T. A. S. Hay which aroused so much discussion a couple of years ago, viz.: the purchase by the town of the water lots lying between the C.P.R. siding and the shore. Mr. Hay laid stress on the valuable acquisition the lots would prove to the town, if filled in, as the present market square was becoming much too small for the purpose for which it was intended, and the lots in question, containing some three acres, would be admirably suited for market purposes, if once properly fitted up. Immediate action would have to be taken in regard to this matter, as the owners of land along the banks of the river were rapidly extending their premises out into the river.

Mr. Meldrum and Mr. George McWilliams also spoke strongly in favour of reviving the interest in the matter.

Mr. Hay explained that once before the town had endeavoured to secure the lots, but the Crown Lands Department had asked a sum which was considered exorbitant and the matter had been dropped.

On motion of Mr. W. H. Meldrum and Mr. T. F. Matthews, it was decided that the secretary be authorized to procure all the information he could upon the matter and lay the same before the Council of the Board.

The matter of endeavouring to procure reduced fares on the railways for the Wednesday market as well as for the one Saturdays was brought up again and discussed very fully, the president pointing out that Belleville and other places had reduced fares on three days of the week, while Peterborough had to be content with a cut rate on Saturdays only.

Several members of the Board thought that an understanding might be arrived at with the railways if a petition and heavy shippers and importers were sent to the headquarters of the C. P. R. and Grand Trunk in Montreal; it would have some effect.

SIGNED BY THE MERCHANTS

Mr. T. F. Mathews was asked and consented to present the petition personally when in Montreal next week.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum asked what the Board intended to do relative to the matter of pressing the question of exempting the machinery of manufacturers from taxation, upon the Town Council. He thought something ought to be done for the local manufacturers, who had built up their business here, as well as for those who had been induced to settle here through bonuses. (Hear, hear.) The former class had done quite as much, if not more, for the town than the latter. (Hear! Hear!) Concerning the machinery, he said that it was constantly being renewed, and the value rising and falling. The expense attached to keeping it in constant repair was great and any improvements introduced should not be taxed as they were, for if it wasn't for the manufacturers Peterborough would not be what she is. He proposed extending his business and putting in eight or ten thousand dollars worth of new machinery, and as more hands would be employed thereby, he that his taxes should be raised. Other towns had offered him substantial inducements to locate with them. He had been offered site, buildings, power and exemption for twenty years. He did not want to appear unreasonable as he was willing to pay his taxes on his buildings, but thought it only right that the machinery should be exempted.

Councillor Adam Dawson thought the manufacturers of the town were being most liberally dealt with as it was. If their building's were assessed up to their real value, their taxes would amount to just as much as if the machinery was exempted. If there was not money in it for them to locate in Peterborough they would not stay very long. He was not in favour of doing anything further for them.

Mr. Carnegie stated that if Mr. Dawson spoke for the council there was little use in a deputation going to Toronto to try and induce more manufacturers to locate here. He proposed that the committee from the Board of Trade, which was to go to Toronto with this object in view, be dissolved. Holding such views as he did, he wondered why Mr. Dawson, himself, was going to Toronto with just such a committee from the town council.

Councillor Dawson was quickly on his feet to state that his remarks were not uttered as a councillor, but as an individual. He hoped that the Board would understand that he merely dropped in to hear the discussion and that his statements were unauthorized. He admitted that he was going to Toronto with the deputation in question.

President Shortly agreed with Mr. Meldrum in all that he said. He thought the famous Peterborough market would not amount to much if the manufacturers did not bring many mouths here to feed.

On motion of Mr. H. S. Macdonald the matter was referred to the Committee of the Board on the understanding that it receive the immediate attention of the members.

THE WHEEL.

We copy the following very timely article from The Cyclist, of which the veteran Starmey is the editor:—

"After twenty years of continuous and critical cycling upon every class of machine we are more than ever confirmed in the opinion that no machine intended for touring or road work generally—apart from scorching on level roads—should be without an effective brake, and the mania which set in during the past season for abolishing the brake is one which, in our estimation is calculated to produce too frequently disastrous results which must recoil finally upon the interests of cycling itself. The epidemic is undoubtedly the concomitant of the absurd demand for mere lightness in machine construction, a craze which is responsible for the abolishing of everything in the fitting of a machine which goes to provide for the rider's perfect comfort and true enjoyment. During the recent Easter holidays no less four cycling fatalities have taken place, and of these four, two, if not three, are directly traceable to the use of brakeless machines. It is all very well for the rider who confines his riding to level stretches to decry the use of a brake. Even he on a level road will at times find a brake would have been useful, and would, perhaps, have saved him from accident. But for the rider who lives in a hilly district, or who even intends to ride his machine away from home, to be brakeless is absurd, irrational, and, a judged by the recent fatalities, suicidal.

It is all very well to tell us that a machine can be kept in hand down hill by back-pedaling. We are perfectly aware that it can—sometimes and scientific and effective back pedaling is an accomplishment which we advise every rider to attain as quickly as possible, but that it should be depended upon as the sole means of arresting the movement is opposed to the logic af physical economy, and likewise opposed to both the mental and bodily comfort and safety of the rider. Provided that everything is clear in the rider's path, that a hill is straightway with no turns in it, and that he can be quite certain that nothing is going to step in the way, a rider can descend a hill, metaphorically speaking, like the side of a house, without a brake, and possibly get to the bottom safely, but if anything requires a sudden arrest of progress in the course of a rapid descent it is by no means an easy matter.

Road riding, to be enjoyed, is something more than mere ground covering against time, and the greatest mistake the cycling world can make, if it seeks comfort, is to abolish the brake and foot rests. We have even come across instances of late of cycle agents actually persuading their intended customers to adopt such an absurd course. The best interests of the trade will be served by salesmen advising intending purchasers in all cases to provide themselves not only with brake and foot-rests, but with mud-guards as well, and as all these articles are now made readily detachable, the rider can please himself whether he uses them always or not.

CRICKET.

The most important event of the week in England appears to be Dr. Grace's exploit in the cricket field. This gentleman, now 47 years old, made a score of 288 against good bowling in a first-class match at Bristol. Moreover, this is now the hundreth time in which he has in cricket exceeded the century.

LACROSSE.

A combined team composed of grocers and clothiers have challenged the Newspaper lacrosse team to a game on Riverside Park, to take place some time next week. Mr. John Cumming is making arrangements to swear in twelve good men and true to uphold the name and the fame of the G. and C. team, and will put them into training at once. He, himself, is getting into shape by taking a long walk every morning after breakfast, from his residence to the Palace Grocery.

BASEBALL.

The famous old Edison baseball club has once more got into harness and is putting in some famous practices. They are opening the season in a very rash manner by challenging the newspaper men to a game on Saturday afternoon next. The game comes very soon after the Queen's Birthday, but matters may possibly be arranged; in the meantime the printers should turn out for a practice or two.

The Dauntless baseball team of Toronto will play two matches here on the 24th with the Peterboroughs on the P.A.A.A. grounds, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

CLOSE SEASON FOR BASS CHANGED.

But it is Not Right Yet—A Characteristic Blunder.

A change has been made in the close season for bass fishing in Ontario and Quebec, which will interest the anglers of the two provinces. At the present time the close season extends from May 15 to June 15. The experience of the departmental experts is that this period is too long, and an order-in-council has been passed fixing the close season from May 15 to June 15, or two weeks earlier than at present. The change will apply this season.

In making the change the Dominion Government has but made another blunder, as the numerous petitions which have been sent into the department, all bore strongly on the point of the necessity of having the close season begin, not close, earlier.

A COLONY WITHOUT CREDIT.

Whitewayites Despondent at the Failure to Raise Money

St. John's, Nfld., May 20.—Reports that have reached here from Montreal to the effect that Colonial Secretary Bond is unable to negotiate a loan in Canada occasions no surprise here. The belief has been general for weeks past that nobody will lend the colony money under the present conditions. Even Prime Minister Whiteway admitted in the Assembly on Thursday that it was almost impossible to float a loan now. The press regards as chimerical Mr. Bond's endeavor to obtain money from American merchants dealing with Newfoundland upon a pledge of a reciprocal arrangement. Great Britain would not tolerate any tariff war against Canada. American merchants will still have open markets here, owing to the collapse of the Confederation scheme. The establishment of a Crown colony, or the appointment of a Royal Commission, is now apparently the alternative.

The Whitewayites are despondent over Secretary Bond's failure to obtain a loan.

The Whiteway party decided last night to present a retrenchment scheme, involving reductions in expenses amounting to $400,000 yearly. It is regarded as impossible to retrench to that extent, and the supposition is that the introduction of the scheme is merely a preliminary to the acceptance of a royal commission.

Sir Herbert Murray, the British Relief Commissioner, concluded the relief work here Saturday. He will cruise around the island on the warship Cleopatra in order to relieve the distress among the fishermen.

Moses Monroe, for many years a member of the Legislative Council and one of the largest merchants in St. John's, died Sunday. He was a leading figure in politics and was also the largest employer of labor in the city. His death will probably throw a large number of persons out of employment. It is regarded as the greatest loss to the country since the financial disaster.

Smallpox is reported to be prevalent among the French fishermen on Red Island, on the French treaty coast.

$250,000 FIRE AT HALIFAX.

Intercolonial Sheds and Wharves Burned Together With 40 Head of Cattle Owned by a Guelph Firm.

Halifax, N.S., May 19.—Fire Sunday destroyed the long wharf freight sheds and coaling pier at Richmond. Since the Intercolonial terminus was burned last winter Richmond has been the busy centre. The fire started in the long shed, which ran the whole length of the wharf, and which was used for the reception of freight, cattle, immigrants, etc. On each side of the shed were tracks, upon which were cars, some loaded with lumber, which was being put into the iron ship, Ancyra. Several cars were burned. The vessel was with difficulty saved. The fire spread like lightning and soon the sheds were doomed. In it were sixty head of cattle, the property of J. A. Leaman & Co., Guelph, Ont. The animals were all roasted alive. The wharf was burned to the water's edge, and then the coaling pier followed. The pier was repaired only a few years ago at a cost of $75,000. The cause of the conflagration is unknown, but there are indications of incendiarism. The total loss is estimated at a quarter million dollars. Being Dominion property there was no insurance. Leaman & Co.'s loss is $4400, without insurance. Besides the cattle they lost two cars of hay and two of feed.

FIREBUG CAUGHT REDHANDED

An Owen Sound Incendiary Captured While Firing a Store.

Owen Sound, May 20.—Saturday morning Policeman Shouldice discovered John Spencer, a blacksmith, in the act of setting fire to the rear of A. J. Creighton's furniture store, Poulette-street, and, after a desperate struggle, arrested him. The building being a frame one the fire gained considerable headway, and spread to the adjoining premises. The losses are as follows: A. J. Creighton, furniture, loss on stock, $2000, insured for $1300 in the British America; loss on building, $1000, insured for $500 in the London Assurance. Chinese laundry, loss on contents about $100, no insurance. Anthcorn, barber, loss on contents about $100, insured in Waterloo Mutual for $200. George Holmes, photographer, loss on building about $700, insured in the Norwich Union and Waterloo Mutual for $1200; loss on stock $500, insured in the Waterloo Mutual for $500.

Spence appeared before the Police Magistrate (this morning for firing Creighton's furniture store, and was remanded for one week. He elected to be tried by a jury.

Earthquake in Florence.

Florence, May 19.—The population of this city was thrown into a state of panic last night by a series of earthquakes that did much damage here and in other places. People who were in their houses when the first shock came ran terror-stricken into the streets, and their wild cries could be heard everywhere. The shocks were so violent that houses swayed like ships in a seaway, and in a number of cases roofs fell in, injuring many persons who had not sought safety in flight. The wildest scenes were at the theatres, where performances were going on. Amid shouts of "earthquake," the crowd, made wild, rushed for the exits. Mad with terror, no respect was shown for the women, weak or aged, and in the crush many were badly hurt. Upon reaching the streets the crowds from the theatres met those who had fled from their dwellings, and the excitement that ensued made confusion worse confounded.

At Grassian, a suburb of Florence, the shocks were very violent. The extent of the earth movement may be judged from the fact that a loaded omnibus was overturned.

The seismic disturbance was felt at Lucca, Pontedera and generally throughout Tuscany. The centre of the movement was at Florence, where for very many years nothing similar has occurred.

Around Florence a number of houses were destroyed and four persons killed.

At Lappaggi, a village near Gassian, no less than 40 houses were thrown from their foundations and completely wrecked. A sad feature of the disaster at this place was the finding of the body of a young mother with her infant clasped to her heart. She had evidently attempted to flee, but, together with her child, was crushed to death beneath the falling walls of her home.

An investigation was made by the municipal authorities of Florence, who estimated that 3000 houses were damaged. The Cathedral di Santa Maria del Fore, an imposing example of Italian gothic architecture and probably the most remarkable building of its kind in Europe, was damaged.

The seismic manifestation of last night was the most violent that Florence has known since 1445. The population of the city are awed by the disaster.

TWO ENGAGED GIRLS.

And How They Talked About Jack and Will.

It's as good as a circus to listen to the general conversation of two engaged girls. The interesting dialogue usually jogs along something like this:

"We've haven't decided yet just when we're to be married, but I think perhaps it will be some time in——"

"Mine is going to be a swell church wedding with a tulle veil and flowergirls and white ribbons strung up the aisle and——"

"Dear me; I wouldn't be married in church for loads of money. I never could say 'I will' before a crowd of people. A simple little home wed——'

"Jack says he knows I'll look sweet in a white satin gown, and white so becoming to me. Jack says that I'll be the prettiest bride in the world. Of course, his ideas are a trifle biased, but——"

"Oh, say, you ought to have seen Will when he proposed to me. He acted just like a lunatic, and I wanted to laugh so that I thought I'd die. He plumped down on his knees and grabbed my hand and began to talk in the wildest manner, and——"

"Huh, Jack wasn't that way at all. He was as dignified as a—as a park policeman, and he folded his arms, and said: 'Marie, dear, I love you with all my heart——'"

"——And upon my word I felt just like yelling for mother, she has such a fondness for humorous scenes. But after a while he got sort of rational and——"

"——And Jack said——"

At that point there is such a salad of words that it is impossible to unclasp one girl's talk from that of the other. Each appears to talk especially for her own benefit and pleasure and pays absolutely no attention to her companion's remarks. Shakespeare, when he declared that love and lunacy were of the same order of affliction, certainly hit the nail on the head.—Chicago Record.

Not Always a Good Plan.

Daughter—You told me that when I wanted a favor of my husband I should ask him after dinner. The first time I tried it he not only refused, but was just as cross and ugly as could be. He never refused me anything before—boo, hoo, hoo!

Mother—Bless me, my dear, you should not have asked him after a dinner that you had cooked yourself.—New York Weekly.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A MEDICINE

WITHOUT AN EQUAL.

Statement of a Well Known Doctor

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is without an equal as a blood-purifier and Spring medicine, and cannot have praise enough. I have watched its effects in chronic cases, where other treatment was of no avail, and have been astonished at the results. No other blood medicine that I have ever used, and I have tried them all, is so thorough in its action, and effects so many permanent cures as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Dr. H. F. MERRILL, Augusta, Me.

HUNTING FOR MONEY

Newfoundland Seeking Aid From Boston Capitalists.

MON. R. BO D NOW IN THAT CITY

Retrenchment, Mo Avers, Is More Popular Than Confederation, While the Idea of a Crown Colony Is Distasteful — He Denies the Montreal Report

Boston, May 21.—Hon. Robert Bond, Colonial Secretary for Newfoundland is in this city. In conversation to-day Mr. Bond referred to the published despatch from Montreal stating that he had failed to obtain al oan in that city.

"This," he said, "is an error, because up to the present time I have not had an opportunity of negotiating or of floating a loan in the city of Montreal. There could not be a failure without an attempt, I left St. John's on May 11 only a week ago, and the whole time since has been occupied in journeying hitherward. The very fact that the transmitter of this despatch has been too previous, indicates the object which he had in view, viz.: to discredit my mission, and if possible to render it unsuccessful. Despatches that have been appearing in the American and English papers during the past 12 months unquestionably have eminated from the same source as to the one which I refer, that is, from the agent of a political party who are opposed and have been opposed for a very long time to the present government. They are a confederate party on any terms and their objects in defaming public men of the colony of reflecting the public men of the colony, of reflecting upon its financial position and affairs, and grossly exaggerating the distress that has existed during the past few months, have been for the purpose of bringing about a disorganised and chaotic condition of affairs and with a view to compelling the colony to enter the Dominion of Canada. The object of my visit to Boston at this time is to negotiate a loan for the colony in order to wipe out its floating debt. Upon this loan being raised Newfoundland would be placed in a position totally independent of Canada or any other country. The amount required is a comparatively small sum, and I have reason to believe that I shall not have very much difficulty in floating the loan upon reasonable terms."

Speaking of the retrenchment scheme of the colony, Mr. Bond took exception to the published statements.

"The Government have decided," said he, "to reduce expenditure by the amount of $500,000, not $400,000, as the correspondent has said, and the scheme was approved and adopted by the Government party before I left the island. It was hailed by those who form the great majority of representatives in both branches of the Legislature and also by the people generally as an alternative scheme to confederation that would be most acceptable to the colony."

The Secretary, after explaining why the royal commission was unacceptable to the colony, said: "It is now the intention of the Newfoundland Government to engage the services of a chartered accountant at their own expense, with a view to placing the colony in her correct position in the markets of the world. This has become necessary, owing to the manner in which the country has been discredited by irresponsible newspaper correspondents."

This Bright from My Neighbor's Opinion.

St. John's, Nfld., May 21.—The Government's retrenchment scheme is generally condemned as being impracticable. It curtails the public service disadvantageously, while making only slight reductions in the salaries of officials.

Sir Herbert Murray, the British Relief Commissioner, closed down the relief works here Saturday. The warship Cleopatra will sail to-morrow on a cruise around the island, taking seed potatoes an dsalt for the fisheries for distribution along the coast. There has been a great falling off in the number of men prosecuting the Labrador fisheries owing to the impossibility of securing supplies. Much destitution is expected in consequence.

The budget will be presented to the Chamber to-morrow. It is expected that it will show a disastrous financial condition.

Speedy Justice For Burglar Tramps.

Oshawa, Ont., May 20.—Thomas Hyland and Henry Melrose, two tramps, were arrested on Sunday night while in the act of helping themselves to the goods in the store of J. Babcock, grocer. Monday, before Magistrate Grierson, they were sentenced to one year in the Central with hard labor.

"Why, what's the matter?"

"Ain't got no use for sich ole gemmans. Last time I was dar I fotched him a big fish I cotched. I tole him ef he would gimme a table knife I would scrape an' clean de fish for him. What yous s'pose he said?"

"Asked yer ter come in and get a drink and chat awhile about ole times on de ole plantation?"

"No, sah; he told me ef I couldn't borrow a table knife from some ob de nabers dat he would rather clean de fish hisself."

"What did he mean by dat ar?"

"I s'pose he was afeard I'd be keerless in handin' de knife back when I got done wid it."

The other rubbed his chin and remarked:

"I sees by dat ar dat de ole man's still got de use of his reasonin' powers."—Texas Siftings.

Housekeeping in Paris.

Nothing is cheap in Paris except the cabs, and they are not so in the end, as the low fare tempts one to use them oftener than necessary, writes an American traveller. You have resolved to keep house in furnished apartments, and having with much difficulty found a few rooms which you consider habitable, face the question of household expenses, and find that what you consider mere necessities are so costly as to become luxuries. Coffee is seventy and eighty cents a pound, and not good at that. With beef at fifty cents and ham at sixty cents, and butter at eighty cents a pound; with tea, very poor tea, at one dollar a pound, lamp oil at fifty cents a gallon, eggs at forty cents a dozen, and matches worth their weight in coin, with canned and preserved fruits and vegetables entirely beyond a modest purse, milk at twelve cents a quart, and gas one of the luxuries of fortune's favorites, housekeeping in Paris, unless you have unlimited income or can live without the necessities of a fairly-ordered life, is not a state to be desired.

MRS. MACK EXTRADITED.

American Police Outwit the Hamilton Lawyers.

Hamilton, Ont., May 21.—Mrs. Mack, the alleged United States postage stamp counterfeiter, was taken to Buffalo yesterday by Chief Hasen and Inspector Bird of the Secret Service Bureau at Washington. The American officers narrowly escaped losing their fair prisoner. The fifteen days allowed for applying for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of a prisoner sentenced for extradition expired on Saturday last, but a clause in the law says: "The prisoner must not be extradited for fifteen days, or if a writ of habeas corpus is issued until after the decision of the court."

Mrs. Mack's friends in Chicago instructed her lawyers, Nesbitt & Gauld, this morning to fight extradition. One of the firm took a train for Toronto immediately, and in the Common Pleas Division Court was successful in his application for a writ. Chief Hasen got wind of the move, and, armed with the warrants procured from the Dominion Government, proceeded to the jail and removed his prisoner. The writ was granted at about 2.30 p.m., and the lawyers, being notified of the fact from Toronto, proceeded to the Hamilton station to intercept the American officer and his charge. The Americans were too sharp for them, however, and after securing Mrs. Mack, took the woman away in a carriage, driving to a suburban station, where the train for Buffalo was boarded. Mr. Hasen says the United States Government has a strong case against Tinsey McMillan, or Mrs. Mack. The arrest of Thompson, the man who furnished the funds to purchase the perforating machine and other apparatus used in making the stamps, in Chicago last week, was a good move, and removed a possible source of funds for Mrs. Mack's defence.

HOW LOW CHEESE WILL GO?

[The Montreal Bulletin.]

The season has commenced with sales of April cheese at the country boards at 7½c. to 7¾c., about 3c per lb. below the opening rates of last year. It is said that the goods bought at Ingersoll last week were partly grass, and that cheese made from the 5th of this month in the Western sections will be nearly all full of grass. The pastures in many of the dairy sections of Ontario are looking splendid, and the prospects for a large make were never more promising. Exporters who have just returned from England anticipate very low prices during the coming season, some of whom expect to buy at 6c. In the season of 1879 and 1880 the price of cheese sagged to the extraordinary low level of 5c and 6c. one shipper in this city, who bought heavy at these figures, clearing over £40,000 sterling, or $200,000 on the season's business—a feat that was never accomplished before or after by an individual Canadian exporter. But it is a question if such a chance of coining money will again present itself in the cheese trade, as goods purchased at 5c. to 6c. were resold at 11c., 12c. and 13c. Some of our old cheese exporters, in referring to the bonanza cheese season, have frequently remarked with a suppressed sigh: "We ne'er shall see it's like again." The profits were rolled up at the rate of $1.50 and $3 per box, while in these degenerate times, if a good round lot shows a profit of 10c. to 15c. per box clear, the seller thinks he has done a fairly good stroke of business. Of course the season above referred to was a very exceptional one, as prices sank so unprofitably low to producers that they grew careless, and many factorymen curtailed their make, while others closed their factories; so that at the end of the season there was found to be quite a shortage in the supplies and hence the steep advance in price. The talk of 6c. cheese by some of our shippers for the present season reminded us of 1879 and 1880, although, if prices should sink to 6c. this year, we doubt [illegible] if the big rise of the bonanza year would follow, as we have now to reckon with the Antipodes as a competitor in the English market. We may see 6c. during the coming year, but we doubt it; for if John Bull gets a taste of his favourite full cream Canadian grass Cheddars at anywhere around the low cost of 37s. 6d. or 40s. he will go for them pretty lively."

FOR THE LADIES.

The Popular Shirt Waist to be Much Worn this Summer.

Shirt waists will be more popular than ever during the coming summer. New styles are now displayed in the shops and the novelties are being quickly sold. Sleeves are larger and collars more severe in style than formerly.

Waists of swivel silk or chambray are made with high-standing white linen collars and deep cuffs. The turnover collars are deeper than of old. Shirt waists of check gingham are a novelty. They are very stylish in checks and green and white, fawn and white, and brown and white. Chambray shirt waists are seen with the entire front embroidered. Embroidered collars are also new.

Many of the extreme novelties show two or three colors in one shirt waist. A pale blue waist has its stiff front made with inserted pieces of mauve linen, which start from the collar and reach to the bust. There are four narrow pieces of the inserted linen and they are outlined by a tiny design in faint pink embroidery.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

General Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Missions—Japan Affairs Considered.

A largely attended meeting of the Executive Committee of the General Board of Missions of the Methodist Church was held in the board room, Wesley building, Toronto, on the 16th and 17th inst. A great amount of business, part of it of a routine character, passed in review, and necessary action was taken. Satisfactory reports were received from the Chilliwhack Indian Institute, B.C., where 85 pupils are now in residence. The Rev. E. Robson is appointed principal by the General Missionary Society. Letters were received from the Rev. Thomas Crosby respecting an industrial training school for the Indians on the Upper Skeena. The matter was referred to the General Board for favourable consideration. Attention was called to the fact that the Salvation Army have sent officers to open work among the Indians on the Pacific coast at points where missions of the Methodist church have long been established. The committee regrets this action as likely to cause division and friction among the Indians, and a committee was appointed to confer with the Salvation Army authorities touching the matter.

Japan affairs occupied much of the time of the committee. Correspondence referring to the request of six missionaries for recall was read. At a previous meeting of the Executive a sub-committee was appointed to prepare a reply to the letter of the missionaries. A draft of reply was submitted, and carefully considered in detail. Eventually the letter was adopted with a few modifications and will at once be forwarded to the missionaries in Japan. The letter expresses a desire to understand fully the mind and circumstances of the missionaries, and to remove as far as possible any occasion of disquietude; also the satisfaction of the committee with the assurance that the action of the missionaries had not been prompted by any dissatisfaction with financial provisions for their support. Touching statements said to have been made in General Conference, and to which the missionaries took exception, it is believed that a personal letter, which had been written by the Rev. Dr. Sutherland, before the second letter from the missionaries was received, would remove much of the misapprehension which seemed to exist. The letter further dealt with the action of the General Board, the joint commission, the General Board of Missions, and the Executive Committee, and pointed out that as these various bodies, acting independently, reached substantially the same conclusions upon all matters referred to them, it afforded prima facie evidence that they had acted in good faith and for the best interests of the work. The great importance of harmony between the missionaries, and between them and the authorities at home, is strongly enforced, and the hope expressed that the missionaries will be satisfied with the considerations presented in the letter.

A report from the Building Committee of the Muncey Indian Industrial Institute was presented, showing that the contract had been let, and the necessary steps taken for a vigorous prosecution of the work on the new building.

DAMAGE TO GRAIN CROPS.

Many Fields in Ontario Will Have to be Resown—Results of Inquiries by Toronto Merchants.

Messrs. Jas. Carruthers & Co., Toronto, with a view of ascertaining definitely the amount of damage done to the growing wheat and other grains in Ontario by the recent frost, sent out a circular to many of their correspondents. Replies have begun to come in, and of those received so far fully 80 per cent. report damage more or less serious to the fall wheat, barley, peas and oats. In some sections farmers are resowing. Appended are the reports received from the Midland District:

Bowmanville—We do not think that the grain has suffered any in this locality from frost as it was light and we had no snow, but early garden truck, such as beans and potatoes, were considerably cut.

Hastings—The fall wheat, barley and clover have been damaged by the late frost.

Peterborough—From all the information I have been able to gather from various farmers in different parts of this district the spring crop has undoubtedly been damaged, more especially the barley, oats and pea crops.

Port Hope—We cannot say that there has been any serious damage by the late frosts beyond delay to growth, though fall wheat is considerably killed in this section and some is being ploughed up. So far we think the prospects are favourable for the spring crop though much needing rain and warm weather.

Lindsay—Barley has been damaged to some extent by the frost, but I think the loss will not be very serious in this locality. All other grains are, I think, uninjured.

A Fine Black Worsted or Blue Serge is a gentlemanly suit, worth $15, but at Grafton & Co.'s. only $10.

RICHARDSON, Canadian passenger agent, north-west corner King and Yonge streets Toronto.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Provincial Board of Health has received a number of strong complaints from International Bridge to the effect that the scavengers of the city of Buffalo have been of late taking scows loaded with refuse over to the Canadian side of the Niagara River and dumping them there, thus creating a decided nuisance. Steps will be taken to put a stop to the practice.

Agram Inundated.

Vienna, May 20.—The heavy rains which have prevailed for the last few days caused the River Save to rise to a height sufficient to burst the dyke near the town of Agram, which together with a wide tract of territory, is submerged. The flood has totally destroyed the crops in inundated districts, and the damage to other property is very great.

Buchanan to be Re-Sentenced.

Albany, N.Y., May 20.—The Court of Appeals has ordered that Dr. Buchanan be brought before the Court on Monday next at 1 p.m. for re-sentence to be electrocuted.

Hayward to Hang June 21

St. Paul, May 20.—Harry Hayward has been sentenced to be hanged June 21.

WELLS MURDER CASE

The Defence Will Rest Its Case at Noon To-Day.

EVIDENCE IN REBUTTAL TO FOLLOW

Thursday Will Probably See the End of the Trial—Counsel May Commence Their Addresses to the Jury This Afternoon—Yesterday's Evidence.

Toronto, May 22. — The trial of the Hyams twins is nearing its conclusion. The feature of yesterday was the presence of Mrs. Dallas Hyams in the court room. Mrs. Hyams is an American woman, with brown eyes, and was neatly attired in black. She had an affecting interview with her husband before the court opened, and was then given a seat in the grand jury box, directly facing the twelve men who are to decide the fate of her husband and his brother. Constantly during the day she would smile encouragingly to the prisoners, who wore a more hopeful look than hitherto.

The defence put two witnesses in the box yesterday in support of the Johnstonian theory as to the manner in which the tragedy might have occurred. Whether their testimony will be weakened by rebuttal evidence remains to be seen.

The defence has all along contended that the tragedy took place about 9 or 9.15 o'clock. If it occurred an hour or two later the entire fabric of the defence collapses. To-day the Crown will seek to prove that it did not occur until nearly 12 o'clock.

So far no evidence has been introduced to weaken the strong case as to motive established by the Crown. This may be done to-day.

George Moir, builder, and his foreman, David Colley, who constructed the model of the hoist which was used by the defence at the preliminary investigation, and afterwards carried over to the Assize Court, explained the principle upon which it was built. In breadth and depth it was one-half the size of the original, but the height was not shown. The cage and weight were on the same principle, excepting the friction wheels, it being found impossible to construct these within the model. From north to south the weight shaft measured 4 feet 3 inches and from east to west 3 feet 6 inches. The weight shaft was 2 feet 1 inch by 5 1-4 inches. Mr. Osler pointed out that one corner of the weight box showed a measurement of 6 1-4 inches and the opposite corner 5 1-4 inches. Colley said the model seemed to have been tampered with, but with what object he did not know. It was also pointed out that the brake had been omitted.

Then Robert Oscar Preston was called to the stand. He is the father of the young man, Robert B. Preston, who gave such sensational testimony Monday with regard to the alleged experiments of Willie Wells with the weight on the Sunday prior to the tragedy. He testified that on the Sunday prior to the tragedy he visited the warehouse. His son and a young man whom he had never seen before came into the room, but whether they came from the cellar or upper flat he could not say. He had never seen the young man before, but handed his photograph he said he thought that was the same person. He observed at the time that he wore a very powerful pair of spectacles and was apparently 22 or 23 years of age. It was about noon when they went to the Hyams warehouse. He usually got his dinner about 1.30, and it was before dinner.

To Mr. Osler witness repeated that his son had told him that he wanted to see a young man in the Hyams warehouse.

[The son swore that he did not expect to find anyone there.]

Here witness gave the route alleged to have been pursued by himself and son that Sunday morning.

"We left Draper-street and continued down Front to Yonge, then proceeded up Yonge to Colborne and east on Colborne to the warehouse. After leaving the warehouse we proceeded east to Church, up Church to Queen, thence along Queen home."

Asked if he recognised the likeness of Wells, although he had only seen the man once, he said he did.

"Are you prepared to swear to it?" asked Mr. Osler.

"No," said the witness.

"Then you don't recognise it?" said Mr. Osler.

"Yes I do, but I won't swear to it," was the reply.

Asked how long he had been out of regular employment, Preston said three or four years, since he had left the cigar stand.

Donald McCarthy, who said he "followed the profession of salesman just now, but had many trades," was three years ago employed as an engineer and had charge of the supplies for the Nasmith Company. The company occupied the premises adjoining the Hyams warehouse. There was a stone wall 14 or 18 inches thick between the 2 premises. There was a break in the wall large enough for a man to get through. There was a board partition—or rather, some planks—perhaps an inch or 7-8 inch sheeting. A person could not see into the cellar, but could see over the top of the board if they got close up. This hole had since been converted into a door. While at work in the cellar he could hear and did hear people talking and moving about the Hyams warehouse. The hole existed before the Hyams took the warehouse and while Imrie & Graham were there. He could not tell where the presses were located, but he could smell them. "I mean I could smell the ink," said the witness.

McCarthy said he used to get down to work Monday mornings about 5.30 in order to send up the supplies to the restaurant, as he had charge of the stock room. He had to remain there until breakfast for the customers who help had been served, and did not usually go home until a quarter to nine or nine o'clock, but generally it was later, sometimes 9.30. Witness said he was in the stock room in the warehouse attending his duties on the day Wells was killed. Witness continued: I was in the habit of hearing sounds every morning. This morning I heard a man whistling, then I heard other noises, nothing unusual, but it might have been coal. Then I heard a crash that I took as indicating something unusual had happened.

I heard a quick, dull thud first, then a crash, which I took it something had happened to the elevator. I had heard the whistling up to the time, but heard not whistling subsequently. I heard what sounded to be footsteps, where I could not exactly say. It might have been 15 minutes or more after the crash. I took the footsteps as coming in on the ground floor of the adjoining warehouse, but couldn't say I heard them in the cellar. I couldn't say exactly how many steps. Then I heard a shout and cry which sounded to me like some one crying out to another. I don't know the exact name. It might have been "Bill" or "Will," or "Wells,' I can't say. It sounded to me just as one person might call to another. It was loud, what you might call a shout, I suppose. Two or three minutes after the shout I heard other steps on the first floor of the adjoining warehouse. I think the time I heard the whistling was about 9 o'clock or five minutes later.

Duncan McDermott, a carpenter, said he made some changes in the cellar of the Hyams warehouse after the twins vacated it. There was no box for the weight, and no portion thereof, nothing to prevent the weight swinging from side to side. When he had made other changes in the cellar in January of 1893 there were portions of the box weight there. He saw no buffer block for the weight to come down upon, but had a sort of recollection about seeing a piece of scantling.

Joseph C. McMillan, who is now working at Welland, was employed by the Imrie & Graham Company from December, 1891, to September, 1892. He was foreman of one of the floors; his duties calling him into the basement very frequently. He used the hoist more than any one else and thought it a very unsafe one. Sometimes the weight would catch on the ground floor, and he frequently found it difficult to release it. The weight usually caught when it was descending, but he never knew it to catch as it was going up. The last time it caught was in September, 1892, shortly before they left the premises. He had a load of paper on at one time when the cage was at the top floor. The brake was defective and allowed the cage to drop to the basement. In September, 1892, the weight came off once, but the reason for it he never knew. He remembered the ropes coming off the gearing or friction wheels at the top. Neither Mr. Imrie nor Mr. Graham went into the basement very frequently. The casing was taken off the weight shaft to learn what occasioned the stoppage of the weight. He found a piece of the floor projecting, and thinking it was too much trouble to cut it off he left it there.

"Is that the hook which was in the weight the day it fell off?" asked Mr. Osler. "No," said the witness, "it is not."

This evidence, consequently does not contradict the witnesses for the Crown that the present hook could not possibly leave the eye of the weight. The new hook was spliced on about a month or six weeks before the tragedy.

T. M. Maguire had been engaged as an expert machinist by the defence. He examined the elevator in the Hyams warehouse on March 21. He had seen the weight, the rope and the hook and made and purchased duplicates of them. The point on the hook he purchased was longer than the point on the hook on the weight. Witness had a weight box built 24 inches wide by 6 inches deep, and had made experiments. The defence sought to get the experiments thus made before the jury, but Mr. Justice Street declined to allow the testimony. Then counsel pursued a new line. Maguire said he believed that if a weight was caught by the nose of the hook it could be lifted up, and the weight might either fall from the hook or the hook might run straight into the eye. If the weight was pulled up to the edge of the chute it would catch, and if a person caught hold of it with his hand to push it in the chute it might either go up or fall off.

To Mr. Osler witness said if the weight hung a little askew he thought it would go up.

T. H. Dryden, millwright, the partner of the last witness, agreed with Maguire that the hook might be caught sufficiently to come out or to go in and still might be raised up. Mr. Johnston proceeded to show how easily it could be done, but each time he did it he slackened the rope.

William C. Price, who had worked at the machinery business, had an interval of real estate and was now in the hotel business, thought if the hook caught on its point and the weight pulled up and met an obstruction the hook might be driven in or might fall out. If the weight was canting when it came in contact with the obstruction and dropped off it would not likely drop on its end, but upon its side.

Mrs. Mary A. Burgess, proprietress of a hotel in Muskoka, said she knew the Hyams family well, especially Mrs. Hyams, the mother, an old lady who had boarded with her for seven summers. Shortly before the death of Wells, when she was in Toronto, she sent her daughter to 57 Gould-street for the address of Mrs. Hyams in Florida, and next day a note was left for her, giving the address asked for. This testimony was put in to show that the letter she received was one of those left with Miss Lattimer to deliver the morning of the tragedy before she came to the office.

Matthew Ramage, an engraver and card-writer, for whom a commission was issued, put in an appearance personally, having come over from Philadelphia to give evidence. Ramage left Toronto in May of 1893. He was another man who dabbled in real estate here for a couple of years. He knew the twins, and, unlike most of the witnesses, could tell them apart. He knew the married one from the one who was not married. On the day of the tragedy he left home about 8 o'clock and reached the office about 8.30. Finding it locked he went for a walk. He met Harry Hyams a few minutes later in the north side of Victoria-street, near Adelaide. A young man joined Hyams and stopped witness. The young man said that he wished to take some writing lessons from him. The three walked along Adelaide-street to Toronto, then across King to Leader-lane and along Colborne to the warehouse, which the young man entered. This was about 20 minutes to 9. Hyams returned with witness to Leader-lane. Hyams here entered the barber shop. It would at this time be about a quarter to 9 o'clock. Wells was carrying a parcel in his hand at the time.

To Mr. Osler witness said he came from Philadelphia a week since, in response to a telegram from Mr. Horn. He had had communication with Mr. Horn three or four weeks before that time. After a lengthy cross-examination Mr. Osler put this question to witness: Then Harry Hyams was standing on the corner of Adelaide and Victoria-streets, waiting for Wells and expecting him; Wells joined him, and the three of you went down to the warehouse. Hyams did not go in, but doubled on his tracks, and went to the barber shop?

"Yes," answered the witness, "you've got it."

"And they got you for a witness," said counsel.

Mr. Johnston objected to the question as improper. Mr. Osler replied that it was perfectly proper, and was prepared to take the ruling of the court, but not of counsel for defence.

STABBED KYRLE BELLEW

Mrs. Brown Potter Overdoes Her Part in "Charlotte Corday."

New York, May 21.—During the performance of Charlotte Corday at the American Theatre last night, Mrs. Jas. Brown Potter, wrought to a high pitch of excitement by the intensity of the play, stabbed Mr. Kyrle Bellew in the side, inflicting a slight wound.

It was in the scene where Charlotte Corday enters the apartment of Murat and assassinates him in his bath tub. Mr. Bellew groaned as the overwrought actress thrust the knife into his side, but she was not aware of the wound she had inflicted until she saw the blood slowly oozing from his flesh-ings. Bellew's sufferings will be slight.

D. J. Waggoner of Kingston has submitted to Mr. Daly a plan for colonizing the Northwest, which he believes will be most beneficial. He suggests that on a number of quarter sections the Government should erect a log house at the value of $30 and have five acres of land plowed early in the spring, so that when the settler enters the country he will find a dwelling ready for him, and land prepared for the seed. The cost in each case would only amount to $90, which money could be repaid on easy terms.

HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE.

CONSIDERABLE comment is caused in Hamilton over the fact of Rev. Mr. Boville, a resident pastor, going to see a variety show in company with a Herald reporter. From all that can be learned, the more or less caustic comments on the minister's action would be considerably modified if he had made the visit in good company. The very idea of going anywhere with a reporter, whom evangelists as a stock joke, are wont to classify as hopeless of regeneration! But, seriously, if the reverend gentleman made the visit in order to gain information upon the ground, for use in his professional capacity, he is not so much to blame. His equipment for the exercise of his high functions would be incomplete without a personal cognizance of the conditions, against which he inveighs. It is not necessary for a minister to drink to excess to learn the evils of drink, but if he did not see day after day revolting instances of the suffering and depravity brought about by drink, he would have but little idea of the evil, and would lack that depth of feeling necessary to a vigorous and earnest denunciation of that evil. So, if a minister wishes to paint and point the perils associated with entertainments of the class in question, if he sees them with a righteous motive, it is certainly prudish to say that he sins against his cloth. He does not "follow the multitude to do evil," but to gather facts to impress truths. Actions, not essentially evil, become meritorious if they spring from good motives. It is an evil to lose a limb, but it is a virtue to remove it if thereby life is saved. A preacher said the other day it was the proper business of his kind to teach men how to live more than how to die. If a man lived right his death would be a matter of minor concern. If ministers would teach men how to live, which involves teaching them what to shun, their usefulness will be heightened by a knowledge of the temptations that beset the paths of their flock. The wickedness of the world is active, aggression, overt; it is not a vague abstraction; and the preaching that would cope with it must be active and not consist in the preaching of limp moralities and prosy platitudes. A minister must know what he is talking about or his talking will not command respect. Was St. Paul's virile ministry impaired by his evident personal observation of the evils he denounced? Was his denunciation of the vices of the Corinthians inspired by reading some vapid essay on morality or did the things he had seen furnish the sting for his stylus? If wicked men imputed evil motives to the Perfect Man, certainly a minister of his Gospel should have the moral courage to do what his conscience approves, if be be prompted by a righteous motive, no matter what a carping world may say.

THE will of an Aberdeenshire farmer contains several amusing clauses, says the Weekly Scotsman. In the document, which was drawn up two months before his death, the deceased ordained two persons (whom he names) "To make my coffin without handles, covering, paddings, painting or blackings, as it hath a bad, unwholesome smell. No varnish, but clean spalls and shavings in the inside, with white, plain boards out side, and strongly nailed and well put together. Use no mort cloth and no flowers or wreaths, for paint, padding, coverings and flowers are of no use, but pride, vanity, and ambition." "Surely," he adds, "you will not put my remains into a black box." "Invite," he says, "my acquaintances, enemies, friends and relations to my funeral, and use them in the good old-fashioned style—a glass of good whisky and a good-sized bap or biscuit, and make them take it out, for men travelling a bit is better of something to support the inner man. None of them snaps of wine; it does not agree with the Scotsmen's stomachs. Likewise, observe this rule. None will put on mournings nor black clothes for me, as the bits of duds gets it all to do often, and no manner of good to none but the merchants and the dressemakers generally." At the foot of a funeral letter lady friends are invited. "I wish them called female friends, for there is no ladies hereabouts that I know of. You will," he explains, "be saying that I am close-minded, and did not speak about my funeral while alive; but I knew that I would be tormented about my funeral being too plain, not enough of pomp and vanity about it, but I don't want pride, vanity, and ambition at my funeral, but just directed as above. That is more to my mind, and I hope and wish it will be gratified in all the above details."

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

The Restoration of Both to Health Brings Joy to an Aylmer, Que., Home.

If there is any section in this great Dominion in which the curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pill have not been proved, it must be uninhabited, from all sections come the strongest endorsations from people in all ranks of society, and it is safe to assume that the discovery of this medicine has been of incalculable benefit to suffering humanity. Many in Aylmer and vicinity have kind words to speak in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and among them is Mrs. Inglee, wife of Mr. W. J. Inglee, the well known grocer. To a reporter Mr. Inglee gave the following particulars of his wife's cure. For a long time she suffered severely from pains in the back and kidney trouble, and was much weakened and run down. Having read much concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it was determined to give them a trial, and after the use of a few boxes Mr. Inglee was completely cured. A couple of physicians who had known the condition of her health enquired what she had taken that improved her appearance and health so much. Being told that it was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, both frankly admitted that she could not have used anything better. Mr. Inglee also stated that his daughter, a young lady of seventeen, had been troubled a great deal for the past couple of years with weakness, headaches and troubles incident to girlhood. She was very pale, easily fatigued and troubled with frequent headaches. After using several boxes of Pink Pills the colour returned to her cheeks and she rapidly regained her former strength, and now there is no healthier girl in the town. Several months have elapsed since she discontinued the use of the pills, and there has been no indication of any return of the trouble. Mr. Inglee says they always keep Pink Pills in the house in case of need, and thinks every one else would do well to follow the example.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure rich blood, drive out disease and cure when other medicines fail. They are sold by all dealers, but only in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Promptly refuse all imitations and substitutes—only the genuine Pink Pills can make you well.

PEERS ARE NOT COMMONERS.

The House Decides That Peers Are Ineligible to Sit in Parliament.

London, May 21.—The committee appointed by the House of Commons in connection with Lord Coleridge's succession to the peerage has adopted a report affirming the fact that succession to a peerage disables the successor from being elected to or sitting or voting in the House of Commons.

London, May 21.—The committee appointed by the House of Commons to consider the question affecting the right of Viscount Wolmer to sit as a member of the Lower House, despite the fact that by the death of his father he had succeeded to the rank and title of the Earl of Selborne, reported to the House to-day. The committee find that Viscount Wolmer having, through right of succession, become the Earl of Selborne, a peer of Great Britain, he is no longer entitled to sit in the House of Commons.

The report of the committee was read by Mr. Henry T. Anstruther, Liberal-Unionist, who moved that a writ for a new election in West Edinburgh, to fill the seat vacated by Viscount Wolmer be issued at once. Mr. Curzon, himself heir to a peerage, urging the House to pause before taking such a step, which, he declared, was an entirely new Parliamentary procedure.

Mr. Anstruther's motion calling for a new election in West Edinburgh was approved.

Dissolution Not Coming Immediately.

London, May 21.—The Westminster Gazette, in an article on the dissolution scare, says the panic in the lobby is not shared by the ministers, who have decided that unless they are defeated upon a vital issue Parliament will not be dissolved this session.

Conservative Ministerial Slate.

London, May 21.—The newspapers of this city to-day have devoted much space to the scare caused in certain circles by the report spread of the approaching dissolution of Parliament. The Westminster Gazette, for instance, says that the next Conservative ministry has already been agreed upon at the Carlton Club, headquarters for the prominent Conservatives. It is added that the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour will be Premier. The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the Unionist leader, is slated for the office of Secretary of State for Home Affairs; the Marquis of Salisbury, formerly Premier, is said to be likely to be the next Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and the Hon. George N. Curzon is said to have been selected for the office of Secretary of State for India.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

TAYLOR FOUND GUILTY.

Convicted on His Own Testimony—Sentence is Deferred.

London, May 21.—The trial of Alfred Taylor was resumed in the Old Bailey Court. Taylor was called to the stand, and repeated the statements he had made in the witness box at his previous trial. In reply to questions in regard to the visitors at his rooms, Taylor asked to be allowed to write their names. The judge said: "If the names are written I will read them aloud. I do not approve of mystery."

Taylor did not write the names, but mentioned a few which have already been connected with the case. There were no notable names among them. He denied that he had gone through a marriage ceremony with a man named Mason. After the libel trial of Wilde against Lord Queensberry, the latter's solicitors he said, had asked him to make a statement against Wilde, but this he had refused to do. The evidence was concluded with Taylor's testimony, and counsel began their addresses to the jury.

The judge, in summing up the evidence, directed the jury to acquit Taylor, as regards his complicity with the young man Woods, leaving them to decide upon the three charges in which Taylor is alleged to be directly guilty.

Taylor was found guilty on several counts in the indictment. The Court deferred sentence.

Queensberry and His Son Arrested

London, May 21.—The Marquis of Queensberry met his son, Lord Alfred Douglas, in Piccadilly, shortly after the conclusion of the Taylor trial, when he stopped him and abused him roundly for continuing to uphold Oscar Wilde. A vehement exchange of words ensued, and the quarrel was rapidly reaching the point of blows, when the police broke through the large crowd which had collected and stopped the row. Both Lord Queensberry and his son were arrested and taken to the Vine-street Police station, followed by a mob. After a short detention in the station the father and son were released.

FREDERICTON BRIDGE

Investigated by the Public Accounts Committee.

IT COST THE COUNTRY $366,000.

Mr. Temple, M.P. For York, N. B., Characterises His as "a Mere Bagatelle"—The Shareholders Only Put Up $200,000 to the Government's $566,000.

Ottawa, Ont., May 22.—The Fredericton bridge transaction was the subject which the Public Accounts Committee investigated yesterday. The facts which have been made public were not modified by the testimony which one of the chief actors, Mr. Temple, M.P., gave with regard to it. The first witness was Mr. Courtney, Deputy Minister of Finance. The points of his statement were that the shareholders of the bridge owe the Government $66,000 on interest overdue up to Dec. 31 last. Since June, 1889, no interest had been paid upon the loan of $500,000. In fact the only interest which has been credited to the company was $15,000, which was due at the time the $80,000 bonus was given and which was kept out of that donation. So that the cash actually paid to the enterprise out of the public exchequer was $815,000.

The Department of Justice had not been informed of the company's default but the Minister of Finance had known all about it. The "special" account to which the overdue interest had been charged was not exactly the same as a profit and loss account. It was rather a suspense account, its purpose merely being to show the amount of the arrears of interest.

There were just four of the Government's investments which were treated in this way. The Albert Railway, the Quebec Harbor bonds, the Three Rivers and Fredericton Bridge. The total amount of the account was $805,000, and Mr. Courtney thought that this was counted in as available assets in the statement which the department made of the net debt of Canada.

Mr. Foster asked his deputy some questions, to which he replied that he believed that during the past six years he had brought the Fredericton Bridge interest to the Minister's attention. Mr. Foster said he thought the items in the special account were not subtracted from the gross debt in the process of getting at the net debt of the country, but the deputy adhered to his former opinion.

Mr. Temple, the member for York, displayed remarkable ignorance with regard to the whole business. The stockholders had put $120,000 of their own money into the bridge. There was $20,000 paid up on the stock. The subscribed stock was $200,000. He could only remember one call being made, and he supposed it would be a 10 per cent. call. When he was asked for the names of the shareholders, he gave them after some hesitation. They are Alexander Gibson, senior and junior, Mr. Temple himself and Messrs. Rowley and Hillier. There were also the original shareholders.

Mr. Hillier is Mr. Temple's son-in-law and Mr. Rowley is a clerk in a store in Fredericton, who was a clerk in Mr. Gibson's employ.

The Government put $830,000 into the bridge, $300,000 of a loan at 4 per cent., and $30,000 of a bonus, less $15,000 held back to pay overdue interest upon the loan. The company had put in $120,000, he said, but he could not tell how that amount had been contributed. When Sir Richard Cartwright pointed out that the bridge only cost $418,000 and the Government had furnished $815,000, there was only $103,000 left for the shareholders to raise in any other way. Mr. Temple thereupon corrected his former statement, and with the remark, that whether it was $103,000 or $120,000, it was plenty to lose upon the bridge. He thought that was enough for them to have invested for the good of the country.

While the committee laughed at this way of looking at it, Sir Richard Cartwright reminded him that it was after all a pretty shrewd business move for the shareholders to get the Government to contribute $315,000 to their speculation.

"Oh, it's a mere bagatelle, there are millions sunk in Ontario, and it's a good thing for our little province to get something."

This reply probably indicates as clear as anything the light in which Mr. Temple regards this whole transaction. It is interesting to note that this observation was made with the utmost composure, as though it was the most natural consideration in the world to be taken into this so-called investment.

Mr. Temple could throw no more light upon the transaction. He told the committee that one railway, the Canada Eastern, owned by Mr. Gibson, is using the bridge, and another road is expected to. He anticipates, therefore, that in the future the bridge will become profitable.

Mr. Edward Jack, a New Brunswick land surveyor and timber explorer, gave evidence, that in his opinion with the development of the timber resources of New Brunswick the bridge would eventually give profitable returns. This evidence was characterized by the Liberals as an attempt to draw a herring across the trail, but it went into the record of the case for what it was worth.

The subject will be resumed at another sitting of the committee.

Mr. Laurier told the leader of the House to-day that he saw no prospect of a division on the questions which form the subject of the budget debate to-morrow, so that it may be taken for granted that the vote will not come off until after the holidays. The decision come to yesterday to adjourn from to-morrow until Tuesday next was officially recorded upon a Government motion.

The budget debate was resumed by Dr. Sproule.

One of the strongest speeches that have been heard in the House during the debate was that of Mr. Bain of Wentworth. He touched upon all the important features of the trade question and presented an exceptionally strong case against the policy and administration of the Government. Other speakers were Mr. Macdonald of Victoria, Mr. Bruneau and Mr. Campbell.

It is understood that the law will take its course in the case of Chatelle, the murderer of Jessie Keith, and he will therefore be hanged on the 31st inst. No importance is attached to the contention put forward by Mr. East, Chatelle's lawyer, that the prisoner is insane. At the trial Mr. East withdrew from the defence of the prisoner because Chatelle wanted another line to be pursued than that which the counsel had decided upon. It is felt here that if Mr. East had any thought that the prisoner was insane he should have raised that point at the trial, and not have withdrawn.

BIG BLAZE IN WINGHAM.

Union Furniture Factory and Many Dwellings Burned. The Total Loss Reaches Over $42,000.

Wingham, Ont., May 21.—The Union Furniture Factory, employing a large number of hands, with several adjacent dwelling houses, was burned to the ground to-day. The fire started about 3.30 p.m., and is supposed to have originated in the drying room. Total insurance, $13,600. Total loss, $42,009.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT HIMSELF.

Fooling With a Revolver, Homer Dixon of Toronto Meets Death.

Guelph, May 21.—E. Homer Dixon, junior clerk in the Dominion Bank, and son of Mr. Homer Dixon, of Toronto, was taken to the General Hospital at midnight Monday, the victim of an accident. While fooling with a revolver in the teller's box of the bank, the weapon discharged, and the bullet entered the young man's abdomen, tearing its way through to the backbone. At the hospital it was stated that the wound was fatal, death being only a question of hours.

MAY REPUDIATE ITS DEBT.

This Is What Newfoundland's Government Is Now Considering.

St. John's Nfld., May 21.—It is reported that the Whitewayites are considering the possibility of repudiating the public debt as a last resort in their present difficulties, and will withhold the presentation of the budget a few days longer, in the hope that Secretary Bond will be able to obtain a loan before the Government's final statement is made public.

NO POOL ROOMS IN CANADA

The Last of the Kind Closed Up in Windsor.

Windsor, May 21.—The pool-room is closed. Mr. Martin, proprietor, says that the judgment delivered in Toronto will be carried up, but he will not open again until the matter is once for all settled.

CYCLIST'S SKULL CRUSHED.

Fell From His Wheel Under a Wagon and Fatally Injured.

Toronto, May 22.—Alexander Montgomery, aged twenty-six plumber, afteree e emcfwyp cmfwyp cmfwyp m 300 Bathurst-street, was bicycling in after 6 o'clock last night, when he collided with a grocery wagon belonging to J. Cleary, Lippincott-street, and fell under the horse's hoofs. He was picked up unconscious, and bleeding profusely at the head. Dr. Noxon was called, and had Montgomery conveyed to the General Hospital, where he is now dying. His injury is a fracture of the skull.

Montgomery has for the past ten years been in the employ of Bennett & Wright, and since his father's death some time ago, has been the support of his mother and several small children. The doctors at the Hospital entertain no hope of his recovery.

La Gascogne Again Overdue.

New York, May 21.—The French steamer La Gascogne, whose delay in reaching this port caused so much anxiety last February, is again two days overdue. She sailed from Havre May 11, and carries 503 passengers, 50 of whom are in the saloon, 44 in the second cabin and 409 in the steerage. Her crew number 210 men. Captain Baudelon, who brought her safe into port before, is still in command. Agent Forget attributes the latter's delay to the dense fogs which have prevailed on the North Atlantic during the past week.

Two Sudden Deaths at London, Ont.

London, Ont., May 21.—Jos. Gatecliffe, one of the largest retail butchers in the city, died suddenly at his residence this morning. There appears to be something mysterious, and a post-mortem will probably be held.

Mrs. Ritchie, 62 years of age, who lives on a small farm near Pond Mills, was found dead on the threshold of her house this morning. Heart failure.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives great bodily nerve, mental and digestive strength, simply because it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'saved my life,' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 399 George street.

Mrs. Mack to Be Tried in June.

Buffalo, May 21.—Mary T. Mack, alias Tinsey McMillan, the alleged accomplice of the postage stamp counterfeiters, had a hearing before the United States Commissioners, and was committed to jail in default of $5000 bail. The case goes over till the June term of the United States Court.

French Forces Decimated by Fever.

Paris, May 21.—Despatches received from Madagascar say that fever is making fearful ravages among the French troops, especially among those who spent the rainy season on the coast. As an instance of the prevalence of the disease, it is shown that of the one company of soldiers, 150 strong, only 40 men are available for duty.

All Michigan Crops Ruined by Frost.

Detroit, May 21.—Reports from the western section of Michigan to-day indicate that last night's frost was the hardest of the present cold wave. The despatches say that all fruit and vegetables which survived the previous frosts are now ruined.

The sugar-coating on Ayer's Pills not only makes them easy to take but preserves their medicinal integrity to an indefinite period. It dissolves immediately after reaching the stomach and thus permits the full effect of the physic to be speedily realized.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is that some folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

Busier Than Ever!

The zenith of spring activity comes in May. We're busier than ever before—busier than ever we expected to be.

Constant crowds tell the story of brisk trade better than anything we can say. Come any time of the day or week, and you'll find plenty of customers here—not lookers merely, but CUSTOMERS.

Millinery Novelties.

New goods coming all the time—novelties that you'll find nowhere else in town. That means exclusive styles, but NOT fancy prices. Millinery depends largely on style for its popularity, and we claim to get the very newest things fast as introduced.

Gloves and Hosiery.

The styles you want for summer comfort. Everything new and right as can be. We know where the best goods are made, and the way we buy enables us to give extra good value.

We know by the way people are buying here that qualities and prices are exactly to their liking.

A SHOOTING ACCIDENT IN NORTH MONAGHAN.

The Result of the Careless Use of Fire arms.

A day or two ago a little fellow by the name of Bell, son of Mr. Wm. Bell, Town Hall line, was shooting catterpillar nests off the apple trees, when little Willie Sanderson walked into the orchard. Young Bell pointed the gun at the Sanderson lad and laughingly said: "Look out or I'll shoot you," at the same time pulling the trigger, the charge hitting Sanderson in the side of the face, badly burning his cheek with the powder. Fortunately there was nothing but powder in the gun, or it certainly would have proved fatal. This should be a warning to parents not to allow children to handle firearms.

GANNON'S NARROWS FERRY ALL RIGHT.

The Cable Spliced and in Working Order

Persons who use the Gannon's Narrows Ferry route will be pleased to know that the cable has been spliced, and that the ferry is now in working order. On Tuesday Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son went up to the Narrows, fished up the cable, and spliced the broken ends. It was a rather difficult job, but the Turners were equal to the occasion and made a substantial splice. Thus a great public convenience is restored.

Died of Heart Disease.

Mr. William Hubbard, a well known resident of the north end, died suddenly last evening of heart disease while sitting in his chair after tea. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from his late residence, 195 Harvey street, where, together with his wife, he lived with his daughter, Mrs. Pickles.

Board of Trade Deputation.

The Board of Trade deputation has returned from Toronto, whither they went in the interest of the proposal to secure the location of manufacturing concerns in Peterborough. For obvious reasons the details of the result of their visit are for the present withheld, but it may be said that there are important practical results likely to follow their visit.

With Intent to Defraud.

Mr. M. T. Ostrom was summoned before the Police Magistrate this morning on a charge laid by Mr. Thos. Bradburn to the effect that Mr. Ostrom removed a stock of groceries, etc., from the store recently occupied by him, with the intention of defrauding Mr. Bradburn and his other creditors. Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defence, and on his application an enlargement of the case until Tuesday was granted.

Left-Over Stock.

This week we are holding a sensational sale of remnants of wall papers and odd ends of window shadings, corn'ce poles, and frame mouldings. It is the result of heavy selling that can't be helped. Profit time for them is over, and any price for our left-over stock is better than keeping them cumbering the racks and shelves. Shrewd buyers will find many useful ends that will come in handy. Clearing out prices all this week at the Peterborough Bookstore, A. H. STRATTON & Co. See advt.

Queen's Birthday at Lakefield.

A large gathering is expected at Lakefield on May 24th. The chief attraction will be the picnic in connection with St. Paul's church, and the address in the afternoon appropriate to the occasion of Hon. J. J. Curran, Q.C., Solicitor General of the Dominion, who has definitely decided to be present. Mr. Curran is a most eloquent speaker and his address will be well worth hearing. Amongst the other features of the picnic will be a football match, at 10 a. m., between the Lakefield team and the team of the Collegiate Institute, for a prize of a silver cup. There is also an interesting programme of athletic sports, and music by a first-class orchestra. For Peterborough citizens who desire to attend the grand picnic, the train service will be as follows: Trains will leave the G. T. R. station at 8.55 a.m., 1.15 p.m., and 6.30 p.m. Return trains will leave Lakefield at 3.30 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. Half fare from Peterborough and Auburn.

Tuesday Night's Sharp Frost.

Last night's was the severest of the May frosts, the thermometer marking seven degrees of frost, and flowers and vegetables that have heretofore stood the severe cold of the nights uninjured, were laid low. Dicentras in full bloom were laid flat, even the hardy ivy was shrunken and wilted with the blight. Early garden vegetables were badly nipped, and in the country the fall crops suffered, though, strange to say, the frost was of a local character. In South Monaghan a farmer states the frost was light and the damage slight. In Ennismore, it was severer, the pea crop suffering especially, but the barley was apparently uninjured. It is reported that many fields have to be resown, which can be done; as last year was a backward one, a great deal of seeding was done in the last week in May. However, a casual observation cannot disclose the amount of damage done. Later developments can only determine to what extent the frost damage has extended.

PETERBOROUGH RANGERS.

The Boys in Red Turn Out for Squad Drill.

Last evening the town was sprinkled with red-coats from seven until eight o'clock. It was drill night, and all were hurrying to the drill shed. Sergt.-Major Peters took the boys in hand for a hour or so, and the recruits are all beginning to show signs of improvement, and have already caught the characteristic step and bearing of the red-coats.

The following

were read:

HEADQUARTERS,
PETERBOROUGH, May 21st, 1895.

Orders by Lieut. Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers.

No. 1.—Sergt. Layfield is hereby transferred from "A" Co'y to be Orderly Room Clerk, vice Elcome, resigned.

No. 2.—Sidearms must not be worn on the street or otherwise than on parade by any except non-commissioned officers.

No. 3.—Permission is hereby granted to all members to wear uniform to the non-commissioned officers excursion on Friday, 24th May.

No. 4.—The Battalion will parade and march out, with both bands, ambulance and pioneer corps, on Tuesday evening, 28th May.

By order,
E. F. MASON, Capt.,
Adj. 57th Battalion.

Both officers and men are busily engaged already in thinking over the subject of the annual outing on the First of July. Niagara Falls has been mentioned as an objective point for the trip, but there would be great difficulties to combat to secure through trains for so great a distance. Belleville is also spoken of as are half a dozen other places. The ranks will soon fill up once a decision in regard to the matter has been reached.

As will be seen by the general orders the men are called together for a march out Tuesday evening. Both bands and the ambulance and pioneer corps will be in attendance.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

DOG OWNERS IN TROUBLE.

Fifteen of Them Served With Summons and up Before the "Beak" This Morning.

It was a hard morning on dog owners at the police court—that is, dog owners who had neglected to secure tags for their respective canines.

The first batch of the many summons issued were served yesterday. There were fifteen of them in all delivered, and yesterday afternoon seven of the fifteen dropped into the clerk's office, purchased a tag and paid the costs of service in addition, amounting in all to $1.35. The remaining eight dog owners appeared in the police court this morning. Three of them testified that they had no dogs at present, two having dispatched their pets and the third one having given his away.

The other five were assessed $2.10 costs besides being fined a dollar for a dog and two dollars for a bitch. There was much grumbling done, one ratepayer in particular thinking he was a very hardly-used citizen, as he had given his dog away and still had to pay his fine. The Chief stated that in this case he knew the dog in question had been sent to a friend living just outside the boundary. The owner was positive he would never see the canine again, but the Chief was skeptical about the matter, so the Magistrate gave the ratepayer two alternatives to choose between—either to kill the dog or pay the fine. The man wouldn't kill the dog, so he had to go down into his "dip" and pay his tax.

The [illegible] have thoroughly canvassed the town [illegible] is of little avail for anyone to [illegible] escape paying a dog tax if they possess a canine, and an appearance in the police court means the payment of any sum up to four dollars and sixty cents. If you're served with a summons the best thing is to hasten to the Clerk's office and settle with him, as in this way the fine can be saved anyway.

LOYAL LAKEFIELD'S GRAND PICNIC.

The Mammoth R. C. Picnic in the Exhibition Grounds.

The grand annual picnic under the auspices of St. Paul's R. C. church, Lakefield, will be held in the exhibition grounds Lakefield, on Friday, May 24th. There will be an elaborate list of prizes offered in the programme of athletic sports and games, and in addition at 10 a.m. a football match between the Lakefield team and the team of the Collegiate Institute, the prize being a handsome silver cup. A special feature of the day will be an address during the afternoon by Hon. J. J. Curran, Q.C., Solicitor-General of the Dominion, and addresses will be given by Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., John Burnham, M.P., J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and other prominent gentlemen. A fine day's enjoyment is promised to all who attend and all are cordially invited. Admission to the grounds, 25 cents; children 15 cents. Dinner 25 cents.

OPEN MEETING OF WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE CHARLOTTE STREET LADIES.

Many Speakers Address the Meeting and all Take "Women and her Work" for their Theme—An Interesting Musical Programme.

A public meeting under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society Auxiliary of the Charlotte street church was held in that edifice last evening, Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., of the George street church, presiding.

In the course of a few brief remarks, the chairman stated that there was no society in connection with the church which was more worthy of support than the Woman's Missionary society. Organized in 1883, it had advanced with rapid strides until it represented a most progressive and active auxiliary of the church.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Beer, of Ashburnham, after which the choir sang an anthem in excellent tune and harmony, Miss Florence Hall and Mr. A. L. Davis taking the solo parts.

Mrs. Sherin, of Lakefield, the district organizer, of the society, was introduced by Rev. Mr. Young, one whose utterances were always greatly appreciated in missionary circles.

addressed the audience as follows:—

Allow me to tell you the pleasure that it gives me to meet on this most interesting occasion the ladies of the Charlotte Street Association, as well as the several ministers and representatives of this Peterborough District. I think we should esteem it both an honour and a privilege to be in any way identified with a cause so benevolent in its origin, so comprehensive in its results as the cause of Christian missions to the heathen world; and whether we reflect upon the past, survey the present, or anticipate the future, we have, I think, abundant reason to thank God, to take courage and go forward. We rejoice that we are not here to tell of failure, but thankfully and gratefully to acknowledge the progress that has been made.

While we do rejoice in the success, we have still we remember that the work is only in its infancy. And as the results, we see here and there some lovely spots of beauty and verdure, upon which it is pleasing for the eye to rest, where the wilderness and the solitary places have been made glad, and the desert rejoices and blossoms like the rose; yet what a vast moral wilderness presents itself to view. "Truly the harvest is great, but the labourers are few." Let us pray the Lord of the harvest that He may send forth more and as a result of this evening's gathering may be to enlarge our sympathies, to stimulate our zeal and to increase our liberality on behalf of those who are famishing for lack of knowledge.

We grasp with joy the assurance that the Captain of our salvation is the heir of all things. "Ask of me and I will give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." He must reign till he hath put all enemies under His feet. And whatever be before Christendom, whether days of storm or days of peace, our duty is plain. We know there are some conservative Christians who have spoken of our work as a sort of religious hysteria, from which they pray to be delivered, and some a little more courteous say that at least we are eccentric, and this is our hobby. Eccentric to what? We know that such as are become truly centred in Christ are likely to be found out of centre with those whose outfit is the world.

When Jesus was chided for the neglect of parental claims, He asked His mother, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business." There is, there can be now, no work comparable for a moment with that of making known the Gospel to the unsaved, millions for whom Christ died, and since this great commission was given every one of us may well answer the claims of business, of society, of even the home church, with the answer "Wist ye not that I must be about my master's business?" How think you does our Lord regard His church's disregard of His commands. I fear the cause of barrenness falls upon home churches because of their disobedience and self seeking. The history of Israel is repeated in much that we see in the church to-day. "Israel is an empty vine, he bringeth forth fruit unto himself,"—unto himself, not unto God.

"CONSIDER YOUR WAYS,

ye have sown much and bring in little." Oh, the meagre results, the few conversions, the low spiritual life in Christian communities at home, the growth of unbelief, and the increase of ungodliness.

The past year with us has been one of blessing. From all the different fields connected with our Woman's Missionary Society we have had encouraging reports. Souls have been won for the Master, women have been led into better lives, made happier in this life, and given bright hopes for a future life; little children have been rescued, cared for and trained for future usefulness. The opening of orphanages in Tokio and Wenanyawa in Japan have been more successful than even the most ardent worker expected, but we, here at home, realise that these orphanages mean more labour, more care and responsibilities, and we may well say that unless the workers' feet had been well shod with love they would soon have turned back and said the way was impassable. The new home in in Chilliwhack, that has been opened, is filling up fast—72 boys and girls are in it. There is a marked improvement in the children of the Home at Port Simpson. All our Indian work is encouraging. The Chinese Rescue Home, and the French Institute, and the Bible-women in Montreal, are all of deep interest, and good results are reported. In distant China, too, the work is encouraging.

Our society has now about 17,000 members, and we raised almost $40,000 (.39,808.33). This district has something over 200 members and raised $513.32, including Mission bank receipts. On this district remains much to do, and we ask and pray that not only the pastors but laymen here lend their individual sympathy and co-operation in this work.

AND BEFORE TAKING MY SEAT,

let me appeal to the women of this Charlotte street church, to come up to the help of the Lord. Does not the love of Christ constrain you, my dear sisters? He loved you and gave Himself for you. Then, like Paul, we are debtors both to the Jew and the Greek, both to the wise and unwise. Let us all, then, rise to the zeal of the Apostle in this regard, and make this a matter of honesty, as did he, and seek to pay the debt we owe. You and I have the Gospel, not to keep it but to spread it abroad, as we often say, to all around.

Then, my dear sisters, as a part of the Church of Christ, are we prepared to meet the blessed Lord and to hand Him the five talents, the two talents, the one talent, according as He may have been pleased to endow us, and say "Lord, Thy five talents have gained five other talents, or Thy pound hath gained ten pounds," and to hear the blessed word, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

A trio, composed of Messrs. A. L. Davis, W. J. Squires and J. E. Steers, contributed a most appropriate vocal selection to the programme, and were followed by of Millbrook, who in the course of his remarks dwelt to some extent on the gentleness of women, which did so much to win souls for Christ. All women, he stated, were not gentle but all should be. He thought that when women entered public life they placed in jeopardy their chief gift from God, viz: gentleness.

Women were qualified to do a great and a good work in the world, because she was so quick in her perceptions. She intentionally jumped to the correct solution of problems which had for years baffled the objects of the church. Then, too, women had a great deal to do with the morals of a community. If she would but accept the responsibility of upholding the morals of the world, great conversions would be accomplished as it had been truly said that a nation's greatness never rose above its women's morals.

Mrs. Cochrane then rendered that old but ever beautiful hymn, "Jesus Lover of my Soul" in a manner which greatly charmed the large audience present.

REV. F. L. LIMBERT,

the popular pastor of Lakefield, stated that in speaking on the work of Christian women, the ministers were treading on unbeaten ground as the church was only just beginning to make use of the bountiful graces with which God had endowed woman.

Woman's work, some would say, lay in the home. Beyond that she should not go. There she reigned or should reign supreme. In the home her influence was wider and more benign in its character than that of the opposite sex. But the home did not require all a woman's attention. She had plenty of time to exercise her talents and influence in wider circles, and just so much as she worked in the Lord's vineyard in proportion would she grow in grace and wisdom.

In heathen lands there was much work for women to do, which was beyond man's power. In many of the Oriental nations man could not gain access to the native women, and herein lay the requirements for Christian women as missionaries. The field opened to them was one brimming over with golden opportunities to win laurels in the service of the Saviour.

A duet, entitled "At the Cross," rendered by Miss Florence Hall and Mr. A. L. Davis was particularly well sung.

REV. MR. KILGOUR

approved of the best creature going first in the world, whether it was man or woman. He thought, however, that man or woman were about equal, though one listening to the previous speakers would perhaps hardly think so as such very complimentary things had been said of the ladies.

Man could do many things a woman could not attempt to do and women could do many things beyond the possibilities of man. Woman certainly took the lead in the adorning and beautifying of the lines of life. She softened and rounded off many sharp corners.

The speaker had no patience with those of the sex who championed Woman's Rights. Those of this class should not feel offended if in trying to place themselves on an equal with man in everything, man should take them at their word and speak to them a trifle plainly at times concerning those same rights.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the doxology and the pronouncation of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Snowden.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE IN SESSION.

Examinations Into Ministerial Character, Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough District of the Bay of Quinte Conference is now in session in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, with Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., chairman of the district, presiding.

The clergy in attendance are Revs. E. Cragg, J. J. Rae, W. C. Beer, Peterborough; D. N. McCamus, Millbrook; Joseph Kilgour, Cavan; Wm. Limbert, Lakefield; T. S. McKee, Fraserville; A. L. Brown, Cavan South; J. E. Robeson, Warsaw; G. R. Clare, S. J. Green, Bridgenorth; R. Allin and W. J. Cragg, Bethany; T. Snowden, Pontypool; R. Emberson, Apsley, and W. H. Fulford, Apsley.

The examination into ministerial character in the district resulted most satisfactorily, no cloud being found to rest on the name of any one of the ministers.

Rev. Geo. R. Claire, of Bridgenorth, was appointed secretary.

When the consideration of the young men probationers in the district came up for discussion, Rev. A. L. Brown was recommended to be received into full connection with the church. The following young men were continued on trial: Messrs. S. J. Green, W. H. Fulford, W. B Bunner, W. S. Boyce and W. J. Craig.

Mr. J. Windsor was recommended to be received on probation.

It was recommended that Revs. E. Cragg and W. Johnston be continued on the superannuation list.

In connection with the report on those who had died in the district, Rev. E. Cragg read a memoir giving a short account of the life and character of the late Rev. T. Clewerth.

This morning the general session opened, that of yesterday concerning the ministers alone.

The following laymen are in attendance:

Peterborough.—Thomas Morrow, J. L. Hughes and R. Deyell.

Millbrook—R. W. Clarke.

Cavan—Richard Matchett.

Cavan South—Robt. Walsh.

Lakefield—John Hull.

Bridgenorth—W. C. Manning and G. A. Elliott.

Warsaw—Wm. Wasson.

Bethany—T. R. Graham and W. Henders.

Pontypool—John Barnicutt.

Harvey—Robert Shaw.

Apsley—Wm. Hales.

Reports have been received of the district in regard to the numbers in attendance at the different churches, the increase, decrease, state of finances, etc. All the reports showed the district to be in a very satisfactory spiritual condition.

THE WHEEL.

Messrs. Evans, R. Bradburn, O. Shortly, Will Lytle and Ernie Rutherford leave at five o'clock to-morrow morning for a century run from here to Toronto. These five riders are all strong pedalers, and the trip will doubtless be made in such time which will entitle them to a century bar.

The chain is the hardest part of the bicycle to get along with, comfortably. When a chain gets dry and creaky, it is a good idea to boil it for an hour in a hot soda bath, then plunge it into a pail of light oil and allow it to remain immersed for an hour, at the end of which time the oil will have thoroughly penetrated every bearing part. The chain should then be hung up and allowed to drip thoroughly. A chain so treated will usually run well for days and weeks afterward. In an emergency case on the road, a thorough dose of soapsuds will always limber up an obstinate chain, which will often remain in good working condition for a long time afterward. George Horkins gave the chain on his wheel a great overhauling the other day, when he boiled it in water for an hour, soaked it in coal oil, and after drying it thoroughly gave it a dose of graphite. It will need no more attention this summer.

LACROSSE.

The secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club to day received a communication from Mr. M. B. Tudhope, secretary of the Orillias, in which he states that the club has decided to give the game on June 6th to the Peterboroughs. The date is that of the big E.B.A. excursion from this point and Lindsay to Orillia and both the Peterboroughs and Athletics were anxious to take advantage of the excursion to give the Orillia men a game. As stated the challenge of the Peterboroughs was accepted.

The Peterboroughs will send the following team to Campbellford on the 24th: Dobbin, goal; Hughes, point; Mein, cover; Lynch, 1st defence; Heap, 2nd defence; Brown, 3rd defence; Wasson, centre; Galley, 3rd home; Lipsett, 2nd home; Glover, 1st home; Borland, outside; Rickey, inside; Guy, field captain. This is almost identically the same team which three years ago won everything which came its way. It never knew a defeat.

A committee meeting of the Granite lacrosse club will be held this evening over the Palace Restaurant at 8 o'clock.

BILLIARDS.

Geo. Sutton, formerly of Peterborough, and one of Canada's star billiardists, has made a new record for Canada in the balk line game by a run of 319 on a 5x10 table, at the 14-inch line game. The score is well authenticated. Mr. Sutton is the Canadian straight-rail champion, but has lately taken up the balk-line game.

A WORKING MAN'S COMPLAINT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I wish it to be known exactly how I have been treated by the Canadian General Electric Company. I saw their advertisement in the paper for machinists, and I wrote for a job. They sent me answer to come, and a promise of $1.50 to $2.00 per day. I left Granby, P.Q., brought my wife and two children with me, and when I arrived in Peterborough the men were on a strike and the works closed, so I could not get any work. But the head of the staff promised me the first chance when they commenced work, but they are running now with over 200 hands and I am still left out in the cold. They gave me half my fare $3.35, but my wife and children I should be compelled to leave behind, with no means of getting the necessaries of life. I have lost all confidence of getting employment. I am here with my wife and family without a cent but would gladly retrace my steps back, but to do so is impossible and the whole blame rests on the staff of the C. G. E. Co. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your valuable paper,

I remain yours truly,
J. O. MASSIE.

NOTICE!

TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED AT this Department up to and including the Fourth day of June next for the right to cut the pine trees over seven inches in diameter on the stump, on that part of the town-ship of Vankoughnet, in the district of Algoma, lying outside the boundaries of the Batchewaung Indian Reserve, except the following part sections: S.-E. ¼ of section 11, S.-W. ¼ of section 12, S.-W. ¼ of section 14, and the S.-E ¼ of section 25.

Parties making tender will state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus, or for the right to receive a license to cut the pine trees over seven inches in diameter on the stump, which when cut, will be subject to the following rate of dues: on square or waney timber, $25 per thousand feet cubic; on saw logs, $1.25 per thousand feet board measure

No pine trees of a less diameter than seven inches on the stump shall be cut.

The Department reserves all timber except the pine, together with the right to dispose of such other timber at any time; and purchasers of the other timber will have the right to make roads, and to do whatever may be necessary in the premises to cut and remove the same.

TERMS OF PAYMENT: One-half cash, balance in three and six months. Notes for balance to be endorsed by parties satisfactory to the Department. A marked cheque for five per cent. of the offer must accompany each tender.

For further particulars and conditions of sale apply to P. C. CAMPBELL, Esq., Crown Timber Agent, Sault Ste. Marie, or to the DEPARTMENT OF CROWN LANDS, Toronto.

IN FRENCH NEW ORLEANS.

Old Houses With Wide Verandas, Made Beautiful by Trailing Vines and Flowers—Creole Customs.

The old houses, with their wide verandas are made picturesquely beautiful with trailing vines and pots of flowers that bloom so luxuriantly in this subtropical clime, and afford a striking contrast to the severe simplicity of the newer residences on the American side of the city. No matter how small the house of the Creole, there is a pot of flowers in the window, and there is a verandah, if it is only as wide as a fire escape. In the windows, half concealed by vines and flowers, sit the dark-eyed Creole ladies, on balmy afternoons, in charming negligé dress, peeping out at passers-by, and indulging in airy gossip in the only language that can express gossip in perfection, because it is conveyed more by gesture and the manner of saying than in words.

The French side of the city sleeps longer than the American side. The French shopkeeper sees no necessity of opening up early, for no one will buy until after breakfast, he argues. He takes his coffee, and then takes down the shutters; it may be 8 o'clock or half past. C'est bien! Very well, he says; if any one wants to buy, he will come back. At 5 o'clock he puts up the shutters; the day is ended. The proprietor of a large business house makes his appearance about 10 o'clock, after his breakfast. At noon he goes to the cafe and has a glass of absinthe, and maybe a game of dominoes or piquet. At 3 o'clock he goes home, leaving the store in charge of the clerks, who close it at 5. He has his dinner at 4, then a drive to the lake, and in the evening the opera.

And it is at the opera that one sees the very perfection of fashion—the loveliness of a Creole beauty in demi-toilette, and the world's model of courtly manners. The dres-circle of the old historic opera house is admirably arranged in boxes so that everyone can see everyone else and also have a most excellent view of the stage. The boxes are also arranged with a view for the "conversation" between the acts which is so necessary to the volatile Creole. In this galaxy of feminity and courtliness, all the ladies are dressed in opera costume throughout, including white slippers, and the gentlemen have dress suits, from patent-leather shoes to crush hats. To look upon this galaxy of black cloth and white satin and silk, one may naturally believe that the wealth of the city or even of the State is here represented. On the contrary, only a very few of the families are considered wealthy, even for this city. But the Creole must have his favorite opera, and he goes in state and style. To his credit be it said, he supports his favorite amusement, not from ostentatious display, but because he loves it. New Orleans, by the way, is the only city in the United States that maintains a French opera for a season, and it has done that succesfully for more than half a century. The failure during the last season was owing to bad management only.

The American side of the city does not visit the French opera—except on rare ocasions, as on ballet nights. The Creole never crosses Canal street to the American theatres. He cares nothing for even the most highly seasoned society drama, and even the "living pictures" have failed to draw him across the dividing line. He likes art, but not that kind of alleged art.

A new feature of the French opera is the Sunday matinee, which begins at 12.30 p. m. Those who attend church have just time enough to return home, take a cup of black coffee and a bite of cake, and change their church apparel for a gayer one. The prayer-book is replaced with the opera-glasses, and the black veil with a lighter and more coquettish one. At the matinee an operette is usually given with a ballet; in the evening, a lachrymose opera, "Camille" or "Manon Lescaut."

The restaurants of the French quarter are peculiarly Parisian. The entrance of an American creates a sensation. By some he is regarded with suspicion. The French eat leisurely—not as if they were in a hurry to catch the next train. Without conversation the meal could not be digested. The Creole enjoys every moment of life—he eats, drinks his wine, and is merry. If to-morrow brings troubles, very well; it will be time enough to think of them then.

In walking along Chartres, St. Louis, and St. Anne streets, the visitor is at once surprised and interested in the curio-shops and other places of business. He sees little dingy offices, fronting on the pavement, containing bookcases, rocking-chairs, the walls lined with paintings of French nobles, and on the centre table is a vase of flowers. He does not know whether it is a private house or the entrance to a modiste's establishment. On the side of the door is a small tin sign, "Avocat." In his "library" he has the "Code Napoleon." The other books are treatises on philosophy and histories of the French Revolution. The Creole lawyer goes into court and argues his case from the facts before him—he cites no authorities; he cares nothing for "precedents." A judge of yesterday is as liable to err as a judge of to-day, he argues. So "precedents" are of no value to him.

The visitor is also interested in the number of second-hand furniture stores in this picturesque quarter. They have no signs; but roll their ancient tables and fautells (armchairs) out on the sidewalk, for the inspection of the public. Some of these second-hand dealers bear the names of nobles—one is that of a governor and another of a general sent to this colony a century ago. The French quarter has men of noble lineage on speaking terms with poverty, but who are too proud to sell an honored name. The Creole regards life as a joke—death ends the farce!—New Orleans Correspondence, New York Evening Post.

Cycling Jokes.

"That's a curious typographical error," said Mrs. Partridge. "The title of this new book is printed 'The Viking Age.'"

"Well, why not?" asked Partridge. "What ought it to be?"

"Why—Biking, oughtn't it?"

"How would you conjugate the verb to bike, pa?" asked Johnny.

"Bike, boke, biking, bak," said Mr. Knowitall. "Can you remember that?"

"I guess so," said Johnny. "Bike, buck, broken back. Is that it?"—Harper's Bazar.

NAPOLEON'S MASTERPIECE.

The Italian Campaign Showed His Greatest Military Genius.

Prof. W. M. Sloan, in The Century.

In later years Napoleon himself believed and subsequent criticism has confirmed his opinion, that the Italian campaign, taken as a whole, was the greatest. The revolution of a system, social, political, or military, is always a gigantic task. It was nothing less than this which Bonaparte had wrought, not in one, but in al three spheres, during the summer and autumn of 1796. The changes, like those of most revolutions, were changes of emphasis and degree in the application of principles already divined. 'Divide and conquer," was an old maxim; it was a novelty to see it applied in warfare and politics as Bonaparte applied it in Italy.

It has been remarked that the essential difference between Napoleon and Frederick the Great was that the latter had not ten thousand men a month to kill. The notion that war should be short and terrible had, indeed been clear to the great Prussian; Carno and the times afforded the opportunity for its conclusive demonstration by the genius of the greater Corsican. Concentration of besiegers to breach the walls of a town was nothing new, but the triumphant application of the same principle to an opposing line of troops, though well known to Julius Ceaser, had been forgotten, and its revival was Napoleon's masterpiece.

The martinets of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries had so exaggerated the formalities of war that the relation of armies to the fighting ground had been little studied and well-nigh forgotten; the use of the map and the compass, the study of reliefs and profiles in topography, produced in Bonaparte's hands results that seemed to duller minds nothing short of miraculous. One of these was to oppose the old-school rigid formation of troops by any formation more or less open and irregular according to curcumstances, but always the kind best suited to the character of the region chosen for the conflict.

The first two days at Arcole were the triumphant vindication of [illegible]s concept. Finally there was a fascina[illegible] for the French soldiers in the primitive savagery of their general, which, though partly concealed, and somewhat held in by training, nevertheless was willing to devote the spoils of their conquests to making the men themselves opulent: which scorned the limitations of human powers in himself and them, and thus accomplished feats of strength and stratagem which gratified to satiety that love for the uncommon, the ideal and the great, which is inherent in the spirit of their nation. In the successful combination and evolution of all these elements there was a grandeur which Bonaparte and every soldier of his army appreciated at its full value.

Statement of a Well Known Doctor

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is without an equal as a blood-purifier and Spring medicine, and cannot have praise enough. I have watched its effects in chronic cases, where other treatment was of no avail, and have been astonished at the results. No other blood medicine that I have ever used, and I have tried them all, is so thorough in its action, and effects so many permanent cures as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Dr. H. F. MERRILL, Augusta, Me.

STORY OF JABEZ BALFOUR

A SANCTIMONIOUS SWINDLER AND HYPOCRITE.

The Methods by Which He Was Enabled to Bleed the British Public to the Extent of Several Millions of Pounds Sterling.

Jabez Balfour was recently caught in Argentina and extradited, and is now in an English prison. If one-half of the accusations against him be true, he must rank as one of the very foremost swindlers of the age. Scarcely since the bursting of the South Sea Bubble has there been a financial scheme so widely ruinous to confiding investors as his operations. The losers through the collapse of his comanies were literally to be numbered by hundreds of thousands. These were largely the very people who could least afford to lose—widows and orphans and aged people of small means. They had been induced to invest because "Mr. Balfour was such a good man!" His father and mother had been temperance lecturers. He was a temperance lecturer. He was a leader in church affairs, particularly eloquent in public prayer and exhortation. He looked with the strongest disapproval upon theatres, music halls, cards, dancing, and all such worldly things. He was, moreover, a member of the house of commons, where he was one of the most enthusiastic followers of Mr. Gladstone, and one of the staunchest champions of home rule and one of the sternest reprovers of the house of lords for its plutocracy and its contempt for the common people. He was, in brief, the one simon-pure, all-wool, warranted-to-wash Friend of Humanity. Surely such a man was to be trusted.

This truly good man began his financiering many years ago, choosing "building and loan associations" as the most promising field for his peculiar talents. Strange as it may appear, he laid the foundations of his colossal scheme upon the ruins of various similar schemes that had ended in disaster—to their confiding stockholders. "The Liberator," his chief concern, was built upon the ruins of the Alliance National Land, Building and Investment society—with which two of his later colleagues, the Rev. Dawson Burns and Mr. Dibley, were associated, the former having acted as auditor—and the Estates bank and a number of other allied concerns known as the Alliance Group. These undertakings were popularly associated with the United Kingdom Alliance, though after the crash the latter body very emphatically declared that the companies had no connection with its organization. The bank closed its doors in 1866, and widespread distress was the result, attracting to little attention, amid the more colossal failures of that disastrous year. Yet the whole Alliance Group had been formed to afford safe investments for the funds of thrifty temperance adherents, and Jabez Balfour, so far from being discouraged by its fate, found in it the idea of all his future operations. The Alliance Group had ingeniously suggested temperance, and the Alliance of Manchester. Therefore, said Jabez, we must revive this principle; join temperance and religion, and appeal to the same saving classes. Having previously had some experience in the office of a firm of parliamentary agents, he came modestly before the world in 1867 as the virtual founder of the Lands Allotment company, from which, seven months later, was developed the Liberator Building society. The basis of the organization was expressed in its Latin motto: "Libera sedes liberum facit"—a free home makes a free man. Its name was a success; hundreds of Congregationalists were attracted by its prospectus, from a vague idea that it had something to do with the Liberation society, and possibly trading on this belief an appeal was made to Noncomformist ministers and others connected with temperance and religious societies all over the land to promote its beneficent objects. In the first year they received one per cent. commission on the shares and deposits, and subsequently 1-2 per cent., and the in drworardad sum of $705,000 was paid in this way. How thoroughly the moral idea was present in these proceedings was shown when, in 1871, on the society removing to its new offices, a resolution was adopted "that on the occasion of taking possession this day of our new premises, the directors desire to record their own sense of thankfulness for prosperity with which, as they believe, God has hitherto blessed their efforts in the establishment of this business."

In starting these companies it was, of course, declared that they were essentially safe, because their main business was "the legitimate one of a building society." In point of fact, though this continued to be, up to the very eve of the smash, the keynote of all the published statements, the bulk of the transactions had become of a widely different character. In 1875 another association was hatched, the "Lands Allotment Company," with practically the same directorate and Jabez Spencer Balfour as the controlling genius. The relations between these were extensive and peculiar; in five years the Liberator had financed the other two to the extent of $960,000; its shareholders and depositers knew little, if anythin, of the state of affairs, while, according to the examination in the bankruptcy court, its leading directors and officials were equally innocent of all knowledge—the one thing in which they all agreed being implicit and unlimited confidence in "Mr. Balfour.

From this period onward there was a regular succession of new companies. It has been well said that the secret of Balfourian finance was, "When in difficulty, start a new company." Thus there followed in succession Hobbs & Co., the London and General bank, the Building Securities company. George Newman & Co., the Real Estate company, and the Sheringham Development company. In most of these concerns there was a regularly paid dividend of 5 per cent to the shareholders and 4 per cent to the depositors. The recklessness of the financing was never surpassed. Balfour discovered a progressive builder at Croydon named Hobbs, a man in a comparatively small way of business, in 1873, and a member of the House and Lands Trust. Such large amounts were advanced to Hobbs that in 1885, when he was practically insolvent, he owed the Liberator $3,500,000 and the Building Securities company and Hobbs & Co. (limited) were successfully started to take up the concern. Finally when Hobbs failed, having in the meantime constructed those huge blocks, the Whitehall Court, on the Thames embankment; Hyde Park Court, the Salisbury estate building, Carlisle mansions and others—this limited concern was indebted to the Liberator to the extent of $10,495,000. From 1885 forward there was no choice but to make fresh and ever-fresh advances to Hobbs, and the parent company had to forego its claims and negotiate first, second and third mortgages in front of its own. The system on which this was done was simplicity itself. Each new company took over some of the liabilities of the old ones, and these were put down as so many successful transactions, severally yielding a handsome profit and splendid security—or, as the phrase went, "a large and noble property"—to the Liberator.

Apart from these transactions, "the Balfour group" were financing properties of a more or less speculative character all over the country. There were the Ilford, the Tilbury and the Romford estates, Meersbrook Park, the Billiter street property, the Hockley Hall colliery and sundry chemical works. All these involved scores of thousands of pounds, paid apparently with a magnificent disregard to real value. The advances to friends were on an equally liberal scale. The sum of $235,000 was allowed to a Kenyon Benham, who alleged that he had an interest in a will said to have been lost on the underground railway, but never legally proved. Richard Kenyon Benham and Albert Bennett Benham, for their share in these proceedings, including the forgery of the will, are undergoing terms of fourteen and five years' penal servitude respectively.

Space would fail to tell of the manner in which the Balfour group financed Newman, another progressive builder, who was also formed, like Hobbs, into a limited company. Newman has been sentenced to five years', Hobbs to twelve years' and Henry Granville Wright, a solicitor, intimately mixed up with all these proceedings, to twelve years' penal servitude. Though disaster followed these concerns from first to last, dividends were always found in the new subscriptions and deposits, and directors' remuneration never failed. Under the latter head Jabez Balfour and his colleagues divided among them from the seven leading companies a total of $892,770. The total amount of ruin brought upon investors through the final crash may be reckoned thus: Liberator society, stockholders, $3,305,[illegible]25, and depositors, $3,261,460; Lands Allotment company, capital subscribed, $3,831,050; House and Lands Trust, stockholders, $360,729, and depositors, $7,904,725; Building Securities company, capital subscribed, $1,318,675, and Hobbs & Co., capital subscribed, $306,810 These aggregate $30,289,770, a colossal sum. But there are various other items which, if added, would bring it up to nearly or quite $35,000,000.

Struck Too Soon.

Napoleon Bonaparte at one time contemplated an invasion of England, and so certain was he of success that he had a medal struck in Paris in honor of the event. Only one specimen has been left to posterity, because at the failur of the bold enterprise he expressly ordered the medals and dies to be destroyed. One side is the Emperor's half-length portrait, on the reverse is the image of Hercules stifling the giant Antaeus in his arm. On the top are the words, "Descente en Angleterre," and underneath, "Frappe a Londres" (Struck in London). This remarkable bit of coinage is said to be still preserved in the Paris Mint.—Harper's Round Table.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

SIRS,—It is with pleasure I send you the following regarding my case. For some years past I have been doctoring with three different physicians for Blood Trouble and Lame Back, but received only temporary relief. I tried a bottle of your Compound, and it has more than fulfilled its claims. The eruptions on my face have been removed, and the trouble in my back as well, and I feel like a new man. I consider your medicine better than any other for blood and liver troubles, as it has proved so in my case.

SEAGRAM'S FIVE WINS

Five Victories at Toronto in One Day

AND FIFTH TIME FOR THE GUINAES

A Great Day's Sport at Woodbine Races—Ten Thousand People Witness the Contests—One Event Captured by Mr. Hendrie of Hamilton.

Toronto, May 22.—The race fever struck Toronto yesterday in its full virulence. For some weeks it has been simmering, but the annual outbreak has now assumed its full force. By 2.30 ten thousand people had assembled at the track to see the contest for the Queen's guineas, and the other delectable events of the day. There were six races on the program, and no less than five of these were captured by Mr. Seagram.

The track was almost first-class, having dried out nearly perfectly after the recent rains. The day was fine and clear, and perhaps a little chilly for perfect racing weather.

The opening event at six furlongs had nine starters, with Morpheus, the horse imported for Mr. Seagram by Mr. Haines, as the public's fancy, opening at 7 to 5 and closing at 8 to 5. Copyright was next in demand, and was well played. The Juvenile Scurry for 2-year-olds at half a mile again saw the Seagram colors finish in front. Ten youngsters faced the starter, and again the yellow and black, which was sported by the English filly Pyramis, was selected to carry the bulk of the money. The big bettors went down on Hand Car, while many fancied Roundsman and Kikrana, which were both well played, as was Looram, by a select few. After several false breaks they were sent away to a fairly good start. When once under way Pyramis and Hand Car drew clear of the others, and ran lapped to the stretch, where Hand Car was in trouble, allowing Pyramis to win easily by two lengths. Roundsman challenged Hand Car in the last sixteenth, and secured the place by two lengths.

The Red Coat steeplechase for hunters brought out six starters and resulted in one of the best contests since the inauguration of the event, Venus, on whom Mr. Hoyes had the mount, opened an even money favorite, but went back to 4 to 1 at the close, while Royal Bob was backed from 3 down to 7 to 5. A good price could always be had against the others. Prince Charlie and Dodo raced the first two turns of the field alternating in the lead until the last time over the water, where Mr. George Carruthers, who rode with good judgment up to this point, made his run with the favorite and led over the remainder of the jumps in the field, closely followed by Dodo, who had been made much use of during the first part of the rout. Coming to the last jump Royal Bob lost considerable ground, allowing Dodo to get on even terms, and at the sixteenth pole had the favorite beaten, but Mr. Carruthers made a final rally, and in an exciting finish landed the President's horse a winner by a neck. The victory was a most popular one for both owner and rider, the latter receiving quite an ovation on his return to the scales. Prince Charlie finished third ten lengths off, with George C. fourth and Venus, on whom Mr. Hoyes took his time, fifth. The Maid being pulled up after the last time over the club house bank.

The Walker Cup in which Mr. Seagram started Saragossa and Silk Gown, resulted in an easy victory for the son of Duke of Montrose, who opened at 3 and 4 to 1, but was quickly backed down, when Mr. Seagram declared to win with him. Silk Gown's good work last Saturday and light weight made her decidedly in demand, while the strong tip on Penniless made him many friends, and he was well backed by the stable connections, as was Coquette by the followers of the brown and yellow jacket. The big bettors were down on Penniless, whose price was forced from 5 down to 3 to 1, notwithstanding the heavy play on Mr. Seagram's pair. Saragossa, however, looked like a "good thing," and to outclass his field, as the result of the race showed. Silk Gown, who it was expected would go out and set a pace, got off poorly, but managed to get to the front just before reaching the stand, and showed the way round the club house turn, when she gave it up, and dropped out of the race, as did Penniless, who pulled up very lame. Saragossa and Coquette ran lapped up the back-stretch and around the far turn, when the mare had enough, and Mr. Seagram's horse was allowed to win as he pleased, finishing a length in front of the President's mare, who beat Lotus two lengths for the place.

The Queen's Plate had ten starters, of which Mr. Seagram ran four, and for the fifth consecutive time captured Her Majesty's prize. The public would play nothing but Seagram and to the sorrow of the bookies, landed on Bonnifield, though many fancied Vicar of Wakefield. The race resulted in a most exciting finish between Bonnifield and Millbrook, the former ridden by Brooker securing the verdict by a short neck. Lochinvar just managed to get up in time to beat Vicar of Wakefild for third, the others being strung out. The winner got well away and at the stand had a slight advantage, while Millbrook was in the rush, Chickie ran a good race for seven-eighths of a mile, where she gave up the fight. Millbrook then moved up and had he been placed as well as Bonnifield would no doubt have won.

The Welter Selling Purse, which brought the afternoon's sport to a close, resulted in another win for the Waterloo stable, and for the fifth time during the day saw the yellow and black first past the post, this time Stonemason easily disposing of his field. The public, as usual, went down on Mr. Seagram's horse, while the talent selected Kilkenny to carry their money, and a quiet tip was out on Curious, who with her light weight was thought by the stable to have a good chance. When straightened in the back stretch Stonemason took command, and, keeping on, won as he pleased by four lengths from Kilkenny, who beat Lasotta a length for the place.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

Two questions were asked at the Union meeting last week which deserve the most careful consideration. The first was "Why is it the Y.P.S.C.E. fails to reach young men?" That is young men as a class, for we have many fine young fellows in our societies now, but the question was no doubt prompted by a desire to see a far larger number of young men taking part in our meetings. It has been suggested that we devote this column for one week to short answers from a number of Christian workers on this very important question. We think good would result from such a course.

After the model reports were read, one speaker said, we have now heard several good ideas put forward as to how good work can be done. The question was then asked, "If workers can suggest such good plans, why cannot they lead the societies and do the work suggested in these model reports? Now, this question is a very practical one. Can it not be answered at the next Union meeting, or better still, can it not be answered by actual work in each society?

GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

The following thoughts are culled from the excellent model report read by Mr. W. C. Beer:—

"This committee has until lately held an inferior position, now it is one of the most important.

They should have a pledge book at every meeting near the door, and all strangers invited to sign it as well as the members. A pledge for distribution by the members is also recommended.

There should be one meeting each month under the auspices of the committee, and having a temperance address, a debate, or something bearing on good citizenship. The aim of the committee should be to interest the members of the society, the members of the church, and citizens at large in everything that is for the advancement of righteousness and good morals, to vote for councillors who are opposed to the liquor traffic, and who are anxious to see the Sabbath rightly observed.

This committee should act in conjunction with others in shortening the selling hours in the liquor business. This is a very important work. There is also another work in the line of this committee which should be carried out, namely, the earlier closing on Saturday night of all places of business. No store should be open later than 10 p.m.

In Dominion and Provincial elections this committee should do all they can to elect members favourable to prohibition of the liquor traffic.

He closed a pointed and good paper with the following words:

"Our great desire and what we intend to work for is the closing of bar rooms, saloons, pool rooms, etc., the forbidding of druggists selling liquor except on prescription, and in fact, the total prohibition of the liquor traffic. Also the development of a higher ideal and intelligence in citizenship, the speedy suppression of boodling, bribery, gerrymandering, less of partyism in connection with municipal and parliamentary affairs, and last, but not least, we intend to work earnestly and faithfully for women's franchise, for we feel confident that if women had a vote all the evils that I have spoken of would soon become a thing of the past.

MARK STREET SOCIETY.

Monday evening we held the regular meeting of our society, the president presiding. After opening exercises Miss M. Finnemore took up the topic and brought out many practical thoughts which were worthy of consideration.

We are glad to report a steady increase in our membership, one more being added to our list.

After the meeting closed the Executive met to discuss important business.

CHARLOTTE ST. SOCIETY.

On Monday evening last we held our regular prayer meeting session. Miss Thomas occupied the chair.

After the regular opening exercises Mr. Dawe took up the topic of the evening, and was followed by Mr. I. Richardson, who brought forth, with great emphasis, the practical lessons, which were to be taken from our evening's topic.

Miss Hood and Mr. Richardson each gave a recitation which were received heartily by our Endeavourers. The attendance was very good.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

held their regular meeting on Monday evening, Miss H. White, presiding, and Mr. A. Gillespie read an able paper on the the topic, "The story of Pilate and its warning." Notwithstanding small attendance we had a very profitable meeting, several taking part in the open meeting, after which Mr. Anderson conducted a short prayer meeting. We had three propositions for active members. We praise God that the interest is growing and hope it will continue.

BETHEL C. E. OTONABEE.

Our meeting held May 15th, was well attended by the members, also many others. The topic "How can we Endeavourers help our church" was taken by Rev. Mr. Howard, Keene, who gave several excellent ways of helping our church.

At our last business meeting the Sunday school committee reported having organized a "home class" for the the study of the Sunday school lessons, beginning with twelve members.

Our missionary committee collect church and Sunday school papers and regularly supply schools in poor districts with the papers.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY

held their regular meeting on Sunday night. To make way for the praise service that was held on the following evening at this meeting no person presided. A number of the members read the daily readings bearing upon the topic, which formed an interesting Bible story. The music committee announced the hymns. Another committee took charge of the prayer portion, and still another presented the topic and read selections bearing upon the subject. The meeting throughout was novel, interesting, and, doubtless, profitable. The lookout, prayer, and missionary committees of this society will meet twenty minutes before the regular meeting on Monday night next.

THE HYAMS TRIAL.

A Verdict Expected to Be Reached To-Night.

COUNSEL BEGIN THEIR ADDRESSES.

The Defence Put Up an Alibi For Dallas and Claim That He, as Well as the Other Twin, Was Being Shaved When the Tragedy Occurred.

TORONTO, May 22.

After a trial lasting 12 days the evidence in the Hyams' murder trial is all in. One of the counsel for the twins has addressed the jury, and this evening, in all probability, the case, which counsel correctly described as almost unequal in the history of Canada, will be given to the jury to decide.

Yesterday the defence put in evidence with a view of proving an alibi for the prisoner Dallas Hyams, and it was of the same nature as in the case of his brother, the claim being made that he was being shaved. In rebuttal the Crown attempted to introduce evidence to contradict the testimony put in by the defence, that young Wells could have lifted the weight unaided, and that Preston could have looked over the lettering on the door into the Hyams' warehouse, but the evidence was ruled out by Mr. Justice Street.

Mr. Johnston of counsel for the defence occupied three hours and a half in presenting the case to the jury, commencing at 10 minutes past 3 and concluding at a quarter to 7. At the completion of his address an attempt at applause was made by the spectators, but was promptly supressed.

Mrs. Dallas Hyams was in the courtroom throughout the day, and while counsel was speaking kept her handkerchief to her face, frequently bursting into tears.

The two prisoners, still deadly pale, riveted their eyes on Mr. Johnston and the jury, never once turning round during the entire three and a half hours of the continuance of his remarks.

The courtroom was crowded to the doors, several score of ladies being in the audience.

A dramatic episode occurred just as the court opened. Mrs. Dallas Hyams had entered the court with Mr. Wellman a few minutes before 10 and took a seat at the barristers' table. When the two prisoners reached the dock she arose, shook hands with the twins, whispered words of encouragement and then, just as the jurors filed in, she threw one arm around her husband's neck, and raising her veil gently drew him towards her and kissed him affectionately. The chalky pallor which had only once before given place to a flush—when Mrs. Harry Hyams fell from the witness box in a fit of hysterics early in the trial—again disappeared and Dallas flushed to the brows. It was only for a moment, however, and the prisoner's face resumed its pallor. Mrs. Hyams once more took her place in the grand jury box facing the prisoners. During the preceding day she wore a veil. This she raised and her comely features appeared to much greater advantage. Mrs. Dallas Hyams is the one relative of the prisoners who has put in an appearance. Their aged mother is at Tampa, Florida, their brother at New Orleans is alleged to be too ill to come here, and the 14-year-old daughter of Dallas Hyams has not been made acquainted with the fact of her father's arrest, but thinks he is ill in some hospital.

J. Langdon swore that in the spring of 1892 Harry Hyams made arrangements with him whereby Aylesworth and Langdon were to purchase furniture and divide the profits. Aylesworth would go around and look up furniture and chattels for sale in private houses, warehouses and storage houses, then he would report to Langdon, the latter would inspect the chattels and then they would be sold. To Mr. Osler Langdon said the transactions between himself and Aylesworth ceased about October, 1892, as Aylesworth was going into the Hyams warehouse.

Charles J. Palin, auctioneer, testified that in 1892-93, Aylesworth was engaged by Hyams to make valuations of property under chattel mortgages. Asked if he knew why the Hyams gave up their warehouse business, Mr. Osler objected, but the testimony was allowed and Palin said it was because the premises were not suited to the carrying on of a warehousing business. The hoist was simply a large dumb waiter and not in any way adapted for the transport of goods from floor to floor, and all business would have to be transacted on the one floor. Mr. Palin's books were put in with a view of showing that the twins carried on a legitimate business. There were a large number of entries of transactions in furniture between Palin and the prisoners.

To Mr. Osler witness said there were no transactions to amount to anything between himself and the Hyams until after February, 1893, and subsequent to the killing. They seemed to have plenty of money then," said counsel, and the witness acquiesced.

Mr. Palin had put in copies of advertisements showing sales at the Hyams warehouse and elsewhere. When analysed they showed that but three of the sales had taken place at the warehouse and all sales were subsequent to March 1, 1893.

Witness' testimony, therefore, did not contradict that of either Miss Lattimer or Aylesworth, who swore that only two partial loads of furniture and groceries had been taken there before the killing.

Continuing, Palin said the premises were not at all suited to a warehousing business and no person having an idea of the business would have rented them. A man not posted might, however, do so.

With a view of showing that the alleged mercantile exchange of the twins was not the fake the evidence of Miss Lattimer and Aylesworth would indicate it to be, the defence put in the box Joseph Taylor, a bookkeeper for Scoville & O'Brien. Taylor produced a circular which, he said, had been found among old papers in his desk and which went to show that the twins contemplated starting a mercantile agency in 1891. Mr. Osler objected to testimony referring to matters two years prior to the tragedy.

Octavius White, painter, said that a week or two previous to Wells' death he had painted the interior of the ground floor of the Hyams warehouse and also lettered the windows.

Witness admitted that the frosting on the windows was so high that a person could not see over it. This is regarded as important in view of the fact that Preston swore he looked over the top of the frosting on Sunday prior to the tragedy.

Then the defence introduced evidence to establish an alibi for Dallas up to 10 or 10.15 o'clock the day of the tragedy, and it took the same shape as in the case of the other twin—he was getting shaved.

J. Neil, photographer, said that he was in the building at 11 King-street west on the morning of the tragedy and met Dallas Hyams there between 8.30 and 9 o'clock. Dallas was going downstairs at the time. He heard of the accident about 1 o'clock from somebody who was reading it from the noon edition of an evening paper.

R. Westcott, a barber, said he was employed at Brunell's shop in Jordan-street on January 16, 1893, and that he shaved Dallas Hyams. He knew the day because he heard of the killing of Wells subsequently. Westcott had cleaned up the shop and gone downstairs to attend the furnace. When he came up about 9 or 9.10 Hyams was there waiting to be shaved. The man who usually shaved Dallas was engaged and for the first time the prisoner got into the chair of witness. Then Westcott cut the prisoner's hair, singed his hair, shampooed and shaved him.

This would show that it must have been after 10.15 when Dallas Hyams reached the warehouse.

Westcott said the appearance of Dallas was the same as usual.

Mr. Osler: "This was the first time you ever shaved Dallas Hyams and this time he sat in the chair as long as he could sit there and had everything done that could be done?"—A. "Yes."

Witness said he had nothing to remember the occasion by except a discussion in his shop on the day of the tragedy. He could not tell his next customer that morning nor what he did to him, not unless there was something to remember it by.

"Not unless there was an accident on the C.P.R. to fix it in your mind; yes," said Mr. Osler, and dropped the witness there.

John Collins testified that he thought he saw Dallas Hyams between 9 and 10 o'clock on the morning of the tragedy coming up the stairs at 11 King-street west.

Joseph Jessamin, a tailor, said that "around about 9 o'clock" the day of the tragedy he visited White's tailor shop and he went into Hyams' office and saw Dallas Hyams. That was the only time he had ever been down town in the morning.

Then the defence attacked the Crown's theory of motive by attempting to show that the twins were in receipt of a stated income from relatives. Clerk Murphy of the Canadian Express Company was put in the box with a list compiled from the books of his company showing amounts received by Dallas and Harry Hyams and Mrs. C. C. Hyams, their mother, during the five years preceding the tragedy. The list showed that consignments of $200 per month were received, sometimes from New York and at other times from New Orleans, and in addition to the monthly consignments these sums: Jan. 9, 1890, $2200; Jan. 11, 1892, $1700; September, 1892, $440, and November, 1893, $500. The receipts for the consignments were signed by either one or the other of the twins.

"We have shown," said Mr. Lount, "that in five years $20,000 has been received altogether."

Then Mr. Osler took the witness in hand, and proved that with the exception of one consignment of $150 to Harry Hyams on Nov. 1, 1890, every dollar of the money received prior to the killing was consigned to Mrs. Clara C. Hyams, the mother of the twins, and that her sons merely acted as agents for the consignee.

"Then," said Mr. Osler, turning to the jury, "taking the date of the killing as January, 1893, prior to the killing all the money consigned to the prisoners personally was $150. The $20,000 prior to the killing thus comes down to $150," again said Mr. Osler, once more turning to the jurors, who joined in the laugh which convulsed the court room.

Joseph W. Shepherd, painter, said he was working in the basement of the Colborne-street warehouse in January, 1894, and saw the hole in the wall through which Witness McCarthy says he heard Wells whistling on the morning of his death.

William Statton, also a painter, corroborated his testimony as to the existence of the hole at the time mentioned.

"That is the defence for Harry Hyams," said Mr. Lount.

"That is the defence for Dallas Hyams," said Mr. Johnston.

The Crown commenced its evidence in rebuttal by tracing part of the $7950 received by Dallas Hyams from Martha Wells and which the defence claimed was shipped to Harry Hyams at Montreal, back to the possession of Dallas Hyams.

Francis Brodie, clerk in the Montreal branch of the Bank of Toronto, swore that the entry in the passbook of H. P. Hyams, dated October 3, 1893, and purporting to show a deposit of $7950, was not in his writing, and that that deposit was never made. Had it been he would have known of the fact.

Then, despite the strenuous objections of counsel for defence, David Miller, manager of the Toronto branch of the Merchants' Bank, entered the witness box and swore that $1600 was transferred by telegram from the Montreal to the Toronto offices, $700 on November 2nd 1893, and $900 on November 8, 1893, and paid to Dallas Hyams on his cheques.

To attack the credibility of Matthew Ramage, who testified the evening before Barrister Edward Penton was called, but his testimony was ruled out.

John Fensom, Jr., swore that the thickness of the wall between the Nasmith cellar and the Colborne-street warehouse was 19 inches.

"It was sworn here that Wells took the weight off the book unaided one Sunday. Is that possible?" asked Mr. Osler. Objection was also raised to this query and the objection was sustained.

John Galt, civil engineer, was called and Mr. Osler said: "There was a painter here this morning who swore that he did the lettering on the door. Now, Mr. Galt, what is the height of that lettering?" Mr. Lount was again on his feet with the objection that the painting occurred 2 1-2 years ago and the whole front of the building had been changed since. Once more the objection was sustained.

Then, to contradict the witness McMillan, who swore he removed a board and discovered an obstruction in the toilet, Mr. Galt was asked a question. Had it been answered it would have been shown the board descended beyond the floor and ascended above the ceiling, and consequently could not have been removed as stated. But like the preceding question, it remained unanswered. After much argument, Mr. Justice Street said: "I think it will be safer not to receive the evidence."

"That is the reply," said Mr. Osler.

And the greatest trial that Canada has ever witnessed was at an end so far as the evidence was concerned.

It had been arranged that Mr. Johnston should first address the jury on behalf of Dallas Hyams, to be followed by Mr. Lount for the other twin.

After a short intermission Mr. Johnston commenced his address.

Lansing, Mich., May 22.—The proposition to establish the death penalty for wilful and premeditated murder in Michigan received the sanction of the Senate yesterday.

LA GASCOGNE ARRIVES.

Her Piston Rod Broke in Identically the Same Spot as in February.

New York, May 23.—The French liner La Gascogne, Captain Baudelon, which was nearly three days overdue, was sighted by the observer at Fire Island at 10.30 o'clock this morning. La Gascogne was moving under her own steam, but she at once began signalling tugs. She had three balls up, meaning that her machinery was out of order. She was just 70 hours 30 minutes overdue. She left Havre for this city on Saturday, May 11, with 503 passengers on board, 50 of them in the saloon, 44 second-class and the remainder steerage. There were 210 men in the crew. When the big liner escorted by the tugs arrived at Quarantine at 5 o'clock, it was learned that her delay was due to the same cause as the long one last February, when she was given up as lost. On May 16, while proceeding under full speed of 17 knots, the intermediate piston-rod broke. An examination showed that the break was identical with that which occurred in February. The rod which broke was the one which was put in at Havre to replace that broken by the former accident. The broken piston-rod was disconnected, and after a delay of five hours the steamer proceeded under reduced speed.

Montreal Steamer Collides in the Thames.

London, May 23.—The German steamer Christiania, Captain Schuldt, from Montreal, May 7, via Quebec, May 9 for Hamburg, which arrived at London to-day, reports that she was in collision with the British steamer Dulwich, from Buenos Ayres for Dunkirk and Antwerp, near Woolwich. The Christiania ran ashore, sinking Mr. H. S. Cowdell's yacht Wraith, which was lying at her moorings. The Christiania remained aground an hour, when she was floated, and proceeded to Deptford. The Dulwich sustained damage to her bow, and came to anchor near the scene of the collision.

Fell Dead Trying to Ride a Wheel.

Saratoga, N.Y., May 21.—Capt. Wm. Atchell, U.S.A., retired, fell dead this morning in the Saratoga Casino, where he was endeavoring to learn to ride a bicycle.

Harrison and Morton Again.

New York, May 23.—The Times says: Harrison and Morton are to lead the Republican hosts in 1896, if the plans of certain politicians do not miscarry. These politicians say they have secured the consent of Mr. Morton to take the second place on the ticket.

THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1895.

IN A NUTSHELL.

It does not become the Tory party to raise the cry of "blue ruin" which they sometimes do in a sneering manner and as a kind of a reproach to the Liberals. For, as is well known, "blue ruin" was then their own cry during the campaign which preceded the inauguration of the alleged National Policy. Who does not remember the dreadful pictures which were drawn by the then opposition during the session of 1878. "Blue ruin" would be a peaceful and tranquil condition of affairs as compared with that which was stated to exist in Canada at the time. It then ill becomes the Tory party to cast such stones. It becomes them the less when the depressed condition of the country at present is considered. That the Liberals in any way decry the country is false, and this point was well emphasized by Mr. Flint on the floor of Parliament in reference to the oft repeated charge that the Liberal party take a too pessimistic view of the condition of things. He said:—"I protest that the allegation that they make that gentlemen on this side have been decrying the country is one not only opposed to the facts, but opposed to the whole tenor of the arguments of the Liberal party from 1870 down to the present day. It is a pure burlesque of the attitude and principles of the leaders of the rank and file of the Liberal party. It suits these hon. gentlemen when we criticise the claims, the impudent and absurd claims, they make as to the progress and the prosperity of the country, to say we are condemning the country. We are only condemning the management, or rather the mismanagement and want of management of hon. gentlemen on the other side of the House. The country has in a certain degree prospered, but it has been in spite of the policy which these gentlemen adopted." And this, the Ottawa Free Press thinks, is about the true state of the case in a nutsell.

The country will generally approve of the grant in the supplementary estimates of $25,000 for the widow of the late Premier. Sir Richard Cartwright was one of the first to suggest such a recognition of the worth of Sir John Thompson as a statesman, and Mr. Laurier's fervent eloquence has also been heard in terms of highest admiration for the deceased.

The expected has happened. Mr. D. Burt has been elected by acclamation to fill the vacancy in the representation of North Brant in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, created by the resignation of Mr. W. B. Wood. The result, says the Brantford Expositor, has a two-fold meaning: It means a high tribute to the personal worth and popularity of the member elect; it evidences the continued popularity of the Mowat government and the weakness of its opponents. There have not been wanting indications that a contest would have been promoted had there been the least prospect of success.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

At last even the government organs admit that the scheme for the annexation of Newfoundland to Canada has fallen through. All hope of prestige from that quarter has vanished, and the party cannot face the general election with any of the glory that was hoped for. As a matter of fact, the negotiations instead of being a credit to the government were bungled from beginning to end.

In the first place the French shore question offered insuperable difficulties, and it was unbusinesslike in the extreme to go on pottering about financial questions before the other was disposed of. Then the terms offered by the Canadian government, though not favourable enough to please the people of Newfoundland, are far too favourable to please the people of Canada. They would undoubtedly have been rejected by Parliament if they had ever been submitted to that body, slavish as it is. No doubt the Ministry were aware of this and were glad to get safely out of the fix by the help of Newfoundland herself.

The proper method of dealing with the island is the method insisted upon by the British government as a preliminary condition to the granting of aid. The suggestion is that the affairs of the colony be investigated by a commission, and such a precaution is just as necessary for the protection of Canada as for the protection of Great Britain. It would be a very nice thing to round off Canada by absorbing Newfoundland, but we cannot afford to harrass ourselves in perpetuity with the French shore question.—Montreal Expositor.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Thos. Blezard, M. P. P., attended the football match Thursday.

Mrs. Nolan, Chapleau, is visiting her former home here.

Messrs. Farnham and Cowan, of the Imperial Trio, are forming a council of the Royal Templars of Temperance here. A meeting was held in the town hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of organization.

Mr. David Foster has purchased the bakery and grocery of Mr. A. S. Harrison. We wish him successes in his new venture.

The building on Victoria street, once known as the Skyblue Hotel, has been repaired and neatly painted. The appearance of that portion of the street has been considerably improved.

The council made their annual tour of inspection of the streets last week. We learn that Peterborough and Colborne streets are to have new sidewalks.

Mr. John Findlay, who has recently purchased the swamp in the rear of the factory, has decided to have the course of the creek changed, so as to have a larger lot facing the street. At present there is not sufficient room for the piles of wood, logs, etc. The contract has been let to Mr. R. Scriver. Work will be begun immediately.

The managers of the Presbyterian church decided some time ago to build a new fence around the manse lot. The old fence was torn down last week, and the new one will be up in a few days.

The second match between the High school and village teams was played in the park last Thursday afternoon. There was a large number of spectators, and there was no lack of applause for the many good plays on both sider. During the first half time the breeze was with the school team, and the play was very even and exciting. After about twenty minutes play the High School boys scored. The wind was with the village team in the second half time and the school was forced to play a defence game. Owing to the poor shooting and the star work of the goal tender, the village kickers only secured one goal, evening the score. Mr. Perney's decisions, as referee, gave satisfaction to all who wished for fair play. The following teams lined up:

School.			Village.
T Wigmore	goal		Hewitt
J Breckenridge	backs		A Finlay
H Breckenridge			F Finlay
C Pearce	half backs		T Graham
J Weir			W O'Keefe
W Lynn			H Andrews
D Hunter	centre		W Wildman
O Kidd	left		B Hendren
J Roxburgh	wing		J Williams
C Gallagher	right		D Fraser

INDIAN RIVER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Fine weather again after the recent cold snap.

Sunday's rain was a welcome visitor and did a great deal of good to the crops.

Mr. James Healey's residence is now completed. All praise is due to the contractors, who performed their work in clever workmanship style. On Thursday night previous to Mr. Healy's departure for his new home the neighbours gathered to bid him good-bye. The evening was spent in songs, recitations, etc. A short time before the performance broke up Mr. Louis Ross, on behalf of the audience, presented him with a gold-headed cane, accompanied by an address. Mr. Healy made a suitable reply. The crowd then sang "For he is a Jolly Good Fellow," and departed well pleased with the evening's sport.

Mr. James Casey is now on the road buying hides for the town's hide and leather company. This is his third season on the road, so that he is an old hand at the business. He intends to pay the highest cash price.

Mr. Peter Whitbos, of Indian River Station, paid a flying visit to Mr. Gus Walker, on Saturday last.

Prof. W. E. O'Brien, of Talegula, gave an exhibition with a couple of bronchos, at Slopeville, one evening last week. The Professor is a skillful horse trainer, having broken many vicious colts around here during the winter. He is now training a colt belonging to Mr. Gus. Walker, who recently purchased him from Jos. Michels.

The Indian River football team are practicing hard this season for the coming matches. They are prepared to play any country team in the county.

COLD SPRINGS—OTONABEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Cold Springs Union Sunday School anniversary will be celebrated on Sunday and Monday, June 2 and 3, according to the annual custom since the reorganization of the school seven years ago. The school will assemble as usual at 2.45 on Sunday when there will be addresses by Rev. J. J. Rae of Peterborough, and Dr. Harrison of Keene, who have kindly promised to be present. On Monday evening tea will be served from 6 to 8, after which there will be a programme of music, etc., and addresses by Revs. Mr. Rae, Mr. Trotter of Peterborough, and Dr. Harrison of Keene. Admission to the tea and entertainment, 25c.; children under 12, free. On Monday evening there will also be music by some of the Y.M.C.A. workers, who are to assist. All are cordially invited.

PROPER FEEDING OF BABY IS AN INTERESTING SUBJECT TO THE MOTHER.

Wise Mothers Use Lactated Food.

To the loving mother no subject is more interesting than the proper feeding of her darling baby. She knows that the little one's very life depends upon the character of food that is administered from day to day. Baby's digestive organs are not strong—not fully developed—and require a food that will not irritate or inflame the stomach, and that can be easily assimilated. Science has come to the aid of mothers and given them Lactated Food, which possesses all the nourishing elements that baby-life requires. This scientific food has been specially prepared as a substitute for breast milk when it fails or cannot be given in sufficient quantity. Thousands of mothers have testified strongly in favour of Lactated Food, and the best physicians advertise it and recommend it daily.

Lactated Food makes bright, hearty and happy babies, and brings to every home a peace and joy to mother and father that is unknown in homes where the common foods are used. Lactated Food needs but one trial to make it a family friend.

ORMEMEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Very cold for the 24th and little or no vegetation as yet. Frosts have done considerable harm to plants.

The Pigeon river is low for this season of the year, and no fishing of any kind, as the suckers have all deserted—what was left after the large number captured.

Ormemee junior baseball club were disappointed that Peterborough Juniors would not give them a game under $15 for a guarantee on the 24th May. Lindsay has accepted on the usual courtesies extended by Ormemee on such occasions.

The 24th of May promises to be attractive for those who have no other way of passing the time. The Mud Lake Indians no doubt will carry off all the prizes for sports on water.

A good many of our citizens speak of attending the Fourth Line, Smith, L. O. L. excursion from Bridgenorth, on Thursday, the 30th of May, to points north.

The musical festival spoken of for Peterborough in August, has already began to arouse our ambitious "musicians," and no doubt will attract a goodly number from this neighbourhood.

The induction of the Rev. John W. Tanner takes place here on Tuesday, the 28th May, in the Ormemee Presbyterian church, and promises to be an event of unusual interest. The Rev. Messrs. McWilliams and Torrance, Peterborough; Somerville, of Norwood, and other ministers of the presbytery, are expected to be present, besides a large union choir, made up of Mount Pleasant, Fowler's Corners, and Ormemee. It is expected there will be a full representation of the three congregations under the minister's charge, who has made a most encouraging start.

The Rev. Mr. Rae, of Charlotte Street Methodist Church, Peterborough, delivered his most amusing and profitable lecture, "Mind Your Own Business," to a large and appreciative audience, made up of all denominations. The Methodist church was well filled, which is an unusual occurence here at a lecture.

Messrs. J. F. Lillicrap & Co., have secured the contract to pull down the old residence, previous to the erection of Mr. Tate's new house, and have the work well advanced. The contract for building has not yet been let, but Mr. W. Blackwell has all plans and specifications ready.

Invitations have been received by Mr. W. H. Dunford, District Master of Lakefield District L.O. L., from Belleville and Orillia L.O. Lodges, to attend celebrations held in these places on July 12th. It is likely that the matter will be settled at the next semi annual meeting of the county lodges in June, to be held in Lakefield.

Mr. F. and S. Jary, of Lakefield, are visiting with friends in Millbrook for a few days.

CAUGHNAWAGA.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A marked change has taken place in the temperature during the past week. The severe frosts on a few nights have hurt some of the crops. Fruits will be considerably damaged as they are mostly all in full bloom.

While Mr. Wm. Christie was amusing himself with Jas. Lynn's bear, he was attacked by the young animal, which became somewhat savage. Nothing serious occurred, however, owing to the timely interference of its manager.

An interesting game of football was played at Dwyer's corner on Saturday, May 11th, between Indian River and a team known as the "East End." As the teams lined up it was easily seen that the Indian River club had the advantage so far as weight was concerned. However, when play began, the home team by their good playing made up for what they lacked in weight. The home team play a fine combination game and with more practice should play a strong game. After playing 1½ hours neither side had scored. Mr. John Smith was referee, and gave entire satisfaction to both parties. The return match will be played next Saturday.

Mr. Robert Taylor, one of our local milk drawers had a slight misfortune on Monday, May 13th. His waggon was heavily loaded, and while going rapidly round a corner at the foot of a hill, the weight of the milk caused the waggon to upset. Robert was precipitated to the ground with considerable violence and by a miracle escaped with nothing more than a rather severe shaking up and a thorough soaking of the lactiferous fluid. Dr. Lynn was summoned and soon pronounced his patient out of danger.

SOUTH DOURO.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Seeding is pretty well advanced. Many have completed this important branch of spring work, and are ready to begin again, which seems to be necessary after the severe black frost of Tuesday night, which laid a withering hand on barley especially. It is feared that some fields will have to be sowen over again.

Seeding being practically over, the chief local excitement is the milk wagon contest which goes on at a lively rate between representatives of the rival factories, Warsaw and Maple Leaf,—Messrs. M. D. Sullivan and Patrick Torpey, but Patrick manages to get the biggest array of cans for his factory, and the Maple Leaff flutters in triumph, and gets the cream of the patronage. The decision is by bulk, and not by the Babcock test.

A great deal of sympathy is felt for Mr. Lewis Sullivan for the loss of a cow and horse, which died soon after their purchase. In these hard times for farmers, with taxes up to the top notch of the screw and cheese at six cents a pound, the loss of two valuable animals is something very undesirable.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Ingersoll, May 21.—Offerings to-day, 2,020 boxes first half of May make. Sales :—624 boxes at 6 1-16c.; 690 boxes at 6¼c. There was a large attendance. The market was dull. A resolution was unanimously adopted by the board disapproving of the branding of the month and day on cheese.

Belleville, May 21.—At the cheese board to-day the offerings were 1,315 boxes of white and 1,245 boxes of coloured. Total, 2,560 boxes. Sales :—110 boxes of coloured at 6 5-16c., and 80 boxes of white at 6¼c.

Madoc, May 21.—Twelve factories boarded 745 boxes of cheese here to-day ; 6¼c was bid but no sales were made.

Campbellford May 21.—At the cheese meeting here this evening 726 boxes of white were boarded ; 6¼c was bid but no sales. After the Board adjourned all were sold to Warrington of Belleville at 6¼c. The buyers present were Messrs. Whitten, McGrath and Thompson. The Board meets again one week from to-night.

London, May 18—26 factories offered 2,280 boxes May. No sales ; 6 to 6¼c was bid, but salesmen were not inclined to accept that price.

Canton, May 18—Thirteen hundred cheese sold at 6c, and 600 tubs butter at 18½c.

Ogdensburg, May 18—Offering 25 lots (1,129 boxes) ; 654 boxes sold at 6c ; the balance will probably sell at same price on street.

Watertown, May 18—1,215 boxes offered ; 70 boxes sold at 6⅞ to 6⅞.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Tuesday 14th inst. an "emblem social" was held under the auspices of the Y.P.S. C.E., at the home of Mr. Wm. Ritchie, where there was a most enjoyable time spent. A large number was present and all departed well pleased.

Mr. Edwards, an old resident of the town, died Thursday, 16th inst, at his residence on Ottawa street. The funeral took place on Friday and the remains were interred in the Pine Grove cemetery.

Last Sunday evening the Presbyterian church was filled to the doors by a large and appreciative audience. The pastor, Rev. Dr. McClelland, preached on the subject, "The Hand of God in History," an able, eloquent and practical sermon. Next Sunday evening, May 26th, he preaches on the interesting topic "Is life worth living?" No doubt a large audience will be present as the attendance in the church is increasing all the time. The choir was very large and the singing was of a very high order, which was much appreciated.

Monday, 20th inst, the Norwood town football team played our town team a practice match, which resulted in a victory for the visitors by a score of two goals to none. The town team played a better game than they did with Campbellford last week, and will stand a good chance on the 24th at Campbellford.

On Tuesday, 21st inst, an ice cream social was given at the residence of Mr. A. Mathieson, where an enjoyable evening was spent. The weather was rather cool, but the cream was put away where it knew no cold. A large number was present and the proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

The weather prophets are unanimous in predicting warmer weather for the 24th. The crowd therefore which will go down to Jubilee with the genial non-commissioned officers will doubtless be a big one. As a big palace barge will be taken along there will be plenty of room and all will be welcome.

Wonderful Escape.

The five-year-old son of Jas Stillman, of Campbellford, had a narrow escape from serious injury or death Saturday. The little fellow while riding with his father on a load of manure on Rear street, and on passing through a gateway the wagon gave a sudden jolt, throwing the boy off, and he was run over, the hind wheel of the wagon having passed over his chest. He was picked up by his father and strange to relate, with the exception of a few bruises, he escaped uninjured.

Immediately after dealing the animal a blow she fell on top of him, and one of her horns entered into the fleshy part of his leg near the hip, to a depth of about four inches. A physician was called, who sewed the wound with three stitches.

Runaway Accident.

Yesterday afternoon as Mr. and Mrs. B. Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Davidson were driving in a carriage in western part of the town, one of the traces became detatched, and while Mr. Jackson was in the act of refastening it, a dog ran under the horses feet, causing them to make a sudden spring forward. This parted the team from the carriage, leaving Mr. Jackson standing by the whiffletree. The horses which became separated, ran a considerable distance and were caught on McDonel street, no important damage having been done. If the traces had not parted when the horses sprang, the consequences might have been serious.

Jubilee Point Summer Resort.

This splendid summer resort will, on the 24th inst., be thrown open to the public. The Hotel has undergone a thorough renovation, being thoroughly papered, and calcimined throughout. Several rooms have been added since last year. A park has been made on the Point, some five acres in all being ploughed and seeded. This makes one of the most beautiful parks in Canada—being shaded on both sides by maple trees. Seats will be erected to accommodate spectators while a ball game is being played. Mr. Calcutt has presented a cup valued at $50, to be competed for by canoe paddlers during the summer.

Queen's Birthday at Lakefield.

A large gathering is expected at Lakefield on May 24th. The chief attraction will be the picnic in connection with St. Paul's church, and the address in the afternoon appropriate to the occasion of Hon. J. J. Curran, Q.C., Solicitor General of the Dominion, who has definitely decided to be present. Mr. Curran is a most eloquent speaker and his address will be well worth hearing. Amongst the other features of the picnic will be a football match, at 10 a. m., between the Lakefield team and the team of the Collegiate Institute, for a prize of a silver cup. There is also an interesting programme of athletic sports, and music by a first-class orchestra. For Peterborough citizens who desire to attend the grand picnic, the train service will be as follows: Trains will leave the G. T. R. station at 8.55 a.m., 1.15 p.m., and 6.20 p.m. Return trains will leave Lakefield at 3.20 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. Half fare from Peterborough and Auburn.

Marmora.

American capitalists are having tested one hundred tons of gold-bearing rock, mined on the consolidated Gold Mining Company's property in Marmora. The vein is known to be rich in gold, but the ore is of so refractory a character that all attempts on a large scale hitherto made to separate the precious metal from its matrix have resulted in loss. That the gold was there, however, was conclusively demonstrated by the fact that parties who worked over the tailings by hand process averaged $10 per day. In the present instance the rock will be taken to Malone and there crushed and worked over by Mr. Lawson, M.E., who will put it through the chlorination process. This process was tried on these ores several years ago, but failed, it is now believed, because of unskilful work or carelessness as to important details. The result of this experiment, which will have a very important, if not vital, influence on the gold mining industry of this region, will be watched with the greatest interest.

PRESENTATION TO MAJOR EDWARDS.

He is Made the Recipient of a Handsome Clock.

Last evening the 57th Battalion Band serenaded Major Edwards of the Peterborough Rangers, and the officers of the Battalion marched in a body to his residence and, after speeches from Lt.-Col. Bell, Lt.-Col. Rogers and Captain Dennistoun, the Major was presented with a most handsome clock.

In the addresses made the different officers spoke feelingly of the very pleasant relations which had always existed between the Major and his brother officers, and expressed the hope that the new relations which he had assumed would not tend to alter his fealty in any way to the Battalion.

Mr. Edwards suitably acknowledged the handsome gift, and spoke of his fealty to to the battalion.

During the evening light refreshments were served by Mrs. Edwards, and the evening passed most agreeably. It has long been the custom of the officers of the Rangers to make presentations of this nature on the occasion of the marriage of any of the staff. The gift has invariably been a clock.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Its Good Work Apparent—A Deplorable Case.

The county constable of Victoria arrived in town this week with an unfortunate who has a large family, a vicious wife, and a rather shady reputation himself. The family consists, besides the father, for the mother has long since deserted him, of five children—three boys and two girls—under eleven years. As heretofore, there has been no children's protection act, there has been no possibility of doing more than bestowing charity which was of no practical benefit except to keep off the wolf from day to day. Now, however, it is possible to take the children in hand and save them from a life of misery and vice. The Secretary of the Children's Aid Society, whom they came to consult, took the full particulars of this deplorable case, and immediately communicated with the Ontario Government, which will proceed at once to take these children out of harm's way, and by making them respectable citizens, prevent them living in the future as the wards of the province in the gaol.

FEAST OF THE ASCENSION AT ST. PETER'S.

The Children of the Cathedral Partake of Their First Communion.

The feast of the Ascension was observed to-day at St. Peter's Cathedral and numerous services were held throughout the day.

The children of the Cathedral partook of their first communion. Venerable Archdeacon Casey officiating, and at an early hour dozens of little ones attired in their pretty white dresses and veils might be seen hurrying towards the cathedral from all parts of the town.

Preparatory exercises have been held in the church for the past three days for purposes of instruction, and this morning the large class of boys and girls who were applicants for confirmation assembled in the convent hall and marched to the church with bannerets in procession. Miss Clara Cahill led the procession of girls, while Master James Dolan carried the boys' banner at their head.

On the way to St. Peter's the children chanted the hymn "Sacred Heart," and the parents of the little ones must have been truly delighted at a spectacle manifesting as it did so clearly the piety of their children.

BICYCLE ACCIDENT.

A Little Son of Mr. Peter Campbell Comes to Grief.

A little son of Mr. Peter Campbell, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, met with a very severe accident last evening, while playing in front of his home on Simcoe street.

It appears that Waldo Poussette was riding along the street at only a moderate rate of speed, and when just opposite Mr. Campbell's residence, the latter's two little sons, who were playing about, ran in front of the wheel for a short distance, both intending to dodge out of the way if the machine came too close. The younger lad waited too long, however, and as the bicycle whizzed past him the handle bar struck him on the temple knocking him down and bruising him badly.

The little fellow was quickly carried into the house and a physician hastily summoned. The bruise swelled up to almost the size of a goose egg, but otherwise the boy does not seem to be injured by the fall.

The wheelman was not at all to blame in the affair, the occurrence being merely an accident and one that could not on his part very well have been avoided.

A TRAMP TRIO.

McDonald Alias McLaughlin Sentenced to Six Months in the Central.

One of the hardest looking trio of tramps that ever appeared in a Peterborough police court, were up before the magistrate this morning to answer a charge of vagrancy laid against them by the Chief of Police.

Each of the men pleaded not guilty and evidence was heard from a number of witnesses, which went to show that neither of the prisoners were desirable citizens. In McDonald's case it was clearly shown that he would not work if he could get it, and according to the police court record he had appeared before the magistrate before under the name of Devine.

The magistrate after summing up the evidence allowed two of the trio to go upon their promising to leave the town, but McDonald he sentenced to six months in the Central Prison.

THE LATE WILLIAM TELFORD.

Tribute to the Memory of Their Late Bard by Members of St. Andrew's Society.

At the quarterly meeting of the Executive Committee of St. Andrew's Society held on the 16th instant, the following resolution of condolence was moved by Dr. Caldwell, seconded by Mr. Chas. Cameron, and carried unanimously:—

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to remove by death William Telford, for 33 years the honoured bard of this Society,

Therefore be it resolved that we record with sorrow our deep sense of the irreparable loss we have sustained, and of the innumerable debts of gratitude we owe his memory.

Though one of our oldest members his zeal and loyalty for the cause of Patriotism and Brotherhood never flagged; his regular attendance at our meetings, and his strenuous support cheerfully accorded in times of depression, as well as of prosperity, mark him as one of the foundation stones of the St. Andrew's Society of Peterborough.

To the traits which adorn the character of the best men he added the lustre of poetic genius, and his untiring pen gave a national character to our aims and work which we feel will perpetuate his memory long after his and our bones have crumbled into dust.

His gentle and assuming character drew towards him in large measure the sympathy and love of all who knew him, while his strict integrity and genuine worth have made for him a name which his descendants may be proud to bear.

The even tenor of his life and the peaceful quiet of his death are best expressed in his own words taken from his "Sermon in Poetry:"

Thus from his cradle to his grave has he,
A life of peace and comfort on his road;
He feels his soul at utmost peace to be
At peace with man, at peace with Christ and God.

Affliction yields its last and fatal blow,
Within him now all hope of life has fled;
But follow with me while I strive to show
The peace and comfort of his dying bed.

Scarce need I tell how peaceful and serene,
How oft such dyings have been on record;
Have none around me ever viewed the scene
Of some true Christian dying in the Lord?

View him, for instance, on his dying bed,
His body tortured with severest pain;
But still his soul within him it is glad,
Calm, tranquil peace and quietness remain.

Resolved further, that this resolution be recorded in our minutes, and that a copy be forwarded to the widow of our lamented Bard.

Mr. Chas. Cameron, the seconder of the resolution, made some feeling references to the late Bard. He spoke of the loss the society had sustained by the death of their esteemed friend and poet. He had the pleasure of a close intimacy with the late Mr. Telford for many years, and none knew better than he did the many superior qualities of heart which he possessed. He believed he had been the means of first bringing Mr. Telford to the notice of St. Andrew's Society, and of installing him as their bard. As far back as the year 1883, when the late Col. Haultain first opposed the late W. S. Conger as member of parliament, Mr. Telford first became known as a writer of poetry. After that election he had written a long political poem on the result of Col. Haultain's election, and the ability displayed in these verses struck so forcibly that he suggested to Mr. Telford to write his first poem for St. Andrew's Society. Ever since that time he had faithfully continued to write his annual contribution on the occasion of the celebration of St. Andrew's Day. The reading of this annual poem was always looked forward to as something of special interest at our anniversary dinners, not only by members of St. Andrew's Society, but by the public generally. His death left the Society without a bard, but his name, he felt sure, would live ever fresh and green in the hearts of many sorrowing friends.

A BARNARDO BOY'S JOURNAL.

The Canadian Manager of Barnardo's Home for Boys, Mr. A. B. Owen, has decided to publish a monthly journal, which, it is hoped, will not only help to maintain the interest in and oversight over the 6,000 boys who have come to Canada under the auspices of Dr. Barnardo and their old friends, but which will also prove of value to the boys in many other ways. Special attention is promised to to those subjects consideration of which will aid the boys in their vocation, a very large majority being employed in agricultural pursuits. The editorship of "Ups and Downs," the title of the proposed journal, has been entrusted to Frank Vipond, a gentleman favourably known in journalistic circles, who will produce the first issue early in July.

Mr. Charles Fairbairn, M. P., South Victoria, is in town, on his way home, until Monday.

Mr. Harry Grundy, who has been in Chicago for some months, is home on a visit to his family.

Mr. George McHugh, of Lindsay, the Liberal candidate for South Victoria for the House of Commons, is in town today.

Mr. J. W. Maybee, who has been engaged in placing the machinery in the Dundas, Flavelle & Co's oat mill, Lindsay, has returned to town after making an A1 job.

Hon. J. J. Curran will arrive in town tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock. In the afternoon he will deliver an address at the Lakefield picnic. During his stay in town he will be at the Phelan House.

Mrs. James Kendry has returned from Campbellford where she was attending a meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of that district. Mrs. Kendry delivered an address to the delegates.

Mr. H. J. B. Dunford, who has accepted a position with the Royal Electric Company, of Montreal, was accompanied to the station last evening by a large concourse of friends, when he left for his new home.

Rev. Dr. Dewart has handed over to his successor, Rev. A. C. Courtice, the editorship of the Christian Guardian. There has been no more useful and honourable career in Canadian journalism than that of Dr. Dewart. The Guardian under his skilful direction, has been a distinct and wholesome influence with the Canadian people of all creeds and denominations. He is pre-eminently a strong man, and his individuality was powerfully impressed on the chief organ of Canadian Methodism.—Globe.

BASEBALL.

There was a large turnout of baseball ball players yesterday afternoon on Riverside Park, and a splendid practice was indulged in. The boys are in good trim and are anxious to get on a match. Any club wishing to get on a game with the Peterboroughs, should address either Mr. Geo. J. Horkins or Mr. W. A. Buchanan.

The Edison baseball club has formally challenged the printers to a game on Saturday afternoon next at 4 o'clock on the Riverside Park. The newspaper men are therefore requested to turn out strong this evening on the park in order that a team may be picked for the match. Paxman will probably captain the N.A.A.A. team.

THE WHEEL.

Messrs. Gus Hay, Ernie Goldsmith and Lionel King all rode to Campbellford this afternoon. The two latter will enter a handicap race there to-morrow.

LACROSSE.

The Athletics state that they will take a strong combination to Campbellford tomorrow.

The Peterboroughs had a first-rate practice last evening, and the splendid combination work of the home men was noticeable. If the boys keep their heads to-morrow they are sure to make a good showing in Campbellford.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

To-morrow, millions of hearts in all parts of the habitable world—on every continent and on almost every isle of the sea, will warm with a new sense of loyal devotion to the good and well-beloved sovereign, who on that day reaches the 76th anniversary of her birth. No sovereign, who has ever worn a crown, has swayed a sceptre so long a time over so many millions of loyal subjects, and no sovereign has, by virtue of a wise constitutional rule, by the possession of all regal as well as womanly virtues, so captivated the hearts of her people and enshrined herself in their affections. So, when the anniversary of her birth comes around, by common consent, her people in every clime hail the occasion as one of rejoicing and special gratitude for the blessings that have followed her beneficent reign. That the blessing of Heaven has smiled upon her long reign with special favour, none who are familiar with its history will need any assurance of. Though, during the past 58 years, victories on many a field have attested the prowess of her armies yet the greatest victories have been those of peace. The Victorian era has perhaps marked the greatest progress of the ages, in science, art, literature, in the ethics of government, and in the general amelioration and improvement of the conditions of the human race. At this moment throughout her vast domains, which poetically speaking, know no sunset, peace reigns as queen-consort. The benison of heaven that has rested and still rests on Her Majesty's reign, extends even to the elements—Queen's weather—balmy breezes, serene skies, bright with sunshine and undimmed by clouds, have within the memory of the middle-aged, marked every gladly recurring anniversary of her birth, and to-morrow promises to be no exception. To-morrow is a universal holiday, and to-morrow all hearts in all the world that sympathize with enthroned virtue and majestic womanliness—and none more loyally and spontaneously than the hearts that beat under the blue skies of beloved Canada—will be vocal with the prayer, "God Save the Queen."

PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

A special meeting of the Provincial Board of Health was held Friday afternoon in Dr. Bryce's office, Toronto, to receive reports from the committees which have been looking into the sewerage schemes proposed to be undertaken by the town of Galt and city of Belleville, and the waterworks projects in Port Hope and Orangeville. The committees reported favourably in each instance, and the Board accordingly approved the various schemes.

FREE TRADE AND GOLD

Two Things Which Britain Will Adhere to.

SIR WILLIAM HARCOURT SPEAKS.

The Commercial and Monetary Principles Will Be Maintained, He Asserts, For Disaster Would Follow Any Attempt at Change.

London, May 22.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to-night delivered a speech at the Mansion House, the official residence of the Lord Mayor of London. He remarked upon the symptoms of a rise of the commercial barometer. He said he might speak with confidence of the actual great improvement in the British trade with America, which was a favorable and cheering symptom.

Sir William appealed to the experience of the last half century in defence of the commercial and monetary principles which had made the national life what it was. Her monetary principles had made Great Britain the great money market of the world, which position he believed she would retain. As a responsible Minister he intended to abide by those principles, and he did not propose to encourage the notion at home or abroad that he was prepared to depart from them. Nothing could be more unwise and dangerous than for the Government to allow any part of the world to suppose they held any ambiguous mind on questions of this kind.

Chamberlain on the National Party.

London, May 22.—Speaking in this city this evening, Joseph Chamberlain the Liberal-Unionist leader, denied that there was any prospect of a severance of the alliance between the Conservatives and the Liberal-Unionists, the latter party, he said, came into existence for the purpose of resisting a negative policy, and would continue in existence to support a true progressive policy. The National Policy, which had grown insensibly out of hostile elements, originally composing the combination, was now complete in the identity of its aim, which was a sober constructive program of constitutional reform and the legitimate development of the Empire.

Gladstone to Witness the Kiel Review

London, May 22.—On the invitation of Sir Donald Curry, the well-known ship-owner, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone will sail from London for Kiel on June 12 on the steamer Tantallon Castle, to attend the opening of the North Sea Canal.

BOLD ROBBERY IN LONDON.

$25,000 Stolen by the Duplicate Package Scheme.

London, May 22.—A bold robbery occurred in the Williams, Deacon, and Manchester and Salford Bank, 20 Birchen-lane, E.C., to-day. A clerk attached to Coutts & Co's. bank went to the former institution with a tin case, containing £5000 in bank notes for deposit. Pending some preliminaries to the fulfilment of his errand, the clerk placed the case of notes on the counter beside him. Half a minute later a stranger walked in and placed an empty case, an exact counterpart of the one containing the notes, by the side of it. The attention of Coutts' clerk being directed elsewhere for a few seconds, the stranger removed the £5000-case and walked away. An alarm was immediately raised, but it was found that the stranger in the short time required for him to exchange the case had also bolted the door of the private entrance to the bank on the outside, so that his pursuers were greatly delayed in following him.

DEATH DEALING WHIRLWIND.

Men and Women Carried Away—An Entire Village Wrecked.

Vancouver, B.C., May 23.—The steamer Empress of India arrived last evening from the Orient, bringing the following advices: On the forenoon of the 19th and 20th ult. certain districts in Saitama and Itsaraki were visited by a terrible whirlwind, accompanied by hail, destroying 28 buildings, killing 7 persons, and injuring 55. In the village of Shiroka, 7 houses were destroyed, and eight inmates wounded. One of them, a woman, was whirled upward 20 feet, and fell 20 yards from the place, receiving injuries that produced unconsciousness. Three young girls spinning yarn in the back yard of a house in Harinumi village were caught by the whirlwind, and their bodies have not yet been found. A wagon drawn by a horse and attended by a man were carried up, and the corpse of the driver was found afterwards in a pond far off. The village contained only 28 houses, but of these 15 were entirely wrecked, to say nothing of the damage that the crops and trees sustained.

Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.

LITTLE HOPE FOR NEWFOUNDLAND.

Public Business Delayed Hoping For a Loan—If None Comes a Royal Commission Will be Asked.

St. John's, Nfld., May 22.—There was no quorum in the Legislature to-day. The Government is retarding the progress of public business, waiting to hear from Colonial Secretary Bond, who is now in New York trying to negotiate a loan. On his report will depend the colony's future. If he obtains a loan an attempt will be made to continue the present system of government, it being hoped to postpone bankruptcy by means of judicious reforms. If no loan can be obtained, it is possible that the Executive will call for a royal commission from England without delay, and surrender the Government to it. The belief is general that Mr. Bond will fail. It is thought that nobody in the United States will give him a loan after his failure to obtain one in Montreal.

The Government is divided on the retrenchment scheme, and some of the members will refuse to vote for certain items. This will probably result in a rupture in the Whiteway party.

Business is completely demoralised, owing to the uncertainty. The mass of the pepole earnestly desire a royal commission, because it presents a prospect of peace and a cessation of political warfare.

Alleged Fifebug Sent For Trial

Cobourg, May 22.—Edward Ackley, alias Matt, who is charged with setting fire to the grist mill owned by Louis Terry at Newcombe Mills, in the township of Brighton, on April 15, and who was arrested by Provincial Detective Murray a few days ago, has been committed for trial. Some very damaging evidence was given against him, particularly the purchase of a large quantity of coal oil by the prisoner, who is in poor circumstances.

Pitcher Baldwin Recovers Damages.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 22.—The jury in the damage suit of Mark Baldwin against Orbis Von Der Ahe, manager of the St Louis ball club, to-day returned a verdict awarding $2500 damages to Pitcher Baldwin.

BETTER THAN A BANK.

"Would you put your money," we said to a bank manager, who had previously shown us a handful of policies upon his own life, "would you put your money in a bank if you had your life to live again?"

"Not I," he replied, "I should invest it in life assurance policies, on the endowment plan."

The same question was put to another banker, who smiled at its innocence, remarking that the bank rate was uncertain from day to day. It might be 3½ per cent.; it might be much less. On the other hand, he said, insurance companies obtain over 5 per cent. on their accumulated premiums. The fact of the matter is, he continued, there is no institution in the world which can be compared to life insurance; for by its means a man is enabled to make provision for his family, or for his dependents, at once.

Assuming that a young man did put by $50 a year in a bank, it would take a long time to accumulate an amount which could be secured forthwith by payment of the $50 to a life assurance society. For instance, an annual premium of $50, commencing at age 25, secures a policy in the Confederation Life Association of Toronto for about $2,200, with profits payable at age 60, or previous death. The provision, even if death occur when only one premium has been paid, is immediate; while in the other case it is a paltry $50 which his family will inherit, against $2,200 if an insurance has been effected.

The real point of contrast, however, between the insurance company and the bank, is the certainty which attaches to the one, and the uncertainty which marks the other. In point of fact, the bank investor is, more truly speaking, a speculator who stakes the welfare of his family on the chances of his own life, and his power of resisting the temptation to divert the investment; that is, to use it for some other purpose than that of family provision. If only he be spared, they may fare well enough; but if death or misfortune come before his plans are matured, their case is a sad one indeed.

The policy-holder, on the other hand, is the conscientious investor, for, having regard to a provision for his family, he seeks safety—the first condition of "investment," as opposed to "speculation"—before anything else. Thanks to the insurance companies, he finds that he can forthwith make this provision absolutely secure and certain, and at the same time can obtain profits on his outlay greatly superior to the utmost profits that would accrue if he "ran his own risk" under the most favorable circumstances.

Canadian manufacturers have a reputation for shrewdness; they are keen, hard-headed men of business, and no men insure more largely. Next to commercial men come doctors and clergymen in the practical recognition of the value of life insurance. Like merchants, they are keenly alive to the investment element, but press its moral aspect home to all who come within their influence. The reason is obvious; our spiritual and medical advisers are the first to be appealed to in a case of distress brought about by death. They are the first to devise means for relieving the widow and orphan; and, from the difficulty they encounter in securing efficient help, their experience forces them to realise the necessity for every man to make provision for his own family, and not leave them to the tender mercies of the world.

The Endowment Policy issued by the Confederation Life Association gives absolute and unconditional guarantee of payment of claims immediately upon receipt of satisfactory proofs of death, or should the insured survive the endowment period he may elect to take his money in any of the following six ways: First—The policy may be surrendered, and the entire value taken in

1. Cash.
2. Paid-up policy, payable at death.
3. Life annuity, an annual payment to the insured till death.

Second—Or, the policy may be exchanged for a paid-up policy of assurance, payable at death, without profits, for an equal amount of insurance, and, in addition, there will be paid an annuity for life of $45 per $1,000, applying the accumulated surplus either in

4. Cash.
5. Bonus addition to the sum assured.
6. Life annuity.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A MEDICINE

WITHOUT AN EQUAL.

Statement of a Well Known Doctor

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is without an equal as a blood-purifier and Spring medicine, and cannot have praise enough. I have watched its effects in chronic cases, where other treatment was of no avail, and have been astonished at the results. No other blood medicine that I have ever used, and I have tried them all, is so thorough in its action, and effects so many permanent cures as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Dr. H. F. MERRILL, Augusta, Me.

Admitted at the World's Fair.

Ayer's Pills for liver and bowels.

HAIRDRESSING A LA MODE.

Crimping and Waving Now the Most Salient Features.

Of the many items which constitute fashionable hairdressing, says The Lady's Pictorial, crimping and waving are the most salient features. Fringes will never go utterly out of fashion, but the arrangement differs from season to season. Just now the fringe is short, light and closely curled, and most of the curly rings are turned back, while a few stray in studied carelessness over the forehead and temples.

The first figure shows the waved front, drawn over the pompadour frizette, which no woman of fashion should be without, as it forms the most charming of evening coiffures. Over the forehead a fringe of short hair is curled, and this may be light or heavy, straight or irregular, or brought down to a point in front to suit the features.

In the lower figure the pompadour frizette is again used to support the hair which is closely waved and drawn back, giving a slight glimpse of a center parting. Where the hair is thin, limp or has been excessively cropped for the old type of fringe, fashion can still be followed, for there are compact fringes of gossamer lightness and from these depend waved tresses, thin and aerial as the proverbial cobweb, which form the complete dressing for the top and with a Merveilleuse frame, the black hair may be arranged with, or without, the addition of a false tress, as may be required.

VISITING CARDS OF ROYALTY.

Paris has had the monopoly of supplying the monarchs of the world with visiting cards ever since they became a social necessity under the Second Empire.

The use of the Christian name only is a prerogative which kings and queens and emperors share with servants. The other day a royalist in Paris showed a correspondent a visiting card inscribed "Philippe," under a crown. Ten thousand of that sort was ordered by the Duke of Orleans before his father's body was cold. The candidate for the throne intended to appeal to his supporters, or those whom he would like to win over to the cause of the lily banner, by posting them his visiting card.

The Emperors of Germany and Austria on their visiting cards follow a German custom and print part of their title. According to Fashion's dictum, their visiting cards should either read "Willhelm" and "Franz Joseph" respectively, or "Deutscher Kaiser" and "Kaiser von Oesterreich."

The Prince of Wales, always most correct in matters of etiquette, has two sorts of cards, one reading "Albert Edward," the other "Le Prince de Galles," the French term being more often used in royal circles than the other. French being the universal language of royalty, all monarchs have their visiting cards for general use inscribed in the Gallic tongue. Some princes use cards which give their name and title in the native language, but in most cases that is done for a purpose.

"The" in front of a royal or princely title denotes that the person is a sovereign, or, at least, the head of his family. In England it is employed in addressing a peer—for instance, "The Right Honorable." Only one Englishman of non-royal rank makes bold use of the prefix "The" on his visiting card, and this reads, "The Duke of Argyll." His son's and his daughter-in-law's cards, on the other hand, read, "Marquis of Lorne" and "The Princess Louise."

Napoleon's visiting card was two and a third inches long, and half as broad. The ex-printer to the Tuileries still has a sample, which he intends to present to the National Museum. It retains up to this day its white and glossy coat, which was due to a special tincture of arsenic. These arsenic impregnated cards, it was thought at the time, caused a good deal of illness.

The visiting card of the Emperor of Austria reads: "Francois Joseph I., Empereur d'Autriche, Roi de Hongrie." This is in the very worst taste, according to English notions, which strictly prohibit the use of the Christian name in connection with one's title.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Good Claim.

Lawyer—On what ground do you claim a pension?

Veteran—I lost my breath once blowing about what I would have done if I had been in Gen. Grant's place during the War.

Going to be a Sculptor.

"What are you going to make of your boy, Bill?" asked one parent of another.

"I think Bill will be a great sculptor," was the reply.

"Has he any talent that way?"

"I should say so. He has begun to chisel boys out of marbles."

Don Manuel—Don't be frightened, dear. It is only a revolution; or, perhaps, an earthquake.

Not Worth Paying For.

Nervous Employer—I don't pay you for whistling.

What Folks Say About Eating.

The wicked man liveth to eat, but the good man eateth to live.—Socrates.

Intemperance in eating is generally more noxious than excess in drinking.—Celsus.

Moderate eating is the wise man's cognizance. but sufficiting epicurism is a fool's chief glory.—F. Oger.

The chief pleasure in eating does not consist in costly seasoning, or exquisite flavor, but in yourself.—Horace.

In the vigor of youth, scarce anything we eat appears to disagree with us: we gratify our palate with whatever pleases it, feeling no ill consequence and therefore fearing none.—D. Bolton.

No one need think ill of eating, or of any of its associations except the abuse: to eat, in the true idea of the act, requires a far more scientific use of the mouth than is the case with mere feeding.—L. H. Grindon.

Nervous People

And those who are all tired out and have that tired feeling or sick headache can be relieved of all these symptoms by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives nerve, mental and bodily strength and thoroughly purifies the blood. It also creates a good appetite, cures indigestion, heartburn and dyspepsia.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy in action and sure in effect. 25c.

THE COAL OUTPUT.

Great Britain Produces More Than Any Country in the World

New York, May 22.—The Coal Trade, a yearly review of the coal industry at home and abroad, and edited by Frederick E. Seward of The Coal Trade Journal has just been issued. The statistics show that Great Britain still maintains her position as the greatest coal producer in the world. She is credited with an annual output of 180,000,000 tons, employing 640,000 persons, and having a value at the pits of $1.79 per ton. The United States comes second. The total output for the year 1894 was 164,486,209 tons. The average value of bituminous coal at the pit in the United States is 96 cents per ton, being lower than in any other country. Anthracite coal brings $1.60 a ton at the pit.

Output of the Gold and Silver Mines.

Washington, May 22.—The director of the Mint, R. E. Preston, estimates the production of gold by the mines of the United States approximately during the calendar year 1894 to have been 1,910,800 fine ounces, of the coining value of $39,500,000, an increase over 1893 of $3,500,000, which is the largest amount produced in any year since 1878. The production of silver is estimated to have approximated 49,500,000 ounces, of the coining value of $64,000,000, showing a decrease as compared with 1893 of 10,500,000 ounces.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, boug[ht] terable medicines and soaps, and [wa]s to medical specialists in skin diseases out result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

DIVISION ON TUESDAY

Then The Budget Will Be Out of the Way.

GENERAL HERBERT HAS RETIRED.

An Order-in-Council Revoked—Patents to St Lawrence Water Lots—A Quiet Day in the House Prior to the Holiday Adjournment.

Ottawa, May 22.—There appears to be no truth in the report from London that Major-General Herbert's time as commandant of the Canadian militia, which expires in November next, will be extended for one year. The Premier informed me to-night that he hardly expected the General would assume command of the militia again on the expiration of his present leave of absence.

Little information is forthcoming in reference to Mr. Greenway's doings in Ottawa, and if the members of the Government know anything of the negotiations for a compromise on the school question they keep the information a profound secret. There are some members of the House who do not believe that any compromise can be effected, and on the Liberal side it is stated, with considerable assurance, that the very utmost that Mr. Greenway will do will be to completely secularize the schools in Manitoba.

The report is current here that the Order-in-Council appointing certain surgeons of the militia force Assistant-Surgeons-General will have to be revoked, as there is nothing in either the Imperial or Canadian law to authorize the creation of this office.

The proceedings of the House to-day were quite up to the standard of dullness of the two previous days this week. Mr. Reid asked, in what position is the controversy between the Dominion and the Ontario Governments as to the right of the respective Governments to issue patents of the water lots lying in front of the municipalities bordering on the River St. Lawrence, and is the Government aware of the fact that the Ontario Government is issuing patents with a reservation clause protecting them in the event of it being decided hereafter that the Dominion Government are vested with the right?

Mr. Daly replied that a case in reference to the matter had been referred to the Supreme Court and would probably be held at the next sitting. The Government had no knowledge that the Ontario Government was issuing patents.

The Budget debate was resumed by Mr. Kenny, M.P., in an able speech. Speaking from his own practical knowledge, he flatly contradicted the statement of Sir Richard Cartwright, that $1,000,000 duty had gone into the pockets of the sugar refiners.

Mr. Rider followed, and at 6 o'clock the House adjourned until next Tuesday. The division on Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment will take place late Tuesday night.

For years leading citizens of Victoria have been seeking permission to lay a telegraphic cable from that city to Port Townsend, Tacoma, Seattle or other points on the American side of Puget Sound. At present the only means of telegraphic communication which Vancouver Island has with the mainland of British Columbia is by cable from Vancouver City to Nanaimo, and if this service is interrupted the people of Victoria and Nanaimo are shut out from the news of the world. Sir Hector Langevin, when Minister of Public Works, steadfastly refused permission for the laying of a cable to the United States, and the people of British Columbia got tired of asking him. Recently, however, the Board of Trade of Victoria took the matter up, and commissioned Messrs. Earle and Prior to endeavor to secure the consent of the Government to the construction of the line, and to-day Mr. Earle was informed by the Premier that no opposition would be offered to the project.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell and a sub-committee of the Cabinet, waited upon His Excellency to-day and presented him with the joint address of both Houses in reply to the Speech from the Throne. The document was beautifully engrossed.

The season's programme for the Geological Survey parties has been drawn up. R. G. McConnell and H. Russell will go to the Kootenay district in British Columbia to work in the gold and silver regions, where they were last summer. Hugh Fletcher's field of work will be in the coal region of Hants and King's Counties, Nova Scotia. E. J. Faribault left yesterday for the gold regions in Halifax and Lunenburg counties, in the same province. A. E. Barlow will explore in the Muskoka region. Dr. R. W. Ellis will this summer complete his work along the Ottawa in the vicinity of Mattawa, and R. Chalmers will make observations in the Eastern Townships. W. McInnes leaves to-morrow for the gold-mining region at Rainy Lake, which is attracting so much attention from speculators at present. He will be absent four or five months. A. P. Low and D. J. V. Eaton, who distinguished themselves by their work and discoveries in Northern Labrador, will this year do field work north of Quebec and in the vicinity of Lake St. John. James McEvoy will continue the work he started last year in the Shuswap district in British Columbia.

It will be news to the riflemen of the Dominion to learn that the Rideau rifle range, where the annual matches of the D.R.A. are held, has been condemned as unsafe, and that pending certain repairs which will be necessary shooting has been absolutely prohibited. Local riflemen, for some time, at any rate, will experience considerable hardship at the order which has just been issued. A civic deputation saw Mr. Dickey to-day in regard to the matter, and urged him to have the repairs executed. It is hinted to-night that if the Government will not effect the repairs, the Association matches this year may have to be held in Toronto.

Mayor Horrell, Reeve Ruby, and Jas. Playfair of Midland, James Scott of Toronto and James L. Burton of Barrie were a deputation which was introduced by Mr. Bennett, M.P., to Hon. Mr. Ouimet, Minister of Public Works, asking the Government to assist the town of Midland in constructing a 400 feet long dry dock, estimated to cost $60,000, at that town. The necessity for a large dock to accommodate big vessels in a deep harbor such as Midland possesses was impressed on the Minister, who promised his careful consideration of the matter.

The report of Judge Drake on his investigation into British Columbia penitentiary affairs was presented to Parliament to-day. He says that the Warden's authority was only nominal, and that the Deputy-Warden Fitzsimmons, ran the institution. He finds that no muster roll of convicts was held, locks, bars and bolts were not examined, the arms were neglected, the deputy rebuked the guards in the presence of convicts. One convict, Macdonald, was frequently allowed out of the penitentiary. The blacksmith and carpenter were frequently absent, and in many respects discipline was very lax. Judge Drake commends the changes which have been made by Acting-Warden Foster. He says if the regulations had been adhered to trouble would never have existed.

CYCLOMANIA.

The Scientific Name of the Craze for Wheeling in France. With Amusing Pictures of Its Prevalence.

"Le Velocipediste," or Running Cyclist (Velox Communis et Migrator: Family of Coleoptera), is the title of an amusing little essay in The Paris Figaro, in which that familiar division of the human family, the cyclist, is discussed from a naturalist's point of view.

"Like the June bugs, which skim buzzingly over the flower beds," says The Figaro, "the velox communis flies along the surface of our streets with disquieting rapidity, frequently grazing in its course the careless pedestrian who loves to cross crowded thoroughfares while reading his newspaper. Of all the animals of the Parisian fauna, it is by far the most prolific, and multiplies with startling rapidity. The male, of a grayish-yellow color, is generally homely. The female, on the other hand, offers in the harmonious and opulent beauty of her outlines a veritable treat for our charmed eyes. She is tamed without difficulty.

"The number of 'velocipedistes' has so augmented during the last few years that it has become a public danger. The Academy of Medicine is justly alarmed at the progress of cyclomania as is called this circular madness, which was studied for the first time by the celebrated Esquiroul, who himself at last fell a victim to the same terrible malady.

"It is dangerous to get in the way of the 'velox communis,' this animal not being accustomed to diverge from the straight line which it follows imperturbably. The frequency with which it runs down and maims whatever happens to be in its path is too well known to be dwelt on here. Sometimes the 'cyclist migrator' travels in troops and even in single file, like the wild duck. The augurs of antiquity—a verse of Ovid seems to prove it, at least—would have drawn good or bad omens, according as they perceived the flight of the 'veloces' in odd or even numbers.

"M. de Lacaze-Duthiers believes that these animals have among themselves contests of speed analogous to our horse races. He has even been able to observe a 'velox' of large frame, which moved incessantly about a circular track, without taking the least repose or absorbing the slightest nourishment. He concludes from this that this insect possesses a crop like that of the turkey, which permits it to store a certain quantity of nourishment, a portion of which it lets fall from time to time into its stomach.

"The cry of the 'velox' is frightful. Its terrifying discordance is sometimes augmented by an apparatus which reminds one of the cowbells of Switzerland, or the horns used on our tramcars."

THE JURY DISAGREE.

The Hyams' Twins Must Have a New Trial,

THE JURY WERE OUT SEVEN HOURS

On the Last Ballot They Stood 10 to 2 for Acquittal—On the First 7 to 5 for Conviction—Closing Scenes of the Greatest Trial in Canada.

Toronto, May 25.—After an absence of over seven hours the jurors summoned to try Dallas and Harry Hyams at 9 o'clock last evening reported that they had not agreed, and there was no possibility of their agreeing, and the judge discharged them from further attendance. The twins were remanded back to jail to remain there until the Fall Assizes, when they will again be put on trial for their lives.

The first ballot stood 7 to 5 for conviction, but the minority finally induced four of the others to coincide in their opinion that the evidence was insufficient to justify conviction, and the second ballot stood 9 to 3 for a verdict of not guilty. A tenth man was finally talked over, but the others held out for conviction, the third and final ballot standing:

For acquittal 10
For guilty 2

The jurors who stood out for conviction were George Munro, North Gwillimbury, farmer, and James Crichton, Scarboro, farmer.

"We were unanimous as to their guilt but we did not think the Crown had produced sufficient evidence to justify us in convicting them. Of course, we knew of the attempt to insure the wife's life, but the judge said we must confine ourselves to the evidence." This was the remark of Juror Abraham Torrance after adjournment of the court.

Said Juror John Jenkins:

"There was not a man on the jury who did not believe the men were guilty, but there seemed to be a missing link somewhere in the Crown's evidence. Had the penalty been anything but hanging we would have given a verdict of conviction in a short time, but we did not like to send the men to the gallows on the evidence put in. Of course we knew of outside things, but it was not given to us in evidence and we couldn't act upon it. The majority of the evidence put in by the defence we did not believe at all. We did not attach any importance to the evidence of the Prestons or of McMillan, but as it was uncontradicted we had to consider it."

Neither of these jurors voted for conviction.

All the other jurors agreed that if evidence as to the attempt to insure Martha Wells' life, with the facts of which they were conversant, had been admitted, conviction would have followed.

Mr. John Greig, the foreman of the jury, was interviewed by a reporter last evening. He said that as soon as the jury had been locked up in their room to consider the evidence, it was suggested by someone that a ballot be at once taken. Mr. Greig, as foreman, objected to this, and said, "It's no good taking a ballot until we have discussed the matter." After a short debate a standing vote was taken, resulting 7 for "guilty," 5 "not guilty." It appears, according to Greig's story, that the seven jurymen voted under the impression that it would be possible to find the prisoners guilty, at the same time giving them the benefit of the doubt. After the matter had been discussed all the afternoon and evening, 9 o'clock was at hand and it had been explained that the verdict must be plain, "guilty," or "not guilty," a ballot was taken, nine voting for acquittal and three for conviction.

Some canvassing then took place and the acquittal jurors succeeded in converting to their views an old gentleman named Charles Penrose of Newmarket, after which a further ballot resulted in 10 votes for acquittal and two for conviction. The two latter were those of George Munro, farmer, North Gwillimbury, and James Crichton of Scarboro, farmer.

The evidence which made the most impression upon the foreman's mind in favor of the prisoners was that of Aylesworth and his wife and Mrs. Hyams. "After hearing that evidence," said he, "I could never have found the prisoners guilty."

It was exactly 1.45 when the case was given to the jury. His Lordship's charge wonderfully changed the aspects of the prisoners. Before the judge commenced his remarks and Mr. Osler's damning impeachment was fresh in the minds of the jurors, dark visions had opened up before the twins; but now things looked brighter, and Harry conversed smilingly with his custodian, while the features of Dallas lost the look of anxiety which has characterised both prisoners for 14 days. Mrs. Dallas Hyams also looked much relieved and smiled hopefully.

The jury having retired, the court was adjourned until 5 o'clock. This hour having arrived, a further postponement was made to 9 o'clock, as the jury had not yet arrived at a decision.

At 9 o'clock promptly the judge took his seat, and as the 12 arbiters of the fate of the Hyams' filed into court an air of hushed expectancy pervaded the room. The prisoners were brought in from the counsel room looking frightfully pale. Harry led the way, and as he stepped into the dock, with a look half of fear, half of hope, glanced toward the jury box, and stood up while his twin brother passed him to take his seat in the west end of the dock. It was manifest that Dallas kept himself from collapse only by a mighty effort. His limbs trembled as he stepped almost blindly into his place. As Judge Street's opening words broke the stillness of the court room, the twins trembled violently, their hands clutched in a nervous grasp, their faces grew colorless and their lips drew closely over their tightly set teeth.

Turning to the jury, His Lordship said:

As you have been locked up for seven hours, gentlemen, I have sent for you to ask if there is any further instruction you desire, or if there is any prospect of your coming to a decision before morning.

Foreman Gregg: There is no prospect of agreement, my Lord.

His Lordship: I should very much like to avoid an abortive trial; but if there is no prospect of any agreement, it is no use my keeping you longer.

Foreman Gregg: I could not speak on behalf of the other jurors.

His Lordship: Have any of you other gentlemen any idea of any prospect of agreement?

Juror No. 2, Malcolm Cameron, Toronto: I, myself, think there is no prospect of an agreement, My Lord.

His Lordship: In that case, I have nothing to do but discharge you. You are discharged from further attendance.

As the words "unable to agree," dropped from His Lordship, a heavy sigh, audible throughout the court room, was heard from the dock, the prisoners' faces brightened and flushed with emotion.

Mrs. Dallas Hyams was not in the court room when the jury came into court. She is very much prostrated.

The greatest trial in the history of Canada has thus resulted in a mistrial, and the whole case will have to be fought over again. These figures will assist the reader:

Length of trial	14 days
Empanelling of jury . .	90 minutes
Mr Osler's opening address .	1 hour
Crown witnesses examined .	60
Defence witnesses examined .	41
Days of Crown testimony..	9
Days of defence testimony	3 1-2
Rebuttal evidence . . .	1 hour
Mr. Johnston's speech for defence	3 h. 35 m.
Mr. Lount's speech for defence	5 h. 15 m.
Mr. Osler's reply . . .	3 h. 15 m.
Justice Street's summing-up	2 hours
Jury considering verdict .	7 h. 15 m.
No. of exhibits	85
No. of pages of evidence .	2,400
No. of words of evidence .	720,000

The duration of the trial was greater than of any previous trial in the history of Canada. The Birchall trial only lasted seven days and the Hendershott trial eight days, while that of the Hyams' spread over a period of exactly two weeks. Mr. Nelson R. Butcher, who was court reporter at all three, states that the evidence taken down was in this case more than double that of the Hendershott trial, and three times that of the Birchall trial.

In the array of counsel engaged, the present case was also a record breaker. On behalf of the prisoners were Messrs. W. Lount, Q.C.; E. F. B. Johnston, W. G. Murdoch, T. W. Horn, and associated with them Mr. Francis L. Wellman, one of New York's foremost criminal lawyers, and Mr. W. W. Gooch, also of New York. Associated with Mr. Osler for the Crown were Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright and County Crown Attorneys Curry and Dewart. The Crown has nothing to reproach itself for in the conduct of the case. The defence is entitled to credit for the ingenious case it presented, and Messrs. Murdoch and Horn, upon whom devolved the greater part of the work, no small amount of that credit is due.

Mr. Osler's concluding remarks yesterday were perhaps less pitiless than the opening, but the damaging circumstances arranged as only he can arrange them were none the less a terrible arraignment of the accused.

The charge of His Lordship Justice Street was the subject of much favorable comment. It showed a wonderful grasp of all the salient points in the case, and was generally regarded as a fair and impartial presentment, although it was considerably in favor of the prisoners, in that His Lordship left to the jury as an important consideration the improbability that the prisoners, although alleged to have schemed so carefully, had made no preparation, when it came to the crucial point of giving a reasonable explanation of the accident. The prisoners had no means of explaining at all how the weight came off the hook until it was stated by a witness that the weight would have hung on the nose of the hook.

When he had completed his charge Mr. Wellman walked up to the bench, shook hands with His Lordship and congratulated him on the fairness of his deliverance. Neither of the U.S. attorneys waited for the verdict. They left on the 4.35 train for New York, it having been arranged that the party should be notified by wire en route of the result.

Since the opening of the trial His Lordship Justice Street has been in his chair punctually at 10 o'clock, but yesterday, while the chimes were ringing out the hour, His Lordship was struggling with the immense throng in Court-street for admission, the jury, who sat in their places, meantime wondering at his absence. The crowd was obdurate, and in their supreme desire to attain their point respect for the court was forgotten, and His Lordship was compelled to appeal to the city police for assistance. Staff Inspector Archabold, Inspector Stephen and Inspector Johnson, with a posse of uniformed police, charged upon the crowd, and drove them from the doors until His Lordship had passed within. Still the jam continued in both streets until all doors were finally barred, and hundreds turned away in bitter disappointment at their failure to see the twins or hear Mr. Osler's mighty marshalling of the facts with which the Crown sought to bring conviction to the prisoners.

When the court re-assembled at 9 p.m. a crowd of fully five thousand people had gathered in Adelaide-street, between Church and Toronto-streets. They besieged the court house, but a guard of constables before the door prevented all except those having business within from entering. Still the crowd remained, however, standing jammed in the roadway to get the first news of the verdict. There was no noise or disorder, the whole crowd standing with strained faculties waiting to hear the first message that might be wafted out to them from within the stone walls as to the fate of the two prisoners. When the news came of the disagreement, they were at first loth to believe that such was the case and it was some time before the throng dispersed. The curiosity of the public over the verdict in the case is unexampled in this city. All day yesterday the question as to whether the men would go free or to their deaths was bandied from lip to lip, and speculation upon the theme was rife. The newspaper offices likewise were besieged with enquirers all last evening, and there seemed to be a general disappointment that the labors of everyone

ARVA WIPED OUT.

Flames Again Wreck Destruction on the Middlesex Village

Arva, May 25.—Two months ago 14 of the business buildings of this village were destroyed by fire, and at 3 o'clock Thursday fire again broke out, and completed the destruction.

The village presents a very forlorn appearance. Only a few dwellings are left standing.

A Mexican Town's Fate.

Chilpancingo, Mex., May 25.—The town of Contepec was completely destroyed by fire Monday night. Sixty-two buildings were burned, leaving the population homeless. Several persons were seriously injured.

Sixty Horses Burned Alive.

Chicago, May 25.—Sixty horses belonging to the Chicago Carette Company were burned alive early this morning by a fire which broke out in the stables, 150-160 Green-street.

Florence General Store Gone.

Florence, Ont., May 24.—Fire in the general store of M. J. Morrill destroyed the building, one part of which was occupied by William Thompson, tailor. Loss $5000.

Toasted Cheese at Gorrie.

Gorrie, Ont., May 24.—Last night the People's Cheese and Butter factory was burned to the ground. Loss unknown.

Were Damage by Water Than Fire.

International Bridge, Ont., May 24.—Fire in Vahey Bros', store burned the greater part of the roof and destroyed part of the dwelling. The loss will be heavy on account of the damage to the goods by water.

Peterboro Dwellings Gone.

Peterboro, May 24.—An unoccupied dwelling, owned by George Thighe, was destroyed. The fire extended to the house of Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Stanton, the former being badly wrecked. Two others were scorched.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1895.

Wheat touched the dollar point at Fort William on Wednesday, and it is predicted farmers in the Northwest will be paid eighty cents or a dollar for their fall crop. With good prospects for a bountiful harvest and prices one hundred per cent. above last year's figures, the Northwest ought to boom.

An order in Council has been passed by the Ontario Government, whereby the Division Courts department will be transferred from Hon. Mr. Gibson's department to that of Hon. Mr. Harcourt. Correspondence on matters connected with this branch of the service will consequently have to be addressed to the Provincial Treasurer's Department.

World's Fair Commissioner Cockburn charged the country while at Chicago with a laundry bill of $76.63 and with one for blacking shoes amounting to $16.10, while the total expenditure for flowers was only $3.80. The moderation shown in the latter item is no doubt accounted for by the fact that adding button-hole bouquets to the Commissioner's person after all this expenditure on polished shirt fronts and still more polished shoes would be, the News thinks, to much like an attempt to paint the lily or add lustre to fine gold.

The rumor that Mr. Marter is going to surrender the leadership of the local Opposition to Mr. Whitney is revived. He only got that position by one vote, and after his ridiculous start in London, and his incapable leading in the Assembly, it is no wonder his party want a change. But a change will not help it. London, Kingston, etc., should have taught it that it is in Opposition to stay. The only way to oust the Mowat Government is to persuade the Mowat Goverment to violate its record of twenty years and go in for some misgovernment that would call for their dismissal. But this would be even a harder task than the policy of raising side issues which the Opposition have so long depended upon.

WHITEWAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

Newfoundland Will Meet Its Obligations on June 30.

St. John's, Nfld., May 23.—In the Assembly to-day Premier Whiteway stated that information had reached him within the past 24 hours which justified him in announcing the probability of the colony being able to meet all of its obligations on June 30 and thereafter. Most of his hearers considered the announcement equivalent to information that Colonial Secretary Bond had obtained a loan. Others regarded it as signifying that he had failed, and that the Government had accepted a royal commission.

FLOATING A NEWFOUNDLAND LOAN.

Hon. Robert Bond Again Negotiating With Montreal Brokers—The Results Unknown.

Montreal, May 24.—Hon. Mr. Bond arrived back this morning from the United States, and at once opened up negotiations with Hanson Bros., leading brokers here, who represent large English capitalists. Hon. Mr. Bond was with these gentlemen from 10 to 12, and had another interview this afternoon. Neither Mr. Bond nor the brokers will speak to-night, but there is little doubt that these gentlemen are negotiating a loan for the colony.

WILDE'S TRIAL ENDS TO-DAY.

Many of the Charges Dismissed, Being Made by a Man Insane.

London, May 23.—The trial of Oscar Wilde was resumed in the Old Bailey Court this morning. Parker's servants and several servants of the Savoy hotel were called to the stand, and repeated their former testimony. Nothing new was elicited. The case for the prosecution was closed and Sir Edward Clarke, on behalf of Wilde, argued that that part of the indictment charging Wilde with misconduct was not sustained by corroborative evidence. The Judge dismissed that part of the case which implicated Wilde with Shelley. His own impression was that Shelley's intellect was deranged as regarded his accusations against Wilde. The Court then adjourned, Wilde being released over night on bail.

ON CHARACTER.

"And yet on the other hand, it is never to be forgotten that ideals do exist; that if they be not approximated to, the whole matter goes to wreck. . . . No bricklayer builds a wall perfectly perpendicular. And yet if he sway too much from the perpendicular . . . such a bricklayer, I think, is in a bad way."—Carlyle.

"Of the things that exist some are in our own power, some are not in our own power."—Epictetus.

"Quit yourselves like men."—The Bible.

Life has, speaking broadly, two phases—the one behind the scenes and the other before them. In the one case we have men and women as they really are; in the other as they appear. These two phases are often quite unlike. Take the case of a cunning man who is without virtue and without principle. His every hour in private is occupied in preparing for his public appearance. Beware of the man who is never wrong for it is because his cunning never deserts him.

HOW ARE WE TO JUDGE

then of a man's fidelity? Manifestly it is by inquiring into his alleged motive and and seeing if it squares with principle. If he be found to have the true ring, he cannot be base metal.

* * *

He who worships God cannot excuse ill-doing in others, otherwise he robs God of His mercy and excuses his own shortcomings. If we give every man his due, both for and against, we shall do well and as becomes us. A woman is apt to run by instinct, but a man should walk by intellect. Yet we must remember that as there were times when we existed, yet knew it not, so the apparent end of consciousness in death does not necessarily mean the end. If we only went forth when we have reason it is likely that we should often remain at home. When reason fails follow nature.

* * *

When we have found envy in ourselves remember that it has risen to mock us. A proud man would despise envy and a wise one will crush it. Accordingly as we feel it do we confess that we CANNOT STAND BEING OUTDONE.

Envy is the cry of the weak mind. Seek friends rather than rivals.

As to the life within, which is the only true life, it is for the man himself to judge. There is in the promptings of conscience a guide to action, even if it be only the finger-post of good intention. Put no bad material into the building of character, or if you have done so, take it out and replace with the best you can. When the jars of adversity come such a character will stand, whilst poorer ones, though better to the eye, will crumble in the dust.

* * *

The true hero is the man of fortitude. To be strong and beautiful we must be honest, and, therefore, is it said, that an honest man is the noblest work of God. What nobler feeling can thrill the heart of man than the consciousness that he has done his best! And when a man has done his best he has done well.

NOR IS IT BENEATH

us to embellish the character as well as to make it strong, for whatever is of beauty links it to perfection, whilst to leave it in the rough is to abandon rather than to accomplish. Having resolved to add beauty to strength, what should we first do? We should first of all things see that what we propose fits naturally in its attachment, and if it fits by nature, then is it of God.

* * *

The foundation of character is self-respect, which is to have pride without being proud. Self-respect is, too, the harmonious working of the faculties as health is the harmonious working of the various functions of the body. Sublimity of thought, loftiness of purpose, greatness of soul, force of character, all depend upon the sensitiveness of our self-respect. Not only is a base man incapable of noble thoughts but he even laughs at them. So easy is it to be a brute, and so hard to be a man. And yet to be a man, a true, who is therefore really, a great, man, depends, like all that is mighty, upon the great Resolve. The finest human character in history is the knight without fear and without reproach.

AND NOBLE DEEDS

* * *

No matter how we scrutinize the personality of Christ, it is quite apparent that even the most sceptical can find no fault in Him. There has never been a suggestion by the coldest agnostic of improvement in the conduct and character of Jesus. How many, alas! are led astray by false witnesses, by men who cry "We are for Jesus, but who are first for themselves.

* * *

And then this brings us to look within again, and there we find that all our relations with our fellowmen are so tainted with our own impurity that it were better to speak too little than to say too much. But this would be to save our blushes at the expense of our duty to the commonwealth. No man who associates habitually with the good will long remain below their level. Therefore, let us read and think with them, let us resolve to imitate them, let us have no fear because we have no fear, then at last we will lie down upon our earthly bed to sleep our long last sleep "in the sure and certain hope of a glorious resurrection."

DISSOLUTION IS NEAR.

Balfour Declares That an Appeal to the Country Must Soon Come.

London, May 24.—Speaking at a meeting of the Conservative Union St. Hon. A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader in the House of Commons, said that the burden of the political action rested not upon the House of Commons, where the Government was playing out a dull and pitiful comedy, but upon the electoral organizations outside the House. The time was near, he added, when an appeal to the country would be inevitable. He was not certain when the Government would abandon its hopeless task of trying to legislate, but it would be the business of the Opposition to make the date as soon as possible. Next week might bring the downfall of the Ministry. It might, however outlive the present session, but unless there was a great and unparalleled change in public opinion it could not long survive.

INDIGESTION AND ITS TERRORS.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND RESTORES PERFECT DIGESTIVE VIGOR.

Nature's Great Medicine Will Give You a Healthy and Natural Appetite, Pure Blood, a Clear Head and Sound Sleep.

The most miserable mortals in our communities are those who are weighed down by obstinate and cruel indigestion.

The digestive organs are all out of gear, and the sufferer is tormented every hour of the day. The greatest distress is experienced after eating; there is heaviness or weight in the pit of the stomach, almost continual headache, want of appetite, palpitation of the heart, sluggish and torpid bowels and constipation.

The common cathartics and medicines of the day only aggravate the sufferer's troubles, and cause him to sink deeper in the mire of suffering and despodency.

Nature's wondrous remedy, Paine's Celery Compound, is the only medicine now generally prescribed by the best physicians. It acts directly on the nerves, it cleanses the blood and removes all obstructions and distressing matter from the digestive organs, and gives that perfect vigour of body that only the healthy can enjoy. After using Paine's Celery Compound, eating becomes a pleasure, sleep is natural and sound, and life is worth living.

Mrs. H. Cormack, of Halifax, N. S., who suffered for years, writes as follows: "It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to the value of Paine's Celery Compound.

For a number of years I have suffered greatly from indigestion and palpitation of the heart. It was perfect misery for me to go up stairs or up a hill, as my breath was so short and weak; and eating a meal was something I dreaded, as I suffered such agony afterwards. I could only get temporary relief from doctor's medicines and remedies. Last summer my heart troubled me so frequently that I became weak and miserable—so miserable that I felt life a burden. I had heard a great deal of Celery Compound, but had no idea it would benefit me in any way. At last I was persuaded to try it, and by the time the first bottle was used I was greatly benefitted. I have used five bottles of the Compound, and say with truth, that no other medicine has ever given me such wonderful results. The palpitation of the heart has not troubled me for some months; I can now eat a hearty meal, and do not experience any pain afterwards.

"Paine's Celery Compound cannot be too highly spoken of, and I trust all who suffer from the complaints which I have had, will use it without delay or fear, for I am certain they will receive great benefits, and will soon be convinced that Celery Compound is the surest, safest, and best of remedies."

THREE KNIGHTED.

Three Canadians Receive Birthday Honors.

MR. JOLY AMONGST THE NUMBER.

The Two Others Are Lieut.-Gov. Schultz and Dr. Hingston of Montreal—A New Decoration for Lord Aberdeen—Militia and General Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, May 24.—The following is the official announcement of the Queen's Birthday honors as affecting Canadians:

His Excellency the Governor-General has had added to th decorations which he so worthily wears th Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, the highest honor of the colonial order, and a deserved recognition of Lord Aberdeen's services to the Dominion.

Lieut.-Governor Schultz of Manitoba, one of the pioneers of the great Northwest, than whom no one has done more to make its resources known, becomes a K.C.M.G. A similar title falls to Mr. H. G. Joly de Lotbiniere, better known as Mr. Joly, a former Liberal Premier of Quebec.

Dr. W. Hingston, one of the leading physicians of Montreal, becomes a Knight Bachelor, while a C.M.G. is conferred upon Mr. Milne, Collector of Customs at Victoria, B.C. Mr. Milne, in connection with the Behring Sea dispute, rendered invaluable aid to the Government.

Mr. Samuel Rogers, Ottawa's leading unudertaker, died this afternoon after an illness of several weeks.

His Excellency the Governor-General only took a partial holiday as during the morning he was engaged in conference with Messrs Greenway and Sifton on the Manitoba school question. From the fact that both gentlemen are leaving town immediately it is inferred that the negotiations have made some progress, but what their nature is is unknown. Mr. Sifton left for Toronto tonight, and Mr. Greenway goes to Montreal to-morrow en route for New York.

Sir C. H. Tupper, Minister of Justice, arrived somewhat unexpectedly from New York to-day. Although the Minister's health is slightly improved, he is far from well. The object of Sir Charles' visit to Gotham, as previously stated, was to consult a specialist in regard to his lung trouble. He was not expected home until next week, and his earlier return is supposed to be due to the negotiations now going on in Manitoba school matters.

Mr. Pottinger, General Manager of the Intercolonial, is in the city, and today arranged with Senator Ferguson the details of a new time table, by which Prince Edward Island will be brought within twenty-four hours of Montreal.

No provision is made in the estimates for field artillery practice this year, and a strong effort will be made to induce the Government to provide the necessary funds for annual training of this important arm of the service. Hitherto if the rural corps were not drilled, the artillery have been looked after, as it has been deemed essential to keep the big guns and the men who handle them in trim. General Herbert was a great exponent of artillery training.

The militia general orders issued today, contain several items of interest to the force.

The 34th Battalion will form a regimental Camp at Whitby, Ont., and the corps in military district No. 6 detailed to go into camp at the Island barracks at St. Johns, Quebec, will go into camp at Richmond, P.Q.

An amendment to the regulations affecting the permanent force says that when officers, non-commissioned officers or men of the married establishment of the permanent force are detached from their stations on duty their families will be permitted to draw their rations, fuel and light during the period of such absence on duty.

An Order-in Council has been passed amending the regulations for the Royal Military College, so that the age during which a person may be accepted as a cadet will be from 15 years to 19 years, instead of from 15 years to 18 years.

The following changes in regimental and company headquarters are authorized:

Prince of Wales' Dragoons.—Regimental headquarters from Cobourg to Peterborough.

Essex Fusiliers.—No. 4 Company, from Amherstburg to Walkerville.

These new dress regulations have been authorized:

5th Battalion, Royal Scots.—Officers and men of this battalion are permitted to wear the red hackle in the feather bonnets.

34th Ontario.—The following badge and motto is authorised for use by this battalion:

Maltese cross, surmounted with the motto, "Fidelis et Paratus." The regiment number in Roman numerals in the centre. The whole encircled with a wreath of maple leaves and surmounted with a royal crown.

The committee of the Royal Military Tournament of Great Britain has generously offered to present silver medals for the competition at military tournaments or assaults at arms held in Canada under duly constituted military authority.

The conditions under which these medals will be granted for competition are the following:

(a.) The tournament must be under the management of officers of the active militia, and under the sanction of the Maj.-General commanding; the program must be submitted for the Major-General's approval. The Deputy Adjutant-General must have a voice in all military questions connected with the event. The competitions for which medals are awarded at the Royal military tournament are as follows, exceptions being allowable under special conditions:

Mounted. (1.) Sword v. lance. (2.) Sword v. sword. Dismounted.—(3.) Bayonet v. bayonet. (4.) Fencing. (5.) Sabres.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure. Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

Trade of the Week.

New York May 24.—Bradstreet's says: Higher prices for many staples at Montreal, together with cold weather most of the week, served to check the demand and movements somewhat, but the outlook remains favorable. The frosts did little damage to grain either in Quebec or Ontario, and Toronto merchants regard business prospects as bright. In Prince Edward Island the season is fully two weeks ahead of other years. The depression in Newfoundland continues severe, and the Labrador fisheries have fallen off because of difficulty in procuring supplies. The weather has helped the crops in Nova Scotia, and better trade is anticipated. Only 25 failures are reported in Canada this week, against 28 last week, 29 in the week a year ago, and 27 the year before. Bank clearings at Winnipeg, Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax amount to $19,721,000 this week, against $20,610,000 last week, and as compared with $13,933,000 in the week last year, and $17,522,000 in the week in 1893.

An Abolitionist Wiped Out

Montclair, N.J., May 23.—Henry A. Chittenden, sr., is dead. He was a prominent merchant of Hartford, New Haven and New York, a philanthropist, and a pioneer abolitionist, and aided fugitive slaves to escape to Canada.

Balfour Formally Committed

London, May 24.—Jabez Spencer Balfour, the Liberator Building Society swindler, was to-day formally committed for trial.

Pulmonary consumption, in its early stages, may be checked by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It stops the distressing cough, soothes irritation of the throat and lungs, and induces much-needed repose. Hundreds have testified to the remarkable virtues of the preparation for the hair.

A Sudden Death.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams was suddenly summoned to Toronto this morning by the announcement by telegram of the sudden death of his sister, Mrs. W. E. James. The sad particulars of the case have not as yet been received. Mr. J. H. McWilliams who is an uncle of the deceased, received notice of the death too late to be able to attend the funeral, which took place this afternoon. Mrs. James had many warm friends in town, who together with her relatives, will mourn her sudden and unexpected demise.

Who "Dixie" Is.

Undoubtedly one of the most popular stories yet given us by a Canadian pen is "Miss Dixie, a romance of the provinces," which was issued in March, and found public favour so rapidly that already the publisher, William Briggs, has been obliged to hurry through a second edition to meet standing orders, and which is announced as ready this week. The curiosity of readers as to the identity hidden by the evident nom de plume, "Stanford Eveleth," is happily gratified in this second edition, from which we learn that the clever authoress is a Mrs. W. J. Dickson, residing, we understand, in Truro, N. S. Mrs. Dickson is to be congratulated upon the success of her book, which, we are safe in saying, has won a permanent place in the fiction literature of Canada.

St. Luke's Church Notes.

The Sons of England will attend divine service in St. Luke's church to-morrow afternoon at 3.30. The sermon, on "The Divine Mission of Nations," with special reference to the English nation, will be preached by the chaplain, Rev. H. Symonds.

To-morrow evening a special sermon on the present relations between science and religion will be preached by the Rector. The sermon will consist of a review of the spiritual history of one of the most brilliant men of science of the century, a Canadian by birth, George Romanes, F.R.S., who passed from the faith of childhood to Agnosticism and from Agnosticism to a wider faith and died in full communion with the Church of England.

A Dishonest Boy.

This morning Mrs. Wm. Scott, of Smith, was driving into market; at the corner of Simcoe and George streets, she alighted leaving Mrs. Scott, the elder, to drive further. In the act of getting out Mrs. Scott's shopping-bag containing a purse with a sum of money and a pair of new black kid gloves fell out. She soon discovered her loss and returned to the spot and found that the bag had been found by Mr. James Louden who gave it to a barefooted lad with the instructions to run after Mrs. Scott the elder, who was pointed out, and return the bag to her. Since that neither bag nor boy has been seen. The matter was reported to the police, and as Mr. Louden and the police know the lad, their will certainly be trouble for him if he keeps the bag long enough to lead to the idea that he wishes to appropriate it.

Brennan House, Norwood.

The Brennan House, Norwood, has changed hands, the new lessee being Mr. William Clancy, late of the City Hotel, Peterborough. The many friends of Mr. Clancy will be pleased to learn that he has installed himself again so near his old home, right in about the business centre of a surrounding territory where he has been known for thirty years. The fire in Tamworth, which burned Mr. Clancy's hotel and left him without a home has given to Norwood an active and energetic hotelkeeper, who will put a new lease of life into the old established and well known Brennan House. Already he is preparing for a thorough overhauling and remodelling of his house. Plans are being executed for changes and improvements in the interior and exterior of the premises which, when completed, will give the Brennan House its proper position among the first-class country hotels of the province.

HAS THE OTONABEE CLAIMED ANOTHER VICTIM?

The Little Eight Year Old Son of Mr. Richard Sanderson Missing.

Mr. Richard Sanderson and Mr. Campbell, with their families, were picnicing yesterday just below the locks, and after partaking of refreshments at about six o'clock walked up to the locks to see a small boat go through.

After its departure one of Mr. Sanderson's boys, a bright little lad of eight years of age was suddenly missed from the party.

All the members of the families immediately instituted a search for the little fellow all around the locks, but without avail. Not a trace of him could be found. It was thought that peghaps the boy had gone home and all repaired to Mr. Sanderson's residence, but found to their dismay that there was still no sign of the missing lad.

Thoroughly alarmed, Mr. Sanderson took a party of men back to the Locks and a careful search was made along the shore. Boats and grappling irons were utilized and the distracted father was working all night in the effort to recover the body of the boy, as it is now thought that he certainly fell into the water and was swept away before his cry for help could be heard. The body had not been recovered up to a late hour this afternoon.

THURSDAY'S FIRE.

A Midnight Blaze on McDonel and College Streets.

At a few minutes to twelve o'clock on Thursday night flames burst out in a small unoccupied house, owned by Mr. Flavelle, of Toronto, on McDonel street, two doors above College street. Just how the fire originated is a mystery, but it was raging fiercely inside the house when discovered, and by the time the fire brigade was on the scene, the flames had almost entirely enveloped the cottage, and were creeping along by means of the sheds in the rear to Mr. T. Fletcher's house on College street.

Before it could be checked, the fire obtained a firm foothold in the Fletcher residence, and the propreitor and his family had to hastily vacate the house, without taking time to dress. Little or nothing was saved of Mr. Fletcher's house or its contents, although the shell of the house is still standing. Mr. Flavelle's property was razed to the ground by the flames.

The residence of Mr. Bernard Morrow just east of the scene of the fire and that occupied by the family of Mr. Stanton as well as Miss Atcheson's residence, around which the flames circled, all had narrow escapes, and only the indefatigable exertions of the firemen saved the properties.

The shock consequent upon the fire has been greatly felt by Mrs. Fletcher, as she has been ill all through the winter. Much sympathy is expressed for her by her neighbours and friends. Mr. Fletcher has secured a cottage on McDonel street for the accommodation of his family for the present. His loss will be partly covered by insurance.

Last night at about ten o'clock the firemen were again summoned to the scene of the recent fire, as flames were playing around the ruins in a manner which induced those living in the neighbourhood to believe that danger would be incurred if they were not quenched. A stream was soon playing on the ruins and every spark soon deprived of life.

Both dwellings destroyed were rough cast and Mr. Stanton's sheds which were destroyed, were frame structures.

WEDDED ON QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Celebration of the Skinner-Londerville Nuptials at Hastings Yesterday.

The wedding of two very popular young people of Peterborough took place yesterday, when Mr. Jas. Skinner, night operator at the C.P.R. station, was united in marriage to Miss Annie Londerville, assistant matron of the Peterborough Protestant Home, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Samuel Londerville, of Hastings.

The wedding was a quiet one, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Jewell, pastor of the Hastings Methodist church.

Miss Eliza Londerville, of Keene, was the bridesmaid on the interesting occasion and Mr. John Londerville, brother of the bride, performed the offices of best man.

Both the interested parties are well and favourably known in Peterborough, where they have won great popularity and many friends through their kindly dispositions.

On resigning her position at the Peterborough Protestant Home, Miss Londerville was presented with handsome china dinner and tea sets by the ladies in charge, and on the occasion of the presentation many of the ladies availed themselves of the opportunity of personally bearing testimony to the high place in their esteem and love which Miss Londerville occupied.

The employees at the C. P. R. station presented Mr. Skinner with a very handseme French mantel clock, and through Mr Kirkpatrick of the freight department, congratulated him on his approaching marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner have taken up their residence at 343 Rubidge street.

"Feed the Brute!"

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. Pastry plays a great part in the everyday food and it must be made right or it had better not be made at all. You'll never go wrong in using

HER MAJESTY'S SEVENTY-SIXTH.

HOW THE DAY WAS SPENT BY THE CITIZENS.

Many Excurt to Campbellford, Lakefield, Bridgeoorth, Jubilee Point, and Haliburton.

Yesterday was Queen's weather—royal weather indeed. The temperature was just about the right thing for the activity that the full enjoyment of the day demands. As usual in the last few years, the day was observed in town with that slumberous sedateness that indicate that our loyalty is too deep for noisy demonstration. We seem to prefer to send our enthusiasm and dollars abroad instead of organizing some demonstration programme that would attract the enthusiasm and dollars of others to town. The day was observed in town in a very sober manner—sober in the literal sense too; there was very little evidence of any person having drunk Her Majesty's health too often. There were both visible and audible evidences that it was the Twenty-Fourth. From scores of staffs the flags floated in the soft May breeze, and scores of citizens in holiday garb were to be seen scurrying to the outgoing trains and boats, and driving in every sort of vehicle to points in the country or about the town. The audible evidences were the perpetual pop,pop of the juvenile cracker, punctuated at intervals with the roar of a "number one" and shrieks of youthful delight. The outgoing trains in all directions were loaded with pleasure seekers, and it is hoped pleasure-finders and the steamers down the river had a liberal patronage, whilst the river was literally alive with boats, canoes and steam launches. More detailed references to the various events will be found elsewhere.

Over a thousand of the citizens were taken out of town on the Grand Trunk Railway. Six hundred and twelve went to Campbellford, two hundred and ninety Lakefield and a hundred and thirty to various other places along the line.

The Day in Campbellford.

Campbellford was alive with Peterborough people yesterday and the majority of them had a pleasant time in the town. The celebration programme was well planned and carried out to the letter.

The Peterborough band was down for the celebration and their music was greatly admired.

The day opened in the Exhibition grounds with a football match between Stirling and Campbellford, in which the former team won. In the afternoon Stirling played Warkworth and won again, thus securing the championship of the district.

Next came the great

LACROSSE TOURNAMENT.

The members of the Athletic Lacrosse team of Peterborough are proudly wearing the handsome gold lockets which were hung up in the lacrosse tournament at Campbellford yesterday. Three teams were entered in the competition, the Athletics, the Peterboroughs and the Campbellfords. The Campbellford team was lucky enough to draw the bye which gave them an opportunity of playing the winners of the Athletic-Peterborough match.

The draw could not have resulted in a more satisfactory manner to the Peterboroughonians, as all were anxious to know which possessed the better team—the Athletics or the Peterboroughs. A very few minutes sufficed to demonstrate that the Peterboroughs were being outplayed on almost every part of the field, the Athletics scoring four games to nil within the hour. The two teams lined up as follows.:

Peterborough.		Athletics.
Dobbin	goal	Adams
Hughes	point	Boland
Lynch	cover	Joe McDonough
Heap	1st defence	W Thompson
Brown	2nd "	McMahon
Borland	3rd "	Hickey
Wasson	centre	T McDonough
Cros-ley	3rd home	Jas McCabe
Galley	2nd "	Jno McDonough
Lipsett	1st "	P Rubidge
Glover	outside	Jno McCabe
Rickey	inside	McNamara
Guy	field captain	P Doris

Referee. Mr Lattimer.

The Peterboroughs can attribute their defeat to lack of combination play and to the fact that the defence did not play its position, but were easily enticed out into the field, leaving Dobbin, between the flags, without any protection whatever. Time and again there would be a couple of home players of the Athletics, with the ball, in behind the entire defence of the Peterboroughs.

Although the Peterboroughs met more than their match in the Athletics they did not meet defeat without a hard struggle to avert it, Borland and Brown showing up particularly well during the match. The game was a rough one, and time was called more than once as a player threw up his hands and went down. Heap was the first to come to grief, and it took some time to get him into shape to play again. Galley was the next unfortunate, having his finger broken in two places. Lipsett received a clip on the head which made him see stars for a few minutes, and Brown was so badly used up as to be taken home in a hack. Lynch came within an ace of losing an ear, having it badly split.

For the Athletics Jimmy McCabe played like a cyclone and never put up a faster game in his life. He was here, there and everywhere on the home field, and his sharp checking carried everything before it. The three McDonough brothers all showed up well on the field, playing swift and sure games. Young Jack McCabe surprised everyone by his shoots on the Peterborough flags, and Hickey also did well.

As the Athletics won from the Peterboroughs, they had then to play off with the Campbellford team for the trophy. The latter were fresh and came on the field with the light of victory in their eyes, but it didn't stay there long, as the Athletics, though flagged after their hard game with the Peterboroughs, soon showed the Campbellford men that they had still plenty of vim left in them, and the game was much swifter than the previous one.

After a hard struggle the Athletics scored the only goal which was shot during the match, and thus won the thirteen gold lockets which were offered as a trophy.

The game was umpired by Mr. Hendren, of Norwood, and during the match an incident occurred which forced him to rule McCabe off the field. McCabe was checking a player more heavily behind the flags than the man thought there was any necessity for, so he accordingly dropped his stick and for a few minutes it looked as though a free fight was imminent. The crowd closed in on the field and the match would have been brought to a sudden and unpleasant termination but for the action of the referee. It is a hard thing indeed to decide just where the line ought to be drawn in respect to heavy checking, and the referee in a lacrosse match occupies no enviable position.

As no junior lacrosse team was willing to run up against the Peterborough juniors the trophy for this series was awarded them.

THE HORSE RACES

were a most interesting feature of the day's sport, and the heats being closely contested, generated a great deal of excitement.

The races were conducted under the following officials:

Judges—Thos. Dunn, Peterborough; W. Beasley, Warkworth, and Fred Fanning, Belleville.

Starter—Mr. Owens, Campbellford.

Timekeeper—Alf. Terrill, Peterborough.

Five horses entered in the trotting race, and six heats had to be trotted to decide which was the best horse, as follows:

Curioso, Phillips	3	3	2	1	1	1
Sandy B., Ed. Brown	2	1	1	2	2	3
Billy T., Thomas	5	4	3	3	3	2
Black Fan Hamdon	4	2	4	4	4	4
J. S. B. Yeomans	1	5	5	x	x	x

J. S. B. was an old stager and fairly flew over the track for the first heat, but he was driven too hard for his age and broke down in the next heat and had to be finally withdrawn.

Ed. Brown took the next two heats with his Sandy B., but he had to go hard for the third one, being pressed closely by Curioso. The fourth heat would have gone to Mr. Brown only Sandy B. missed a step at a critical moment and was passed by Curioso, who also took the two succeeding heats. The race was a good one, the final struggle between Sandy B. and Curioso being highly exciting.

THE RUNNING RACE

was won by that game little mare, Nettie Wood, owned by Mr. Fred Jones, of Peterborough. She took the race in three straight heats, and was never let out to her full speed. The horses won as follows:—

Nettie Wood	Jones
Mac	Lee
Mamie F	Flaherty
Livery Boy	Simpson
Maud F	R. Hill

FOOT RACES.

The matched sprinting race between Mayhem, of Trenton, and Holden, of Toronto, was easily won by Mayham, as was the open foot race, in which Nolan took second and Holden third.

A grand concert in the evening brought the day's programme to a close, Miss Ada Hansen, of Oshawa, Miss Lola Ostrom, and Mr. Thomas Dunn furnished the programme, which, as may be judged by the talent, was one of rare excellence, and, without doubt, the best which a Campbellford audience have ever had the pleasure of listening to. Miss Hansen upheld her reputation as one of the sweetest of Canadian singers, and little Lola Ostrom quite captivated the hearts of the audience with her pretty gestures and clever recitations. Mr. Dunn's fine baritone voice made a most favourable impression, his selections being rendered in splendid tone.

St. Paul's Annual Picnic at Lakefield.

Yesterday the ladies of the congregation of St. Paul's, Lakefield, turned the 24th to double account, celebrated Her Majesty's birthday and held their very successful annual picnic. It was held in the Agricultural Grounds and attracted a very large attendence, from Lakefield and Douro especially. There was a very large contingent went up from town by train, a special train of six coaches being well filled. The clergy was represented by the cathedral clergy and Rev. Father McColl, of Ennismore. The first event of the day was the football match between the Lakefield team and a team from the Collegiate Institute, and the result was a bad defeat for the academic lads, their village opponents calcumining them in fine style, winning by six goals to nothing.

There were the usual refreshment booths and other picnic amusements, which were well patronized, and the dancing platform was a source of continual delight to the younger portion of the picnicers, the music of Scrimgeour's orchestra being greatly appreciated.

The ladies had provided a bountiful dinner. There were two lengthy tables, under the charge of Lakefield and Douro respectively. Those who patronized were well satisfied with the abundance and excellent quality of the viands provided as well as with the courteous attention bestowed by the ladies upon their guests.

THE ADDRESSES.

The intellectual feast, however, was the chief event of the day. The chair was taken in the Skating Rink (where the speaking took place) by W. H. Casement, Esq., the popular reeve of the village.

The first address was by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., who expressed the wish that the church (St. Paul's) in whose interest the picnic was held would prosper. He also referred to the Trent Valley Canal, and repeated his old time assurances that it would be built, and instanced as an evidence of the faith of the villagers in the beginning of work that the latter were afraid to plant their potatoes for fear the SAVED MUCH SUFFERING.

REV. FATHER BUTLER'S INTERESTING EXPERIENCE.

Suffered From an Abscess in the Side Which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured After Other Medicines Fail.

Caledonia, N.S., Gold Hunter.

Faith leads many to believe, yet when one has experienced anything and has reason to rejoice, it is far stronger proof than faith without reasonable proof. About four miles from Caledonia, along a pleasant road, passing by numerous farms, lives Rev. T. J. Butler, the parish priest of this district. Reports having come to the ears of our reporter about a wonderful cure effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, he called on Mr. Butler to seek information on the subject. Mr. Butler spoke in very high terms of the Pink Pills, and said they had saved his life. The reverend gentlemen felt a little hesitancy at giving a public testimonial at first, but after our reporter remarked that if one was really grateful for a remarkable cure, he thought it was his duty to give it publicity for humanity's sake, he cheerfully consented. His story in his own words is as follows:—"I was led to take Pink Pills through reading the testimonials in the papers. I was troubled with an abscess in my side and had tried many different medicines without avail. I took medical advice on the subject, and was told I would have to undergo an operation to cure it which would cost me about $100. At last I determined to try Pink Pills, but without a great feeling of faith of their curing me. One box helped me and I resolved to take a three months course and give them a fair trial. I did so, and to day I am completely cured of the abscess in my side through using Pink Pills, and I always recommend friends of of mine to use Pink Pills for diseases of the blood. As Father Butler is well known throughout this country his statement is a clincher to the many wonderful testimonials that have appeared in the Gold Hunter from time to time. On enquiring at the stores of J. E. Cushing and N. F. Douglas, it was found that Pink Pills have a sale second to none. Mr. Cushing on being asked if he knew of any cures effected by them, replied that he had heard a great many personally say that Pink Pills had helped them wonderfully. If given a fair and thorough trial Pink Pills are a certain cure for all diseases of the blood and nerves, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' Dane, nervous headache, nervous prostration and the tired feeling therefrom, the after effects of la grippe, diseases depending on humours in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. Pink Pills give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions and are a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, and in the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of any nature. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

RACING AT TORONTO.

One Horse Killed Taking a Jump—Big Fields and Good Sport

Toronto, May 23,—The racing yesterday proved again to be of the high order, and furnished some excellent sport, notwithstanding that none of the finishes were very close. The fields were large. Four of the favorites were successful, but the talent went down on many good things, which made it a bookmakers' day. The track was much improved over the opening day, and the performances better than the times would indicate.

The accidents in the jumping races somewhat marred the afternoon's racing, especially the death of the favorite old jumper, McKenzie, who was well known to every racegoer. The rider, "Patsy" Gallagher, fortunately escaped with a shaking up.

In the hurdle race Mayblossom, on whom "Teddy" Wood had the mount, and Kings County, ridden by Gus Hamilton, came to grief, but neither horses nor riders were hurt. In the steeplechase they did not fare so well, McKenzie breaking his neck at the club house bank, while Harkley, who rode King John, who fell at the stone wall, was badly knocked out. Moxley on the Lepanto gelding and Phair on Garwood both escaped unhurt by their tumbles.

Martello, no doubt on the strength of Mr. Seagram's success of the previous day, was installed favorite for the opening event at six furlongs, but proved unequal to the task, finishing in the rush. Stratbclyde, who was well backed by the Woodstock contingent, who got as good as 8 to 1 for their money, got well away and was never afterwards headed, winning with plenty to spare, Longbrook securing the place. The Kapanga colt got off badly, but came very strong in the stretch and finished third.

The Breeders' Stake was a one-sided affair, Mr. Seagram winning first and second, with Bonnifield and Confectioner, respectively. The winner was at a prohibitive price and, in consequence, little betting was done on the race. Kiltie and Steppingstone were the only other starters, but could offer no opposition to the Waterloo pair.

Nine jumpers sported silk in the Royal Canadian Handicap hurdle race and succeeded in landing home safely with the exception of Mayblossom, who fell at the second jump and Kings County who came to grief at the fourth. Rover was the public's choice, while considerable money went into the ring on Red Cloud and as good as 5 to 1 could be had against Iron Duke, on whom Pines waited until the others had run themselves into the ground and then challenging the leaders, came away and won as he pleased, Rover defeating Sayonara for the place. There was considerable delay at the post and every jockey with the exception of Red Cloud's rider was fined $10 and will not be allowed to ride until the fine is paid.

The Scarboro Plate resulted in a gallop for Morpheus, held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 3. Lord Nelson was well backed by his stable to beat the favorite, but was unequal to the task.

The steeplechase resulted in a capital race, no less than 10 jumpers facing the starter. Pat Oakley was the public choice, and was backed from 2 to 1 down to 6 to 5, at which price he closed. Trillion made the running, closely attended by Dom Pedro and Burr Oak, with Pat Oakley next. Pines waited with the favorite until the last time over the stone wall, and, taking command, won in a gallop by three lengths from Dom Pedro, who beat Burr Oak for the place.

The last race of the day was won easily by the favorite, Copyright. Strathclyde, who captured the opening event, again sported silk, and was thought to be a "good thing" by his stable, but unfortunately he broke down. Notwithstanding this he finished third. Logan came with a great burst and secured the place.

Mr. Seagram's $1000 horse will be hung up as the prize in the mile international Class B race on the first day.

The 3-mile team race, also listed for this day, will be for a $275 trophy, donated by Messrs. Williams, Greene & Rome, of Waterloo. According to the conditions attached to the gift this race will be run off at each C.W.A meet and it must be won three times by one club before becoming its property.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent. Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

ROSEBERY FAVORS THE CABLE.

The Government Considering Means of Carrying Out Colonial Proposals

London, May 24.—A deputation representing the Chamber of Commerce of the United Kingdom waited upon Lord Rosebery at his official residence in Downing-street in reference to the approval on the part of the Chambers of Comerce of the resolution passed by the Intercolonial Conference at Ottawa, favoring the establishment of inter-Imperial postal and telegraph routes between the United Kingdom and the colonies. The deputation urged the Government to adopt the proposals of the conference. Lord Rosebery and Lord Ripon were present.

Sir Albert Rollit stated the Chambers of Commerce unanimously favored the inauguration of a subsidized mail service between England and Canada, which should be equal in every respect to the present subsidized service to the U.S. Such a line, he said, would reimburse the outlay in not only a saving of time between the United Kingdom and Canada, but also in communication with Chicago, St. Louis, and other trade centres in the interior of the United States. As regarded cable connections with the colonies, Sir Albert thought it would be necessary to construct duplicate lines, as in the event of war and the breaking down of the present cables many parts of the Empire could only be communicated with through the courtesy of foreign nations. Mr. Plimsock, a ship-owner, congratulated the Government upon the promotion of a packet service between Canada and Australia. When the United Kingdom considered the advantages gained they would assuredly recognize the claims of the colonies to substantial aid.

Lord Rosebery replied, saying he was not able at the time to express the decision of the Government upon the subjects presented. He greatly regretted the absence of Sir William Harcourt, to whom he alluded as "the guardian of the public purse." Since they had received the report of the Earl of Jersey, the Government had appointed a department committee to consider the questions involved. The committee was sitting. The Government was considering the question in the concrete form, and he hoped that the deputation would soon receive a satisfactory reply to their requests. He regretted that he could not go more fully into the questions, but he said that he and Lord Ripon heartily wished god-speed to the claims that had been addressed to them.

NOTES ON BRITISH POLITICS.

No Announcement Made as to the Program For the Rest of the Session.

London, May 23.—The House of Commons was crowded to-day with members and visitors expecting to hear Sir William Harcourt make a statement as to the manner in which the Cabinet had decided to deal with business for the remainder of the session. They were disappointed, however, as the Chancellor merely alluded to the Scotch Crofters' Bill, which, he said, the Government would do their best to pass in the course of the present session.

Speaker Peel's Successor a Tory.

London, May 23.—The election in the Parliamentary district of Warwick and Leamington, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Right Hon. Arthur Wellesley Peel, Speaker of the House of Commons, resulted in a victory for the Conservatives, their candidate, Alfred Lyttleton, receiving 2816 votes, against 2236 cast for his opponent, James Duckworth, Liberal. At the last election Mr. Peel, who is a Liberal-Unionist, was returned without opposition.

Croydon Remains Tory.

London, May 24.—Right Hon. T. Ritchie, Conservative, was returned unopposed yesterday for Croydon, made vacant by the succession of Hon. Sidney Herbert, Conservative, to the title of Earl of Pembroke.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT.

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is that some folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

HER MAJESTY'S SEVENTY-SIXTH.

digging of the canal would anticipate the digging of the potatoes.

Mr. John Burnham, M.P., referred to the prosperity this province, especially, had enjoyed under the reign of Her Majesty, and to the benefits of British connection.

But the speech of the day was the eloquent address of Hon. J. J. Curran, Solitor-General, which was a model of polished oratory. He was very warmly received. He was delighted to renew his associations with the people of Peterborough. After adverting to the evidence the large attendance at a church picnic afforded of the interest of the Canadians in religious progress, a fact further attested by the existence of 11,000 churches in the Dominion—one to every 400, reference was also made to the stability of the Empire under the Queen's reign, compared to the changes that had convulsed other countries. Mr. Curran also dealt with the material progress Canada had made—to the great development of railway building, and compared the commercial thrift of Canada to that of the United States to the advantage of the former. Reference was made to the strides in political progress that Canada had made since the Queen's accession, which found in the throes of rebellion a country which now enjoyed the most advanced and liberal political institutions in the world. The speaker eloquently referred to four great persons that had now passed away, Sir John Macdonald, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Sir John Abbott and Sir John Thompson, and paid an eloquent tribute to their personal and political virtues. In a peroration of fervid eloquence, full of hope for the future of Canada if we followed the motto "Stand fast by our Queen, our country, and our institutions, the speaker concluded amidst loud applause.

At the conclusion of Mr. Curran's address a cordial vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Curran, moved by Mr. R. C. Strickland, seconded by Dr. J. R. Fraser, and supported in graceful addresses by Mr. J. J. Crowe, Rev. Father Casey, Mr. J. H. Burnham, Rev. Father Scollard and Mr. T. Cahill.

During the day a fine programme of games and sports was very successfully run off by Mr. J. E. Hayes and Mr. M. H. Halpin.

The picnic altogether was a gratifying success, about $250 having been netted for the benefit of St. Paul's church.

At Jubilee.

The non-coms' excursion to Jubilee yesterday was a distinct success. The day passed off most pleasantly and there was no disorder of any kind witnessed during the entire trip.

The park is looking splendid this summer, and a game of baseball was indulged in during the afternoon between the Edisons and a team of non-coms. The non-coms won, of course, by a score of 10—6.

The committee in charge are to be congratulated on the manner in which they conducted the excursion.

Bridgenorth Pic-nic.

Dozens of citizens drove out to Chemong yesterday to the picnic under the auspices of the Bridgenorth Methodist church. A tea and concert were the chief attractions, and it is understood that under Rev. Mr. Clare's supervision the affair was a great success.

DISTRICT MEETING OF THE BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

It Closed its Session Wednesday Afternoon—Delegates Appointed.

The annual meeting of the local district of the Bay of Quinte Conference concluded its session in the Charlotte Street Church yesterday afternoon, at about five o'clock.

During the afternoon the reading of reports from the different circuits was continued, and proved a most gratifying statement as to the spiritual and financial condition of the district.

The case of the Bridgenorth circuit, in arrears of salary, was recommended to the sustentation fund committee.

Reports of the missions in the north showed a very great addition of prosperity during the year.

The election of representatives to the different Conference Committees resulted as follows:—

Stationing Committee—Rev. D. F. McCamus, Millbrook.

Sunday School Committee—Rev. W. Limbert and Mr. John Hull, Lakefield.

Epworth League Committee—Rev. J. J. Rae and J. L. Hughes.

The laymen then retired and appointed their representatives to the annual conference. Those from Peterborough will be: J. L. Hughes, Thomas Morrow, A. L. Davis, Benjamin Shortly and G. A. Elliott.

Mr. John Hull was appointed lay representative to the missionary committee.

At the conclusion of the session which was noted for its harmony, complimentary resolutions were tendered to the chairman, Rev. W. R. Young, for the efficient way in which he had conducted the meeting and also to the Charlotte street church for for the kindly hospitality entended to the delegates.

BASEBALL.

The match between the Edison club and the Battalion at Jubilee Point yesterday could, unfortunately, not be played out, the third ball being shattered to pieces in the fifth innings, with the Edisonians at the bat, necessarily putting a stop to further play. Some very good playing was done on both sides, the base running of Sergt. Tom Connal being particularly brilliant, and calling forth rounds of well-merited applause. The score stood at the close 10 to 6 in favour of the Battalion. The Edisonians hereby challenge the Battalion to another game on next Saturday, trusting that the Battalion team on that occasion will consist of purely Battalion men without any generous sprinkling of ringers.

The Edison baseball club has organized and elected officers as follows:

President—Mr C. S. Mallett.
Vice-President—Mr. Othwaite.
Manager—R. J. Hiller.
Secretary-Treasurer—L. Knowles.
Captain—R Young.
Mascot—A. Bogan.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse season opened in Millbrook yesterday when the home team defeated the Checkers of Beaverton, by a score of 2-0. The game was a little rough and shortly after it began Wescott of the visitors was badly laid out and had to be carried off the field. Beavertons were one man short and the game was played with eleven men a side. The teams lined up as follows:

Millbrook.		Beaverton.

How Protection Has Prevented Competition.

CUT WAGES AND CLOSED FACTORIES

Mr. Bain of Wentworth on the Effect of the Combines in Cotton and Agricultural Implements—Capital Lost and Workmen Driven From the Country

Ottawa, May 27.—The cotton industry illustrates as well as anything can the working of the protection system in this country. This feature of the tariff question was presented the other day in the House by Mr. Bain of Wentworth, in such a way as to make a very deep impression upon those who heard him, even though the ears of most of his auditors were lulled and wearied by the repetitions of the budget debate. "Hon. gentlemen opposite are never tired telling us about the effect of the National Policy in building up our cotton industries," Mr. Bain said. "Now, I do not propose to deal with the broad statements about what has been done. These gentlemen forget, when they make these statements, that there were active, energetic and successful manufacturing industries in Canada long before the National Policy was inaugurated. In my own town in 1873, just at the time the Mackenzie Government was called to take power, we had a cotton mill. It had been operated since 1859. At that time, the former proprietor died, and it was deemed necessary to enlarge the enterprise, and the public were appealed to to take stock in i The stock was extended then to $400,000; and this is the statement that was made as to the results of the operation of that cotton mill in previous years:

The mills with their present capacity are now earning upwards of 12 1-2 per cent., or more than 8 per cent upon the proposed capital of $400,000.

That was in 1873, under a 15 and a 17 1-2 per cent. tariff. Well, Sir, the National Policy came into operation, and what is the result to-day? That cotton mill has been closed for several years, the $400,000 capital has been dissipated. To-day, the men who, on the faith of the National Policy, and the development connected with it, invested their little savings in that town in building stores, have had to sell these at a sacrifice, and, in the majority of cases, have left the country to secure employment and earn a livelihood.

What was the position of the Ontario Cotton Mill at Hamilton? A friend of mine lost $20,000 in that venture out of a capital of $30,000, and he was only one. Another gentleman had a couple of thousand dollars in another mill, and he lost.

We have heard a good deal about what these mills are doing for the employment of operatives. If you go back to the census of 1891, you will find there is a cotton mill in a town about 20 or 30 miles west of where I live, which is returned as employing 180 hands, and as paying out $42,000 a year in wages. When you divide that up amongst the hands, it comes to the magnificent figure of $4.25 each per week. Last year, under the National Policy, even that pittance was twice reduced by the administration of this cotton ring that now controls that mill. Is that the way the National Policy was to give employment and develop the country? Let me give you another example. In the same town there is a wincey mill that figures in the census of 1891 as employing 100 hands and paying in wages $20,000. It has been standing idle, and is closed. The $20,00 is no longer paid, and the operatives are scattered. But this mill figures regularly in the returns of the industries that the National Policy has brought into existence.

Now, let me draw your attention to another result of the National Policy, as applied to the cotton industry. Our cotton mills went under the control of the Dominion Cotton Company, and their annual report of two years ago shows that the company controlled ten mills in this Dominion. What is the effect of that centralisation of the cotton industries on the operatives in these various mills? One mill, after running four days in the week for two or three years, finally ceased to run altogether, the operatives had to seek employment elsewhere, and they went to another mill of this company. They left their families in my town. They tried it for a month or two, and then they said the wages are so miserably low that by the time we have paid for board, we have nothing left with which to maintain our families away from us. What became of them? They had either to accept the pittance offered, or leave this country to earn the bread that the National Policy denied them. The Dominion Cotton Company simply closed down the mills and regulated the output according to the consumption. But they exercised mighty good care to have the benefit of the full protection that the National Policy gave them. What is the amount of their last dividend? Here is a quotation from one of the Montreal papers of only last month:

In spite of the bad year, the Dominion Cotton Company has earned $320,000, or 10 3-4 per cent. yearly, on their full capital of $3,000,000. When it is remembered that at least half of this capital is watered, the actual earnings are very large.

And that amount is wrung out of the operatives because they simply have to take the alternative of accepting the wages this combination chooses to give them or leave the country. That is one of the blessings of the National Policy as applied to the cotton industry of this country, and that is one of the things for which we are asked to bow down and be thankful.

What is the history of the National Policy as applied to the agricultural implement industry? You can scarcely go into a town or village of any importance throughout Western Ontario but you will find an establishment lying idle, the whole capital invested lost and the proprietors doing—what? Either going into other lines or acting as agents for the great central combination which controls that industry. Has that been a blessing to the people of Ontario? Has it been a blessing that the various establishments scattered over the country should be closed and the business centralized at two or three points?

You cannot go into a town or village of any importance in the West but you will find one of these dormant industries.

I venture to say that more capital is locked up in dormant industries in Ontario than was ever locked up in any other enterprise, except one enterprise promoted at an early date by this Government in connection with the Northwest, and that was when they started that great boom that was going to make everybody rich—the Colonisation Companies.

There never was a time in the history of Canada when the banks were so crowded with money, not seeking employment, but gathered in from active industry, until the bankers are driven almost to despair to know what to do with it, and yet parallel with this fact is the fact that there never was a time in the history of Canada similar to last winter, when more men honestly seeking for labor on the street were denied such labor and thereby their daily bread. This is another proof of the effect of the National Policy as applied to-day.

WHAT GREENWAY WANTS

Is the Withdrawal of the Remedial Order by the Ottawa Government

Montreal, Que., May 26.—Hon. Thos. Greenway, who arrived here to-day, will not talk about Manitoba school matters to newspaper men, but it is different with the Premier when he meets personal friends.

As far as your correspondent can learn the Liberal leader intimates that the negotiations with Lord Aberdeen have resulted about as follows: The Canadian Government is to be asked to withdraw their Remedial Order, and then the Catholic minority in Manitoba will be put on the same footing regarding school matters as their co-religionists in Ontario.

NEWFOUNDLAND BANK DIRECTORS

Committed For Trial on Two Charges Preferred Against Them

St. John's, Nfld., May 26.— Two charges were preferred against the directors of the Commercial Bank who were committed for trial on Saturday. The first was that they had suppressed the fact that certain debenture bonds belonging to the bank had been assigned to the London and Westminster Bank to cover a current account, and the second was that they had in their annual statement, presented July 30, reported the bank to be in a normally prosperous condition, whereas, it is alleged, the bank was practically insolvent.

Respecting the first charge, it is only alleged that the defendants acted with intent to deceive, not defraud, and the defendants insist that this charge does not amount to a crime. On the second charge the defendants proved that the bank was not insolvent when the statement was presented, but became insolvent months afterwards through the insolvency of some of its debtors. Judge Conroy, the examining magistrate, stated, in the course of hearing, that there was no charge against the accused of personal dishonesty, or bad management of the bank's affairs. The charges were purely technical ones of publishing false statements, and in the absence of expert testimony on banking matters he felt it necessary to commit the defendants for trial, so as to provide for a further investigation of the charges.

ARSON FOLLOWS DEFALCATION.

The Postmaster at Hillsdale Arrested on a Double Charge—Remanded to Jail For Trial.

Toronto, Ont., May 27.—Government Detective Greer has just returned from Hillsdale, County of Simcoe, where he has just arrested the Postmaster, R. P. Davis, on the double charge of embezzlement from the Government, and setting fire to the Postoffice to conceal the defalcation. Davis, it is alleged, was behind in his accounts, and deliberately fired the money drawer in the office in order to conceal the shortage. He was removed to Barrie jail for examination.

Chief Byrnes May Step Down.

New York, May 26.—The police force of this city is said to be in a crippled condition. The retirement of Inspector Williams leaves only one working inspector. The rumor that Chief Byrnes will retire appears to gain currency.

$10,000 FIRE IN AYLMER.

An Organ Factory and Planing Mill in Ashes.

Aylmer, Ont., May 27.—Saturday the organ factory owned by John Rowe, the planing mills owned by Charles Price and the residence of Alex. Summers were totally destroyed by fire. Rev. Dr. Thompson's house was slightly damaged by smoke. The fire was caused by two boys playing with a paper balloon. They set fire to the candle attached, and it fell among the shavings outside the mill. Chas. Price has no insurance. His loss is $2000. John Rowe had $900 insurance. His loss will be $5000. Alex. Summers has insurance of $1800. His loss is about $3000.

Three Blazes at Brighton.

Brighton, Ont., May 26.—Saturday a barn owned by Dr. Clemenson of Warkworth was destroyed by fire.

Hugh Strong's cheese factory was destroyed by fire with contents, except 90 cheeses. Insured for $800. Cause, spark from chimney.

Owen Davis also lost his drive barn, buggy, harness and cutter. No insurance. Origin of fire, his little grandson playing with matches.

Firebugs in Brantford

Brantford, May 26.—Last night a determined effort was made to burn the Exchange Hotel stables. Twice the firemen were called out to this one building.

THE CANNON EXPLODED.

Queen's Birthday Fatality at Kemptville Celebration.

Ottawa, May 27. — Thomas Watt, 19 years old, was killed on Friday at Kemptville by the bursting of a homemade cannon with which he was celebrating the holiday. The cannon was made out of a piece of gas pipe and a piece of penetrated his brain.

KILLED IN SIGHT OF HER MOTHER.

A Four-Year-Old Hamilton Girl Mangled by a Trolley.

Hamilton, Ont., May 27.—A fatal trolley accident happened Saturday. Four-year-old Nora Crawford and her mother were crossing Barton-street, when the child ran in front of a car, was struck, and knocked down. Her scalp was torn off, and her injuries quickly resulted in death.

Collision at Harrisburg

Harrisburg, May 27.—Two demolished engines, a half a dozen cars derailed, and as many passengers shaken up, was the result of a collision here Saturday morning between the Galt and Hamilton trains. Wrecked rolling stock was the only damage.

Father and Son Drowned Together.

Hamilton, Ont., May 27.—Robert Walker, an Onondaga farmer, and his son were drowned in the Grand River Friday by their boat capsizing. The capsize occurred only about 40 feet from shore, but the son was unable to swim, and Mr. Walker in trying to save his son went down with him.

The Flying Machine Coming.

Washington, May 26.—The Langley flying machine, it is reported, flew a distance of 1000 feet down the Potomac a few days ago. The machine is now propelled by storage batteries placed under the wings, and moves independently of any control from the float from which the flights are made. It is now believed that the machine will fly a great distance.

Prof. Langley has already spent more than $50,000 in the experimental work, and he believes that before long he will be able to build a practical machine. All of the recent tests have been for the purpose of developing certain facts in relation to propellers of different sizes and shapes. It is understood that Alexander Melville Bell and Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, have placed at Prof. Langley's disposal a sufficient sum of money to enable him to work freely, without fear of financial embarrassment.

Fighting in French Guiana.

Paris, May 28.—M. Chautemps, Minister of the Colonies, has received a cable despatch from the Governor of French Guiana reporting severe fighting. The despatch narrates that some Brazilian adventurers captured and robbed a Frenchman named Trajans, a settler on the boundary. Other Frenchmen had been similarly treated and consequently the Governor sent the despatch vessel Bengali and a number of marines to restore order. When the vessel reached Mapa 15 boatloads of marines went up the river 15 miles. Captain Lunier and some of the marines landed, and the captain, carrying a flag of truce, proceeded with a bugler and sergeant towards the village where Trajans was held, intending to demand his release. When they came into the presence of the chief Cabral the latter treacherously fired at Captain Lunier and ordered his followers to shoot the Frenchmen. A general fusilade was opened on them from all the houses in the village. Lieut. Destoux, hearing the firing, hurried to the village from the river with a company of marines, and a conflict followed that lasted two hours. Chief Cabrel and 60 of his followers were killed. The French lost five killed, including Captain Lunier and 20 wounded. M. Chautemps is now conferring by cable with the Governor regarding the measures to be taken in the matter.

MR. COCKBURN'S BILL.

Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, M.P., was Canadian Commissioner at the Chicago World's Fair. He discharged his duties satisfactorily, but the exertion did not seem to affect his appetite. It seems we had to have him, but he certainly came high. In addition to his salary he had a fancy hotel bill. The items of his hotel brought before the Public Accounts Committee are interesting. Here is a sample of a bill for one week :

August 19, 1893.

The Virginia Hotel, Chicago :
Mr G R R Cockburn, Dr.

To Board from 8-5 to 8 11, six days at $20	$120 00
To board from 8-11 to 8-19, eight days at $16	128 00
To wines and liquors	39 20
To laundry	2 60
To livery	12 50
To telegram and postage	64
	$292 94

There was no monotony about these weekly bills, either, except in the largeness of the amounts. In one we have a charge of $9.75 for theatre tickets, in another we have extra meals charged (days when the commissioner, poor man, doubtless overworked himself, but these extra meals are always lumped with the liquors ; in an other $1.85 for milk crackers is inexplicable. In others we have big charges for flowers. But a constantly recurring charge is that for extra meals and wines and liquors. There does not seem to have been any falling off in the demand—or supply either—of these staple necessities. Another constant quantity in the weekly bill is the laundry charge, which is always pretty stiff, indicating the native abundance of starch in the dignified commissioner and an evident disinclination on his part to be classed with the great unwashed. Another ever-present charge in the weekly bills is the charge for blacking shoes, though sometimes they are "cleaned." The size of the bills would seem to be a reflection on the size of the commissioners' feet. It would have paid the government and would have been much cheaper for the tax payers to have bought the poor men a pair of patent leather boots. All this accounts for a debt of 250 million dollars, and deficits of $1,200,000 and $4,500,000.

ONE would conclude, from the size of his boot blacking bill, at Chicago, that Commissioner Cockburn was a centipede.

THE proposal of some Conservative politicians of the baser sort to bribe Manitoba from its position, by a grant of $2,500,000 to the wild-cat Hudson Bay Railway is simply iniquitous, and the most gigantic piece of bribery ever proposed. If the proposed road is deserving of the grant — if the grant can be defended upon the ground of the public interest—let it be made, if not, then it would be a waste of public funds entirely indefensible. If Manitoba is right on the Manitoba school question, then let her stick to her colours. Acceptance of a bribe, even of the magnitude of two and a half millions, would be the essence of baseness. But the Government has got to be so dependent upon bribery to retain power, that the transition from bribing a town with public buildings, or a county with bridges, or a district with canals, to bribing a province with two and a half millions, is natural and easy.

THE WOOL SITUATION.

Now that another crop of wool is coming on the market interest in the general situation is increasing. Toronto market dealers are paying the farmers prices for wool which would leave them no profit if the wool were sold at present prices in the United States markets. One of the oldest firms in Philadelphia, writing to a local house on May 20, says :—" You say you can sell us Canadian wool at 22c. delivered in Philadelphia. Of course you know this is the price the manufacturer pays us and we will charge you 1½c. per pound commission, so that 23c. wool would net you 20c. The fashion for goods with a lustre will probably draw American buyers into Canada this year, and prices are likely to be high at the start. At this time last year there was 100,000,000 pounds shortage in both foreign and American wools, and that made it possible to absorb two crops of Canada wool which were on hand at the first of September. Now we have 100,000,000 pounds more of foreign wool in the country than we had at this time last year, so that we can hardly expect to see the scramble for Canada wool which we saw last year. However, the fashion for lustre goods has come to stay, and this is likely to make a good market for coarse long lustre fleeces."

EVERYTHING BUT WOOL.

Another Philadelphia commission house says in a circular :—"The situation is disappointing. A general advance in all commodities except wool has taken place during the past 60 days. This has led a great many people to believe that wool must follow, and they have accordingly started in to buy the clip at prices that cannot possibly show any margin to-day. While an advance at this time would be a great help to the grower, we can see nothing to warrant that hope. Strikes in Rhode Island are diminishing the consumption of wool in this country 800,000 pounds a week, while at the same time our markets are being flooded with foreign woolens and woollens. At the rate woollen and worsted goods are coming into this country, it is estimated that 365,000,000 worth will be imported during the year 1895 So many things are operating against an advance in wool that we cannot advise any one to operate, except on present basis of values. Coarse wols, however, are relatively high. Advices from Canada indicate anxiety to purchase regardless of cost. Unless prices advance the world over, we expect to see some of our northern friends meet with heavy losses during the coming year. It is not our intention to unnecessarily bear the situation, but inasmuch as we are asking people to ship us their wool we deem it our duty to place the conditions before them as they exist. There is a more confident feeling in business circles, and there is not a doubt the American clip will all be wanted during the coming year."

THE ADVANCE IN WHEAT.

The wheat markets, both in Canada and the United States, have been excited and higher the past week. A great many who were skeptical as to the legitimacy of the present advance are now sorry that they did not get in when the price was low. Longs who could now realize handsome profits, are still holding for a further advance, and some are waiting for a reaction which they regard as inevitable. The price of wheat is now about 30 cents above the quotations of three months ago. The visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada is worth $12,000,000 more than it was some three months ago. The early cold wave has been a very strong factor in the present advance, but it may be that too much importance is being attached to its effect on the growing crops. The great harvest of 1879 was preceded by an equally severe cold spell in May. The price of wheat that year advanced 15 cents almost wholly on the "crop damage" reports. Yet in the end the wheat yield increased 89,000,000 bushels over the fair average of the year preceding, and corn 306,000,000. This comparison, of course, proves nothing but the uncertainties of crop conjectures thus early in the season. Chances are doubtful still and will be until the crop is harvested. A repetition of 1879's later advance of 50 per cent. in wheat, when Europe's own harvest failed, with neither India nor Argentina to make good the deficit, is wholly improbable. Therefore, it would be well to discount to some extent the more bullish reports given out by Chicago grain speculators.—Globe.

DESERTED IN HER HONEYMOON.

James Lovelace Eloped While His Bride Visited Toronto Friends.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 27.—After about 30 days of wedded life, Anna F. Lovelace has begun suit for absolute divorce from her husband, Alfred James Lovelace. It is a queer story that the little woman has to tell, for she not only makes charges of infidelity, but further says that he has disappeared, and that she has been unable to locate him. She states that she was married during April, 1886, in New York, and that they lived together as man and wife until the month of May, 1886. Then the husband moved to Yonkers, and Mrs. Lovelace went to Toronto on a visit, and from that time all communication between them ceased. After inquiry the wife has learned that in November, 1886, her husband left Yonkers and went to Canada, where he became a member of the Northwest Mounted Police. Mrs. Lovelace declares in her complaint that while her husband was on a vacation he eloped with a girl named Lamia Lynn, and she has reason to believe that the two are now living together.

DOUBLE LYNCHING IN ILLINOIS.

A Mob Afraid Altgeld Would Pardon Two Brutes.

Danville, Ill., May 25.—Early this morning, a mob, which had been in possession of Vermillion county's jail for several hours, succeeded in locating John Hall, jr., and William Boyce, in their cells, took them outside and hanged them for assaulting Miss Laura Barnett.

Judge Bookwalter made an earnest plea to the mob to let the law take its course. He assured the men that Hall and Royce would receive severe punishment if found guilty, that the trial jury would do its duty, but the leaders, who were among the most prominent men in the county, replied:

"Yes, we know the jury will convict them and give them a severe sentence, but Governor Altgeld will pardon them out. He recently pardoned three brutes you sent up from Champaign county for 20 years, and he will pardon these men. If any other man than Altgeld was governor we would not lynch these men. But we are determined he will never have a chance to turn them loose."

Drank an Ounce of Carbolic Acid.

St. Thomas, May 27.—A little son of Mr. George Rolling, Hiawatha-street, lies in a very precautious condition. The family were moving, and the boy, who is about four years of age, got hold of a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid, and drank about half. Drs. Duncombe, assisted by Dr. Lawrence, administered emetics, pumped out the poison, and washed out the stomach. The boy seems to be especially unfortunate, having been accidentally shot in the side some weeks ago.

A Woman Takes Paris Green.

St. Thomas, May 27.—Mrs. Arnold, wife of Mr. Thomas Arnold, corporation foreman, 117 Elgin-street, committed suicide by taking Paris green. The poison was taken while the unfortunate woman was despondent from the effects of her potations.

Shot Himself Through the Head.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 26.—About 7 o'clock Sunday morning D. A. Shivlock of Niagara Falls, superintendent of the dining cars on the Grand Trunk Railway, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

THE SPOILS SYSTEM.

The "Railway Times" Roundly Rates the New "Committee."

The new era in the history of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada has been fittingly inaugurated. The committee which has succeeded in gaining the control of the affairs of the Company, has already given proof of its intention to run the undertaking henceforth on strictly American lines, and it has not hesitated to give effect to the great principle which animates alike the political and financial life of the United States—" the spoils to the victors." After voting itself a trifle of £1,700 for out-of-pocket expenses incurred during the recent agitation, it has proceeded to vote an increase of £1,400 per annum in the remuneration of the board. And, startling as is the proposed increase, it actually falls far short of the reality, for although the late board was entitled to draw £6,000 a year it contented itself during the bad times with less than £4,000, whereas the new board is at once to have no less than £7,500. Sir Henry Tyler was content during the disastrous period through which the company has been passing to devote almost his whole time to its affairs in return for a salary of £1,800 a year, but then Sir Henry, although a practical railway man, was not a "financial genius,"and the particular "financial genius" whose services are deemed essential for the salvation of the Grand Trunk Railway, could not, it seems, be expected to entertain any offer short of £4,000. Sir Henry Tyler had nine colleagues to assist him in the administration of the company, and at first sight the number might appear sufficiently large. But under the Rivers-Wilson regime a board of eleven directors is considered requisite and necessary. So much for the committee's first experiments in retrenchment.

That tired feeling, loss of appetite and nervous prostration are driven away by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes pure blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is without an equal as a blood-purifier and Spring medicine, and cannot have praise enough. I have watched its effects in chronic cases, where other treatment was of no avail, and have been astonished at the results. OSCAR WILDE GUILTY

Sentenced to Two Years at Hard Labor.

STUNNED WHEN THE BLOW FELL.

The Judge Regretted He Could Not Inflict Heavier Punishment—The Public Had Believed Him Guilty and the Verdict is Looked Upon as Just.

London, May 25.—The trial of Oscar Wilde was resumed in the Old Bailey Court Saturday morning, Sir Frank Lockwood continuing his address to the jury for the prosecution. He dilated upon the intimacy of Wilde with Taylor, and said that leniency ought not to be shown to one and not to the other because of the position and intellect of one.

The judge, in summing up, said Wilde had confessed that his conduct in regard to Lord Alfred Douglas had been such that as (the judge) could not ask the jury, as in the previous trial, to say that there was no ground for charging him with having posed as a criminal.

The judge, in the course of his charge to the jury, dealt with each of the charges contained in the indictment, his opinion being plainly and strongly against the prisoner. In regard to Wilde's letters to Lord Alfred Douglas, he said they might be "prose poems," but they were none the less poison to a young man's mind, and the writer was clearly not a desirable companion for the young.

Before the jury retired the foreman asked the court if a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Lord Alfred Douglas.

The judge said no warrant had been issued, whereupon the foreman said:

"But if we must consider these letters as evidence of guilt they surely show that Lord Alfred's guilt is equal to that of Wilde's."

The jury occupied two hours in the consideration of the case. After their verdict had been rendered, Sir Edward Clarke, on behalf of Wilde and counsel for Alfred Taylor, made application for a postponement of sentence. The judge peremptorily refused to grant the application and, in his remarks, described the offences of which the prisoners were guilty as the most heinous that had ever come to his notice. This view was apparently shared by the spectators, as, when the judge sentenced Wilde and Taylor to two years' imprisonment at hard labor, many persons present cried, "Shame."

When the sentence was pronounced Wilde appeared to be stunned. As the last words of the sentence were uttered the apostle of aestheticism was hurried to his cell as a felon.

Public Prejudged Him Guilty

New York, May 26.—The Sun's London cable says: An Old Bailey jury, cautiously empanelled, and, as it seemed carefully coached by the Judge of the High Court, has declared Oscar Wilde guilty of the abominable offences charged against him. Public opinion, which is often on the side of the accused, and almost invariably sympathetic in regard to any prisoner standing a second trial for the same offence, had from the first pronounced, with nearly absolute unanimity, that he was guilty of everything set forth in the indictment, and of much more. The country judged him out of his own mouth, and so did the jury to a large extent.

Any other result would have been a disgrace to the intelligence of English jurymen, and a crying shame upon British justice. It is impossible, however, to conceal the fact that from the first the common people believed that Wilde would never be convicted. Instinctively, they felt that the influence behind this shameless friend of princes and nobles would prove too powerful for ordinary judicial procedure. The police had placed the Government in the possession of the names of men of rank, wealth and fashion who undeniably shared in some of Wilde's ... ies, and had collected evidence amply sufficient to place them in the criminal dock with the hearty approval of all decent men. But the Secretary of State took no step against them to vindicate outraged morals or avenge flouted justice.

The passionate shout which went up from the nation when Wilde's impudent action, designed to stop the mouths of his accusers, ignobly collapsed, compelled the Government to take action against him and his foul accomplice, Taylor. But Lord Alfred Douglas and other men whose evidence would have made the case against Wilde and others even more complete and irrefutable were allowed to leave the country. They are still abroad, but doubtless they will return to this country in a short time, secure against punishment. Possibly it is as well, for Wilde's conviction can scarcely fail to prove an effectual deterrent for years to come, and it will be to the public interest to let this awful scandal become forgotten.

Honest men have from the first displayed unusual, perhaps unchristian, eagerness for conviction in this case. The last two or three days fierce and universal resentment has been spoken and shown at what appeared to superficial observers almost collusion on the part of the judge and the lawyers in order to save Wilde. But Justice Willis' summing up, which unexpectedly proved to be a strictly judicial piece of work, together with the Solicitor-General's masterly speech and the common sense of a jury of plain citizens, finally prevailed.

Wilde was full of confidence to the last, so that the result was a staggering blow to him. He strove to utter something, but his tongue clove to the roof of his mouth, and he sank back in his chair, a mental and physical wreck. The final scene was truly, perhaps, fittingly, dramatic.

In a Watery Grave.

The body of little Herbie Sanderson, the particulars of whose sad drowning was recorded in Saturday's EXAMINER, has not yet been recovered although the river has been assiduously dragged with grappling irons. The search has not yet been given up as yet, but all hope of recovering the body before decomposition sets in have been abandoned.

A Nervy Hawk.

Yesterday afternoon while Mr. and Mrs. John Boates, who reside near the western end of Mud Lake, were sitting out in their yard with some friends, a small sparrow hawk darted down and seizing a chicken within ten or twelve feet of where the party sat, carried it off. This nervy little hawk will doubtless depopulate Mrs. Boates' chicken yard, before the end of the summer, unless it is summarily dealt with through a medium of a shot gun.

Excursion to Orillia.

By present indications, if the day is fine, hundreds of citizens will take advantage of the big E. B. A. excursion to Orillia on the 6th of June and enjoy a day on Lake Couchiching. The Peterborough lacrosse team will accompany the Emeralds and play a game with the Orillias, which is sure to be interesting. It will be one of the cheapest and most enjoyable of the season and should be well patronized by the citizens. d2t

J. P.'s DAVIDSON AND HALL ON THE BENCH.

A Tramp Sent up to the Central for Six Months.

In the absence of Police Magistrate Dumble, Saturday, Justices of the Peace R. S. Davidson and Adam Hall jointly occupied the magisterial bench. Three tramps were up for judgment.

The first was shown to have been begging and soliciting aid on the streets and was also suspected of being the tramp of whom the conductor of the Lakefield train complained that he had put off the train three times on the way in from the village, and each time the tramp had clambered on again as the train was pulling out of the different stations. This tie counter was given six months in the Central Prison.

The other two were considerably frightened by the turn affairs were taking, for although the average tramp does not mind putting in the winter in a warm, comfortable county gaol, it is a far different matter to be sentenced to six months hard labour in the Central Prison during the blissful summer season.

One of the remaining tramps begged hard to be allowed to go. He said he had merely taken a run out of Toronto for a day or two, and he knew his mother would be very anxious as to his whereabouts.

He was allowed to go home to his mamma, and the last of the trio was also discharged.

A WHARF NEEDED AT COLE'S ISLAND.

Stony Lake Islanders Will Petition Dummer Council for a Grant.

Through Mr. Geo. Cochrane, the owners of islands in Stony Lake, who pay taxes into the township of Dummer, will petition the council of that municipality for a grant for the purpose of building a wharf at Cole's Island, where services are held on Sunday during the camping season.

The campers rightly hold that they receive no return from the township for their taxes, as there are no roads or other municipal works on the islands. About forty of the campers are ratepayers, and good ratepayers, too, as the man who purchases an island for the purpose of erecting thereon a summer cottage is generally the kind of a man who has the money wherewith to pay his taxes promptly.

During the summer season there are always eighty or ninety canoes drawn up at Cole's Island at the hour of Divine service, and two and sometimes three hundred people listen to the service.

At present disembarkation from the canoes is attended with great inconvenience, as the landing is totally inadequate to accomodate more than one canoe at a time, and consequently great delays are experienced in arriving at and leaving the island.

The members of the council, it is trusted, will see the matter in its true light, make the grant without any unnecessary delay, as the camping season is now about upon us.

A BOUNCING BABY GIRL.

It is Only a Year Old but Already Weighs 52 Pounds.

Mr. Benjamin Chambers, of Bridgenorth is the father of a baby whose abnormal growth is a matter of comment throughout the whole country side, and visitors come in from far and near to see it.

The little girl is only a year old, but already weighs 52 pounds. Her waist is 32 inches in girth and her wrist seven.

When born the child was no larger than other children, but when six months old it weighed forty pounds, and it is still getting heavier. The baby is now so fat that great care has to be taken of it that it does not smother itself. Its flesh is not at all flabby but beautifully firm. The parents are very proud indeed of their progeny.

Mrs. Chambers was formerly Miss Lizzie Nicols, of Lakefield, and the big stone family residence about a mile east of Bridgenorth, is well known to all the residents in the locality.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Bert Dolan has returned after spending the 24th in Toronto.

Mr. H. R. A. Kenner returned Saturday evening from Toronto.

Rev. J. C. Speer, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle, Toronto, who is a brother of Mrs. R. H. Hamilton, town, spent Sunday in Peterborough. He dalivered a sermon, which was greatly appreciated, at the evening service in George Street Methodist Church.

NEWS NUGGETS

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The C.M.B.A. meet in regular session to-morrow evening. A full attendance of members is urged. 1d —The George street Methodist Sunday school has decided to hold its annual picnic to Jubilee Point early in July.

—Remember the sale of Rev. C. W. Hedley's household furniture to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, at his residence, Douro street, Ashburnham.

—A broken wire at the corner of George and Hunter streets was the cause of the incandescent lights being out for a short time Saturday evening.

—Mr. Geo. Lipsett, of the Maple Leaf Hotel, Ashburnham, would like the nimbled fingered gentleman who "lifted" his spectacles from the reading room of his hotel, last week, to kindly return the same.

—The Chief of Police is down in Hastings to-day for the purpose of bringing Mr. Robert Scriver to town on a warrant issued for his arrest on a charge of the larceny of a boat from Mr. Geo. Moncrief on the 11th.

—Three of Peterborough's enterprising youths have just returned from Montreal. The trip was a cheap one evidently, as though several days were spent in the city the trio had only six cents between them when leaving town.

—A break in the planking of the Hunter street bridge was responsible yesterday for the wrecking of a buggy and the throwing of its occupant out. Mr. H. Calcutt had a narrow escape from an accident in the same place this morning.

—Mr. R. Dolan, of town, when at Lakefield on the Queen's Birthday, in an exhibition, beat the distance in the running hop, step and jump, which won the first prize in the games. Mr. Dolan is open for challenges for this special athletic sport.

—Mr. H. Calcutt has ordered one thousand dozen ale bottles from London, Eng. He finds that his cased goods are becoming so popular in the Canadian market that he is compelled to meet the wants of wholesale as well as retail dealers. In order to supply the demand he has also ordered two hundred cases from the Toronto Box Works.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen Aquatic and Field Sports.

The season has arrived in which every one from the bald-headed bachelor to the pretty girl in bloomers, feels that he or she must humor that spirit of let-me-out-and-tear-something-loosedness, which has lately taken possession of them—the season of heat, dust and sweat, bicycles, cricket, lacrosse, etc. In fact summer is almost upon us, and sportsmen, along with other citizens, seek solace upon green fields under blue skies.

Judging by what is seen and heard every town and city has its pet pastime. In Toronto this summer's field sports will consist of cricket and Rugby chiefly. Hamilton is much the same with the addition of baseball and tennis. Port Hope as well as Cobourg will put lacrosse teams into the field, and Lindsay is booming football, cricket and baseball. Peterborough has the lacrosse fever as bad as ever, and will play cricket, football and baseball, as well as do considerable in the wheeling line.

BASEBALL.

An interesting and hotly contested baseball match was played on Saturday between the Edisons and the Newspaper A. A. A. team. As the printers have not a pitcher in their ranks the services of Bert Dolan of the Vaticans were secured for the occasion, and he did remarkably well, holding down the Edison hard hitters in a most creditable manner. Paxman was behind the bat and though unused to battery work held Dolan well. Melrose on first base collered everything which came within reach, as did Cassidy on second. Nott's heavy batting helped the newspaper men not a little.

Gordon was in the box for the Edisons, but was out of condition on account of the hard game of the day before, and consequently was batted hard after the first innings in which he shut out the printers by not letting them make a run. After the first innings though, he was batted out of the box and Young was put in. The Edisons have a catcher of whom they may well be proud. Bob Thorne, too, on first is a good man and in the others there are good qualities for development.

Seven innings were played and the game resulted in a victory for the printers by a score of 7—5. A return match will be played a week from Saturday.

The Auburns are anxious for a game with the Edisons.

LACROSSE.

The members of the N.A.A.A. intending to play lacrosse this season should be on hand at every practice as the game with the grocers and clothiers is almost at hand and no time should be lost in getting into shape.

The Peterboroughs should take advantage of every opportunity for practice between now and the 6th of June, as on that date they go to Orillia. As almost half the team cannot play on account of injuries received during the match on the 24th, it has been proposed that their places be filled by a few men from the Athletics. The idea is a good one and if followed out would do much to lessen the breach existing between the two teams.

CRICKET.

The Peterborough cricket team goes to Port Hope to play the first eleven of the Trinity College School, on Wednesday, by the 11.45 a.m. train. The team will be one of the strongest which has ever gone out of Peterborough and should have no trouble in winning the match, although this year the School has a bowler with whom no liberties can be taken. It is simply a question of waiting until he is off the wicket, as his bowling is all very close up and dangerous in the extreme to attempt to score off unless, as stated before, the ball is off the wicket. The Peterborough team will be composed as follows:—S. Ray, H. Burnham, R. B. Rogers, Chappel, Walter Stocker, M. J. Montgomery, Lefevre, Court Poussette, N. St. C. Gurd, Thos. Allison, V. McGill and Geo. Horkins.

Playing for Millbrook against the T. C. S. the other day, Walter Stocker made a score of 17.

In the match on Saturday between Trinity University and Trinity College School, Port Hope, on Saturday, Dave Rogers took 6 wickets for 25 runs and Perry Goldsmith 4 for 10 runs.

Hood's Cured After Others Failed

Scrofula in the Neck—Bunches All Gone Now.

Sangerville, Maine.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The trustees of the George street church will meet after the Wednesday evening service.

The reception to the confirmation class at the residence of Rev. J. C. Davidson, has been postponed until a week from to-morrow evening.

Miss Florence Hall took the obligato solo in the anthem "The Lord is my Shepherd," yesterday morning in the Charlotte street church in excellent voice.

Voting for four additional elders will take place next Sabbath in St. Andrew's. Owing to the growth of the congregation, additional elders have become necessary.

Yesterday very large congregations were present in St. Andrew's, the morning being especially large. Eloquent and interesting sermons were preached by the Rev. Mr. MacWilliams from Gal. 2—20, "I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live, &c.," also from Gen. 19—26, "But his wife looked back from behind him and she became a pillar of salt." A union song service will be held in St. Andrew's next Sabbath, June 2nd. This will be the fourth mile stone in Mr. MacWilliams pastorate, having completed his 4th year. The Rev. Dr. Smith, of Queen's College, will conduct these services. A treat may be expected from the eloquent doctor. On the Monday evening following he will deliver his famous lecture on "The boys I have known," a lecture which none should miss. Special music is being prepared by the choir and an evening of real pleasure and profit may be expected.

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. SONS OF ENGLAND ATTEND SERVICE.

REV. MR. SYMONDS DELVERS THE ANNUAL SERMON.

The Turnout of Members one of the Largest in the History of Lansdowne Lodge—An Eloquent Address.

Lodge Landsdowne, L.O.E. B. S., reinforced by a party of brethren from Exeter Lodge, Lakefield, attended divine service at St. Luke's church, yesterday afternoon. Bro. R. Tivey acted as marshall with his usual ability. On arrival at the church the organist, Mr. Davies, played "God Save the Queen," whilst the members of the order took their places in the centre aisle of the church, which they comfortably filled. The side aisles were occupied by friends, amongst whom were some of the Daughters of England and members of the congregation. The opening hymn,

"All people that on earth do dwell, Sing to the Lord with cheerful voice."

was sung with great spirit and unanimity and the whole service was entered into with the utmost heartiness by the whole congregation.

The choir, aided by several members of the order, sung Plummer's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, and the anthem "Behold how good and joyful thing it is, brethren, to dwell together in unity." The altar was tastefully adorned with flowers, including two magnificent bouquets of red and white roses from the greenhouses of Bro. Arthur Blade. The pulpit was draped in the S.O.E. flag, whilst the Union Jack waved merrily from the church tower. The offertory was devoted to the Peterborough Protestant Home.

The service was conducted by the chaplain, Bro. Rev. H. Symonds, assisted by Bro. Rev. J. C. Davidson. The following is an abstract of the sermon delivered by the chaplain:

Jer. 30—22.—And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

Rev. 21—26.—And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations unto it.

The rector said that we are accustomed to think of our individual religious life as a calling, but we were apt to forget that there is such a thing as that is, that nations or aggregations of individuals bound together by ties of a common race and common laws, have also a mission which only in unity of purpose can they accomplish. He proposed therefore in addressing a society, bound together by a national tie, to attempt to shed some light upon national callings, from the study of the teaching of the Bible regarding that of God's own people, Israel. God called Abraham in order that he might make of him a great nation. In due time Isaac is born, then Jacob, then the twelve patriarchs, and at length seventy in number they go down into Egypt. Here when they became numerous they were subjected to slavery, which whilst hard, served to isolate them from their Egyptian neighbours. At length they are led forth from the house of bondage, and under the shadow of Mount Sinai, enter into a covenant with God. (Exodus 24). It is a covenant with a nation, and now for the first time this horde of slaves becomes conscious of freedom. They enter the promised land, and there follows that strange career of mingled faith and apostacy. Punishment follows sin. In captivity they learn God's wrath against idolatry. The captivity in Babylon was not a mere punishment of sinners, it was a national punishment of national failure. But at length Jesus Christ was born into the world and Israel's mission was accomplished. But Israel has bequeathed to the world the instructive story of a nation's high calling, of its early faith, of its frequent falls, and of the severity and the love of God. Israel has bequeathed to the world the spiritual legacy of the Psalms and the Prophets, wherein we may discover the ways of God with men; and finally, out of Israel sprang the Lord of Glory, the flower and fruit of the long growth of ages.

It is then clear that there is such a thing as national destiny. But is it true of other nations as well as of Israel. The Bible leaves us in no doubt on this head. The great people of the old world were the Egyptians, the Assyrians, the Babylonians, the Persians, the Greeks and the Romans. One after another march across the stage of human history, and every one of them in turn comes into contact with Israel, and of them all it is declared that it was by God's design. Of Cyrus, King of Persia, to take one example, it is written, "Thus saith the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus, whose right hand I have holden to subdue nations before him, etc." It was surely by no accident that the Holy Land was occupied by the greatest of world powers — Rome—when the greatest of spiritual powers was born into the world. We may believe then that nations as nations have a part and lot in the unfolding of the Divine drama of human history, and so we turn to the study of our own mother-land and our own English race.

The nations or peoples that have most influenced human history have occupied small territories, at least during the formative period of their history. It was so with Israel, with Greece and with Rome. And so with England, an island "set in the silver sea," with a remarkable combination of advantages, a temperate climate, a variety of scenery, mountains and rivers and plains. Every district of England has its own distinctive characteristics. There are great grain growing tracts, flocks of sheep are fed on the downs, cattle on the rich pastures of the west and Midland Counties. Truly it is a land "flowing with milk and honey." Below the surface of the land is a vast wealth of minerals, whilst surrounded by the sea, our seacoasts furnish a population of sailors, whose navies rule the sea, and whose mercantile service is within all the ports of the world.

But something more than natural advantages are needed. We have considered the country—what of the men? We are a race combining the excellencies of many races. The groundwork of the English race is Anglo-Saxon, or Teutonic. But in our veins are mingled the strains of Celtic blood. The Britons were Celts, and Julius Cæsar encountered no such barbarians as the Britons, and let us thankfully admit that our Irish and Scottish brethren, the Celtic element in our race, have ever been to the front in all hours of danger, and when some mighty effort was called for have never failed us. Then, too, the Danes settled in England and introduced the element of and marine skill. The Normans, too, with their inbred capacity for rule, were mingled with the Saxon, but whether Celt or Saxon, Norman or Dane, in England all had become assimilated to the production of the English people.

Can we suppose that there was no guiding hand at work, so that in those distant centuries there was being prepared a race mighty for blessing in the world? In the history of a great people it is impossible that there should be no mistakes. But on the whole England's pathway to power has lain along the course of justice. Her conquests have been thrust upon her. Has she not proved a blessing to both America and India, the scenes of her greatest triumphs? Notice also her capacity for colonization. Because her people really love their homes, therefore they can reproduce them wherever they go. And so today the Mother Land beholds with pride her flourishing offspring in America, in Australia, in India, in Africa, in the West Indies. Everywhere English laws, English ideas, English customs, and the English language are prevailing. Is there in all these things no Divine purpose finding its accomplishment?

In conclusion, look at some characteristic traits of English people in virtue of which there is a blessing to the nations.

1. The love of liberty. Liberty is an article of the Englishman's creed. The Pope has recently addressed a letter to the English people, inviting them to return to the Papal fold. He is inspired with sentiments of a very high and noble character, but how strangely mistaken must he be in his reading of English history and his study of English character, to suppose that after having tasted the fruits of liberty for 300 years, and proved that religion is purest, and strongest where it is most free, the Edglish people will make an unconditional surrender to the claims of an absolute tyranny.

The English people are loyal, but their loyalty will not bear the strain of tyranny. We may shed a tear upon the scaffold of Charles I, but he was a tyrant at heart. The deposition of a monarch in the direct line of descent is a serious step, but James II was both a tyrant and a traitor. Men may smile at and call our Queen a figure head, but we know that in virtue of her love of her people, and of her people's love of her, she is the greatest power in the world.

2. The English people is a just people. We love to have one law for high and low, for rich and poor. We ask for and we get even-handed justice. There may be wrongs to be righted in England, but there is probably no country to-day wherein there is less friction between capital and labour, and less of the spirit of destructive revolution, than in England.

3. The English people is finally through and through a religious people. "The fear of God," says Froude, "made England great." The Sons of England do not need to be reminded of this, which is impressed upon them at every meeting.

It is then England's mission, and that of her sons and daughters to lift up high that all the world may see it the banner of liberty, of justice and of faith. In regard to faith there is a call for greater unity. The struggle of the English non-conformists for religious equality has had some valuable results. It has taught the Church of England herself the power of principles against privileges, a lesson she is honestly striving to learn. It has demonstrated that variety in forms of service is necessary for beings so variously constituted as men. But these old disputes have little meaning for us here, and will steadily diminish in power at home, before the felt need of church unity, not absolute tyranny, not absolute uniformity, but the free voluntary federation of all the forces of Christianity for the promotion of the common good.

One last word,—"The second of my two texts tells us that into the New Jerusalem shall be brought the honour and glory of the nations. And so even in heaven it will not be forgotten that on earth there were nations, with national gifts and callings. What shall be the honour and glory of our English nation and race? Not her wealth, not her commerce, not her armies or her navies, but those things by which her armies won victories, her navies ruled the seas, her commerce was world wide and her wealth beyond the dreams of Solomon,—her justice, her liberty, her faith.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Philips has his new store buildings roofed and covered in, and the contractor, Mr. Joseph Knox, is pushing ahead all the rest of the work with all haste. In fact there is every encouragement for doing so, as nearly the whole of the buildings have already been rented.

A very interesting time was spent by the Royal Templars last week at the residence of Mr. Alex. Mathieson. The large and comfortable rooms were thrown open for the use of the Templars and their friends, who spent a pleasant evening under the hospitable roof of their host and hostess. A choice programme of interesting musical and literary selections was prepared, and thoroughly appreciated by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Mathieson made their numerous company quite at home, and entertained them in a very hospitable manner.

Travellers to Havelock are all talking about the great change which has been made in the C. P. R. Hotel since Mr. Jas. Graham has taken possession. This is the most convenient public house to the railway station in Havelock, and has always had a big advantage in this respect, but it has secured quite a boom since it changed hands. Mr. Graham is a worker and a capable hotelkeeper, and is never content with second place. It is well and popularly known by the travelling fraternity, and what he don't know about pleasing the Knights of the Road has to be pretty farfetched. He took hold of the C.P.R. hotel only a few weeks ago, and went in for making a comple revolution in the house, and determined to make it as attractive and comfortable as the building would permit. That he has succeeded beyond the expectation of all who travel this way none can deny. In a very short time he has almost completely obliterated the ancient landmarks. With a liberal use of paint and paper and new furnishings, the hotel has put on a new lease of life, and by hard work and judicious manoeuvring the old C.P.R. has been brought into the first rank among the village hotels. The result is that the rooms are at a premium every night and the table, bar and yard attractions receive a larger patronage than they have ever been known to do before.

A grand Orange celebration is looked forward to by the citizens of Havelock this year, and it is going to be carried out in grand old Orange style. Preparations are being made for the annual demonstration of the Orangemen of the district, which is to be held in the village on the "Glorious Twelfth." The committe in charge of the extensive arrangement consist of an efficient body of men whose names are a sufficient guarantee of success. In my next letter I expect to give you the full list of names of the committees, and other information which will be of interest to the readers of the EXAMINER. It is expected that a very large representation of visiting Orangemen from all sections of the district will be in attendance, and if the brethren of Havelock and vicinity are not mistaken, one of the most important Orange celebrations that has ever been held in Ontario will be celebrated next 12th of July within the precincts of "hustling" Havelock.

Messrs. J. B. Gould & Co., the live general merchants of the village, are pushing trade with their usual aggressiveness. A special reduction sale is now in full blast and if the citizens of Havelock and farmers of the surrounding country don't get good value for their money it is not Mr. J. B. Gould & Co.'s fault.

I understand that, with one exception, the members of the village council are in favour of submitting a bylaw for our sewerage system. The question of cost is the only vital thing that is discussed, the necessity for the work is admitted by all. It seems to be considered the clear duty of the council that the householders should have an opportunity of deciding themselves for or against a bylaw of this important nature. The council have taken considerable pains to put themselves in possession of the necessary information to be able to place the undertaking before the ratepayers in a proper manner, and it is expected that it will not be allowed to drop without a vote of the duly authorized electors.

THE LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

(Lindsay Post)

The first meeting of the Victoria County cheese board was held in the council chamber, Lindsay, Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. The members of the Board of Trade, who have been instrumental in the formation of the cheese board, were on hand to render whatever assistance was in their power. Some 200 boxes for the first half of May was boarded as follows:

Star	22
Lorneville	24
Cameron	21
Dunsford	30
Valentia	15
Gamebridge	30
Mariposa	25
Derryville	40

Mr. Thos. Robinson, of Verulam, took the chair, and on opening the meeting thanked the members for the honour conferred on him by making him president of the first cheese board for Victoria County. He could not see why this board should not become a prosperous institution. It was centrally located, and the excellent railway facilities made it easily accessible to all. There were not as many factories represented as he would like to see, but many of them had only commenced operations. He thought it was well to commence small and then they could grow, and he hoped soon to see the black board filled. All that was necessary on the part of the factories was co-operation. If they attended the board meetings they would soon attract buyers. It was true they had no foreign buyers, but they had among them a local buyer in whom they had every confidence and who had been purchasing their cheese and other produce for some fourteen or fifteen years and no one could point their finger to any dishonest action in his dealing. At the cheese board meeting held at Peterborough on Tuesday, a large board was offered and the only bid that was made was 6¼ for selections, which was refused. He hoped that if there were any buyers present and they made any respectable offer that the factories would accept, in order to show outside buyers that they meant business and were prepared to sell and in this way give the new board a start.

Mr. Flavelle suggested that each alternate week with Peterborough might work better than holding their market on the following day. If they had their wants supplied they would not want to come to Lindsay.

Mr. Robinson admitted he had seen this difficulty, but he thought when the buyers were at Peterborough it would be more convenient. He feared that if they did not succeed in getting as good prices as Peterborough it would work against the board.

Mr. Flavelle said that it was not to be expected that as good prices could be secured in Lindsay as at Peterborough, owing to the fact that so much more cheese could be secured in a much smaller area. He thought that the alternate week would improve the prices and place them on a more equal footing.

Mr. Scully thought they were too timid. If they boarded their cheese and stood by the market they were bound to succeed. All it required was faith and perseverance.

Mr. Robinson explained that the salesman did not sell the cheese. He only asked for bids and the factories either accepted or declined. He then called for bids.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle said that they did not handle May cheese, but as there were no outside buyers present he would make them a bid purely as a matter of speculation. He then offered 6c. for the board delivered at Lindsay, subject to inspection.

Mr. Arch. Campbell stated that he had no intention of purchasing when he came to the board meeting, but as there were no outside buyers present, and he wanted to see the cheese board a success, he would give 6¼c. for the board. There being no further bids all the factories with the exception of Gamebridge accepted Mr. Campbell's bid.

The board then adjourned for two weeks.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From our own Correspondent.)

MCGREFOR HOUSE.

No better proof is required of the popularity and continued increase in business which this house has all along been enjoying, than the extensive enlargements now in progress on these premises. Under Mr. McGregor's management a constant succession of good luck has followed this house until the accommodation has been found entirely inadequate to cope with the demands of the travelling public. For two months past carpenters, painters and paper hangers have been in possession of the house—building up, tearing down and decorating the premises from cellar to garret, and before the contemplated improvements are all completed fully another month's work will be needed. A new roof will be put on the main building, the ceilings raised, and nine good bed rooms added to the third story. The second story has been remodelled, the halls enlarged, bedrooms improved, and parlours extended, giving increased comfort and accommodation to the guests, as well as to the management of the house. The sitting rooms, sample rooms, billiard room, bar and dining room are also receiving attention, and nothing is to be left undone in new furnishings, furniture and decorations to fully equip the whole premises in a first-class manner. Important changes and additions have also been made to the stabling and yard accommodation. A new and commodious stable has been erected in the rear, capable of stalling a troupe of horses, rigs and livery, and large additions made to the capacity of the driving sheds and outhouses. The host and hostess of the McGregor House have both been indefatigable in catering to the travelling public, and while everyone recognizes the urbanity and business-like capacity of Mr. McGregor as a host, it has always been known that a large share of the popularity of the house is due to Mrs. McGregor's valuable assistance and skilfull co operation in its management.

MESSRS. FINLAY & SON.

If there has been one sound manufacturing industry in the village that has continued for years past to contribute to the local growth and advantage of Norwood more than other it has been the extensive hub and spoke factory of Messrs. Finlay & Son. Nothing seems to affect the steady run of work and streams of orders that flow into the hands of this live concern. Hard times may come and go, depressions may appear in their periodical persistency, and failures and stagnation in trade leave their black marks on the commercial and manufacturing industries of the country, but Finlay & Son "go on forever." Every year brings an increase of business and every year new additions and improvements to their factory, and of men and material have to be made in order to "fill the bill" in that up-to-date manner which is insisted upon. The busy hum of the busy corner is never hushed, except under natural circumstances over which the firm have no control, so that in the list of languishing industries, the name of Finlay & Son, Norwood, is never included. This season business is brisker than ever, and the large staff of employees have been compelled to work over-time to get out the orders in time. The senior member of the firm is nothing if not aggressive and untiring in his attention to the details of his business; and while Norwood is indebted to him for valuable direct and indirect advantages as a large employer of labour, and all that implies, he has always proved himself a useful citizen, constantly in track with the live local interests of the village and ready to devote some of the spare moments of his daily life to civic matter. He is efficiently seconded in the management of the business by his son Alfred Finlay. Ever since the lamented death of his brother, William Finlay, he has devoted himself not only to the arduous duties of the office and counting room, but is the travelling representative of the firm, and regularly covers the ground occupied by their customers from one end of the Dominion to the other.

SON SUCCEEDS SIRE.

Mr. D. A. Fraser, son of Mr. Thos. Fraser, has succeeded to his father's business, having bought out Mr. Foster's interest in the hardware and stove business. This is as it should be, and no doubt will be appreciated and approved of by the public as the most judicious succession of an old and well-established business from father to son. "Dave" rejoices in being "chip off the old block," and possesses in some degree the shrewdness and sagacity of his paternal ancestor. Although he may not be quite as enthusiastic a fisher of fish, he bids fair to be quite as good a fisher of business. He has acquired a general knowledge of hardware, stoves, tinware and allied lines, derived from a close application to business under "the grand old man," and what he may lack in the more mature and practical knowledge of the business, which has to come through time and experience, his father will be at his elbow to post him. Mr. Fraser will be pleased to welcome all the old patrons of the store, and as many new ones as may favour him with their orders.
